NEW LONDON, July 24—The little schooner Morris and Cliff, familiar at this port during the past thirty years, was sold at auction today for $655 to a party from out of town. The schooner carried commercial goods through the Sound all the years of her career until the prohibition law became effectual and then, it seems, the vessel was put to other uses than transporting lumber, lime, cement, coal, etc., through Long Island Sound as far as Maine ports. She was built at Rockland in 1830 and from that port she cruised.

A few weeks ago the schooner was nabbed with a cargo of lumber on deck, but beneath it she had a cargo of booze. This was the undoing of the Morris and Cliff. She was of a fleet of about 100 sails that came to and went from this port, some two score years ago, which fleet has now passed out of existence. Barges and steam colliers have driven the little coastwise vessels out of business.

NEW LONDON, July 24—Mrs. Mary

CAR CRASHES THROUGH FENCE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LANDON, July 24—Mrs. Mary Swan, 24, wife of G. Dewey Swan, Melrose Highlands, Mass., is a patient at Lawrence Memorial hospital tonight, suffering from a possible fractured skull and bad lacerations of the scalp, sustained late this afternoon when the Swan automobile, a Buick sedan, was wrecked in Waterford, by crashing through one of the protecting fences of the state highway department.

The automobile was enroute from New York to Melrose Highlands and Mr. and Mrs. Swan were riding in the rear seat. When the machine had reached a point a short distance east of the Golden Spur, the steering gear became disabled, the chauffeur lost control of the car and before the machine could be brought to a stop it plunged across the highway and through the heavy fence beside the road. The crash caused Mrs. Swan to be hurled forward, her head striking the coat rack on the back of the front seat with terrific force for her scalp was laid open several inches. A passing automobile was commandeered and Mr. and Mrs. Swan were brought to New London. When the car reached Bank street Traffic Officer Dennis Cavanaugh was summoned and stepping to the running board, he directed the driver to the hospital, where emergency treatment was given Mrs. Swan.

Mr. Swan and the chauffeur escaped injury, although the former sustained slight bruises, but he was not compelled to remain at the institution.

President Of Brazil A Man Of Nerve

KEYSTONE VIEW CO., NEW YORK.

Pres. Arthur Bernardes, of Brazil, never given credit for much nerve, has startled the world with his orders that all politicians, revolutionary leaders and sympathizers, who tried to incite a revolution, must stand Federal trial, and no amnesty granted. Bernardes has held his post for two years, and though there have been rumors of resigning, he has stuck to his post, despite the threats of death.

FAMOUS YELLOWSTONE GEYSER SLIGHTLY SLOWS UP ACTIVITY

YELLOWSTONE NAIONAL PARK, July, 24—(. P.)—Even Old Faithful, supposed to be the most constant, and certainly the most celebrated geyser in the world, is undergoing changes. This year Old Faithful is erupting every 67 minutes and his outbursts last for about five minutes. In the memory of living scientists this geyser became active every 60 minutes, and there is much speculation as to changes beneath the earth's surface which are slowing down this old wonder.

Many geysers in the basin of the Fire Hole River, the greatest area in the world, have ceased shooting entirely within the last 50 years, while others which were formerly inactive are again shooting. Old Faithful still sends steam and water into the air to a height of 150 to 200 feet and is surrounded day and night by throngs of tourists awaiting his outbursts.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

The special city meeting to take up the matter of rescinding the previous vote to introduce water into Greeneville, was held at the town hall, producing sharp arguments. It ended with the victory for those who wanted the water, their cause being supported by influential men from Norwich.

Other items of interest a half century ago are taken in part from the columns of The Bulletin of 1875, as follows;

Monday, July 19, 1875—A city meeting to consider the matter of rescinding the city vote authorizing the introduction of water into Greeneville, was held Saturday afternoon, His Honor Mayor Osgood presiding.

Moses Pierce offered a resolution to the effect that the vote taken to introduce water into Greeneville be rescinded explaining that unless the proposed bog-meadow reservoir was built the present water works would not be sufficient to supply Greeneville. He opposed the introduction of water on the grounds of economy.

I. W. Carpenter said that Greeneville voted to come into the city and expected all privileges. He said that a petition signed by over 200 tax payers in Greeneville who do water.

The Hon. J. L. Greene said that it was a matter of honor between the city and Greeneville and as long as Greeneville paid its part of the city expenses it should have all privileges.

Mr. Pierce again spoke, claiming that only 32 families would take the water, but hisses and groans drowned his remarks out before he had a good start and on motion of Paul B. Greene the question was indefinately postponed, the vote being taken amid great applause.

The completion of the macadam road on West Main street, between the bridges, meets with favor of West Side people.

The certificate declaring Ebenezer Huntington a member of the Society of Cincinnati, signed by George Washington, President, may be seen at Gridley & Trafton's on Shetucket street.

The Third Regiment is being provided with white trousers for summer parades.

Tuesday, July 20, 1875—The iron mountain lately spoken of as having been discovered near Duluth, Minn., is one in which a recently deceased brother of John Willard, of this city, was interested, and whose sale Mr. Willard is now negotiating.

There was a touch of autumn in the air last night and people at seashore resorts got up in the morning expecting to find the water frozen over.

We understand that a party to visit the Eddy family, the noted mediums of Vermont, is forming under the direction of Prof. Sanford B. Swan.

Mr. Winship, superintendent of the water works, reports the rainfall Friday to have been over one and one quarter inches.

Some of the new pipe for the Greeneville water has arrived in the city.

Wednesday, July 21, 1875—Capt. R. P. Wilbur of the ship Dauntless, of Mystic, has received a silver and crystal dessert service from the owners of the British ship Cornwallis, for rescuing from Pitcairn's island, the crew of that ship which was wrecked there last January.

The contract for the trenching for the water pipes in Greeneville has been awarded to Paul B. Greene. The work is to be started next week and it is expected that water will be turned on within three months.

The bony fish works along the shore are in full blast, and lend their variety of odors to the attractions of the shore resorts.

The mercury yesterday was reported as touching 50 during the day, a little too cool for the most of Norwich citizens.

The paper mill of Brown Brothers, North Westchester, was entirely consumed by fire Monday night. The loss is $20,000, fully covered by insurance. This is the sixth time the Browns have been burned out and they will probaly build again.

Thursday, July 22, 1875—New songs received in Norwich include. Raymond's Kill Galop, by Mary D. Thomas, and No Friendly Voice to Greet Me a song and chorus bfrom the author of Silver Threads Among the Gold.

The big sea-turtle which has been on exhibition in Norwich is now in Hartford. It is figured, by The Telegram, that the turtle weighs about 1,500 pounds.

The new organ for Park church, which has een built in Germany, is expected soon.

Upwards of 2100 made the trip to Shelter Island yesterday on the City of Lawrence, comprising the members of the Methodist Episcopal churches of the city. Bishop Andrews accompanied the excursionists.

Of the half dozen or more sailing clubs organized in Norwich for sailing trips on the sound, but two are left to take trips this summer.

Friday, July 23, 1875—J. D. Crocker has just completed a fine painting of local scenery, which is one of his very best efforts in that line of endeavor. The sketch is taken from a point on the west bank of the Thames river, and includes the navy yard and the east bank of Eastern Point. It is a work of art and the people will await its exhibition with much interest.

The voters of the Central school district held a meeting Wednesday evening at the town hall. The meeting was called to order by James L. Greenwood and E. Y. Yoemans was elected chairman and W. S. Congdon, clerk. On motion of H. H. Osgood, a three mill tax was laid, payable on the 1st of September. E. W. Beckwith was elected collector and the meeting adjourned.

Connecticut patents issued during the past week include one of John E. Coffin, Mystic River, for power presses.

Saturday, July 24, 1875—Plaut Bros. received a specimen grasshopper from Kansas City by mail yesterday. It resembles our domestic grasshoppers closely, except that it is about the size of an up-town turkey.

A load of hay overturned on Main street and delayed the five o'clock train on the horse railroad for some time.

Freight is heavy on the Norwich & Worcester road now. Yesterday 61 cars went down the line.

Local young men plan to head for the Black Hills are waiting for better news as last week hair was raised from the scalps of several white men in that region.

JAPAN HAS TROUBLE PROVIDING FOOD ENOUGH FOR POPULATION

TOKYO July 24—(AP)—The food and population problem still continues the most serious one confronting Japan. At a recent meeting of high officials of the department of agriculture and forestry it was decided that the government should revise the regulations for opening up and bringing land under cultivation.

The officials were of the opinion that there are considerable areas in Hokkaido and Korea which might be opened up and tilled if proper encouragement were offered settlers. It was stated that, while the area of land in Japan and the volume of foodstuffs have been materially increased, the rate of increase has begun to fall off lately and is not keeping pace with the increase of population.

Consequently, additional inducements are to be offered settlers in the districts which are still open to cultivation.

MARKET UNEVEN AT CLOSE

NEW YORK, July 24, (A P)—Development of the usual week-end profit taking retarded the upward movement of stock prices today and gave the market an uneven appearance after a remarkably strong showing in the early trading. Under the leadership of the high priced specialities, advancing tendencies were maintained in many stocks, however, and more than a score new high records for the year were marked up after reniling sales overtook the market.

The spirit of buoyancy which was evident most of the day was adequately supported by optimistic statements from leading bankers and the cheerful tenor of the weekly trade reviews which reported that a solid basis existed for future expansion. Easier money rates at the same time encouraged an extension of consecutive operations in popular industrial favorites. Numerous gains of three to six points were scattered throughout the list at the day's high levels but most of them were reduced or cancelled before the close.

Moving to the 200 mark for the first time in its history, Mack Trucks was one of the outstanding strong spots. Under the impetus of heavy speculative buying, the stock established a new peak price at 203 before it encountered profit taking which carried it back to 200 7-8, representing a net gain of almost 2 points. American Can matched its previous high price of 210 1-2 but later sagged off in sympathy with the rest of the market and closed 1 1-2 points below yesterday's final figure.

Striking changes took place in some of the volatile issues. General Railway Signal, which was said to be due for a probable split-up of shares, was run up almost ten points to a new top of 219, maintaining a large portion of its gain until the close. Phillip Jone common and preferred sold 5 and 9 3-4 points higher, respectively. The advance in General Railway Signal was in contrast to the marked heaviness of most of the other equipment issues.

Merchandising stock continued to hold an importance place in the speculative picture, with additional new high records achieved by Sears Roebuck, Woolworth and Montgomery Ward. International Harvester also attracted a steady flow of buying orders and Coca Cola was boosted 8 points to a new maximum above 128. Tobacco shares continued to their advance under the leadership of Tobacco Products and Philip Morris, Fleischmann and General Baking were the strong spots in the baking group.

Motor shares as a group made the best showing in several days. Announcement that the Pierce Arrow company had completely liquidated its bank loans, freeing it from debt for the first time since 1920, was followed by a lively run up in its shares, the common advancing 1 5-8 and the preferred 5 1-4. White Motor spurted up 3 1-2 points.

In line with the rest of the market railroad issues failed to maintain their full gains until the close, although southwestern issues led an advance in the early dealing.

The growing belief that Frisco common will be established on a higher dividend basis before the end of the year, was reflected in its rise to a new high at 87 7-8. Wabash and "Katy" shares also were in demand.

Indications of a more stable money situation were seen in the maintenance of a four per cent. call money rate throughout the day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Considerable irregularity marked trading in the foreign exchange market. Danish Kroner rose to a new high near 22 1-4 cents but later lost their gain. Demand sterling for the first time in several weeks sold below $4.85 1-2, while French francs and Italian lira were virtually unchanged.

GREENEVILLE

The Ladies' Guild of St. Andrew's Church had a picnic at Atlantic Beach. A delightful day was spent by all and especially by those who went bathing, and others who enjoyed the chutes and merry-go-round. The committee in charge was Mrs. Wm. Taft and Mrs. Fred Dodwell. Transportation was by bus. The annual picnic will be at the home of Mrs. Alex Finlayson, Groton Long Point, in August. Plans were made to hold a food sale the first week in August.

A former pastor of St. Mary's parish, Rev. John H. F. Chenard, now pastor of St. Francis' church, New Haven, is having his church handsomely redecorated and is to substitute in the new stained marble altars for those in the church. To create a fund for his work the young people of the parish have planned an outdoor circus and carnival on the parish grounds, for three nights the coming week. On one evening, Father Lamoureux has arranged for a reunion of all the older residents and members of St. Frank's parish. His curate, Rev. Martin F. Doran has been chosen general chairman of the combined societies of the church which have arranged the event.

Mrs. Johanna Riebel of Greenville announces the engagement of her daughter, Dorothy, to Roland Wilcock of Baltic. The marriage will take place in September.

TAFTVILLE

Mrs. Joseph Carter of Newmarket, N. H., is the guest of her sisters, the Misses Louise and Mary Stubbs of Norwich avenue.

Miss Mary Alice Smith and Master Thomas Whitehead of Westerly, R. I., are the guests of Mrs. Smith's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead of Boswell avenue.

Miss Hortense Caron of North B street has left town on her annual vacation trip, and will return about September 7th.

Taftville Congregational church, two Taftville Congregational church, two persons united with the church by letter, Mrs. Anna B. Chamberlain from St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, Ocean Grove, N. J., and Miss Isabel Thomson from the United Free Church, Whitehill, Dennistown, Glasgow, Scotland.

Mrs. Malcolm Stinson has returned to her home on Bolduc lane after spending several days at the summer home of Mrs. Alfred Linderson of North Stonington.

Nelson Bonacea has resigned his position with the No. 4 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

Miss Mary G. Taggart and Miss Isabel Barrett of Norwich avenue and Mrs. Edwin G. Crowell of North Third avenue have returned from Camp Alcha, Northfield, Mass. This is the Congregational Girls' camp in connection with the Womens' Foreign Missionary Conference. Mrs. Crowell was one of the counsellors at Camp Alcha.

Miss Edith Adams of North Third avenue has been spending this week in North Stonington, the guest of Miss Roberta Vergason.

Armand Lippi of North A street is enjoying a week's vacation.

William H. Whitehead of Boswell avenue, spent a short time this week in Westerly, R. I., with his brother, Thomas Whitehead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott have taken a house on North Third avenue.

EXPRESS WAGON DRIVER BREAKS RIGHT ARM

Leslie Miller of Penobscot street, employed as express driver by the American Railway Express company, sustained severe injuries Friday afternoon. In his attempt to alight from the express wagon, which was parked on Cliff street, he tripped and fell in such a manner as to receive a serious dislocation and fracture of the right arm. Dr. John W. Callahan, who was called, reduced the fracture and dislocation.

Callers at Grenslit Homestead

Callers at the Greenslit Homestead, Franklin, this week were Mrs. Horace F. Smith of Niantic, Mr. and Mrs. H. Benjamin Smith and three children, Marjory, John and Gordon of West Acton, Mass., and Rev. and Mrs. McDonald of Worcester. Mr. McDonald is pastor in one of the prominent churches in the Massachusetts city.

Church Services Omitted.

There will not be a church service Sunday at Canterbury Green.

OVERLOOKING MAIN PORTION OF BED OF POND OF PROPOSED DEEP RIVER RESERVOIR

COMMON COUNCIL APPROVES PLAN FOR DEEP BROOK RESERVOIR

Approval of the water board's recommendation to develop the Deep River reservoir project was unanimously voted at the special meeting of the common council Friday night and the water board was advised to take steps immediately towards the development of the Deep River watershed. It is probable that a special city meeting at which the matter will be brought up for the vote of the citizens will be called for Tuesday evening, August 4, which is the night after the August council meeting.

Alderman P. F. Sweeney, Henry Gebrath and Alfred G. Lillibridge, Councilmen Lee Clegg, Harold C. Dahl, Frank Rinella, Nicholas J. Spellman, W. H. Aldrich and Frank H. Quinley were present when Mayor Milo R. Waters called the meeting to order just after 8 o'clock. The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Clerk Weston C. Pullen was omitted, and Mayor Waters brought up the matter of the report of the water commissioners, which had been referred to the council as a committee of the whole after it was presented last week.

Remarking that the city would get the best in providing for its water supply, the mayor invited any member of the council to speak now if he had any better plan or substitute to present. None had anything else to suggest, but Councilman Quinley presented the following resolution, which was unanimously voted:

Resolved, that the court of common council of the city of Norwich hereby approves the resolution adopted by the board of water commissioners of the city of Norwich on July 13, 1925, which resolution adopts "the general plan of Chandler & Palmer, civil engineers of Norwich, Conn., for the development of a permanent water supply for the city of Norwich upon the Deep River watershed, so-called, in the town of Colchester, county of New London and state of Connecticut," and the entire action of the said board of water commissioners in adopting the same and in doing any and all acts required to carry said resolution into effect is hereby approved; and said board of water commissioners is hereby advised to take steps immediately to increase the permanent water supply of said city under the plan aforesaid by the development of said Deep River watershed.

The plan referred to in this resolution is the following as described in the report of the water commissioners: This plan provides for taking water for the city of Norwich from Deep River in the town of Colchester by the erection of a dam across the stream between the two hills southerly of the Bogue road, so called; by impounding water in a reservoir that will hold at least 400,000,000 gallons; the acquiring of the necessary land for the reservoir; the cleaning as much as is necessary, of the reservoir bottom; the erection of a gate house with the necessary controls; the laying of a 24 inch pipe with appurtenances from the dam across private property, across and through highways, to connect with the present water system at or near Hazard's corner, so called. The estimated cost of the plan is $1,080,000.

Petitions Presented

A petition from Margaret R., and Mary A. Rohan, to have the sewer in North Cliff street extended past the property of Patrick Barry to their property was referred to the finance committee to be placed in next year's estimates.

The board of assessors presented a petition to have the houses of the city of Norwich re-numbered, stated that there was much discrepancy at present with the directory and the city plans, as is continually revealed through the work of the assessors. This was referred to the committee on public works.

Upon recommendation of the finance committee, the council voted to pay Mrs. Marie Senf, of 422 Asylum street, the sum of $20 in settlement of a claim. This is her compensation for four weeks at $5 for taking care of the small child of Mrs. Kate Cavanaugh, while the latter was quarantined with smallpox.

The council meeting adjourned at 8:20, and Mayor Waters called attention to a printed pamphlet of the water board's report regarding the reservoir situation, which had been prepared for public distribution.

He stated that the special city meeting would probably be called for the evening of Tuesday, Aug. 4.

Views of Reservoir Basin

The accompanying views of the largest area of the basin of the proposed reservoir are taken from a high point of land on the southerly side of the basin and near the present road which runs across it. The farm buildings in the foreground and the building on the hill in the background would all be razed in the process of clearing the basin. The water level line of the pond on its northerly side would come nearly up to the farm residence seen in the background. The light colored patches in the valley are fields of oats and the course of Deep River brook is indicated by the fringe of trees through the center of the picture.

PROF. F. L. FARRELL FILLS NOTABLE PLACE, SAYS CRITIC

The current Catholic Transcript (Hartford) referring to the recent resignation of Frank L. Farrell says:

Musicians in Eastern Connecticut are deeply regretting the fact that Professor Frank L. Farrell, organist at St. Patrick's Church, Norwich, has presented his resignation to the Right Rev. Msgr. M. H. May and is to leave September 1st to become organist of St. Mary's, New Haven, the church of the Dominican Fathers, in the Yale University section.

As teacher, chorister, concert pianist and promoter of high grade music, he has made a notable place for himself during his long term of residence in Norwich. In his various public appearances it has been the marvel of his audiences to note not alone his skill in execution, but the remarkable gift Mr. Farrell has in memorizing hundreds of pages of the most difficult piano compositions. Part of his training was gained in Germany. He has been complimented by invitations to play with some of the most famous organizations of the country, also to do solo work in many of the largest cities and before some of the best critics, who have never failed to acclaim him as one of the country's greatests pianists and interpreters.

Mrs. Farrell, also a musician and the possessor of a fine soprano voice, has given her services in St. Patrick's choir and for many a charitable and public cause, so that her departure, also, will mean a distinct loss to the church and the city.

Edmund Lewis died at his home in the eastern part of Clinton, Sunday, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, three daughters, Pearl, Annie and Laura; two sons, Edmund and Perry. The family moved to Clinton, several years ago from Lyme, and has resided at the Palmer farm near Grove Beach.

DELEGATES RETURN FROM C. E. CONVENTION

Rev. Lydia Hartig of Goshen and Miss Gertrude H. Ladd, president of the Norwich Christian Endeavor Union, have just returned from the Thirtieth International Christian Endeavor Convention, which was held at Portland, Oregon, from July 4 to July 10. The convention was attended by thousands and thousands of Christian Endeavorers from all parts of the United States and Canada. There were several representatives from foreign lands.

The theme of the convention was "Fidelity to Christian Endeavor Principles." Emphasis was placed upon the evangelistic, community and missionary activities of churches and the part played in these programs by the Christian Endeavor Society.

According to the reports made at the convention the Christian Endeavor movement is growing in towns and cities of North America and in foreign lands. The report made by General Secretary Edward P. Gates showed that 9,732 new Christian Endeavor Societies have been organized during the last two years. The membership throughout the world is approximately 4,000,000 in 80,000 societies.

The program for the next two years which has been outlined will include increased denominational loyalty and more inter-denominational co-operation. A definite program to attain standards decided upon at the convention has been given each month for the next two years. In September for instance, the goal of the international leaders is to enroll 500,000 young people for Bible reading and the convention that there never was Scripture memorizing. It was said a greater need than today for a more sincere study of God's Word and Work.

One program definitely decided upon is to recruit thousands of young people into the church. This recruiting will require personal effort by each Christian Endeavorer. According to the leaders, young people can best be won to Christ by young people.

The event of greatest interest at the convention was the retirement from active service of Dr. Francis E. Clark, who forty-four years ago established the Christian Endeavor Society at Portland, Maine. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, co-minister of the Marble Collegiate Church, New York, who was born in Portland, Oregon, about forty years ago, was elected president of the United Society. Dr. Clark was elected president emeritus. In honor of his long service on a non-salaried basis, the trustees have arranged to establish what is called the Dr. Francis E. Clark Recognition Fund of $100,000 whose income will be devoted to the support of Dr. and Mrs. Clark so long as both shall live. After they have been called to higher service the fund will be known then as the Francis E. Clark Memorial Fund, the income of which will then be devoted to the extension of Christian Endeavor work throughout the whole world.

Local Christian Endeavorers are confident that the attendance of the delegates from local societies will greatly help in the formation of new societies in this community and the recruiting of many young people now associated with the Christian Endeavor movement.

JUNIORS AT STORRS RANK WELL PHYSICALLY

STORRS, July 24.—That Connecticut boys enrolled in the Junior Short Course now in session at Connecticut Agricultural college are making a better showing in their physical examinations than their older brothers in the draft during the World war was the statement of Dr. Millard Knowlton of the state board of health. Doctor Elizabeth Ingraham, also of the state board of health, is assisting Doctor Knowlton in the physical examinations that are being given the boys and girls of the junior short course.

"From examination of boys it would look as though parents were following the advice of health officials and having their children given health examinations, and physical defects corrected. From evidence of the work done here on the boys this week, one would expect the young men of the future to make a better showing on physical examination than that made by the draft during the recent war." Thus spoke Doctor Knowlton in commenting on his examinations conducted today and yesterday.

"It is a pleasant surprise to find how many of the boys have had their teeth repaired and how many of them have had their tonsils and adenoids removed. While several had defects of teeth that need correction, very few were especially bad. Most of those who had trouble with tonsilitis have had their tonsils removed, and in only a few instances would it seem desirable to consider the advisability of removing tonsils.

"It is true that quite a number of the boys reported having had sore throat, but most people have sore throat at some time during their life, and most of those that contracted bad tonsils as a result of sore throat had them removed.

"One notable point was the faulty posture of a number of the boys. The majority of them seemed to let their shoulders fall forward while standing, giving the appearance of round shoulders. The result of this posture is a more or less cramping of the space in the vest occupied by the lungs. This condition probably results from a lack of information and training as to best posture. In the larger school systems where special attention is given to physical education and posture training, one would expect to see less slouching posture. Most of these boys come from the country. In the country school the multitudinous duties of the teacher who handles many classes will not permit much attention to training of posture."

Doctor Ingraham, who examined the girls, made substantially the same remarks in covering the physical condition of the girls. She spoke highly of the class of girls enrolled in the short course, remarking that they were a credit to Connecticut, and that club work was of great value in building the girls physically.

Work among the boys and girls in the short course is in full swing, and each day is crowded with events of interest to the youngsters. This year's students in poultry judging have eclipsed all previous records, turning in excellent work from the start. Carl O. Dossin, assistant poultry specialist and Paul P. Ives, New Haven county club leader are the instructors in this course. Much progress has been made in swimming, which is being taught daily by Prof. R. J. Guyer, head of the physical education department of the college. Prof. Guyer asserts that the girls are making a much better showing than the boys. Today and yesterday several of the county delegations had their pictures taken by J. A. Manter, college photographer.

Prof. C. B. Gentry, state supervisor of Vocational education, addressed the students today, outlining the work being carried on in the state under the Smith-Hughes act. Sixteen high schools have agricultural departments and fourteen have home-making departments, according to Prof. Gentry.

Miss Francis B. Buchanan of the Victor Talking Machine company has been giving a course in music appreciation that has found much favor among the short course students. This consists of interpretations of various selections given on the victrola and group singing, led by Miss Buchanan.

Announcement will be made tomorrow of the healthiest boy and girl in the short course as well as the various county champions.

GIVES ENDORSEMENT TO N. E. APPLE SURVEY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, July 24. — The executive committee of the Connecticut Pomological society this week voted to endorse and commend to the fruit growers of the state the New England Apple Survey proposed by the New England Research Council. Prof. I. G. Davis of the economic department of the Connecticut Agricultural college, who will be in charge of the survey conducted in Connecticut, explained the plan of procedure to the following committee, who endorsed it heartily: L. C. Root of Farmington, president of the Connecticut Pomological society; Harold Rogers of Southington, vice president; Harry Miles of Milford, secretary; and Harold R. Rowe of Newington Junction.

MOTOR VEHICLE FATALITIES ON GAIN IN STATE

Motor vehicle fatalities reached a total of 138 in Connecticut in the first six months of this year, compared to 132 for the corresponding period of last year and 302 for all of 1924, according to statistics for the first half of 1925 made public by the state motor vehicle department. April proved to be the worst month this year as last. Thirty-eight people were killed in automobile accidents in April, 1925 and thirty-two in April, 1924.

The record of deaths by months for the first half of this year shows that fourteen occurred in January, ten in February, twenty-two in March, thirty-eight in April, twenty-six in May and twenty-eight in June. For the first half of 1924 the fatality record showed thirteen killed in January, seventeen in February, twenty-six in March, thirty-two in April, eighteen in May and twenty-six in June.

Twenty-two of those killed this year were struck while "carelessly crossing the street," fourteen of them being children and eight adults; thirteen were occupants of cars going "too fast for conditions"; seven deaths resulted from skidding, one from a blowout, three from the intoxication of the drivers, twelve from drivers' inattention, five from children playing in the street, two from defective equipment, nine from persons stepping from behind other vehicles, one from a road obstruction, one from a child stealing a ride, one from obscured vision, seven from bicyclists' carelessness, one from weather conditions, one from defective brakes, one from the fact that the pedestrian-victim was drunk, three from coasting, four from operators' confusion, two from carelessness of passengers, two from inexperience, three from driving on the wrong side of the road and three from pedestrians' confusion. The others have yet to be analyzed.

The ten thousandth motor vehicle accident report for this year has recently been made to the department

NEW SIX WILLYS-KNIGHT TO BE INTRODUCED HERE

Following the announcement of a new six cylinder Willys-Knight model by Willys-Overland, Inc., factory production has until recently been unable to keep up with popular demand. This condition has been improved to such an extent that representatives from the New York factory branch will formally introduce this fine motor car to the public of Norwich on Tuesday, July 28, through the courtesy and efforts of The Star Garage Co., the local Willys-Overland dealer.

The Willys-Knight ranks as an unusual motor car owing to the unique construction of its sleeve valve motor which eliminates valve grinding and develops increased power with smooth operation as an accumulation of carbon forms in the cylinders.

This new six cylinder model embodies all of the latest improvements in both motor and body designs. The air supply to the carburetor is filtered thus removing all grit or foreign substance which might act as an abrasive between the metals. The oil supply passes through an oil rectifier where it is purified and returned to the motor with proper lubricating qualities.

The braking system is of the latest six wheel mechanical type with floating equalizer. An added safety factor is incorporated in the lighting system through an auxiliary ditch light which is automatically lighted when the dimmers are thrown on without removing the hand from the steering wheel.

According to the latest reports this car will be available for inspection and demonstration at the show rooms of The Star Garage Co at 175 North Main street, Norwich.

ANKLE BROKEN BY KICK FROM A HORSE

Word has been received in this city by N. Eugene Smith of Williams street, that his father, Edwin T. Smith, of Hebron, is suffering a broken ankle, as the result of being kicked by a horse earlier in the week.

Mr. Smith was examining a shoe on the horse's foot when the animal kicked back and struck Mr. Smith on the ankle, breaking it in several places. The horse had been on the farm for a number of years and had always been easy to handle.

Mr. Smith was taken to Hartford and the fracture reduced at the hospital, there. His friends in this city and in Hebron will be pleased to learn that he is resting comfortably.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN FOUND DEAD IN BED AT DAYTON

Body Was Discovered By a Servant at 4.30 P. M.—Had Expressed Himself as "Feeling Fine" When He Retired at 1.30 O'Clock Shortly After Lunch—Death Was Caused By Apoplexy—Had Been the Guest of Richard Rogers—Mrs. Bryan Was Writing on the Porch at the Time Mr. Bryan Died.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 26—(A. P.)—William Jennings Bryan was discovered dead in bed here this afternoon by a servant. He had retired to his room in the early afternoon for a nap and was found dead at 4:30 o'clock.

Heart disease was given as the cause of death.

He was in the best of spirits and expressed himself as "feeling fine" when he retired shortly after lunch, about 1:30 o'clock. He had attended services at the Southern Methodist Episcopal church before lunch and had partaken of a hearty meal before retiring to his room.

The companion of Mrs. Bryan passed through the room and noticed him breathing heavily and rushed for the nearest neighbor, A. B. Andrews, who on reaching the scene summoned Doctors W. F. Thomason and T. Thomison.

Doctors W. F. Thomison and A. C. Broyles who on examination said Mr. Mr. Bryan had been dead probably fifteen minutes. Mrs. Bryan and her companion and the chauffeur were in the house when he died.

Mrs. Bryan was writing on the porch when her husband pased away. Efforts are being made to locate the son, W. J. Bryan, Jr., who is in California and a daughter, who also resides in California.

Mrs. Bryan was preparing to leave Dayton, in the next day or so for Idaho, where she expected to spend the summer with her son.

Mr. Bryan was to leave Dayton Tuesday for Knoxsville, where he would deliver two speeches, then go to Nashville for a similar engagement before going to Florida. He expected to join Mrs. Bryan again in the fall.

Mr. Bryan was in Chattanooga yesterday morning, after having spent the night at the Rose hotel, en route to Manchester. He arrived Saturday evening at 6:30 from Winchester where he had spoken twice during the day. His first speech Saturday was delivered at Jasper, followed by an address that noon to the Civilian club in Winchester.

He was taken to Dayton Sunday morning by A. W. Lessly, owner of the Rose hotel, and they reached there about 9 o'clock. Mr. Bryan stayed in his room during the morning and made preparations for the speech to be delivered at the courthouse, in Dayton that afternoon. Another engagement in Dayton was one of the Hotel Association tomorrow at 6:30 when he would meet with the progressive Dayton club and discuss plans for the Bryan college, the movement for which was to be definitely launched at the dinner tomorrow night.

He had planned to leave Tuesday morning for Knoxsville.

Dr. Thomason was awakened by the tragedy a few minutes after the doctor's wife had revealed that Mr. Bryan had died. The streets near the home were thronged with people. Mrs. Bryan is said to be entirely composed and is bearing up wonderfully, under the circumstances.

She expressed the desire that her husband be buried in the Arlington cemetery and feels it may be arranged as he held the title of colonel in the army and she had heard her husband express a desire to be buried there. No arrangements will be made until Mrs. W. J. Bryan, Jr., is located and communicated with.

In conversations with the Associated Press representatives here last Friday Mr. Bryan expressed surprise that the southern press had not taken cognizance of the criticisms by representatives of the eastern press of the Scopes trial at Dayton, of the people of Tennessee, because of passage of the anti-evolution act.

Mr. Bryan said that while much ado was being made about the Tennessee law, nothing had been said concerning the act passed by congress prohibiting the teaching of evolution being taught in the District of Columbia. He claimed that while the Tennessee law was specific in that it prohibited teaching that mankind originated from lower animals, the District of Columbia law prohibited the teaching of anything that would reflect upon the bible.

Mr. Bryan expressed pleasure that the Scopes trial had suddenly collapsed before he was permitted to make his prepared speech, declaring that now he could present it to the people of the country just as he wanted it without interruptions from opposing counsel and without having to make extemporaneous replies to preceding speeches. He appeared concerned over the coming battle between fundamentalism and modernism, and seemed eager for the fray.

Mr Bryan came here and made arrangements to publish his speech and had expected to deliver it at Chattanooga, Nashville and Harteville, the latter place being the home of Senator Butler, author of the state anti-evolution law.

Never Felt Better in His Life.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 26—(A. P.)—Shortly before William Jennings Bryan died today, he remarked that he had never felt better in his life and was ready to go before the country to wage his battle against modernism.

The great commoner had returned to Dayton this morning after completing arrangements for the publication of the address he had prepared to deliver in closing the trial of John T. Scopes, who recently was convicted of violating Tennessee's anti-evolution law.

Publication of this speech at an early date was to mark the opening of the crusade in behalf of fundamentalism, Mr. Bryan planned to carry before the entire country.

Despite the fact Mr. Bryan had spoken yesterday at Jasper and Winchester, Tenn., and had travelled over 200 miles, he appeared in the best of health and unfatigued. He attended services at the Southern Episcopal church and led the congregation in a prayer which citizens tonight described as one of the most beautiful ever delivered in the Dayton church.

Following the services, the Commoner was greeted by many members of the congregation. He then returned to his temporary home here, where he ate a heavy dinner, remarking that his travels of yesterday and the early morning had given him a hearty appetite.

Shortly after three o'clock Mr. Bryan returned to his room to rest and Mrs. Bryan went to the back porch to attend to some correspondence. She was only 15 feet away from his bed

"About 4:30 I felt like Mr. Bryan had been asleep long enough, so I sent Mr. McCartney (the chauffeur) to wake him, Mrs. Bryan told friends."

McCartney entered the room and shook Mr. Bryan.

"He always was a heavy sleeper and was hard to wake" he said, adding that when he shook the body a second time he noticed Mr. Bryan was not breathing.

Dr. W. F. Thomason and Dr. A. C. Broyles were summoned immediately and A. B. Andrews also was called by McCartney. After an examination, the physicians stated Mr. Bryan evidently had been dead between thirty and forty five minutes and that death had been caused by apoplexy.

"During all the excitement, Mrs Bryan was the calmest person in the house," Mr. Andrews said. "She took complete charge of affairs and showed more nerve than I have ever seen in a woman—and she is an invalid too."

Several times, Mrs. Bryan said, the Commoner expressed a desire to be buried in Arlington cemetery.

"You know he was a colonel in the Spanish-American war and since it was his wish to rest in Arlington, we probably will place him there," she continued.

"But no definite decision will be reached until we hear from William Jennings Bryan, Jr."

COMMENT ON CHARACTER OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

Vice President Dawes

DENVER, Colo., July 26—(AP)—Vice President Dawes on being informed of the death of William Jennings Bryan, issued the following statement to the Associated Press:

"I have been a friend of Mr. Bryan for thirty-eight years we started as young lawyers in Lincoln, Neb., throughout all these years of work and strenuous public service there shows resplendent a high personal character.

"In all he did, Mr. Bryan was in earnest and in it all, he tried to do good.

"Those who knew him best respected most his motives and his sincerity. He never did unworthy or mean things. He may have been mistakes at times as we all are, but he was trying always to do the right as he saw it.

"Of his great influence on the public thought of his day, his public services and his transcedent ability as an orator, I will leave to others to speak but I want simply as an old friend and neighbor for many years to pay my tribute of respect to a good and a great man, whose life has been one of high purpose, and helpfulness and whose death brings a sense of personal loss."

President's Tribute Today

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 26—(A. P.)President Coolidge was informed of the death of William Jennings Bryan through the Associated Press. While no statement was forthcoming tonight it was said Mr. Coolidge probably would pay tribute tomorrow, either in a statement or in a message of condolence to Mrs. Bryan, to the man who was thrice candidate for president.

The president and Mr. Bryan were warm personal friends and just before the executive departed from Washington Mr. Bryan was a luncheon guest at the White House.

Elihu Root

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Elihu Root, a republican, and as was Mr. Bryan, a former secretary of state, said when informed of Mr. Bryan's death:

"Mr. Bryan was a good and kindly man. He was fairly sincere at all times and ever sincere on the points where I most disagreed with him."

Judge Alton B. Parker

ESPOUS, N. Y., July 26.—(AP)—Judge Alton B. Parker, Theodore Roosevelt's opponent in the presidential campaign of 1904, the campaign immediately preceding the last presidential race of William Jennings Bryan, declined tonight to comment on Mr. Bryan's death at Dayton, Tenn., today.

"I don't care to make any statement," he said "This is too sudden."

John W. Davis

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—John W. Davis, former ambassador to the court of St. James and democratic candidate for president last year, when informed at his Long Island summer home of the death of William Jennings Bryan, said to the Associated Press:

"I am sure that Mr. Bryan went as he would have wished to go, fighting for the convictions that were nearest to his heart. In this sense his death is in keeping with his life. Not even those who most disagreed with him ever questioned his courage and the deep sincerity of his convictions, whether religious or political.

"So long as he lived, he spoke the sentiment of millions of his countrymen and influenced the thought of others to an extent that can hardly be measured. At one was counted himself a personal friend, I am deeply grieved by his passing and regard it as a great loss to the entire country."

James J. Walsh

MERIDEN, July 26.—(AP)—"The nation has lost one of its big men," declared James J. Walsh, chairman of the democratic state central committee when he heard of the death of William Jennings Bryan.

"Personally, I think Mr. Bryan was very brainy, very bright, and a wonderful character. He was always a great power in the democratic party, and he did a great deal for both his nation and as a party.

He was commander of the Connecticut brdgade of that order for eight years, and was one of the leading Knights of Pythias in this state.

DARROW EXPRESSES REGRET AT DEATH OF BRYAN

ELKMONT TENN., July 26.—(AP)—"I am pained to hear of the death of Honorable William Jennings Bryan," Clarence Darrow, Chicago attorney and cross examiner of the commoner in the recent trial of John T. Scopes at Dayton, Tenn., last Monday, declared this evening when informed of the demise of the notable American by the Knoxville Journal.

"I have known Mr. Bryan since 1896 and supported him twice for the presidency. He was a man of strong convictions and always espoused his cause with ability and courage," Mr. Darrow continued. "I differed with him on many questions but always respected his sincerity and devotion. I am very sorry for his family and for his friends who loved him."

Dr. Neal, the senior counsel in the Neal, Dudley Field Malone and Arthur Garfield Hays in the defense of Mr. Scopes who was on trial for the violation of the Tennessee anti-evolution act, is spending several days in the Great Smoky Mountains with Mrs. Darrow, his secretary. Dr. Neal and Knoxville citizens, arriving here Friday evening. First efforts to communicate with him were fruitless as he was with a party on a tour of Gregory's Bald, one of the mountain peaks of this section. Immediately on return to the Appalachian Club tonight he was received by the Knoxville newspaper, informed of Mr. Bryan's death and expressed his deep regrets.

Dr. Neal, the senior ounsel in the defense of Sopes, also expressed sorrow at the death of Mr. Bryan.

"As a citizen of Rhea county, I heartily welcomed Mr. Bryan to Dayton," he said. "I am grieved and shocked that his unexpected death had to come at the end of his stay in my county. My sympathies are extended to Mrs. Bryan and members of his family."

By Gov. Al Smith.

MONMOUTH BEACH, N. J., July 26.—(A. P.)—Governor Smith of New York, who is spending the week end with Lewis Nixon, when informed of the death of William Jennings Bryan, said: "I hear this with a great deal of regret. He was a vigorous American and even those who differed with his ideas had great regard for him."

Mr. Bryan in supporting William Gibbs McAdoo was one of Mr. Smith's strongest opponents in the race for the last democratic presidential nomination.

SKETCH OF CAREER OF WM. J. BRYAN

Virtually dominant in the democratic party for nearly sixteen years, William J. Bryan was three times nominated and defeated for the presidency. Then, like Elijah of old, he cast his mantle upon the Elisha of Princeton and exerted a potent influence in bringing about Woodrow Wilson's first nomination for the office to which he, himself, had vainly aspired.

Known in his youth as "the silver-tongued boy orator of the Platte," it was Mr. Bryan's eloquence in his famous "cross of gold" speech at the democratic national convention in Chicago in 1896 that made him the choice of his party. He polled more than 6,500,000 votes in his first campaign.

His career has been likened to that of Henry Clay who also was three times nominated for the presidency and as many times defeated. Clay, too, became a Secretary of State. Friends of Bryan insisted that, like Clay, he was too conscientious, consistent and scrupulous for a politician and that the famous Whig's declaration "I would rather be right than be President" was thrice candidate for president.

Trade Congress Will Meet In London Today

Rumor Prevails That the Government Grant Subsidy For the Coal Trade.

LONDON, July 26.—(AP)—Premier Baldwin employed almost the whole day in consulting with his colleagues and experts in order to prepare himself for his meeting tomorrow with a committee from the Trade Union congress.

Nothing further has developed regarding the government's intentions, but the rumor has gained strength that a temporary government subsidy for the coal trade would be proposed. The idea of such trade subsidies is not very popular in the country, but in the present case governmental aid might be tactfully accepted as a temporary expedient in tiding the coal industry over a difficult period.

Very plain speaking was indulged in today by former ministers of the late Labor government. Stephen Walsh, formerly secretary of war, speaking at Wigan, said that the coal owners, according to their own figures, made an average profit of more than £16,000,000 yearly since the 1921 lockout; yet they professed the impossibility of paying present wages. Mr. Walsh characterized the wage conditions of the miners as "a disgrace to civilization," and the mine owners' new proposals as "infernal."

Emanuel Shinwell, former parliamentary secretary of the mines department, addressing a miners' demonstration near Durham today, deplored the attack on Dean Welldon yesterday as "foolish in the circumstances, but not inconsistent with the dean's previous utterances."

Whether the government like it or not, he declared, economic pressure was forcing the country towards national ownership of mines. He suggested as a temporary palliative that the government should induce the mine owners to continue the existing agreement for a further period and in the meantime ascertain what financial assistance would be required to reestablish unremunerative pits suffering from obsolete equipment.

Dean Welldon addressed a great miners' gala service today in Durham cathedral. He declared he did not begrudge the miners any wages it was possible to pay them; if their wages were doubled or trebled it would be no more than they deserved. But the question was not what it was desirable, but what it was possible to pay them.

The dean's general argument was that strikes and lockouts benefited nobody and that industrial warfare was unpatriotic, because it placed British trade abroad at a disadvantage. He advocated conciliation and arbitration.

A conference of miners and mine owners has been called for Wednesday.

HOUSE WAS DAMAGED BY FALLING AIRPLANE

BRISTOL, July 26.—(A. P.)—A commercial passenger airplane piloted by Charles Discombe, of Hartford and carrying two passengers fell in East Bristol this afternoon. No one was injured. The plane had been making trips all day and was returning to the field late this afternoon when it went into a tail spin and then a nose dive.

In falling, the machine struck a house, carried away half of a veranda, a cornice and part of the roof. The plane landed right side up, however, and while it was demolished, the pilot and the two passengers escaped injury. The passengers were Frank Carl and Edward Scott, of Bristol.

AMERICAN STANDARD OF ELECTRICAL WIRING CODE

NEW YORK, July 26—(A. P.)—An electrical wiring code formulated by the National Board of Fire Underwriters has been adopted as "the American standard" by the American Engineering Standards committee. It purports to set the best modern practice in the installation and use of electric apparatus for light, power and heat within buildings and for signalling, including radio. The new code was drawn up by a committee representing 39 organizations including several federal, state and municipal bodies interested in the subject.

2,000 Liquor Violation Cases

Are to Be Brought Before Federal Judge Garvin in New York Today.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Two thousand liquor violation cases will be brought before Federal Judge Garvin tomorrow in the second drive of United States Attorney Buckner to get rid of the enormous liquor calendar he inherited when he took office several months ago. The cases involve waiters, bartenders and owners and employers of alleged "speakeasies."

Mr. Buckner hopes most of the cases will be disposed of during the week. "I have recommended, and I hope he will approve," he said today, "the imposition of fines running from $50 to $1,000 upon all who plead guilty. We want to clear ourselves of all stock of this character and we hope to open in the fall with an entirely new line of prohibition goods. We shall discontinue the five and ten cent counter in accordance with the policy which has been in effect since I took office so far as new cases are concerned."

LEWIS IS EXPECTED AT COAL CONFERENCE TODAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 26.—(A. P.)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who has not been officially seen or heard from for two weeks by anthracite scale negotiators, is expected to return hourly. Also, the Wilkes-Barre convention of District 1 is now safely out of the way, with Rinaldo Cappellini, president, even more firmly in the saddle. All in all, according to general predictions tonight, negotiations for settlement of the wage agreement should speed up on resumption Tuesday, and possibly move to some decisive climax before the week is out.

Mr. Lewis' return will dispose of, if not explain, the mystery of his departure and it is expected will show that the cause of his going, whatever it was, has at least been sufficiently removed.

The return of Mr. Lewis to the firing line may also mark return to activity of Samuel D. Warriner and William J. Richards of the operators. Both the latter are generally looked upon here as the elder statesmen of the mine owners' scale experts.

All three men have been compared in headquarters gossip here to star athletes, grown tired of training trips, who always get back into the grind in time to bear their rightful burdens when the real pennant race gets under way.

A fortnight back, the scale conference faced a stretch of preliminary work, with the miners due to present their case with considerable technical minuteness.

At that time, regardless of anything said since to the contrary, both sides were tentatively weighing the advisability of taking adjournment for the week of the Wilkes-Barre convention—the week just ended. Public criticism that the parley was not making time, however, assumed to have forced abandonment of the plan and the conference continued in session.

THREE WOMEN RESCUED BY FIREMEN IN BOSTON

BOSTON, July 26.—(A. P.)—Several firemen crawled along a foot-wide coping six floors above the street, broke in a top floor window and rescued three aged women as fire swept through a large apartment house here today.

The women Miss Eliza W. Bird, 75, her sister, Sarah, 7, and Mrs. Emma M. Sanderson, 81, were taken to the City hospital suffering from shock and the effects of smoke, but were expected to recover.

A dozen other occupants, trapped in smoke filled hall ways and rooms were brought to safety by firemen and police. The building which was condemned a year ago for minor building violations, was completely gutted from the second floor up. Three alarms brought all available district apparatus and a crowd of thousands to the scene. Street car traffic was tied up for two hours

Amerian adherence to the world court protocol was opposed by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, who declared "an audacious and desperate attempt is being made by the internationalists and occult foreign infinences to force the United States in the court."

Seven mills here have announced wage reductions of ten per cent., effective today. While several more plants have not posted notices, it is expected they will announce cuts in the near future. Announcements of wage cuts in Burrillville, R. I., mills brought the aggregate number of employes affected to nearly 10,000.

MOMENTOUS CONFERENCE PROHIBITION TO OPEN TODAY

Assistant Secretary Andrews Will Consult Advisers and Prohibition Officials From Various Sections of the Country —Will Probably Be a Week Long Conference.

WASHINGTON, July 26—(A. P.)—Assistant Secretary Andrews tomorrow will begin one of the most strenuous weeks of his career as the treasury's prohibition field marshal. Indications today were that he will be occupied with probably a week-long conference with his advisers and prohibition officials from various sections of the country from whom he hopes to gather definite ideas about conditions.

Decision to delay the operation of the re-organized enforcement program until about September 1, as announced yesterday, has given the chief enforcement official more time with which to do the job he had set out to do.

Convinced that his new program will stand or fall on the ability of the men he chooses to fill the posts of prohibition administrators for the twenty four districts, Mr. Andrews accepts this phase of his task as of first importance. He is using a fine toothed comb on the life record of every man who gives promise of being fit for one of the administrative posts and who can be pursuaded to join the organization, and is asking each of his callers about certain names on the list to get all shades of opinions. Thus he figures he can find the proper men to handle the different problems of the several districts.

Mr. Andrews regards the appointment of the administrators as doubly important since each is to be made to shoulder full responsibility in his jurisdiction, and further, because each will be given a free hand to pick his subordinates.

Besides the question of picking "big" men for the administrative posts, the assistant secretary has what he regards as grave problems in working out the details of administration under the re-organization which is admitted to be a shake-up from top to bottom, in methods of attempting to enforce the law everywhere. It takes time and infinite patience he said, to work out the details, each of which must be viewed as of consequence if the new machine is to run smoothly from the start. A smooth running machine after September 1 is the goal for which Mr. Andrews and Acting Secretary Winston are striving.

The week's conferences are to be initiated between Mr. Andrews and his "board of strategy" composed of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes and his staff, and his own assistants in the treasury department, to be followed by discussions by those officials in the department of justice who must carry on the prosecution of violators trapped by the enforcement machinery.

There have been several meetings with Attorney General Sargent, William J. Donovan, the assistant to the attorney general and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition prosecution. With the latter, Mr. Andrews has talked of policy and of methods of making better cases for submission to grand juries and the courts. Improvement in this phase of the work has been urged at the department of justice constantly in the last few years and Mr. Andrews has assured Mrs. Willebrandt that the reorganization will not fail to take into consideration the gathering of more substantial evidence for use of the United States attorneys in prosecuting violators.

It is Mr. Andrews idea that in building the new enforcement machine, attention must be given to all three arms of the federal service involved: the prohibition unit with its organization inside the United States and the customs service and coast guard with their land and water protective programs against smuggling. The three, he believes should be moulded together to work as a single unit in support of the law.

CLASH AT RUSSIAN-GREEK CHURCH WAS AVERTED

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—A threatened clash today of warring factions in the congregation of the St. Nicholas Russian-Greek Catholic cathedral was averted dramatically when a lone worshipper knelt on the rain-soaked pavement and prayed for peace.

Threat and epithet in the milling crowd of 600 were stilled as heads were bared and angry-flushed faces were bowed in imitation of the humble figure. From a potential mob which might have required the energetic interference of the 20 policemen ready on the scene, the assemblage was translated into a quiet flow of homeward-bound church members.

The identity of the peace maker was not ascertained. The prayer concluded and his mission accomplished, he walked rapidly to the nearest corner and disappeared down a side street.

The cathedral congregation has been in turmoil several years as a result of a controversy as to its leadership. The issue finally was taken to the courts but a further tangle resulted there, when one supreme court justice held in favor of Bishop Adam Philipovsky and another for Archbishop Platon Rodzestrensky. Bishop Adam last week was adjudged in contempt by Justice Levy and was ordered to turn the cathedral over to his opponent, but the necessary papers had not been signed and the bishop remained in control during the services today.

Throughout the mass, there was a loud murmuring among the worshippers within the church and the Sabbath decorum was shattered entirely when the congregation had been dismissed to the street. Charges and counter-charges were shouted as the factions arrayed themselves around their leaders.

Then came the pacific intervention of the union psalmist.

STATE OFFICERS ELECTED BY RED MEN IN WATERBURY

WATERBURY, July 26.—(AP)—Officers were elected at a convention of the Grand Court of the German Independent Order of Red Men here today. The officers are: Grand chief, William Rueckert, of New Haven; under chief, Charles Loeffler, of Waterbury; second assistant, Louis Hensler, of New Haven; grand secretary, Richard Schleigher; grand treasurer, William P. Loeffler.

Three delegates to represent the grand lodge at the national convention in Hoboken in September were elected as follows: John Schuster, of Waterbury; Paul Keil, of New Haven; and Mrs. Theresa M. Hagewald, of New Haven. William P. Loeffler will represent the Uhland tribe and Christian Wiener will represent the Goethe encampment at this convention.

The delegates met in Foresters' hall at 10 a. m., and were served refreshments by the Uhland tribe and the Goethe encampment, the local lodges which acted as hosts. The meeting adjourned at 1 p. m., and took lunch at the Kingsbury hotel. The afternoon session began at 2 p. m., and the convention was formally closed at 5 o'clock.

Business in addition to the election of officers included the choosing of New Britain as the state convention city for 1926. The date will be the last Sunday of next July.

It was voted to observe the 76th anniversary of the organization in New Haven. This event will also take place in July 1926.

Reports of officers indicated the society to be in a flourishing condition. A general increase in membership and a sound financial standing were reported. The entertainment committee for the local lodges included Charles Loeffler, William P. Loeffler, Mrs John Schuster, Mrs. Amelia King and Otto Patchikovski.

The refreshments committee which prepared geberous lunches for the delegates was headed by Mrs. Emily King and included: Mrs. John Schuster, Mrs. Emil Franz, Mrs. Andrew Kulmann, Mrs. Ida Sutton and Otto Patchikovski.

PRESIDENT WRITES OF THE MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 26.—(AP)—"The progress made by the motion picture industry both in education and in entertainment as an outstanding achievement of the opening years of this country," President Coolidge declared in a letter to Will H. Hays, made public here today.

The letter of the president follows:

"My attention has been called to the fact that you are taking the 29th anniversary of the moving picture industry as an occasion to inaugurate a greater movie season campaign. Such a movement to emphasize the desirability of worthy motion pictures will be of real public value. The progress that has been made in both education and entertainment in this tremendous industry is an outstanding achievement of the opening years of this country. I congratulate you and wish you a continuation of your success."

President and Mrs. Coolidge spent a quiet Sunday remaining at White Court except for a motor trip to Salem to attend the morning service at Tabernacle Congregational church. They were accompanied by their son, John.

INTEREST SUSTAINED IN DISCOVERIES ABOUT CANCER

LONDON, July 26.—(AP)—Interest in the recent discoveries of Dr. Williams E. Gye and Dr. J. E. Barnard, microscopists, relating to the ineffective agent of cancer shows no signs of abating, and further announcements on the progress made in combatting this dread disease are expected. Having gone a long way toward discovering the cause, the two scientists will direct their experiments in an attempt to discover something which will counteract the disease. Some success in this direction is believed to have been achieved.

When it was announced that vaccination tests would be made on human beings, hundreds of persons volunteered for the ordeal, but it was pointed out that possibly a year must elapse before it will be necessary to call for volunteers for cancer inoculation. The medical profession meanwhile has taken the opportunity to state that persons who submit to inoculation by live cancer retain run great risks.

QUIET ALONG THE FRENCH FRONT IN MOROCCO

PARIS, July 26.—(AP)—An official communication received from Fez today regarding the warfare in Morocco says the situation was quiet all along the Fez front. The only action reported was a small one on a spur south of Tiffrant, from which the rebel Moors were rapidly dislodged. The statement says the country south of the Guergha river, between Ain Aicha and Kelaa Dessless, has now been cleared of the enemy.

A Tangier dispatch says the chiefs of the Djebala and Andjera tribes have been meeting at Sheshuan and that native information is to the effect that an offensive will be resumed as soon as they return to their homes. Agents of Abd-El-Krim, however, explain the meeting by saying the Riff tribes are tired of their profitless efforts and that they refused to continue the struggle unless the situation improved. Therefore Abd-El-Krim summoned the meeting to compel the Djebalas and Andjeras to rise in a body against the French and the Spanish.

A WOMAN HELD FOR IMPERSONATING ANOTHER

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Accused of impersonating Mrs. Albert Tilt, of Greenwoods, Conn., in purchasing $150 worth of theatre tickets on credit, and then returning them to the box office and getting the money, Mrs. Maud Blake, 28, said to be a member of an old southern family, was arraigned today on a charge of petty larceny and released in $200 bail for examination Tuesday.

Captain Marion Perkins, in charge of a squad of Chattanooga police on duty at Dayton during the Scopes trial, said that many threats had been made on the life of William Jennings Bryan.

WILLIMANTIC

Walter Delude, Thomas Vertefeuille and Louis Berube were arrested over the week end on charges of drunkenness and breach of the peace. They will be in the police court this (Monday) morning. An additional charge will probably be preferred against them then.

The twenty-first week of the American Thread company strike starts this (Monday) morning with apparently no change in the situation. Neither side seems to give in, one way or the other. The company is moving families into town to operate the mill, practically every day.

Sunday afternoon at Recreation park, Taftville-A. A. defeated the West Ends, 6 to 4. Letty Smith pitched the entire route for Willimantic. Flashy support proved his undoing. Gauthier started for Taftville and was relieved by Harry Mills.

Four boys, whose ages range from 10 to 13, were before the juvenile court Saturday morning, charged with breaking windows. The offense was committed last week, when several panes of glass were broken in the empty tenement at 108 Ives street, the property of the American Thread company. The boys were arrested by state police. They were given a reprimand by the court and released, in the care of their parents, for one year.

R. L. Hahn, instructor of vocational agriculture at Windham High school, arrived Friday evening from New York to spend the week end with his family at Mansfield. Mr. Hahn is at Columbia university summer school taking notes.

Saturday afternoon the Girl Scout patrols of St. Joseph's parish, with other girls of the parish, broke camp at Columbia Lake. Friday evening they had a marshmallow roast. Addresses were given by Edwin J. Donnelly and Mayor George W. Hickey, who were guests of the camp.

Engine Company No. 1 was called to a fire at the residence of 29 Jackson place owned by Stanley Stygar Saturday morning at 10:30. No chemicals were necessary.

David Tachinsky, of Brick Top road, was fined $5 and costs in police court Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when the wagon, he was driving, was struck by a Ford car operated by Fred Mott, of Lewiston avenue, while traveling up Dupont hill. The matter was reported to the police. Mr. Mott agreed to settle for $5 damage. Tachinsky was thrown to the ground, but was only shaken up.

Jan Mickas, of Hanks Hill, was before the Mansfield Town court, Friday morning, charged with violation of the liquor law on two counts, manufacturing and a fine of $25 for reputation. Mickas' appearance in court was the result of a raid made on his farm by state police from the Stafford barracks. Two officers seized two stills, one in operation and the other which should not have had figured in an explosion. The total assessment amounted to $250.

Notman Pollack of Gurleyville, was before the Mansfield Town court Saturday morning charged with allowing domestic animals to roam on his neighbors' premises. The complainants in the case were William and Theodore Chabot. Pollack pleaded not guilty. Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews found the accused guilty, and fined him $5 and costs, amounting to $7.15.

William A. Fowley, et al, of Hartford, have brought injunction proceedings against Henry Goldstein, of Hop River, to prohibit the latter from preventing plaintiffs from using land owned by Goldstein in trucking ashes from the plant of the Old Riverboard company to the highway. Considerable trouble for the past month has resulted and the plaintiffs through their attorney, placed an attachments on property owned by Goldstein. Damages of $1,000 are claimed. The papers were served by Deputy Sheriff Allison Hinks. The case is returnable before the common pleas court in Hartford, on the first Tuesday in September.

There were four cases of long standing in the Coventry town court, Friday evening. Fred Chapman, of this city, was charged with using a car equipped with markers issued for another machine. He pleaded guilty. Julius Sussman charged with operating an automobile without a driver's license entered the same plea. These cases were peculiar. Chapman was driving a car used in towing another from Mansfield Depot to Sussman's garage in this city and had Julius Sussman, 13 years old, at the steering wheel of the machine that was being towed. This machine was minus markers and Chapman, it was explained, at court removed the number plate from the rear of the first car and placed it on the other. The condition was discovered by the state police in the town of Coventry. Chapman and Sussman were fined $5 and costs each.

Ralph VanDeck, 20, of South Coventry, charged with reckless driving on May 13, pleaded guilty. The case was settled on payment of costs.

John F. Thompson, of Windham Center who is well known in this city, was also charged with reckless driving. He pleaded guilty. Thompson, who was the driver of an automobile owned by his brother, struck the bridge over the Willimantic river at Coventry July 13. Justice Gilmon imposed a fine of $25 and costs. Thompson paid.

In police court Saturday morning, the case of Fred Koch, of Amston, was continued to Aug. 1 to allow the accused to procure counsel. Koch was driver of a machine, which figured in an accident at the junction of Main and Windham streets Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock with another car, which was being driven by Arthur Racicot, of this city.

Another case before the police court was that of John J. Burk, an enlisted man of the United States army, who gave his station as the Jeffrie Air-port, East Boston, Mass. He was charged with breach of the peace. Deputy Judge Russell A. Andrews, who sat in the court in the absence of Judge Frank H. Foss, fined Burk, who had pleaded guilty, $5 and costs, amounting to $11.15. Burk, who has been in town but a few days, was arrested Friday night on the complaint that he was causing trouble. During the evening he was seen with some young women on the streets, flourishing a policeman's club.

Dr. Vernon Z. Cone, of 5 West 61st street, New York city, was in the Mansfield Town court Friday night, charged with several violations of the automobile law, including reckless driving, operating an out- of-state car over 15 days, not having his car properly registered and for not having a Connecticut operator's license. Cone's plea was guilty to the first two charges, while the other charges were nolled. Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews imposed a fine of $25 and costs on the charge of reckless driving, remitting $10 of the fine. On the second charge, the fine was $10. Cone was apprehended by State Policeman Hardisty and Hulburt, of the Stafford Springs police barracks, as the officers were on their way to make a liquor raid. According to the police they had to pull to the side of the road to avoid a collision. The speeding car was pursued and overtaken. In the machine with Dr. Cone was Dr. Alvin W. Pepperheimer, of New York, who has a summer residence in Scotland. Both are instructors at Columbia college and for the past month have been at the International poultry plant at Storrs, doing research work.

Mrs. Joseph Alvina Hebert Bernard, 64, died at her home, 124 Main street, Friday night. Mrs. Bernard was born in St. Charles, Canada, in 1861, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hebert. She is survived by eight sons, Adelard Bernard of Holyoke, Alfred, Adjutor, Dona, Ernest and Henry of this city, Frederick, of Winsted, and Arthur, of Manitoba, Canada, five daughters, Mrs. Gedeon Royal, Mrs. Mildred Dumos, Mrs. Napoleon Fontaine and Misses Florina and Ida Bernard, all of this city; two brothers, Geoffrois Hebert, of St. Joseph's, Deleves, Canada and Octave Hebert, of St. Charles, Canada, and by 21 grand children. She was a devout member of St. Mary's parish and of St. Ann's society. She has been a resident of this city for the past 14 years.

STATION AGT. O. F. MILLER RETIRED AFTER 33 YEARS.

JEWETT CITY, July 26—Station Agent Olin F. Williams, at his own request, has been retired by the New Haven railroad. Mr. Mullen, while laying no claim to the title of pioneer, yet has a place well within the class of the railroad's old-timers. His record, copied from the books of the company, is summarized in the following entries: 1887, entered the service as checker on Norwich line docks at New London. 1890, promoted to freight clerk on Norwich line boats, serving on the City of Boston, City of Lawrence, City of Worcester and City of Lowell. April, 1897, appointed agent at Taftville. December, 1897, appointed agent at Jewett City. At his own request was retired July 1, 1925.

Any investigation of the clerical methods adapted and followed out by Mr. Miller during his 28 continuous years of service, must point to the one credit of efficiency.

Stories told, not by Mr. Miller, include some of the old steam boating days, when the Norwich line vessels, used to come up the Sound, from New York, loaded to the guards, with a miscellaneous cargo of freight. When the boat docked in New London, all this manifest, consigned to many New England points, must have been billed by one man for transhipping by rail.

Mr. Miller is something of a traveler and besides numerous short trips, has taken a number of tours in the west, including the thousands of cities along the Pacific coast. When a young man, he was associated with his father in the newspaper business beyond the Mississippi, ad at one time they edited and published the G. O. P. Independent, in Clay Center, Kansas.

Mr. Miller is a member of Mt. Vernon lodge, No. 75, F. and A. M., of Jewett City, and of the Cable club, of New London.

GULDEN'S new SALADRESSING MUSTARD

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

A new motor generator, authorized purchased by the borough, has been ordered by Chief A. P. Woodward. The device is to be installed at the central fire station in Academy street and used to charge the storage batteries that operate the fire alarm telegraph system of the borough. For years past current for the charging of these batteries has been obtained from the wires of the Connecticut company. It has been deemed advisable for the borough to own its own equipment for generating the necessary electricity, so the installation referred to will be made in the near future.

Another bit of new equipment for the fire department is a 12-foot folding ladder that will be carried on the pumper. This ladder will be very valuable and convenient in getting into places where it is difficult to handle an ordinary type of ladder.

Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, at the chapel in Westfield cemetery, funeral services for Miss Sarah Kerr, 81, were conducted by Rev. W. B. Williams, of the Westfield Congregational church. numbers of friends being in attendance. Burial was in Westfield cemetery. The bearers were four deacons of the Congregational church—George E. Guild, Oliver F. Bartlett, H. B. Surrey and Theodore E. Hammett. A. F. Wood was in charge of the arrangements.

Miss Kerr, many years resident in Brooklyn, died last Wednesday evening at the Norwich State hospital. Miss Kerr was a native of Castle Forward, near Londonderry, Ireland. She leaves a sister, Mrs. John Waldo, of Danielson, and a brother, George Robert Kerr, of Colorado Springs.

Motor trucks and motor busses conveyed through Danielson, Saturday morning, the officers and men of the Headquarters company of Putnam, Captain J. J. McGarry commanding, after a tour of field service at Niantic. Thus again was illustrated the use into which pasenger motor transportation has come and how it is winning passenger business away from existing rail lines.

Visitors from Danielson to Douglas camp meeting the past few days have included: Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rainville, Kent Darbie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ware, Esther Ware, Rev. Elmer Gallup and members of his family, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hammond, Miss Bertha Young, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. John Doliff, Mrs. Laura Reynolds, Miss Nellie Gleason, Byron Shippee, Mrs. Jennie McBride.

Traveling men who hear of a talked of plan to remove passenger trains from the local line and substitute a bus service are wondering how they are going to get their trunks about—and other heavy baggage. Few of the busses now operating—though some do—have much accommodation for handling heavy trunks.

Members of the Finnish colony in Brooklyn held a service at the Congregational church in that place Sunday afternoon.

Henry A. Seigert, of Providence, was a visitor with friends in Danielson, over Sunday.

Old tires from automobiles have taken on a new interest for the junkmen since the price of crude rubber went sky-rocketing and forced such an advance in the price of new tires. A year ago one would find trouble in giving away a lot of old tires. Not so these days.

In spite of all warnings that they are likely to be arrested for infraction of the law, Danielson has a number of bicyclists who continue to use spotlights at night instead of the lights prescribed by law.

Excavation is underway by the Crystal Water company for the installation of a new line of 6-inch main between School and Furnace streets from a point near the Williamsville Buff company plant to the Danielson Inn property. This is the line on which a new two-way hydrant with steamer connection is to be installed.

Not in a number of years have the electric lighting and telephone companies been put to so much trouble by electrical storms as they have to-date this season. Week after week severe thunderstorms damage their lines, interfering with their services and putting them to great expense for repairs. This sort of trouble is unavoidable and as much regretted by the companies as those who are put to inconvenience by loss of service.

Relatives and friends from Danielson were at Pomfret, Saturday morning, to attend the funeral of Joseph Allard, father of Mrs. Charles Nadeau, of School street. The high mass of requiem was at Holy Trinity church Rev. George J. Donahue officiating. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery at Pomfret. The bearers were George Greeley, R. Clemons, S. Donnan and J. Meehan. E. Bullard are on the ocean route for home al arrangements.

W. Irving Bullard and son, Edward Bullard are on the ocean enrouteforhome after spending the time since early summer in Europe. They have toured by train, boat and plane, spending at one time five and a half hours in the air on a journey between Amsterdam and Berlin. Their visit abroad also has taken them to England, Scotland, Switzerland, Bavaria and Saxony. They are expected to arrive in this country during the present week.

At the week end, 100 pheasants were released in favorable sections hereabouts by members of the Danielson Rod and Gun club. Knowing the habits and preferences of these game birds as to habitats, they were released in locations most favorable to their safety and development. The birds were obtained from the state. They are about one-third grown.

Miss Mae Bailey, of School street, is visiting for a few days with friends at Wellesley Hills, Mass.

Major and Mrs. Albert Warren are expected here early in August for a visit with Major Warren's mother, Mrs. Emma Warren. They will spend the greater part of August with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burrows, at Oakland Beach.

The body of Miss Evelyn E. Jette, who died late Friday, at the Peter Brent Brigham hospital, Boston, as told in Saturday's Bulletin, arrived here Saturday afternoon and was taken to the Jette home, on Maple street. Harry E. Magoon made a recent business to Lawrence.

Mrs. Donat Beaudoin has returned to her duties in the Danielson Trust company organization after a motor trip with her husband to Canada.

Major E. L. Darbie, who has been in camp at Niantic the past fortnight, returned here Saturday.

Miss Mildred Leach is spending a vacation at Northfield.

Mrs. Susan Keane and Sidney Wood, both of Providence, were married here Saturday morning by Judge Arthur G. Bill, acting as a justice of the peace.

Mrs. Hattie Bailey, Rae Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Durant Lathrop and Durant Lathrop, Jr., made up a motor party that went to Winthrop, Mass., for the week end.

Charles P. Gilberson, of Fall River, was a visitor with friends in Danielson, over Sunday.

J. Carl Witter was at Pascoag, attending the races, Saturday afternoon.

The man who brings home the bacon is not always the one who eats it.

PUTNAM

Patrolman Durand has returned from his two weeks' vacation which was spent at Oakland Beach and was neighbor to Mayor Chapdelaine and Frank Jarvis, who have cottages there for the season. Patrolman Alferie Sponcey is now on his two weeks of absence and is camping with his family for the two weeks at Flat Rock, Killingly Pond.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Windham County League of Women Voters held at the home of Mrs. F. U. Johnstone at Woodstock, arrangements were made for the future activities of the organization. The board consists of the county officers and presidents of the various leagues.

Mrs. Joseph Clark Moppin, Edward Murray and Miss Rosamond Murray sailed from New York Saturday for a two months' trip to South America. Mrs. Hoppin has sublet the Vinton home at Pomfret, which she has been occupying this summer, to Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, of New York.

Arthur B. Lapsley has returned to his home at Pomfret, after several days at Slocum Farm, Newport, R. I., where he has been the guest of Lawrence Perkins.

Mrs. Hattie Malley has gone with Mrs. John P. Grosvenor and family and will be with them on Cape Cod until the first part of September.

Mrs. A. I. Morse left Saturday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Leon T. Wilson and family at their summer home at Pleasant View, R. I.

Miss Ester Gustafson, widely known interpretive dancer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gustafson, of Pomfret, has been chosen to head the dance department of the new Eastman School of Dance and Dramatic Action, at Rochester, N. Y. The school will open in September. The announcement will come with pleasure to Miss Gustafson's many friends in this section of the state. Miss Gustafson began her career as a dancer about ten years ago, studying under the direction of Miss Beatrice Stevens, the well known artist and illustrator, who makes her home in Pomfret. Starting in Miss Stevens' Pomfret studio, Miss Gustafson developed her own system of the interpretation of music through the dance.

During the past few years she has made many public appearances. Recently, she danced at the Wanamaker Auditorium in New York. Miss Gustafson made her first appearance at Rochester a year ago when she danced at the famous Eastman theatre, accompanied by the Rochester Symphony orchestra. She has also given recitals in Boston and New York and in many points throughout the east. She has been living in New York city for the past year, and is at present a student at the summer school of Columbia university.

The appointment which Miss Gustafson has just received is a very notable one in the field of her art. She will head the dance department of the great school of art established through the philanthropy of George Eastman, famous millionaire, who gave to Rochester the Eastman theatre, which includes a school of the theatre, as well as Rochester Philharmonic orchestra. The school is a part of the Eastman Foundation, supported by a fund amounting to many millions of dollars, and is one of the most significant of all the art movements in this country.

Miss Gustafson will be particularly remembered locally for the beautiful interpretation of the "Angel" in the Pomfret Christmas Pantomine.

Sixty-six pairs of English pheasants were received by truck in Putnam. County Game Warden Charles Letters and Dr. William Saretski, a member of the Northeastern Connecticut Fish and Game club, met the truck and took the birds back into the country, where they were liberated.

Governor's day at Camp Woodstock was a successful event, the biggest day of the annual summer Y. M. C. A. camp. Governor Trumbull arrived at 2:30 o'clock and was met near the camp by a guard of honor, boys that had won distinction in the several classes and groups. Headed by the Stafford Boys' band the governor was escorted to the campus, where the whole camp was drawn up in letter Y formation.

The governor was received by a committee. Rev. J. F. English, of Putnam offered prayer. E. M. Robinson, of Rockville, presented the directors of the camp to the audience. Short addresses were made by John H. Corbett, Windham County Y. M. C. A. supervisor; Omer Thienes, of Hartford; J. V. Lamberton, Y. M. C. A. secretary of Hartford county, and Frank Congdon, secretary of Tolland county. The chairman introduced Clarence W. Bowen, of Woodstock, who presented the governor.

Governor Trumbull made an interesting address. He told of his hunting and trapping experiences in the Rockies and elsewhere. He spoke on citizenship and physical development, as related to character and mental development. Mr. Thienes, of Hartford, then gave an interesting outline of the purpose of Camp Woodstock. Water sports of all kinds followed and the pageant "Hiawatha" was excellently put on in charge of Paul Livingston, of Thompson, who has been prominent in dramatics at Williams college.

Mrs. C. E. Josephson and children, of Providence, have returned home after a visit of two weeks with Mrs. Josephson's sister, Mrs. Herman Johnson, of Woodstock avenue.

They also spent a few days each in Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and New York state and had a delightful trip. They made the tour by automobile.

WESTERLY

Smoking in bed was said to be the cause for the ringing of the Westerly fire alarm, Sunday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock, from Box 71, Canal and Pleasant streets. The offender against the quiet of a Sunday afternoon resided in the second house beyond the junction on Canal street. The recall sounded in less than five minutes, after the R. I. Ones truck with Fire Chief George E. Egger had left the central station house, Union street. A mishap befell the hose truck just under the overhead railroad bridge on Canal street, when a shoe was cast, but without accident to any of the passengers.

Speaking of smoking one would have to go some to equal the sight which met the gaze of Saturday afternoon commuters at the Westerly station of the New Haven railroad. A black mammy with gold-bowed spectacles and ear rings, was comfortably seated with feet up on the bench under the shelter, west of the station. Firmly set between her teeth was the mouth piece of a straight stem meerschaum pipe, while above her wooly head floated clouds of thick tobacco smoke. Society buds from Watch Hill, seated in automobiles and dragging at their fags, while waiting train arrivals, were passed unnotice by the annuited throng from city and country but—this new sight! Pater families got down from his high powered limosine to take a tour about the shelter, a young matron from the country with babe in arm, allowed her lower jaw to fall, as she directed the attention of her spouse, while seasoned smokers loked on with undisguised sentiments of approval and satisfaction. "By and by the scales will fall," said Mrs. Moody as she emphasized her statement with a swing of the pipe (last year she smoked a corn cob pipe in public) "and then you will see them just as they are. Run along, niggar," the latter, a too colored solicitous gentleman, who stopped to engage "mother" a cook of reputation, in a chat.

With Battery E men of the 243rd Coast Artillery, Westerly, Thursday was given over to artillery drill all day. Thirty rounds of sub-calibre were fired and several hits were recorded. In the emplacements were several old-timers like Sergt. Merrill, Sgt. Maxwell, Corp. Smith and Corp. Brectner, who added to the battery's efficiency, the battery being in command of Capt. Datson. The battalion parade, with E at the head, was reviewed by Maj. Collins. Boxing bouts were the diversion at night and beach parties and an officers' dance at the hotel featured the evening.

Lieut. Elvin Andrews, of Battery E, was the officer of the day Friday and completed his duties as such at 7 p. m., Saturday night. For Wednesday's work, artillery drill featured the morning while Capt. Datson left before the practice was over with Col. C. L. D. Wells, for Fort Getty, to observe First Corps Cadet day and they returned to Fort Wright with Gen. Barrett. The rain held up the evening parade. Officers' call to Battery E's officers to Col. Wells' tent where they shook hands with Gen. Barrett and later listened to a talk given by him and all officers went to mess with the general.

Near Thompson's Corners, on the Watch Hill road, there was a collision Friday between the meat delivery truck, said to have been driven by Louis Deutsch, of 135 Canal street, Westerly and a Hudson coach, driven by Fannie J. Lockwood, of 39 Van Horn street, Mittineague, Mass., owned by Roy S. Lockwood, of the same address. A passenger in the coach was Mrs. C. I. Jackett with an infant, Ruth Lockwood, in her arms, the child getting a number of bruises. Other passengers more or less shaken up were Eleanor Lockwood, Louise Rhearinne and Jessie Jackett. Chief Thomas E. Brown investigated the accident.

Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell, of Washington county, from Westerly, and Rhode Island state troopers, from the Wakefield barracks, paid a joint visit Saturday afternoon, soon after 4 o'clock, to the T cottage, just east of Charlestown, on the Bston Post road. The tropers were under instructins to search the place for any gambling that might be there, and Sheriff Mitchell was armed with the necessary search warrants to conduct the hunt for liquor on the premises. The raid concluded the seizure by Sheriff Mitchell of a little liquor in a half-pint bottle beneath the floor in the tool house; a quart bottle about two-thirds full of an imported brand of liquor; three bottles of gin and a quart bottle partly filled with whiskey, found in the grass. It was reported that the raiders were not successful in finding any gambling device in operation but located a few score cards, boxes that might at one time have contained chips and a part of a table which might have been part of a roulette wheel, as an officer described it. These the state troopers took. The warrants are returnable to the third district court next Friday morning and Bert Wiley, who lives at the cottage, was summoned by Sheriff Mitchell to appear in court. Attorney Oscar L. Heitzer, of the attorney general's department, came from Providence in connection with the raid.

On Saturday, Frank G. Ahern and John Twomey, with net scores of 73, tied for first honors in the weekly handicap tournament at the Winnapaug Golf club. H. H. Caswell had offered a club as an additional prize for the winner of the tournament, and it is expected that Mr. Ahern and Mr. Twomey will play off for the prize some time this week. Mr. Ahern had the lowest gross score, turning in a card of 87, which with his handicap of 14, made his net score 73. Mr. Twomey got a 93 gross, with a handicap of 20.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. R. B. Nellon, of Pittsburgh, arrived in Westerly and motored to Watch Hill to take up her residence at her cottage, "Sunshine," for the season. It is understood that Mr. Mellon will arrive at the Hill Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barnes, of Westerly, were visitors at Fishers Island, Saturday.

Attorney Albert L. Saunders, of Boston, was the week end guest of his father, Capt. William F. Saunders, at Winnapaug Farm, Shore road.

James George, of Springfield Mass., is the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burdick, in Westerly.

SKETCH OF CAREER OF WM. J. BRYAN

dent" well described the man from Nebraska.

The former Secretary of State was born in Salem, Ill., March 19, 1860. His father was Silas Lillard Bryan, a native of Culpepper county, Virginia, a lawyer and judge. The son, after graduating from Illinois College in 1881 and Union College of Law, Chicago, in 1883 entered the law office of Lyman Trumbull, former United States senator. Subsequently he removed to Jacksonville, Ill., where he practiced law until 1887 when he settled in Lincoln, Neb.

During the presidential campaign of 1888 young Bryan's speeches in behalf of the Democratic ticket attracted attention and in 1890 he accepted a nomination for Congress in the First Nebraska district, a Republica nstronghold, "because, no one else would have it," he said, since it was believed no Democrat could win. He was elected and served from 1891 until 1895. He was made a member of the important Ways and Means Committee in his first term.

Two speeches in this period gave Mr. Bryan nationwide prominence, one against the policy of protection, delivered on March 16, 1892, and the other against the repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman Act on August 16, 1893. I nthe latter he advocate d"the free and unlimited coinage of silver, irrespective of international agreement, at a ratio of 16 to 1." a policy with which his name was afterwards most prominently associated until he entered the cabinet of President Wilson.

The first nomination of Mr. Bryan for the Presidency at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago on July 10, 1896, has since been characterized as one of the "miracles" of American politics. The nominee, after serving in Congress, had run for the United States Senate and been defeated by Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska. Abandoning the law, Mr. Bryan became editor of the Omaha World-Herald and championed the cause of bimetallism as vigorously with the pen as he had upon the forum. He had been beaten for a third term in Congress on the issue of "sound money" and when the time came for the National convention this question was rending both big political parties. There were Free Silver Republicans as well as Democrats, but the nominee of the former, Henry M. Teller of Colorado, threw his support to Bryan when the Nebraskan won the nomination at Chicago.

"The cross of gold" speech by Bryan, which had been quoted oftener, perhaps, than any other of his words, and which made him a rival of William McKinley for the presidency—came at the close of a debate on the floor of the convention in advocacy of a free silver plant. Men nationally prominent in the party had preceded him, and opposed the plank unless it should provide for bimetalism by international agreement. The situation was tense when the Nebraskan, then only 36 years old—one year more than the Constitutional requirement for a president—arose to speak.

Every was tired; everybody seemed ready for compromise. Not so the delegate from Nebraska. There was fire in his eye when he began to speak:

"I would be presumptuous, indeed, to present myself against the distinguished gentleman to whom you have listened," he said, "if this were a mere measuring of abilities, but this is not a contest between persons. The humblest citizen in all the land, when clad in the armor of a righteous cause, is stronger than all the hosts of error. I come to speak to you in defense of a cause as holy as the cause of liberty—the cause of humanity."

Then charging the evils of the day —the idle mills, the social unrest and low wages—to the scarcity of money and the "idle holders of idle capital in Wall street," he continued:

"The individual is but an atom; he is born, he acts, he dies; but principles are eternal; and this has been a contest over a principle. Having behind us the producing masses of this nation and the world, supported by the commercial interests, the laboring interests and the toilers everywhere, we will answer those who demand a single gold standard by saying:

"You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns. You shall not cruify mankind upon this cross of gold."

The convention was stampeded for Bryan, who was nominated over eight other candidates on the fifth ballot, following a speech by a Georgia delegate in which the eloquent young orator was referred to as "a Saul come to lead the Israelites to battle." Subsequently Bryan received the nominations of the People's and the National Silver parties.

The nominee broke all speaking records in his first campaign, travelling more than 18,000 miles and making about 600 speeches in 27 states. He polled 6,502,925 votes to McKinley's 7,104,779 and received in the Electoral College 176 votes to his opponent's 271. Although defeated Mr. Bryan remained tre leader of his party and after the Spanish-American war in 1898, in which he commanded the 3rd Nebraska Volunteer Infantry as its Colonel, he opposed the permanent retention of the Philippine Islands by the United States.

In 1900, when again nominated for the presidency, he made "anti-imperialism" the paramount issue but refused to omit an explicit party declaration in favor of free coinage of silver in the party platform. This time he was defeated with a popular vote of 6,358,133 as against 7,207,923 for his oppuonent. He received 155 electoral votes to McKinley's 292.

Mr. Bryan returned to Lincoln, and started the publication of a weekly political journal called The Commoner. Four years later, 1904, although not actively a candidate for the nomination, which eventually went to Judge Alton B. Parker, he vigorously opposed Democracy's "conservative" attitude.

The interim between this period and the next presidential election of 1908 was occupied by Mr. Bryan, now known by many of his followers as "The Peerless Leader," in several enterprises that kept him in the public eye. Notable among these was his trip around the world on which he started September 21, 1905. Accompanied by his wife, son and a daughter, Mr. Bryan first went to Japan, and China where he was hospitably entertained and made numerous addresses one of which, entitled, "The White Man's Burden" was commended by the Japanese-American Society. The Bryans were presented to the Emperor of Japan and were everywhere accorded the honor of foremost Americans. Later the party went to the Philippines where Mr. Bryan's views on Filipino independence were welcomed. During this visit the savage Moros of Mindanao Island created the Nebraskan a "datto" or chief of one of their tribes.

Leaving the Philippines the party went to India, the Holy Land, Turkey, Austria-Hungary, Germany, Russia, Italy, Norway, Sweden and other European countries, finally arriving in London on July 3, 1906. Meanwhile Mr. Bryan had "interviewed" King Edward VII, the Emperor of Russia, and other potentates, and Count Leo Tolstoi and had made numerous speeches all of which were reported in his American press and which inspired a desire on the part of Democrats at home to give him a great reception which was done upon his return to America the following September.

About this time Mr. Bryan came out for world disarmament, an ideal which is said to have prompted his drafting in 1913, when he became secretary of state, of the particular form of peace treaty between the United States and foreign nations "by which all disputes were to be submitted to an impartial investigating commission for a year before hostilities could begin." This has been regarded as Mr. Bryan's greatest achievement for thirty foreign nations, including the Central Powers, and representing three-fourths of the population of the earth, became signatories to the document. About a year later the World war broke out in all its fury.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE STARTS ON SECOND ROUND; NUGGETS VS. EAST ENDS TONIGHT

Tonight's game between the East Ends, pennant winners of 1924, and the Nuggets, will mark the opening of the second half of the 1925 Twilight league schedule. With half of the season on the shelf the fans can look forward to some mighty good baseball during the remainder of the season.

The seven weeks that have passed have been marked by many surprises and upsets to the different teams, to begin with in the very first game of the season "Johnny" Greene, pitching for the Nuggets, shut out the East Ends, champions of 1924, allowing this hard hitting aggregation only a few scattered hits. Right then and there it was decided that Madden's team would clean up everything that came along and have an easy march to the pennant but since then they took a decided slump winning only one game since then.

The real sensation of the season are the Centrals, managed by Jimmy Hoiland, everyone of them under twenty-one are boys who play real hard ball from the word go, everyone of them is a sure fielder and a hard hitter and by their teamwork have managed to go through the first half winning six out of seven starts to hold the top rung on the league ladder.

The real surprise of the season came in one dull cloudy night with only a few hundred people present when the Palace nine blue who had only played ball until then threw a wrench in the works and gave the Centrals their first setback of the season. These same boys represent Hallville have won their share out of seven games and should go great during the remainder of the season.

The Palace and the Eastern Connecticut team at the present look like the strongest contenders of the Centrals for the pennant, these teams have been tied for second place one game behind the leaders.

The Palace from the beginning have played steady ball which has kept them within the Power Co. got off to a poor start and looked like they were due to berth in the cellar, but suddenly started to play whirlwind ball, and seemed started to clean sportsmanship displayed on the field have earned the support of many fans who are willing for them to finish on top.

The Eastern Connecticut team at the present time are considered to have a majority of the champion for them. At the beginning of the season, the team was composed of Danish boys most of them making their first appearance on a ball field, while no doubt they would have done well in their class, the other teams composed of experienced players proved too strong.

Realizing their predicament, they elected John Oney, a pupil of the old school manager, who went out and got an almost entirely new team which since then have put up great ball and should give real trouble in the final drive.

The real hard luck teams of the season have been the East Ends and Yantic. The East Ends, who went through last year with only one defeat, looked like sure repeaters for this season, but met with many reverses, the result being only an even split in games already played. This team is always considered real dangerous and before the end of the season should be very near the top. The Yantic team from the very beginning has been followed by a jinx, meeting with continued bad luck from the very beginning. Similar rumors began to spread around dropping from the league, this proved too much for Yantic and Friday night they decided to make a last stand against Hallville with an entirely new team led by "Cannonball" Gill Jones, of Pitchville. Everyone that was present at the game will agree that no doubt Yantic has broken the jinx as those boys actually swamped Hallville and with the kind of hitting and fielding they displayed on Friday will undoubtedly against the best during the remaining seven weeks. Putting everything together the fans of Norwich will no doubt get some great baseball in the coming games as all indications point towards a real hot race for the pennant.

To make things interesting for the players that go off to a late start an additional prize worth fifty dollars, will be given to the team that wins the most games in the second half.

Tonight will see the same two teams that opened the season in action again, in the opener the Nuggets decidedly favored the East Ends and Madden claims that tonight his team will duplicate. George predicted the same thing a week ago and made good but whether the worm will turn tonight is a story that will be told tonight at the Duwell field. Both teams have shaken up their lineups considerably since the last time they met and whoever wins tonight's game will show that they have been in a ball game. The league two weeks ago, was thrown wide open and no doubt both teams have strengthened considerably. For the Nuggets either Greene or Jarvis will pitch and "Bill" Liberty will catch, while Harry Mills will twirl for the East Ends with White doing the receiving. At the last game played on Friday night Empire Morin announced that starting tonight the games will start at 5:30.

This Week's Games

Monday Nuggets vs. East Ends.
Tuesday Palace vs. Centrals.
Wednesday E. C. P. vs. Hallville.
Thursday St. Joseph's vs. Yantic.
Friday Palace vs. E. C. P.

ALBANY BEATS PROFS IN BOTH GAMES

ALBANY, N. Y., July 26.—Albany defeated New Haven in both ends of today's double header by scores of 2 to 1, and 2 to 1. Both teams were favored with good pitching. In the first game, Odenwald let New Haven down with three hits and only 29 men faced him. Morrell, of New Haven, held Albany to three hits, but his balk permitted Genin to score with the winning run. Van Alstyne allowed New Haven only four hits. The fielding of Taylor and Genin featured. Martin was banished for pushing Umpire Bennett in the second game. Scores:

First game:

Albany	1	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	x—3

Two base hit, Solomon.

Second game:

Three base hit, Genin.

SENATORS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM YANKS

NEW YORK, July 26—The Washington Senators in their last appearance of the season here, defeated the Yankees today in both games of a double-header by 7 to 4 and 4 to 3, the second game going eleven innings. McNeely's single scored Peckinpaugh with the winning run in the last game.

Third Baseman Dugan, of New York, was carried off the field, in the tenth inning when his injured knee came out of place. Coveleskie extended his winning streak to thirteen straight in the first game, although he was relieved for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning.

The first defeat for the Yankees marked the fourteenth time this season that they have failed to extend a two-game winning streak.

JEWETT CITY TOWNERS BEAT PROVIDENCE CHECKER CABS

Sunday afternoon, at Ashland Park, before a crowd of 600 odd fans, the Jewett City team defeated the fast Checker Cabs of Providence, R. I., in one of the closest games seen there this season. "Spike" Liberty, on the mound for Jewett City, pitched winning ball allowing the visitors composed of college players and ex-leaguers, but six hits. Checker Cabs drew first blood in the fourth. Joe McGee first man up, singled to right field, sacrificed to second by Morrisey, Halbert hit one of Liberty's fast ones over the garages in left field (without a doubt the longest clout seen on the local grounds) for a home run scoring two runs. In the sixth, the first drivers scored one run on a walk, sacrifice and a single. In the last half of the sixth, Jewett City tied the score. Rainey, first man up, tripled to center "Spike" Liberty walked, Rainey scoring on a squeeze by "Nap" Liberty. "Bill" Liberty, local catcher, socked one to right field for a home run, tying the score. Providence took the lead again in the eighth scoring one lone run on a walk an error and a single.

In the eighth, Peloquin, of Holy Cross, relieved Kennedy, for Providence. Jewett City opened fire. Rainey, first man up, filed out to Burns. Joe Gilbert, midget left fielder, socked one of Peloquin's offerings for a double. Robertson drew a pass on balls, Gullett singled filling the bases. With the bases loaded Rainey socked one on the nose for a double and down came another good hit club 5-4

Capt. "Nap" Liberty had a wonderful day in the field, accepting eight difficult chances without an error.

The Jewett City team as a whole played wonderful ball and the fans are certainly turning out.

JEWETT CITY TOWN TEAM TO REPRESENT ASHLAND A. A.

At a baseball meeting held at Jewett City last night, regarding the national pastime situation in the borough, Agent L. M. Carpenter, of the Ashland Cotton Co., donated the use of Ashland Park, club transportation, etc., to the Jewett City town team. The Ashland Club also donated the use of their building to the local club. As an act of appreciation toward that organization, it was voted to represent the Ashland club for the remainder of the season.

The club will be run under the same management and only first class clubs will be booked to appear here. Taftville A. A. playing here next Sunday.

TWILIGHT GAME AT TAFTVILLE THIS EVENING

This evening at the Providence street grounds the Taftville A. A. and the Jewett City All-Stars will meet in a short game. The Ashland club is expected to bring down the pick of the ball players of the village to try and administer the first Twilight defeat to the Taftville team. Stanley will pitch for Jewett City and Liberty will catch. Taftville will use their regular lineup

McPhee Released.

WATERBURY, July 26.—(AP)—President Herman J. Weisman, of the Waterbury baseball club, tonight announced the release of Pitcher Danny McPhee, left-handed hurler, to the Scranton club of the New York-Pennsylvania league. McPhee came to the local club from the Brooklyn National league early this season.

TWO TIED FOR BATTING HONORS IN LEAGUE; GREENE, STRIKE-OUT KING

The end of the first round in the Norwich Twilight League finds Bill Austin, the East End outfielder, and Nap Liberty of the Saints in a tie for the individual batting championship with an average of .625. Austin, however, is the real leader, as he has taken part in all six games played by his team, while Liberty has played in only three contests. Oney, manager of the Saints, has a higher average than either Austin or Liberty, but as he has been to bat but three times, the honors should go to the two players mentioned.

Other leading hitters are: Mills, E. E., .550; Smith, Yantic, .500, and Red Charon, Hallville, .474.

Harry Mills, the East Ends' hard hitting pitcher, has made the most hits, eleven, while his teammate, Austin, and Smith of Yantic share total base honors with fifteen, each having five doubles and five singles to his credit. A. Dugas, the Centrals' first baseman, has scored the most runs, nine, and his seven stolen bases make him the leader in this department of the game.

McKiernan, of Yantic, made the only home run since the averages were last printed, and he, Jackson of the Palace and Jim Murphy of the East Ends are tied for circut honors with one apiece.

The averages which follow include all games played up to and including Friday, July 24th, and are for players who have taken part in at least three games and who are hitting better than .300:

Green Leads In Strike Outs

The following averages which also include games played up to and including July 16th, showed the number of innings each pitcher has worked strikeouts, and earned runs. The fourth column denotes the average number of earned runs made off each pitcher per seven inning game, and it is these figures that really determine a pitcher's effectiveness rather than games won.

Gil Jones is leading the twirlers in this respect as he did not allow an earned run in the seven innings he has worked. Harry Mills, the East Ends' star twirler, is the real leader however with but 1.47, as Mills average is based on 33 innings. Johnny Greene, of the Nuggets, has worked the most, 31 1-3 innings, and is the strikeout king with 31 strikeouts to his credit. Greene also leads in giving out the most walks having passed nineteen men in the six games he has worked.

The averages which follow include only pitchers who have worked in at least seven innings.

NORWICH PLAYGROUNDS TEAM LOSES AGAIN TO PLAINFIELD

In the third game of the Norwich Playgrounds-Plainfield High series played at Sugar Brook Farm on Saturday the locals lost 12 to 8. The game like the others was a slam-bang affair with much hard hitting by both teams Johnny Greene contributed the only home run of the series in this game. The score:

PALACE TEAM WINS TWELVE INNING GAME AT FT. WRIGHT

In a twelve inning pitching battle at Fort Wright Sunday afternoon the Palace team of this city gained a 2 to 1 verdict over the service club. Mike Morin, on the mound for the Palace, pitched brilliant ball getting 14 strikeouts in the twelve innings. Dugas and Hamil featured both in the field and at bat and it was Dugas' single in the twelfth after Gagnon and Simcox had hit safely that brought in the winning run. McCarthy featured for the soldiers. The score:

RIVERVIEW LOSES FIRST GAME TO VELVETMEN

The J. B. Martin team won the first game of the series with Riverview at the State hospital on Saturday afternoon, 13 to 5. The Riverview team played loose ball and the six errors came at critical times enabling the Velvetmen to pile up a commanding lead early in the game. Tony West was no mystery to the visitors and he was wild and ineffective passing five men.

Flynn, who pitched for the Martin team, had good control working an inside ball that was bothersome to the Riverview hitters, eight being retired on strikes. The Martin team opened the game in a whirlwind fashion, four singles and a costly error by White in the outfield, giving them five runs. They continued their hitting in the second inning, two hits and a base on balls accounting for two more runs. In the fourth a base on balls and J. Murphy's triple to right field and Dona's single to right gave them two more. They brought their total to 13 in the eighth inning when two bases on balls, two errors and a double netted them four runs.

The Riverview team scored their first run in the second inning on a triple by Hamil and a single by West. They added two more in the fourth on West's single, a base on balls and Noel's triple. In the sixth a base on balls and Moore's long single gave them another run. The final score came in the seventh inning when Normandin was hit by a pitched ball and came home on Hamil's double.

The fans booed Dr. Wilcox when he refused to allow Flynn a runner in the eighth inning. The Martin team gave West a runner twice when he asked for one and asked for the same courtesy for their pitcher. The score:

A FIELD FOR ECONOMY

It is being recognized that a promising field for economy in the costs of the national government lies in the possibility of a reorganization of the departments. Senator Curtis discussed the question with President Coolidge at Swampscott but of any conclusions were reached concerning such a programme they have not been made known. It should be noted, nevertheless, that the senator indicated later that he favored the search for saving by reorganization.

As matters now stand there is no unfriendly criticism of the cost of the national government as such. Indeed, so much extraordinary expense has arisen in connection with the war that the reduction would be impossible even with a better administration of existing units, an additional sum could be subtracted from the total of assessments. Appointive officers who want a painless supply of jobs to hand out as rewards to party workers, will be found bringing pressure to bear against reorganization proposals, but it is apparent that there is promising ground to work on for the next administration.

There is a record of such possibilities that it could be considered worth while for the departments would be compelled to show that they were actually economizing. A good start in the right direction would be better government and cheaper government are not impossible.

Our increasing national expenditures in recent years are a disease with a deep cause, and the way agencies are all connected with economy. The savings from the former source will not continue indefinitely. Ultimately we shall have to rely on economy alone.

BRITISH COAL STRIKE THREAT

The gloom that is felt in England over the possibility of a coal strike there can have a measure of sympathy from Americans in view of the possibility of a coal strike in this country. Great Britain was already a million and a half of unemployed when the present controversy began, but disaster ahead in the mining industry at the end of July and the middle of August seems to dispel even that. It appears that nothing can avert the stoppage.

The attitude of the two sides to the controversy is a study in contrasts. The miners simply refuse to accede to the demands without knowing any counter proposals. The government is going through the motions of trying to bring the two sides together, but apparently without any of the hard work its efforts will involve.

It is difficult to see what either side can hope to gain by a strike. It is admitted that conditions in the British coal industry are bad, in that they are no different from conditions in British industry in general. Unemployment exists in the country. The wages paid for coal miners are the highest ever known. The British miners have complained when opportunities for overtime work have been offered them. The British mine owners have been complaining that they could not compete with the Germans in coal because of the diminishing British markets. The London Times wrote a few days ago in a leader of tremendous magnitude, which could give satisfaction to none but Englands enemies.

Certainly the American people are not the enemies of England who would take satisfaction in such a disaster. In the light of our own mining troubles, the time has come for us to consider only what is best for the whole country. The miners have a demand for higher wages and shorter hours that they can not enforce by violence. The mine owners have a right to refuse to accede to the miners' demands unless they can show that they cannot do so and remain in business. Apparently neither side will be moved by a consideration for the welfare of the country as a whole

WEDDING
Sumner-Peale

In the presence of members of the families, a quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Peale of 153 McKinley avenue, when their daughter, Helen Wyman Peale, was united in marriage with Stanley Jackson Sumner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Sumner of Willimantic.

The wedding took place in the living room, which was most attractively decorated with laurel, ferns, and garden flowers. The service, which was of the single ring, was conducted by Rev. Alexander Hewes Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church, assisted by Rev. Frederick A. Sumner, of Talladega, Ala., a relative of the groom, and was performed by the light of cathedral candles, this type of lighting being used throughout the house during the service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and previous to the service the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. James Cudworth, violinist, and Mrs. Beatrice Peterson, pianist, intimate friends of the bride. There were no attendants.

The bride was charming in a flat crepe trimmed with duchesse lace and tulle, and her shower bouquet was of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The mother of the bride was gowned in gold color crepe, her corsage bouquet being of lilies of the valley and the groom's mother was gowned in corn color georgette and also wore a corsage bouquet.

The bride is most popular among the younger set of Norwich, being a graduate of the Norwich Free Academy, the Connecticut College at New London, and the School of Fine Arts and Crafts, Boston, where she took a graduate year course.

The groom is well known in Willimantic and Norwich and is a graduate of Windham High school and of Yale University.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held, attended by about 75 relatives and friends of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Sumner are to enjoy a two weeks' wedding tour and will be at home to their many friends, after October 1st, at 344 North street, Willimantic. The bride's travelling gown was of navy blue poiret twille with hat to match.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride, including silver, cut glass, china, linen, money and household articles.

Relatives and friends attending the wedding came from Springfield, Mass., Providence, R. I., Uxbridge, Mass., Newport, R. I., Columbus, Ohio, Collinsville and Rochester, N. Y.

THREE MACHINES IN CRASH ON NORTH MAIN STREET

While trying to pass a machine driven by James Johnson of No. 96 Smith avenue, Chester A. Chapman of No. 53 Pearl street collided with a machine owned and operated by Eldorus Chase of Taftville on North Main street about 9 o'clock Saturday evening. The front of Mr. Chase's machine was practically demolished.

The crash occurred near the Valley gas station on North Main street. Mr. Chapman, driving a Studebaker touring car, was headed for the city and was following the Dodge sedan driven by Mr. Johnson. Mr. Chapman pulled out from behind Mr. Johnson's car and was attempting to pass him when he crashed into the Chevrolet coupe driven by Mr. Chase and headed in the opposite direction. All three machines were considerably damaged.

The radiator, headlights and windshield on Mr. Chase's machine were smashed and the front springs badly damaged. The left side of the machine driven by Mr. Johnson, two hub caps, mudguards and running board were damaged and the front end of Mr. Chapman's car received considerable damage. The drivers made a report of the accident at police headquarters.

ST. ANNE, MODEL MOTHER, HONORED AT ST. PATRICK'S

Sunday, the Feast of St. Anne, mother of the Blessed Virgin, St. Patrick's church was kept open until 8 p. m., that the parishioners might have an opportunity of visiting the church and praying with special fervor to God before the Saint's shrine. In this church, the statue of St. Anne, which came from Munich, is nearly life-size, of artistic beauty, representing the model mother teaching from Holy Writ, the Daughter, who was to be honored by the Creator, as worthy to become Mother of His Divine Son. The parents of the Virgin are referred to as Holy Joachin and Blessed Anna, who early devoted their Daughter to the service of God in the temple. At St. Patrick's Sunday, tall silver vases before the Saint's shrine held Ascension lilies, roses and gladoli, and there was used for the first time a beautiful votive stand to hold lighted candles, the gift of the Rosary society, Miss Annie G Stanton, president. The offerings at this shrine during the day were for charity.

Preaching at the 9 o'clock mass, Rev. Myles P. Galvin referred to the gospel for St. Anne's day, which was the parable of the man who sold all he possessed to purchase the pearl of great price. The lesson was, The cheerfulness with which men should give up the pleasures and things of this world, to purchase Heaven and the joy of eternity. The day was the eighth Sunday after Pentecost, the epistle read in all the masses in ordinary years being Romans 8, 12-17, and the gospel Luke 16 1-13. The latter narrated the parable of the Unjust Steward; and this, too, was cited by the preacher, as affording a valuable lesson for men. The Master does not praise the dishonest steward for his duplicity, but He commends his prudence, foresight and care for the future as worthy of emulation by men in regard to their care for their souls. The speaker gave to his hearers the axiom, "Take as good care of your souls as you do of your bodies," stressing the modern thought and care which men devote to material considerations and in which they are, in a way, prudent teachers of those prone to neglect the welfare of the soul.

In spite of the severe thunder storm there were so many persons present and so many men and women to receive Holy Communion, after the confessions of Saturday, that Father Galvin needed the assistance of the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May, in administering the sacrament.

Msgr. May gave Communion to a large representation of the parish Holy Name society, Michael J. Murphy, president, at the mass at 7:30.

At 10:30, the mass was read by Rev. James Osmond O'Brien, recently ordained, an ex-service man, who is visiting Norwich relatives on his return from the home of his father, in Prince Edward Island. Father O'Brien is to leave later for his assignment in the diocese of Montana.

In St. Patrick's this (Monday) morning there is to be a special votive mass in honor of Saint Anne, in thanksgiving for favors and blessings received.

GEN. EDWARDS COMING FOR LEGION CONVENTION

Invitations have been extended by the committee of arrangements for the seventh annual state convention of the American Legion to be held in New London, Aug. 27, 28 and 29, to the disabled World war veterans at the government hospital in Allingtown to be present one of the days included in the program. General Chairman Henry S. Dorsey stated that he believed the veterans would be at the convention on the last day, to view the monster parade in the afternoon.

The proposed plan for a uniform flag decoration through New London is now awaiting action of the city, everything depending upon permission of the city.

National Commander James A. Drain of the American Legion and Maj. Gen. Clarence N. Edwards, famous retired commander of the Yankee Division will be at the convention, it became known Saturday.

LOCAL MAN CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

A charge of reckless driving was preferred against Charles E. Phillips, of 335 Central avenue, after the Overland sedan he was driving collided with a motorcycle in Greeneville Sunday evening. The accident happened at the corner of 11th street and Central avenue and the motorcycle was driven by Joseph Lenda, of 867 Boswell avenue. Mr. Phillips was arrested by Officer Sullivan and later was released on bonds furnished for his appearance in the city court Monday morning.

MACHINES DAMAGED IN WESTERLY ROAD ACCIDENT

A machine owned and operated by Franke Mette, of 222 Franklin street, and a machine owned by Dorothy H. Church and operated by Alvan D. Church collided Sunday on the Westerly road, about three miles from Pleasant View. Mr. Mette's machine, a Ford sedan, received a damaged rear left mudguard and the machine driven by Mr. Church, a Davis touring car, received a damaged step and bumper.

TOURING CAR HIT BY TROLLEY CAR

While Murray M. Segal, 50 Peck street, was driving his Hupmobile touring car through Franklin square shortly after 10:30 Saturday night, he was run into by a Norwich-New London trolley car. Mr. Segal had just pulled away from the curb and was about to make the turn around the flashing beacon in front of Rose alley when hit by the trolley car. The right front mudguard of his machine was damaged. A report of the accident was made at police headquarters.

Proving Adept Farmer

Alfred L. Abell who succeeded to the management of the Old Ledger Abell farm on Basin Hill, Fitchville is proving to be an adept farmer although he entered that business but last spring. With the assistance of John Bentley, a neighbor, the young man groomed a five acre plot of land for the growing of clover-hay and was rewarded with an excellent crop of clover which ranged as high as five feet, three inches. Clover hay of this height is believed to be a record for this section of the country.

NEW MACADAM FOR GALLOWS HILL ROAD

The state highway department has called for sealed proposals for the construction of about thirteen miles of new roadway and three bridges. Bids will be received on the work up to Thursday, July 30 at 2 p. m.

Eleven projects are involved in the proposed improvements, which are located in all sections of the state, and it is hoped to have the work under way early in August.

A feature of the work is the plan for the reconstruction of Wethersfield avenue in Wethersfield, beginning at the Hartford city line and extending southward for a distance of 3,600 feet. Bids for either reinforced concrete pavement or sheet asphalt pavement on a concrete base are called for on this contract, the exact material that will be used to be decided when the comparative cost of the two types is obtained.

The bridges will be constructed in New Milford, East Windsor and Putnam. The New Milford bridge will be a steel truss superstructure over the Housatonic River at Gaylordsville, and the same kind of bridge is proposed for East Windsor over the Scantic River between Scantic and Broad Brook. In Putnam, a seventy-foot span reinforced concrete arch bridge, will be built over the Quinebaug River.

The eight road contracts called for are as follows:—

Town of Norwich: About 8844 linear feet of 7" waterbound macadam on the Gallows Hill Road.

Town of Bozrah; About 10,710 linear feet of 7" waterbound macadam on the Fitchville-Montville Road.

Town of Sharon; About 16,414 linear feet of 7" waterbound macadam on the Sharon-Amenia Union Road.

Towns of Stratford & Trumbull; About 5,246 linear feet of 9" bituminous macadam over 7" broken stone base on the Stratford-Trumbull Road.

Town of Wethersfield: About 3,600 linear feet of either reinforced concrete pavement or sheet asphalt pavement on a concrete base on Wethersfield Avenue.

Town of Norwich-Montville; About 12,000 linear feet of reinforced concrete pavement on the Norwich-Montville road.

Town of Norwalk: About 5,392 linear feet of reinforced concrete pavement on East Avenue.

Town of Killingly: About 5,970 linear feet of reinforced concrete pavement on the Norwich-Putnam road.

REQUEST CONTINUANCE IN THEATRE CASE

A request for continuance of 10 days has been made to Justice of the Peace John D. Hall by Slade, Slade & Slade of New Haven, counsel for Sylvester Z. Poli who is defendant in the case of Abe Davidson of Norwich against Mr. Poli.

An appeal from the decision of Justice Hall in favor of Mr. Poli was taken to the court of common pleas and Judge Charles B. Waller set aside the decision. The case was then appealed to the supreme court of errors, which found no error in Judge Waller's decision. The case thus goes back to Justice Hall for retrial if Mr. Poli so desires. It is for the purpose of ascertaining his wishes in the matter that counsel for Mr. Poli have formally requested a continuance.

RADIATOR COMPANY'S DOCK FELL INTO THAMES RIVER

A portion of the dock at the Richmond Radiator company plant on Thames street fell into the Thames river Saturday, carrying with it a quantity of pig iron which had been loaded nearby. The cause of the accident is not known, but the section of about 30 feet evidently gave way under pressure.

The portion which broke and fell into the river is part of the outer dock, or rail which has been put into place in recent months, evidently to hold back the water of the river, to allow filling in for the making of additional land between the railroad tracks and the river. The broken section will probably be pulled out of the river within a few days and a new section constructed.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS TO CELEBRATE 39TH BIRTHDAY

Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps will observe its 39th anniversary Tuesday, by holding a picnic at the home of Mrs. David Dean, at Norwich Town. As has been the custom in previous years each member attending the picnic is to bring a penny for each year of existence of the corps. The members are to leave Franklin square on the 10 o'clock trolley and a basket picnic is the order for the day, each member to bring a cup and spoon. It is expected that a large number of members will attend.

WRECKED HIS CELL AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Shortly after he had been arrested in the vicinity of Franklin square early Saturday evening on an intoxication charge, Fred Wolfenberg, 29, of this city, went on a rampage and wrecked the cell in which he was locked up. Wolfenberg, who was very evidently in an intoxicated condition, was nearly hit by an automobile on Franklin square and was taken in charge by Officers William Ryan and Hugh McAvoy.

After being booked at police headquarters he was placed in a cell for the night. Shortly afterwards he went on a rampage and ripped up the interior of the cell. He was released Sunday on bonds for appearance in the city court this (Monday) morning.

GAS TAX BRINGS STATE HALF MILLION

Gasoline enough to propel them 647,393,500 miles or to the sun and back to the earth three times with much to spare, was bought for automobiles in Connecticut during the first six months of this year, according to figures announced by the state motor vehicle department. If the traffic were to have been evenly distributed over all the public roads in the state, improved or unimproved, 53,949 motor vehicles would have passed over every mile throughout Connecticut during that period.

These statistics are based on an average motor efficiency of twelve and one-half miles to the gallon, which has been determined by the American research foundation as representative of motor vehicle traffic in the United States. Motor vehicle gasoline consumption in Connecticut in the half year ended June 30 reached a total of approximately 51,791,400 gallons, and the state's income from the gasoline tax amounted to about $517,914, which by law was turned over to the state highway department for highway improvements. At the national rate of motor efficiency, the gasoline bought at Connecticut stations was sufficient to carry motor vehicles 647,393,500 miles, which is more than six times the mean distance between the sun and the earth. Since there were 225,854 motor vehicles registered in the state in the first six months, that would indicate that the average mileage of each motor vehicle did not exceed 2,800 miles during that period and that the average consumption per car was 229 gallons, as against 373 gallons average consumption for motor vehicles of the country for all of last year.

The quantity of motor vehicle gasoline bought in Connecticut during each of the first six months of this year, was as follows; January, 9,614,000; May, 11,291,000; and June (estimated to cover late returns) 11,700,000.

TWO PHYSICIANS RETIRED— FORTY YEARS AT STATE HOSP.

The state board of control in Hartford, the past week retired Dr. Charles J. Stanley on a pension of $1,631 per year. Dr. William E. Fisher was retired and will receive a pension of $2,500 yearly. Both have been located at the state hospital in Middletown for more than forty years.

Charles S. Evans, messenger of the superior court in Fairfield county, was retired on a pension of $750 per year.

The board of control gave to the board of agriculture authority to expend from its appropriation the sum of $2,000 to be used for a Connecticut exhibit at the Connecticut state fair.

The board voted $177 for the care of George L. Hubbard, an old soldier, who now lives in New Haven, and who was formerly in the military service of the state. The board added $394.41 to the appropriation for the state agricultural college at Storrs.

Tax Commissioner W. H. Blodgett appeared before the board and explained the proposed adjustments of salaries of the members of his office force.

There was no action taken on the request of President Charles L. Beach of Connecticut Agricultural college for his increase in salary to $7,500. At the previous meeting of the board this request with others was tabled.

CHARGED WITH TAKING GIRL FROM HER HOME

Oscar Elwin Cassidy, aged 20 years, was arraigned before Judge J. O. Watts in the second district court at Westerly, on a charge of taking away Miss Edith Northup, aged 15 years, daughter of Walter L. and Mary Northup of Peace Dale. He pleaded not guilty and is held under $500 bail for his hearing in the second district court Monday morning.

Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell, of Westerly, had been working on the case since Miss Northup was reported to have left her home a week ago in the company of Cassidy. Cassidy was taken into custody at Narragansett Pier by Deputy Sheriff Fred Bull.

The authorities state that Cassidy claimed that he left Peace Dale in a hired automobile and came into Connecticut, where the machine broke down, and on Sunday they returned to Peace Dale. Cassidy, the officials say, stated that he took the girl to the home of his sister upon their return to Peace Dale and Thursday, they went to North Stonington, where they were married by Rev. Lucian Drury. Cassidy showed the marriage certificate to Sheriff Mitchell, according to the officer.

The maximum sentence for taking a girl away from her home under the age of 18 years is 10 years in prison and $1,000 fine.

GAVE PLEASING CONCERT AT MOHEGAN PARK

TOWN ALMSHOUSES DECREASE IN THIS STATE

The recent decision of a special meeting of the electors of the town of Montville not to rebuild the almshouse directs attention to the fact that for some years the rural towns of Connecticut have shown a disposition to discontinue their almshouses and to provide for their dependent poor by boarding them out. In Montville the almshouse had not been used for several years before it was burned, a few months ago.

In 1895-6 there were, according to the report made by Charles P. Kellogg, secretary of the old state board of charities (and which was his first report) seventy Connecticut towns that maintained almshouses, and nineteen towns in which there were privately owned almshouses in which the town poor were boarded. Twenty-nine years later there were fifty-seven towns which had almshouses and in four of these the institutions were privately owned. The latter were Bristol, Burlington, Ashford and Mansfield.

The amount which a town pays for the board of a poor person in a private house ranges from $3 to $5 a week. The selectmen of a town see to it that the boarder receives necessary care and comfort. The character of the board is not conditioned on what the keeper of the house may think is a comfortable living. The standard is set by the town authorities and approved by the state department of public welfare. By this arrangement the town is relieved of the expense of maintaining an almshouse.

Mr. Kellogg states that some towns prefer to maintain an almshouse even though there may be only one inmate in it, and the town of Windsor is one of these towns.

In 1896 the total average population of town almshouses in the state was 1,750, including 200 insane persons. The present average is about 1,488 distributed according to counties as follows: Hartford, 357; New Haven, 470; New London, 103; Fairfield, 371; Windham, 79; Litchfield, 54; Middlesex, 30; Tolland, 24.

The maintenance of almshouses and the care of outdoor poor and those in hospitals and asylums amounted to $1,583,919 for 1922, all of which was paid by the towns.

The town in the state which maintain almshouses at present are:

Hartford county—Hartford, Bristol, Burlington, East Hartford, East Windsor, Enfield, Farmington, Glastonbury, Manchester, New Britain, Simsbury, Southington, Suffield, Wethersfield, Windsor.

New Haven county—New Haven, Waterbury, Ansonia, Cheshire, Guilford, Hampden, Meriden, Naugatuck, Wallingford.

New London county—New London, Norwich, Colchester, Griswold, Groton, Stonington.

Fairfield county—Bridgeport, Danbury, Greenwich, Norwalk, Ridgefield, Stamford.

Windham county—Willimantic, Putnam, Ashford, Killingly, Plainfield, Thompson, Woodstock.

Litchfield county—Litchfield, New Milford, Norfolk, Plymouth, Salisbury, Sharon, Torrington, Winsted, Woodbury.

Middlesex county—Middletown, East Haddam, Portland.

Tolland county—Vernon, (Rockville), Stafford.

OBITUARIES
Oscar D. Eccleston

Following an illness of long duration, the death of Oscar D. Eccleston occurred late Saturday afternoon at his home on Sturtevant street.

He was born in North Stonington, April 27, 1861 and spent his boyhood in Preston, later moving to Norwich Town, where he has lived for the past twenty years. He was the son of Henry and Mary Lee Eccleston. Mr. Eccleston was on March 18, 1885, at Preston, united in marriage with Elizabeth N. Burtch, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fenimore H. Cooper, pastor of Preston City Baptist church, of which Mr. Eccleston was a member.

His death will be mourned in and around Norwich, where he was well known. He conducted a teaming business for many years. Of genial disposition, he made many friends, who will sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

FUNERALS
Mrs. William Kinney

Funeral services for Mrs. William Kinney were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from her home at 10 Town street. Rev. Gurdon P. Bailey, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiated and spoke comforting words to the family, also read from Whittier's poem "Eternal Goodness." During the service Mrs. Henry E. Church sang "Face To Face," and "Some Time We'll Understand."

The bearers were Allen Kinney, a brother-in-law, Edwin C. Gay, David M. Dean, Charles Burke, John Olsen and Herman Retkovski.

Burial was in Maplewood cemetery, where Rev. Mr. Bailey read the committal service.

Included in the large attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Elias Shepard, of New London; David Kinney, from Lord's Point; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kinney, of Providence, and Mrs. Flora Mooney, of Westerly, all relatives; and Judge and Mrs. Samuel E. Holdridge, and son of Ledyard.

Church and Allen were in charge of the funeral arrangements.

The beautiful floral pieces included a pillow, inscribed wife, from her husband; pillow, marked mother, from her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Holdridge; basket of flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kinney; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. George Kinney; floral heart, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Kinney and Mr. and Mrs. William E. House; spray, Mr. and Mrs. David R. Kinney; floral basket, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Bennett; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Holdridge; spray, Norwich Grain Co.; wreath, Olympia Candy Kitchen; spray, Mrs. Charles A. Kuebler; wreath Mr. and Mrs. Herman Retkovski; spray, Miss Abbie Case; flowers from Mrs. Walter H. Gallup; large wreath of roses on standard, bearing the inscription: "Our Neighbor." This came from several neighbors and personal friends in the vicinity of Mrs. Kinney's home.

Mrs. Albert D. Smith.

Funeral services for Mrs. Albert D. Smith were held Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. William R. Perkins, 142 McKinley avenue. Many relatives and friends attended the service and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

The service was conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church. During the service, Mrs. Henry E. Church sang two of Mrs. Smith's favorite hymns, Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me and My Heavenly Home.

Burial will be in the family lot in Yantic cemetery at the convenience of the family. Bearers were Shepard B. Palmer, E. Edward Smith, John H. Powelson and J. P. Holloway. Arrangements were by Church & Allen.

John Madjetulsky.

Funeral services for John Madjetulsky were held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning from the parlors of Cummings & Ring, Main street. Rev. William A. Keefe, rector of St. Mary's Memorial church, officiated. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mr. Madjetulsky died in Preston on July 19, aged 53 years. He was a former resident of Westbrook, Conn.

Daniel McAuliffe.

With relatives and friends attending, funeral services for Daniel McAuliffe were held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the parlors of Cummings & Ring, Main street. Rev. William A. Keef

MYSTIC

The motor traffic through Mystic is heavy on Saturday afternoons and Sundays but travel through Groton has diverged some from the former course over Thames street, passing along the shore road, near the river, and is going over the new Center Groton state road, which was completed late last fall. Motorists are getting acquainted with the new thoroughfare and the travel is rapidly increasing. The road starts from Thames street, near the Thames river bridge and extends through Center Groton to Old Mystic and into the town of Stonington, connecting with the cement road at Stonington borough. A distance of one mile is saved, in comparison with the former route through Poquonoc and Fort Hill is also eliminated.

The churches have been asked to aid in the work for the New York Fresh Air children. How many will be able to come in this vicinity for two weeks away from the heat and crowded streets of the metropolis depends wholly upon the generosity of the people here. A child may be taken into the home for two weeks and given board, or $8 may be contributed for a child's board during the two weeks. The children appreciate the two weeks' stay in the country in nearly all cases and are benefitted by having fresh air and the change.

The sale of articles made by the blind, at B. L. Mulls' store Friday and Saturday, under the direction of the state board of education, was satisfactory. The residents are interested in Ira S. Rathbun and his reed work was greatly admired. He lives on Baptist hill and can be seen working steadily on the articles that he offers for sale. His case is pathetic, for the reason that he is deaf as well as blind, but is making a heroic effort to be self-supporting.

The Dinty Moor met with Mrs. Wood in Westerly Thursday. First prize went to Mrs. Newell and her daughter had the consolation award. A delicious dinner was served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. Newell and daughter of Noank, Mrs. Burdick, Mrs. Congdon, Mrs. Barstow, Miss Chapman, Mrs. Alwilder of Stonington and Mrs. Alice Rood, of Jewett City.

Mrs. John Pierson has returned to Hartford after a visit with her aunt, Mrs. Gurdon Allyn.

Mrs. R. F. King, of Morristown, Pa., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. B. H. Hewitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Brainard, of Montreal, are visiting Mrs. H. E. Brainard.

R. L. Snell was a business caller in Providence Friday.

The tenement on Latham street, recently vacated by James Hempstead is now occupied by Mr. Vandehcits and family of Norwich.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Congdon, Miss Florence Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Allen and W. A. Phillips attended the entertainment repeated by Old Mystic Social Circle in the Methodist parish house Friday evening. About 150 were present.

James Edward Smith, 83, a seaman on the Monitor at the time of her famous battle with the Merrimac, died at his home, 357 Myrtle avenue, at Brooklyn, N. Y., Tuesday. Mr. Smith was for thirty years employed at the navy yard. Norwich had a worker on the Monitor's construction, the late Alexander Proctor.

Seattle today will be the Mecca of thousands of the most prominent and representative citizens of the United States, who will assemble there for the opening of the thirty-sixth triennial conclave of the grand encampment of Knights Templar.

Broadway Theatre

Mystery, drama, action and laughs That's the order of things at the Broadway theatre where the new Paramount picture, "Forty Winks", directed by Paul Iribe and Frank Urson, opened yesterday.

The production is an adaptation of the stage success, "Lord Chumley," by David Belasco and Henry C. DeMille and features Viola Dana, Theodore Roberts and Raymond Griffith in leading roles.

Ray Griffith plays Chumley, a titled English gentleman engaged to Eleanor Butterworth, daughter of Rear Admiral Adam Butterworth, retired. Viola Dana plays Eleanor and Mr. Roberts is cast as the admiral. Cyril Chadwick has a "heavy" role of the Butterworth family lawyer who is also after Eleanor. He arranges with an oriental girl (Anna May Wong) to steal some valuable plans from the girl's brother (William Boyd), a lieutenant in the navy. Then the lawyer tells Eleanor that with all his wealth he can buy back the plans easily enough but it would be better for him to do this as a member of the family. The girl promises to marry him if he will but recover the plans and save her brother from prison and disgrace.

More fun will be found in "French Pastry," a real comedy, and a new News completes the program.

Breed Theater

She was a wealthy girl, and thought men wanted her solely for her money. But she found one man who wouldn't propose to her because of it—and so she married him.

That's one of the many situations in The Sporting Venus, which opened last night at the Breed theater for an engagement of three days.

The picture was produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and directed by Marshal Neilan, and it proves to be one of the most entertaining films in many a day.

Neilan is one of the best of directors of comedy on the screen, and it seems a shame that he should make any other kind of a picture—until you see one of his dramas.

In The Sporting Venus, Neilan has brewed a unique combination of comedy and melodrama, developed many new situations and put a happy

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS IN MARKET

NEW YORK, July 26—(AP)—Undisturbed by minor setbacks, the principal financial markets, with the exception of bonds, made substantial progress this week. Although forced to contend with frequent profit-taking and short selling, stocks overcame these obstacles and pressed forward to higher ground under the impetus of bullish demonstrations in the high priced specialties, motor merchandising, tobacco, baking, independent steels and farm implement groups.

Bond prices drifted irregularly lower as many banks reduced their holdings for the purpose of having funds available for expanding business needed. Chief interest in the investment field centered in heavy new financing which included a $75,000,000 Australian loan and the closing of negotiations for a $30,000,000 6 1-2 per cent. Danish loan.

Signs of firmer money rates, attendant upon heavier commercial demands, appeared on the horizon but were welcomed by the financial community as an indication of better business. Trading in the foreign exchanges was featured by the strength of the Danish and Norwegian currencies, both of which rose to new high levels in response to the improved credit position of these countries as reflected in the refunding of loans at lower interest rates. Sterling eased off slightly but French francs and Italian lire held steady.

Cotton was the outstanding feature of the commodity markets, soaring about $7 a bale after the issuance of an adverse government crop report and closing the week about 1-4 cents a pound net higher, wheat prices lost 6 to 8 cents a bushel during the week.

ATTEMPT TO BURGLARIZE STORE IN NEW LONDON SATURDAY NIGHT

NEW LONDON, July 26.—An attempt was made Saturday night to burglarize the store of Foster, Marsters & Stout, 255 Broad street, the break being attempted shortly after the store was closed for the night. Patrolman Michael Corcoran, in making his rounds shortly after midnight, discovered the lock tampered with, for several of the screws had been removed, but the plate had not been taken off. Mr. Marsters, one of the proprietors, was notified and went to the store and secured the place for the balance of the night.

Lucius B. Fanning, of Norwalk, visited the police station Saturday evening and requested the assistance of the police in locating his son, Richard Fanning. The father stated that the young man had been in the federal service, having been a member of the U. S. S. Camden, stationed at this port, but that on the 13th inst. the youth was discharged and paid off by the treasury department. Mr. Fanning stated that his son was 18, about five feet, eight or nine inches in height, slim, brown hair and light brown eyes. Mr. Fanning requested the police to attempt to persuade the young man to return to Norwalk in the event that the youth was located in this city.

The automobile owned and driven by Benjamin J. Lowrey, 9 New street, and a commercial truck owned and driven by Frederick J. Bulter, 335 Huntington street, were in collision Saturday, corner of Mohegan avenue and Williams street. The truck suffered the loss of a left front wheel, left fender and right headlight. Each driver blamed the other for the collision.

What actuates a man to take the risk that Morriss Greenblatt took and place himself in a position that may send him to jail is not obvious to people in general, who learned the facts when Louis Schenski was presented in the police court Saturday for negotiating a bank check when he had no deposit in the bank on which the check was drawn. The check was for seven cents and on the representation of Schenski that the check was given to him for $7 by the Howard Street Coal company, his employer, and represented payment for his services as a coal shoveler, Morris Socol, a storekeeper, cashed the check. Then it turned out that the check was forgery for it was not given as coming from the Howard Street company, but was given by Morris Greenblatt, an official of the company. The latter explained that Louis Schenski was an employe whom the coal company wanted to keep at work, but that he was inclined to go on a spree so the seven cent check was given with the knowledge that no one would honor it and that Louis would then return after his $7 and perhaps would go to work. The explanation was about as flimsy as anyone could present for giving a forged check even though the amount was for seven cents. On the explanation the police court nolled the complaint against Schenski, but Greenblatt was given some information that may be of value to him in making out bank checks hereafter.

Alfred Hedlund, a sailor from the submarine base, was fined $10 for resisting and fighting with an officer. Hedlund got drunk and then announced his ability to clean out anything in New London that wore the uniform of a policeman. He soon ran up against Patrolman John Sullivan and changed his mind. He was arrested and then told his story.

Steamer New York, of the Central Vermont line freight carriers, will go on the drydock at New York tomorrow to receive an overhauling. The boats of this line have been favored with abundant business during the season and for that reason the New York must now undergo repairs. It is not generally known that the steamers of this line are managed by the Spencer company of New York, a management that has avoided labor troubles in contrast with the experiences the Central Vermont has had in the past. The Spencer company pays liberal wages to its freight handlers and compensates with time and a half pay for overwork, putting the increased cost up to the patrons of the line. In this way there are no disputes as to pay and the work done is satisfactory. It is complained that no months of late years have been as remunerative to the company as have those during the time the Spencer company has been operating the boats.

It is apparent that New London does not need and has no field for more stores than are now located here. In recent years every new building, or every remodelled structure, is adapted to store purposes and for office facilities, until there has accumulated a surplus of that style of building. At the same time there is a scarcity of three or four-room apartments of modern construction, while the demand for them is constantly increasing. It would seem that the builder of such apartments would be well paid for his investment.

An automobile, the identity of its owner not determined, collided with the heavy traffic beacon, corner of Jefferson avenue and Broad street, Saturday afternoon, the beacon being forced out of position and damaged.

An automobile, owned by E. E. Miller, pay clerk at the United States Coast Guard academy, was parked on State street, near the corner of Union street, Saturday evening, about 7:30 o'clock and while Miller absented himself about an hour the machine, a Ford coupe, was stolen. The police throughout the state were requested to be on the lookout for the stolen machine. This morning the New London police found the car abandoned at the corner of Ferry and Chapel streets. Miller went to New Haven this afternoon and drove the car back to New London.

The funeral of Henry M. Sprague, Jr., of 56 Pleasant street, Groton, was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Seabury Memorial church, Groton, and was attended by a large gathering of mourners, including a delegation of members of Fairview lodge, I. O. O. F., of which organization Mr. Sprague was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. Frederick W. Hasel, rector of the church. Members of Fairview lodge acted as bearers. Burial was in Riverbend cemetery, Westerly.

Pickett R. Dayton, 78, died Saturday afternoon at his residence, 20 Tenth street, death ending an illness of two years brought about by paralysis. Mr. Dayton, who was for many years employed at the mill of Palmer Bros., is survived by his wife and a son.

William P. Bethel, 78 Hempstead street, employed as a tailor, complained to the police that as a result of his having been threatened several times of late by Samuel Williams, Richards street, he is fearful of his life. According to Bethel, he is accosted frequently on the streets by Williams and the latter always makes threats to injure Bethel. Two days ago, when Williams met Bethel, the former, Bethel asserts, pulled a knife and started to attack Bethel, but the latter started on a run at his out-footed Williams. The next time Williams met Bethel the former declared that had he been able to overtake Bethel, Williams would have "cut Bethel to pieces." No arrest was made.

An automobile owned and driven by Florence T. Lake, 323 Montauk avenue, and a truck owned by Michael J. Doyle, and operated by Fred H. Brooks, 66 West street, were in collision Saturday at the intersection of Montauk avenue and Hobron street. Both truck and the pleasure car, the latter a coupe, were damaged, the coupe losing a wheel.

Konomoc Hose company, which had contemplated holding a carnival next month, has abandoned the plan. The operation of wheels of fortune was to have been part of the attraction, but it has been disclosed that such are in violation of the law and the company would not undertake to operate them under the circumstances. So the company will not conduct the carnival.

The New Haven railroad has more freight trains in operation through New London at present than it has had in recent months. Trains of 70 to 75 cars are not an unusual sight and there are many trains of this sort running now. The freight is largely coal, steel, coke and machinery. Several trains of this size are daily sent over the line via New London. Two locomotives are required to push the cars over the incline between the station and the bridge across the river. The cars are well filled, too, so that the volume of freight is enormous.

William Babiarz of Norwich avenue is a patient at the Backus hospital following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Mary Alice Smith and Master Thomas Whitehead have returned to their home in Westerly, R. I., after spending several days with Mrs. Smith, mother and sister-in-law, Mrs. and Mrs. William Whitehead, of Buswell avenue.

At the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, held Sunday evening in the vestry of the Taftville Congregational church, the topic was The Progress and Achievement of the Negro. The meeting was in charge of the lookout committee, and was well attended.

The novena in honor of St. Anne, mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary, which has been in progress the past week at the Sacred Heart church, came to an end Sunday evening. The devotions have been observed by most of the women of the parish, the church being crowded at each service, both morning and evening.

Miss Cecile Mentas, of South Third avenue, has resigned, with the weaving department of the Ponemah company.

Peter Bush, of Versailles is recovering from an operation for appendicitis at the William W. Backus hospital.

Mrs. Arthur E. Atkins and Miss Vivian Atkins of South Second avenue and Miss Helen C. Aberg of North Third avenue have been spending a few days at the Atkins cottage, at Eastern Point. Miss Clara Evelyn Atkins of Texas, has also been at the cottage for a short stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wood of North B street and their granddaughter, Miss Natalie J. Ferris of Detroit, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Earle M. Wood and Master Mahlon E. Wood of North Third avenue have been spending a short time at Oakland Beach, R. I.

Arsene Plante of South A street has resigned at the mills of the Ponemah company.

NORWICH TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kinney returned to Providence Sunday evening after spending the week end at the home of Mrs. Kinneys brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. David M. Dean, of Norwich Town. Mr. and Mrs. Kinney were called to Norwich, by the sudden death of Mrs. William Kinney of 18 Town street.

At the First Congregational parsonage, on Elm avenue, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of the church, united in marriage Wallace H. Wheaton of Attleboro, Mass., and Margaret C. Goodman, of Norwich. There were no attendants.

The bride who has been employed at the Backus Hospital, is the daughter of Terrance, and Mary Donnelly Goodman. The groom is a son of Charles E., and Fannie Richmond Wheaton. Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton are to reside in Norwich.

Much interest is being manifested concerning a lawn fete to be held under the auspicies of the Altar Society of the Sacred Heart church, of which Miss Nellie Kingsley is president. A preliminary meeting was held Thursday evening, July 16th, at the home of Mrs. John Lyons of West Town street, at which time plans were formulated. The interest and co-operation evidenced since then, have been most gratifying to the general chairman, Miss Kingsley who has been assisted by Mrs. John Lyons, Mrs. Mary Tracy, Mrs. Dell Herbert, Mrs. Thomas Fillivan, Mrs. Dennis Houlihan, Mrs. Benjamin L. Kenhedy, Mrs. George A. Smith, Mrs. Richard Quinn, and Misses Mary McNally, Katharine Kane, Blanche Richards, Julia O'Connell, Catherine Shahan, Bessie Callahan, Mary Burns, Anna Shahan, Ann'e Gorman, Catherine Casey and Mary D. McNally.

IRONSIDES BOARD CORPORATION SUES FOR DAMAGES OF $100,000

Damages of $100,000 are asked in a superior court suit brought by Thomas J. Kelly, trustee in bankruptcy of the bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation of this city, against the Norwich Savings Society, Frank W. Browning of said town of Norwich or Montville as receiver of the Uncas Paper Board company, appointed by the superior court for New London County, in the action of H. G. Craig & Company, Ltd., et al vs. Uncas Paperboard company, and James E. Smith, of Baltimore, Maryland.

The complaint sets forth that on October 27th, 1919, The Ironsides Board Corporation, a corporation organized under the laws of the state of Delaware and which conducted a plant in Norwich, mortgaged to the defendant The Norwich Savings Society several pieces or parcels of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in Norwich, together with certain personal property, specifically described in said mortgage, and said mortgage was duly recorded in the land records of the town of Norwich.

The defendant The Norwich Savings Society, in due course, after the date of said mortgage, instituted foreclosure proceedings on the mortgage, returnable to the Superior Court for the County of New London, and in due course, a judgment of foreclosure by sale was rendered in the cause, and the property was sold under the decree on Dec. 9, 1922.

Prior to the sale under the judgment of foreclosure, as aforesaid, bankruptcy proceedings were instituted against The Ironsides Board Corporation (mortgagor) in the United States District Court for the District of Connecticut, and one Edwin Hynes of New York, was duly appointed receiver in the bankruptcy proceedings, qualified as such, and continued to act as such receiver until the appointment of the plaintiff as trustee as hereinafter stated.

In due course, the Superior Court for New London County, on November 10, 1922, rendered a judgment in the foreclosure proceedings, and directed by the judgment that the land, premises and real estate described in the mortgage, together with all the personal property described in the mortgage, and remaining on the premises be sold as a whole at auction, to the highest bidder.

The plaintiff was duly appointed trustee of the bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation (mortgagor), and has duly qualified as such, and ever since has been, and still is acting as such trustee.

At the time of the rendition of the judgment of foreclosure by sale, as aforesaid, The Ironsides Board Corporation was the owner of and entitled to the possession of 3 concrete beaters, 2 breaker beaters, 1 Worthington Steam Pump Co. 12 x 17 x 10 x 15 horizontal duplex compound piston pattern cold water pump; 1 Downington Mfg. Co. 116" duplex cutter and slitter; 1 Black & Clawson 89" five cylinder paper machine with cylinder moulds, squeeze rolls, presses, dryers, calendar stacks, winders, slitters, pumps, screens and all attachments, appliances and spare parts used or intended to be used in connection therewith, 1 National Hoisting Engine Co. 5" x 8" double cylinder single 10 x 14 drum hoisting engine; 12 office desks; 1 portable building known as a Truscon Steel Company building, and one 500 gallon tank, all of the value of more than Seventy-five Thousand ($75,000.00); all of which property was on the mortgaged premises at the time of the sale of the property ordered to be sold under said judgment of foreclosure by sale, as aforesaid.

On December 9, 1922, Gilbert R. Raymond, Esq., as the committee of the superior court under said foreclosure proceedings, aforesaid, in pursuance to said judgment of foreclosure by sale, sold at auction to the defendant James E. Smith, he being the highest bidder, all the land, premises and real estate described in said mortgage, together with all the personal property described in said mortgage.

The defendant James E. Smith took possession of all of the property covered by the judgment of foreclosure including the property aforesaid, the property belonging to the Ironsides Board Corporation and to the plaintiff as the trustee thereof.

On the 6th day of December, 1922, the said James E. Smith purported to mortgage to the defendant The Norwich Savings Society all of the property acquired by him at foreclosure sale, and in said mortgage was included the property aforesaid belonging to the plaintiff, as the trustee of the bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation and the defendant The Norwich Savings Society now claims title and lien thereto by virtue of said defendant Smith's mortgage, which is recorded in the Norwich Land records.

On or about the 10th day of January, 1923, the defendant James E. Smith purported to sell, assign and transfer his equity of redemption in said mortgaged property, including the property belonging to the plaintiff, to the defendant the Uncas Paper Board Company.

This year, the defendant Frank W. Browning was duly appointed receiver in and by the Superior Court for New London County in the action of H. G. Craig & Company, Ltd., et al. vs. Uncas Paper Board Company, which action is still pending in the superior court and said defendant Browning, as such receiver, took and now has possession and control of the property aforesaid belonging to the plaintiff.

In June 1925, upon the application of the plaintiff as the trustee in bankruptcy of the bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation, made to the superior court, the Superior Court duly passed and entered an order permitting and authorizing the defendant Frank W. Browning, as such receiver of The Uncas Paper Board Company, to be made party defendant in any action that this plaintiff may see fit to bring, to recover the property aforesaid, or the value thereof, and said order and authorization is still in full force and effect.

Upon the facts aforesaid, the plaintiff, as the trustee in bankrutcy of The Ironsides Board Corporation was at all times and now is entitled to the possession of said property, which has not been delivered to him, but which has been converted to the use of the defendants, their agents, servants and representatives, and thereby deprived the plaintiff from the use thereof; all of which was against the will and consent of the plaintiff.

Prior to the institution of the present action, Hon. Thomas M. Shields, referee in bankruptcy, before whom the bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation is pending for administration, duly passed an order permitting and authorizing the plaintiff to institute these proceedings in conformity with the laws and rules of practice of the United States District Court, in such case made and provided.

The bankrupt estate of The Ironsides Board Corporation does not possess sufficient assets to pay all claims against the estate, plus the cost of administration thereof, and the recovery of the value of the property aforesaid is necessary for the payment of the claims and the cost of administration of the estate.

The defendants, ever since the 10th day of January, 1923, have continuously used the property, and the reasonable fair, just value of the use thereof is $25,000.

The plaintiff claims: $100,000 damages by way of equitable relief:

That the bill of sale, from the defendant James E. Smith to the Uncas Paper Board Company, purporting to convey to its title to the property belonging to the plaintiff be declared null and void.

That the mortgage from the defendant James E. Smith to the Norwich Savings Society, insofar as it purports to mortgage the property belonging to the plaintiff, be declared null and void.

That the claimed lien of the defendant the Norwich Savings Society on the property belonging to the plaintiff be declared inoperative, null and void.

Such other and further relief as to the court may seem just and proper.

FRUIT AUTHORITIES TO LECTURE AT STORRS

STORRS, July 26.—Apple storage, with its problems of ventilation and construction will occupy a prominent place in the Fruit Grower's program for Farmer's Week, August 4-7, according to the announcement of Sherman P. Hollister, professor of horticulture at the Connecticut Agricultural College.

Among the speakers on the fruit grower's program, which will be given Wednesday, August 5, are Philo T. Platt, commissioner of agriculture in Connecticut, who will take as his topic, "Present Laws Which Affect Packing and Marketing of Fruit;" L. M. Marble of Rockgrit Orchards, Canton, Pa.; R. D. Anthony, professor of experimental pomology, Pennsylvania State College; L. H. Healey, deputy commissioner of agriculture in Connecticut; Lewis C. Root of Farmington, president of the Connecticut Pomological Society; Sherman P. Hollister, professor of horticulture at C. A. C.; and a group of successful orchardists including H. H. Buell of Eastford, A. B. Smith of Cliftonville, Roy C. Galley of Rockville, J. H. Reinhard of Cheshire, Frank W. Browning of Norwich, F. H. Beers of Brookfield Center, and others.

"Horticultural Storage," the new storage building of the pomology department of the college will be dedicated as a part of the fruit growers program, and the holding of the forenoon meeting in this structure will mark the first public use to which it will be put. The college orchards are in fine shape, and Connecticut fruit growers will find much of interest in the clean crop of fruit now on the trees. Peaches and plums are especially good this year, and a fine harvest is promised. Sprayers, graders and dusters of various makes will be on display for inspection. Demonstrations will be given in the most approved methods of budding, grafting and thinning, following which an open discussion of these practices will be held. The operation of a power orchard duster is expected to be the center of interest among the fruit men.

An interesting case of how a private corporation is co-operating with a state experiment station to effect improvements in fruit storage was related by Professor Hollister in commenting on the experience and qualifications of Messrs. Marble and Anthony, who will address the Connecticut orchardists on this phase of their work.

Marble is a successfull business man interested and actively engaged in orcharding, and the problems of fruit and vegetable storage. He has provided the Pennsylvania State Experimental Station with a fully equipped storage cellar with all facilities for experimental work, and the station furnishes the trained scientist in the person of Professor Anthony. Marble is the owner of an orchard of 5,000 trees set out in 1912, in which year he began his studies in fruit storage. His first work was in connection with ventilation, but later studies included temperature, humidity, circulation of air, and other factors. Working in conjunction with Professor Anthony, he has contributed much to the solving of the ever-present storage problem for the fruit grower, and his message to the Connecticut orchardists should contain many valuable pointers. "The Need of Ventilation in the Apple Storage," will be the subject of Mr. Marble's talk, and "Storage Construction" will be the subject of Professor Anthony's talk.

A discussion of home storage will be led by Connecticut fruit growers, the names of whom have already been given. Professor Hollister will speak briefly of the uses to which the new "Horticultural Storage" will be put.

Following is the complete Fruit Grower's Program:

Wednesday, August 5. (Morning session at Horticultural Storage) 10 a. m., opening of session by President L. C. Root, Conn. Pomological Society; "The Need For Ventilation in Apple Storage," L. M. Marble; 11 a. m., "Storage Construction," Professor R. D. Anthony; 11:30 a. m., "Discussion of Home Storage," led by Connecticut orchardists.

Afternoon session in tent near Armory 2:30 p. m., "Present Laws which Affect the Packing and Marketing of Fruit," Commissioner of Agriculture Philo T. Platt.

BELL ALARM FOR OIL STOVE FIRE

Two calls were received Saturday, by the fire department, one proving to be a false alarm and the other a smoke scare caused by an oil stove.

The false call came in by telephone at 9:24 o'clock in the morning, for a supposed fire at No. 6 Thames street. When the firemen arrived there, knowledge of a call for the department was denied by residents in the house, or in nearby houses.

Box 21, corner of Broad street and Boswell avenue was rung in at 2:41 o'clock in the afternoon for a fire in the home of Mrs. Adams at 94 Boswell avenue. An oil stove was found burning when the firemen arrived and the smoke which filled the house had caused neighbors to believe that the house was on fire.

The department also received a call from Raymond Hill during the morning but did not respond as it was outside the city.

FIRST BAPT. CHURCH LETTER TO NEW LONDON ASS'N

The annual letter of the First Baptist Church, Norwich, reads as follows:

To the New London Association:

Greetings:

Another year has rolled by and once again we gladly bring the greetings of our church to the association.

The past year has been one full of joy and sorrow. We have had the pleasure of welcoming fourteen new members into the church but have sustained severe losses by the removal, by death, of several of our most faithful members—Mrs. William J. Koops, Mrs. Charles Pierce and Deacon Frank L. Lathrop. We miss their inspiring example in faithfulness and service to the church, and the deep concern they always showed in the welfare of the church will long remain in our memories and be an example to us. The total loss by death was seven includ ng Mrs. Joseph Peckham, Mrs. Erastus Gardner, Miss Alice Bogue and Mrs. Lottie Jones.

Much help and interest was derived from the School of Missions held Thursday evenings for six weeks.

The church has co-operated in union services with other churches of the city in several projects for the benefit and inspiration of all. Among these are: Dr. F. A. Agar's institute on Church Efficiency and D. E. A. Kernahan's week of Visitation Evangelism. The Sunday school was represented in the two teacher training sessions held during the year. A vacation school was again held and attended by a large number.

At Easter a pageant, "The City of God," was given by a cast of forty young people of the church under the able direction of the pastor.

Gala days for the members and friends of the church were May 17th and 18th when we celebrated our 125th anniversary. Fitting and appropriate services were held on both days by all departments of the church to commemorate the occasion.

Realizing the demands made on the pastor's time in calling on members of our widely scattered parish, the members and friends of the church were happy to co-operate in raising a sufficient sum of money for the purchase of a Maxwell coach for the pastor.

This fall the school graduates its first teacher training class on the international basis of credits.

We feel that we have had a happy and busy year together in work for our Master and trust that God will guide in the work for the coming year.

STORRS HENS ARE LAYING FEWER EGGS

As was expected, the curve of egg production has taken the downward course this week. The birds laid 284 eggs less than last week and relatively 205 eggs less than for the corresponding period a year ago. An out of state breeder supplied the winning pen for the week. Hanson's pen of Leghorns from Corvallis, Ore., was first with a lay of 62 eggs. W. H. B. Kent's pen of Barred Rocks from Cazenovia, N. Y., were next with 58 eggs. Hilltop Farm's pen of Leghorns from Suffield, Conn., were third with a total of 56 eggs and Harriet Smith's Barred Rocks from Newburyport, Mass., and J. C. Patton's pen of Leghorns from Charlotte, N. C., tied for fourth place with 55 eggs each. The production for the week was 4,870 eggs or a yield of nearly fifty per cent. This brings the total to date to 161,731 eggs.

The outstanding feature of the week was the breaking of the lead, held for twenty weeks by Meadowedge Farm at Sterling Junction, Mass., by Hanson's Leghorn Farm at Corvallis, Ore. The Oregon birds are now ten eggs ahead of the Massachusetts pen. R. W. Davis & Sons from Rockland, Me., is again back on the honor roll, taking the place of E. C. Foreman from Lansing, Mich. The leading pens in all the other varieties remained the same as for the previous week.

The leading pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows:

White Rocks

Ellen Day Ranken Huntington, L. I., N. Y.	1385
H. B. Spangler Matawan, N. J.	1205
Davidson Bros. Upton, Mass.	1181

FORMER NORWICH PEOPLE MOTOR HERE FROM BALTIMORE

Leo Bruett, a former resident of this city, arrived here from Baltimore, by automobile Sunday morning, accompanied by his wife and their three children, Edith, Gilbert and Edward, to visit his mother, Mrs. Lena Bruett. They expect to stay two weeks.

The party covered the distance of 360 miles in 19 hours of actual driving time, Mr. and Mrs. Bruette taking turns at the wheel. They left Baltimore at 4 o'clock Saturday morning and reached Stamford at 7 in the evening, stopping there over night. From Philadelphia on it rained continuously and it rained again when they resumed their trip from Stamford, starting at 4 o'clock Sunday morning and reaching this city four hours later. Sixteen gallons of gasoline were used on the trip.

In coming into the city, Mr. Bruette said Sunday evening that he was impressed by the notably clean appearance of the streets and he was glad to say that his native city was ahead of every other place that he had seen in this respect.

The two oldest children in the family were born in Norwich, but Edward was born in Baltimore and this is his first visit here. Gilbert, who is 14, is devoted to music and is a pupil at the Peabody School of Music, where for two years in succession he has won a scholarship. He plays the trumpet and it is possible he may be heard in this city in a public performance while he is here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruett left Norwich eight years ago, living in Bridgeport for two years, before going to Baltimore, where Mr. Bruett is employed by a concern manufacturing brass tubing.

SUSTAINS NEW HAVEN ROAD RATE INCREASE

The decision announced by the Interstate Commerce commission and the New York Public Service commission in the commutation rate case sustains the tariffs of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company increasing the commutation fares between points in the state of Connecticut and New York city by the amount of 20 per cent. and within the state of New York by approximately 40 per cent., thus placing these fares on the same level as like fares in the states of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, as well as interstate between these states.

Tariffs providing for these increases were filed in the latter part of 1923 and early part of 1924, and subsequently suspended from time to time to permit of public hearings and determination of the reasonableness of the rates by the Interstate Commerce commission and the New York Public Service commission.

This places the commutation fare for the entire system upon a common level and increases the fares for fifty family tickets in the state of New York to the same level as charged for similar tickets, but of twenty-five instead of fifty trip denominations on other parts of the system.

The result of these decisions coupled with like decisions by the commissions of the states of Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts, results in standardizing the commutation and family trip ticket fares on a common level throughout the entire New Haven system, as well as the Boston and Maine railroad.

SAYS EVERYONE SHOULD BE A CLIMBER

An interesting service was held at the local Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parlors, with a good number present.

After the scripture reading and prayer several reels of moving pictures were shown. These included a trip to Mount Tom, showing most beautiful scenery along the way and the arrival at the top, with a picture of the observatory, etc. A fifteen-minute reel on Panama and the great canal proved most interesting, portraying as it did the manner in which a ship passed through the canal and also showing the customs and habits of the people of Panama. The last reel was one showing historic scenes of New England, and this was of real interest, showing as it did monuments of national interest, the old elm under which Washington received his command, and numerous other places and things of interest.

Between the reels Secretary Edwin Hill gave a brief talk, and spoke in part as follows: "The ascent of Mount Tom suggests to me the thought of climbing in the various realms of life. We hear a great deal in these days about evolution, and we all believe in the right kind of evolution, namely, the development that we should make as we live our lives. We would feel sad indeed if a baby always remained a baby. Every man and woman should grow and develop each day, and they should develop mentally, physically and spiritually, else humanity will go backward instead of forward. Every one should be a climber, mounting up day by day to higher realms, and especially should we climb, or develop morally and spiritually; we are admonished to 'grow in grace and in the knowledge of Jesus Christ.'

"The picture of the great Panama canal reminds us of one of the many wonders performed by the hand of man; there are so many of them that we stand amazed in their presence, though I still believe the greatest wonder of all is to behold what the grace of God can do for a man and what God can make of one when he has a chance. The historic scenes of New England and the men who made them historic ought to develop within us more and more an appreciation of what it cost those who have gone before us to bestow upon us our splendid heritage, and we need to remember the price our fathers paid for our civilization."

Lewis R. Church operated the moving picture machine.

NORWICH DRIVER CRASHED INTO TWO MACHINES

After the machine he was driving had crashed into an automobile owned by Dr. William C. McLaughlin of Prospect street and parked in front of the residence of Prof. Frank L. Farrell, Washington street and a machine owned by, Rev. Felix J. O'Neil of Stafford Springs which was parked by the curb, Henry F. Hanrahan of this city was arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. Following the accident, which occurred about 9 o'clock Saturday evening, Mr. Hanrahan claimed that the lights of an approaching machine blinded him.

Being notified of the accident by telephone to police headquarters, Captain Thomas P. Murphy sent Sergeant John H. Casey to the scene and after investigation Hanrahan was arrested by Sergt. Casey and Officer Albert Lamphere on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Hanrahan was released on bonds of $300 for appearance in the city court this (Monday) morning.

Dr. McLaughlin's machine was considerably damaged in the crash. The body was badly dented on the left side, a hub cap, and mudguar smashed and bumper damaged.

MAIN ST. TROLLEY WIRES WERE BROKEN

Two broken trolley wires, in the downtown section of the city Saturday morning, caused considerable excitement. The first break was at Shannon's corner, not far from where Traffic Officer Michael Carroll was on duty, and the second break was the feed wire of the Connecticut company, in front of the Porteous & Mitchell store.

The latter break was caused when the mixing machine, being used to mix the cement for the new road on Main street, came into contact with the feed wire, causing it to melt and drop to the ground. Sparks and flames shot out in all directions.

Repairs in both places were made quickly and business went back to normal. While the wires were being repaired it was necessary to transfer trolley passengers around the breaks.

HOME AFTER AUTO TOUR TO CANADA

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Drew, of No. 52 Peck street, Joseph McMahon, of No. 39 Elizabeth street, and Miss Corinne Lessard, of No. 504 Main street returned Saturday night after a week's automobile tour through Massachusetts, and New York state, to Niagara Falls and Toronto, Ontario.

TWO WOMEN HURT IN HEADON CRASH

Late Saturday evening while on his way to the rectory at Stafford Springs, Rev. Felix J. O'Neil was run into in a headon collision on Franklin hill, Lebanon, by a machine driven by George L. Jarvis of No. 88 Dunham St., and owned by William B. Lamon of No. 14 Church St.

Mrs. Roseline Jarvis, Mr. Jarvis' wife and Miss Frances Dombroski of Elm St., this city who were riding with Mr. Jarvis were slightly injured They were taken to the W. W. Backus hospital, suffering from bruises and cuts. Their injuries were of a minor nature and they were able to leave the hospital Sunday morning. Mr. Jarvis was also slightly injured receiving bruises about the legs.

Rev. Father O'Neil whose machine was involved in the Washington St., crash earlier in the evening, following which Henry F. Hanrahan was arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, was on his way home to Stafford Springs at the time of the second crash.

Father O'Neil was driving, he said, about 12 miles an hour as he did not know just how much damage had been done to his machine in the crash on Washington street.

The machine driven by Mr. Jarvis suddenly shot out from behind another machine headed south and crashed headon into Father O'Neil's machine, doing considerable damage. Father O'Neil, it is understood, was on the extreme right of the road. Jarvis claimed that the machine in front of him slowed down suddenly as if it were going to make a quick stop and he turned out to avoid it, his machine crashing into Father O'Neil's car.

LAW REQUIRES TOWNS TO MAINTAIN BRIDGES

As the cost of keeping in repair bridges on uncompleted sections of the trunk line highway system will no longer be borne by the state following action of the legislature, the state highway department has notified town selectmen of the change in the law which now requires the towns in which the bridges are located to maintain them. Attention of town officials is called, in the letter, to the provisions of the new law and copies of the act relating to the change have been sent to every town in the state.

The new law also provides, in the case of state aid or trunk line bridges, that the cost of constructing additional widths over and above the twenty-eight foot width specified, and the installation of any highway lighting system or the cost of widewalks shall be borne by the town requesting such additional work.

The new laws covering the situation are contained in section 17, chapter 263, and sections 1, 6, and 7 of chapter 237 of the Public Acts of 1925.

In cases where bridges are between two or more towns the law empowers the state to assess the cost of the additional width and sidewalk work, upon each town in proportion. If sidewalks and additional width are desired, such additional width and sidewalks must be requested by both towns.

CONN. WOMEN VOTERS TO MEET NOV. 4

Hartford has been chosen as the meeting place for the fifth annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters, Nov. 4 and 5. Reports to be made will show how the scope of activities has been extended since the first annual meeting, held in Hartford in 1921.

At that time but four of the eight committees no wfunctioning were organized. The educational program of the league is now carried on through the departments of efficiency in government and of international co-operation to prevent war and through the six committees constituting the department of public welfare in government. Organization work has been delegated to vice-presidents, one taking charge of finance and two acting as advisers on organization for four counties each. In the counties the league has developed along similar lines.

Mrs. Herbert Knox Smith of Farmington, president, has appointed Mrs. Otto G. Wiedman, president of the Hartford league, general chairman of arrangements for the convention. Other committees will be announced later.

ARTIFICIAL TEETH OR PLATES

FOR JULY ONLY—20 PER CENT. DISCOUNT ON ALL PLATES.

What is more disagreeable than an ill-fitting plate?

The proof of a good plate is the FIT. No matter how good the material used, or the price of the work, if it does not fit perfectly it is no use to you.

Our artificial teeth are the best in the world. No money can buy better. Our prices are the lowest quoted on this class of work. In times of soaring prices it is worth your while to call and investigate before going elsewhere. It will cost you nothing.

Thousands of people wear artificial teeth. In many cases you could tell they were false a block away. Our plates are made with teeth so near like your own natural teeth as to color, making and shape that you cannot tell them from nature's own.

All of our impressions are perfect before we try to build; without that it would be useless to finish the plate.

We try all plates in the mouth before they are finished, so that they can be altered if necessary.

When we get a perfect impression, and expression, we go ahead and finish the work.

The fly makes 1000 stops per day

BUT Flit will quickly put a stop to the fly's travels.

Flit spray clears the house in a few minutes of mosquitoes and disease-bearing flies. It is clean, easy and safe to use.

Kills Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches, ants, and insect eggs. The cracks and crevices where insects hide and breed are readily reached by Flit spray. Spraying Flit on garments kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit did not stain or injure the most delicate fabrics.

A Scientific General Insecticide

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. More than 70 formulas were tested on various household insects before Flit was finally perfected. Flit is a 100% effective insecticide containing no inactive (inert) ingredients.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR BRYAN ARE TO BE HELD IN WASHINGTON FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Services Delayed in Order to Permit W. J. Bryan, Jr., to Reach Washington—Details of the Ceremony Have Not Been Concluded—Burial Will Be in Arlington Cemetery—Not Likely That Military Ceremonies Will Accompany Entombment—By Direction of President Coolidge the Death of Mr. Bryan Was Formally Announced For the Govenment by Secretary Kellogg—Flags on National Buildings in Washington Ordered to Half-Staff on the Day of the Funeral.

WASHINGTON, July 27—(A. P.)—Near the crest of a swelling slope, where sleep a great company of the dead of many wars, the American government today marked out in Arlington National Cemetery a final resting place for William Jennings Bryan.

His burial there late Friday afternoon, with simple ceremony, will fulfill his own oft-repeated wish. In life a crusader for peace, he chose in death to lie where the tombs of military men look down upon the capital, and near the towering memorials reared to Washington and Lincoln.

The right he thus asserted to a place in the nation's citadel of military dead was his by virtue of those stirring days of '98 when he wore the uniform as a colonel of volunteers. His grave will be in that community of death where sleep many comrades of the Spanish-American war, not far from the Dewey mausoleum and the monument that honors those who died on the Maine.

Not all of the plans for Friday's funeral services had been arranged tonight, but it seemed certain that the commoner would be committed to his tomb with only those ceremonies which are fitting for a plain and humble citizen. No plans had been made to sound for him the bugle call that says a last farewell to the soldier, nor to heap upon his bier the pompous tribute of a great government for a fallen leader of the people. Those of his friends who are doing for him the last earthly service believe he would approve of no funeral program but the simplest.

In other ways, however, the government and the nation will do what they are permitted to do to honor him. By direction of President Coolidge, flags of the government buildings will fly at half mast on the funeral day. His body will lie in state for a time, too, after its arrival here Thursday morning, but it is doubtful whether this final public tribute will be paid in any public building.

Not until Friday will the family circle be complete, and the funeral service that afternoon probably will be held in the Washington place of worship where Mr. Bryan was a constant attendant during his service in the cabinet.

The place of his entombment at Arlington was chosen today by a friend of many years, Ben G. Davis, to whom the former secretary had expressed more than once his desire to sleep in the historic national burying ground.

The chosen place is one of the most beautiful in Arlington. Within a stone's throw of the summit of the highest ridge, the grave will be upon the bosom of a wide, unshaded sweep, grass-grown and fringed far off with old oaks. Clearly visible across the placid river lies the capital city, a panorama of historic landmarks.

Nearer by rise in beauty the great and small stones of remembrance set above the dust of those who have served their country on land and sea, in peace and war. Within sight is the central memorial of them all the tomb of the unknown soldier, rising before the marble facade of the memorial ampitheatre.

Until the thoughts of the dead commoner's friends have travelled on to the erection of an enduring monument to him, only a small and homely marker will inform the passing world who lies beneath.

FUNERAL CAR WILL LEAVE DAYTON WEDNESDAY 8:40 A. M.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 27.—(AP)—The train which will carry the special car bearing the body of William Jennings Bryan to Washington is the regularly Southern Railway train No. 42, from Chattanooga to the national capital. The car will leave Dayton at 8:40 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Leaving Chattanooga at 11:20 a. m., central standard time, the train has these scheduled stations and hours of arrival:

Knoxville, Tenn., 2:45 p. m.
Bristol, Tenn-Virginia, 7:05 p. m.
Roanoke, Va., 12:45 a. m. Thursday (eastern time).
Lynchburg, Va., 2:10 a. m.
Washington, 7:30 a. m.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 27.—(AP)—President Coolidge late today sent the following letter of condolence to the widow of William Jennings Bryan:

"My Dear Mrs. Bryan:

"The sudden death of Mr. Bryan brought a sense of personal loss to Mrs. Coolidge and myself. It was only the other day that he had been our guest at the White House. We wish to extend to you and your family our most heartfelt sympathy.

"Mr. Bryan has been a prominent figure in public affairs for a third of a century. He has been a leader in the advocacy of many moral reforms and was representative of the effort for purity in our political life. He was endowed with the great gift of eloquence. The sincerity of his motives was beyond dispute. He was three times chosen head of a great political party and held the exalted office of secretary of state. His career was another example of what American opportunity affords to those who have the will industriously to apply themselves. It would be difficult to find among his contemporaries anyone with so large a circle of friends and acquaintances who had so generously bestowed upon him their esteem and confidence.

"I trust that you may be given great consolation in remembering all his worth and in the abiding faith that a divine providence has ordered all things well."

DEATH OF BRYAN FORMALLY ANNOUNCED FOR U. S. GOV'T

WASHINGTON July 27.—(AP)—By direction of President Coolidge, Secretary Kellogg today formally announced for the government the death of William Jennings Bryan. The announcement follows:

"By direction of the president, the undersigned is charged with the sad duty of announcing the death on July 26, 1925, at Dayton, Tenn., of William Jennings Bryan, a distinguished citizen of the United States, formerly a representative in congress from the state of Nebraska, a colonel in the Spanish-American war and secretary of state.

"In all these capacities his services were characterized by a faithfulness to duty and a devotion to public interest. His private life was one for the emulation of all American citizens. Thrice the nominee of a great political party, his death will be especially mourned by a large personal following who held him in affectionate esteem.

"As a testimony of this respect it is ordered by the president that the national flag be displayed at half staff on the national buildings at Washington on the date of the funeral.

(Signed) FRANK B. KELLOGG"

BODY OF BRYAN WILL LIE IN STATE ON LAWN

DAYTON, Tenn., July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Watched by his Dayton friends, the mortal form of William Jennings Bryan, whose spirit fled away as he slept late yesterday, lay in the front room of a simple southern home tonight. Meanwhile the invalid widow worked out plans for bearing the body of the Commoner to Washington for ultimate burial in the restful place of the nation's military heroes, Arlington cemetery.

Humble followers of Mr. Bryan came from the tree-clad Cumberland slopes late today to gaze for the last time, perhaps, into the face of him who was their champion of Christian faith and to pay the last tribute of honor and high esteem.

Tomorrow afternoon, under a spreading maple on the lawn of the Richard Rogers residence where the former Democratic chieftain spent his last days, a more formal ceremony will take place. The public then will view the remains of the dead leader as he lies in state within a metal casket of bronze.

TRIBUTES TO W. J. BRYAN

William Green

William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor:

"The common people regarded him as their companion and defender. Those who agreed with him, supported him and believed in him, those who disagreed admired his sincerity courage and devotion to principle. Among the men and women of labor his friends were legion."

Rev. William A. Sunday

The Rev. William A. Sunday, evangelist:

"The friend of God, the enemy of the devil. To know William Jennings Bryan was an invitation to do right.

"Although he chose politics as a career he was essentially a crusader for Christianity. He was at his best when fighting on moral rather than religious issues. He fell with his face to the enemy.

"He was a Luther in his fame, a Napoleon in his battle for God, a Lincoln in his patience. Crown him as one of the world's immortals."

Frank Morrison

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor:

"Many conflicting estimates will be made on the life and work of the late William Jennings Bryan, but all of these must include a high morality and a demand that his cleanliness be carried into our political and social life. His voice was always heard in favor of remedial legislation urged by organized labor. Mr. Bryan had the courage of his convictions and as such his example could well be emulated by every citizen who possesses ideals."

Gov. Austin Peay of Tennessee

Governor Austin Peay of Tennessee:

"Mr. Bryan died a martyr to his faith. In his death he towers sublimely supreme over the skeptics throughout the world who so lately and unsparingly have traduced him and his heroic faith in God's holy bible. His life will be an inspiration to unborn and untold generations."

RAIN PUT BRIDGEPORT PHONES OUT OF ORDER

BRIDGEPORT, July 27.—(AP)—Due to water-soaked cables of the underground wire system, 600 telephones are out of order here following the heavy rainfall of this afternoon. Pools of water formed in many streets which moved up to the store fronts. In a little more than an hour an inch and a half of rain had fallen in one of the three storms.

Coaches Derailed In Atlantic City

Nine Persons Were Severely Bruised and Shocked—Defective Wheel Caused Derailment.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 27—(AP)—Nine persons were severely bruised and shocked when a Pennsylvania bridge train drawing twelve coaches carrying several hundred commuters to the seashore was derailed shortly after three o'clock this afternoon just inside the city limits. Soon after crossing the drawbridge at the thoroughfare, nine coaches left the track.

James A. Flaherty, supreme knight of he Knights of Columbus, Atlantic City, suffered bruises and shock. He returned today from Ireland. Firty persons were treated at hotels for minor bruises.

The cause of the derailment is believed due to a defect in one of the wheels of a rear chair car which left the track first. Only the engine and the first three coaches were left on the track.

INSPECTOR HAD WARNED OF PICKWICK CLUB STRUCTURE

BOSTON, July 27.—(AP)—Thomas A. Elston, a building wrecker, testified today in Suffolk superior court that he warned John L. Pultz and Harry M. Haven, two of the twelve defendants indicted in connection with the collapse of the Pickwick club building on July 4 in which 44 persons were killed, months ago that the east wall of the building was a menace and should be torn down.

Elston said he was tearing down a building next to the Pickwick club structure when he noticed that the east wall of the latter building was really two separate walls, the outer one eight inches thick and the inner one twelve inches thick. He testified that when he called the attention of Pultz and Haven to the wall, they both agreed that it should be torn down.

The building wrecker also testified that he inspected the Pickwick club building after it was visited by a fire on April 13 and found beams and partitions badly charred.

During the morning session, John Mahony, city of Boston building commissioner, testified that no report of the Pickwick club fire was made to the department. He was questioned by defense attorneys regarding two applications made to his department in connection with the ill-fated building. One of these was for a permit for repairs made necessary by the fire and the other for a permit to shore up the east wall and place underpinning there when excavations were being made for a building on the adjoining lot.

SPEEDED MOTOR BOAT FROM BAR HARBOR TO NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 27—(A. P.)—Browned by exposure to salt spray, wind and sun, Schuyler Bradt, 16 years old, and his chum, Leon Lufkin, 15, today drove their 24-foot motor launch through the fog of the lower harbor, culminating a thrilling 550-mile run from Bar Harbor, Me.

Bradt is the son of Herbert S. Bradt, of Manhattan, asst. controller of the Union Pacific Railway. Lufkin's home is in Stonington, Me. They started from the Maine port July 16.

Though without serious accident, save for engine trouble off Newport, necessating four hours labor in a rough sea and blinding fog, the trip was not without thrills, the boys said.

An encounter with a suspected rum-running craft in early morning darkness off Gloucester, Mass., when they were held up and questioned by its crew before being permitted to proceed furnished the piece de resistance of excitement. The boys plainly saw cases piled high along the bow. They were held in Tenneut's Harbor, Me., for three days because of fog. The best run in the journey was from Gloucester to Onset, on Cape Co. which they achieved under twelve hours.

HOD CARRIERS HAVE GONE ON STRIKE IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, July 27—(AP)—Hod carriers and laborers engaged on building operations in this city and vicinity went on a strike today in an effort to enforce their demands for a higher rate of wages. At present they are paid 65 cents an hour and are asking for 75 cents and 85 cents for plaster tenders.

According to Vincent De Falico, of Quincy, Mass., first vice president of the International Hod Carriers and Laborers' union, the laborers here are getting much less than in other cities. He said today that the calling of the strike had been scheduled for May 1, two years after building contractors had been asked for an increase. During the two years only four contractors have failed to meet the laborers' conditions. Because of lower wages, the local union has lost 400 good members who have been transferred to other cities.

SHOT IN THE LEG WHILE IN STORE BENT ON BURGLARY

RUTLAND, Vt., July 27.—(AP)—Joseph Martin of Lansing, Mich., was under guard today at the Rutland hospital where he was brought for treatment for gunshot wounds in the leg. He was shot last night in Proctorsville by Drew L. Drugg, wood engraver, as Martin was attempting to rob.

Drugg, whose home is near the store, was awakened by the ringing of a burglar alarm which he had installed recently. On entering the store, he was attacked with Martin who was armed with a hammer. Drugg dodged the blow and shot his assailant in the left leg with a shot gun.

226 PLEADED GUILTY OF VIOLATING LIQUOR LOW

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—"Bargain week" for liquor law violators opened today with all the enthusiasm of a genuine bargain basement rush in Federal Judge Garvin's court. In a few hours 226 persons pleaded guilty to charges of violation of the prohibition laws and $8,075 in fines was collected. United States Attorney Buckner, is making an effort to clear the liquor calendar of its 2,000 cases. Of the 241 persons arraigned only fifteen pleaded not guilty. They will be tried by a jury later and face imprisonment if convicted.

Captured Rum Ship Disposed of Cargo

Steamship Augusta, 2000 Tons, Seized in the Hudson River—Crew of 24 Men Under Arrest.

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—The 2,000-ton steamship Augusta was captured by customs officers in the Hudson river off Dyckman street today after the ship had run the gauntlet of the rum blockade and her crew had unloaded and disposed of a cargo of liquor worth $250,000, at bootleg prices, leaving only 15 bottles aboard. The crew of 24 men was arrested and the captain admitted having turned the liquor cargo over to "retailers" for distribution.

PERTINENT FACTS SHOW HUMOROUS SIDE OF BRYAN

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP)—William Jennings Bryan enjoyed a joke even at his own expense. At a dinner here, the song leader of the club entertaining Mr. Bryan said that "in consideration" for our honored guest, a prohibitionist, we will refrain from singing 'How Dry I Am.'"

Mr. Bryan summoned the song leader and whispered in his ear. The song leader then announced, "Mr. Bryan requests that we sing it, and suggests that those sing first who have been dry longest."

When he was given the floor, Mr. Bryan said he was glad the eighteenth and nineteenth amendments had changed the complexion of political meetings.

"We see red checks where before we saw red noses."

On another occasion he is quoted as Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, president of Princeton Theological seminary, Philadelphia, to a gathering of students at McCormick Theological seminary here. Mr. Bryan was introduced as having been persuaded to speak. He promptly took exception to the word persuaded.

"If I had not been asked to speak I should have asked for the privilege," said Mr. Bryan.

Vice-President Charles G. Dawes recently recalled that in their youth Mr. Bryan and John J. Pershing ate at the same lunch counter in Lincoln, Neb. Measured by dwellings, Bryan was the "plutocrat" of the three, said Mr. Dawes, occupying his own house while Pershing paid $10 a month for a room over a store.

FORMAL MOTIONS MADE TO DISMISS EVOLUTION CASE

WASHINGTON, July 27—(AP)—Formal motions for the dismissal of the Washington evolution case were filed in the District of Columbia supreme court today by the United States government and Washington city authorities.

They will be presented to Justice Siddons tomorrow when the court calls up the injunction proceedings instituted by Loren H. Wittner, a government employe, to stop the payment of salaries to certain Washington city school authorities on the ground that they permit the teaching in the public schools here of matter in "disrespect for the Holy Bible."

Appearing for Frank White, treasurer of the United States, one of the defendants in Wittner's suit, District Attorney Gordon asked dismissal on several grounds, the chief of which are that Wittner as a taxpayer has no standing in court and that the United States government cannot be sued without its consent.

Other grounds enumerated are:

That the bill of complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a valid cause of action in equity.

That the complaint states no facts which, if true, would entitle plaintiff to the relief prayed.

That it is manifest upon the face of the complaint that Treasurer White has no individual interest in the controversy and that the United States alone would be affected by any decree against White.

ALIENISTS BEGIN THEIR EXAMINATION OF SCOTT

CHICAGO, July 27.(AP)—Alienists today began their examination of Russell Scott, former Canadian financier, twice saved from the gallows during the last two weeks within a few hours of his execution.

Scott, sentenced to hang for the murder of a drug clerk in a holdup now bases his hope of escaping the gallows on the defense plea that he had become insane since his incarceration in jail.

Judge Joseph B. David, who granted the stay of execution, said today that the sanity hearing will start Monday. He warned attorneys that only one day would be taken to select a jury, that the case would be a civil proceeding entirely without bringing in any of the facts of the crime, and that attorneys for both state and defense would be liable to contempt proceedings if they continued to discuss the case as they have since the stay of execution was granted last Friday. He also warned newspapers not to "try the case."

"RADIO AUTOMOBILE" IN ACCIDENT DURING TEST

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—An unoccupied "radio automobile" controlled by the telegraph key of a wireless transmitter in another car, zigzagged a tortous path through Fifth avenue's dense traffic. After narrowly escaping numerous collisions, it smashed into a parked car near 47th street and was headed for a show window of a candy shop, when the inventor jumped to the wheel and brought the car to a halt.

The inventor blames a nervous radio operator for the accident, but declared the experiment a success. He was warned by police to conduct future experiments in a more secluded spot.

RIFFIAN REGULARS SENT TO THE SPANISH FRONT

FEZ, French Morocco, July 27—(A. P.)—The situation along the front as a whole continues calm. An official communication reports attacks on Ain Bouaissa nad Tafrant to the north of Fez by Bali, but of a half heate nature.

Abd-el-Krim, the Moor leader, continues to exercise reprisals on the tribesmen defeated by the French troops and who have begun to negotiate for their submission. On the other hand, the communique states, he maintains his propaganda among tribes far from the Riff.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT TO DEAL WITH COAL PROBLEM

Premier Baldwin Has Decided to Take a Leading Role in Negotiations Between Miners and Operators—Belief is General That the Government Will Propose Some Form of Subsidy or Loan to Aid the Weaker Mines.

LONDON, July 27—(A. P.)—After his conference with a trade union committee today, Premier Baldwin decided to take a leading role in the negotiations between miners and operators.

This new turn of affairs seems to have had an effect already, for it is unofficially stated that the mine owners now will consent to withdraw their notices of the termination of the existing agreement and their new wage proposals. The demand for such withdrawal on the part of the public has become insistent. If the report proves correct the way will be paved for a successful confidence Wednesday.

The cabinet will hold a special meeting tomorrow to draft a plan for dealing with the problem. Whether the plan will include a subsidy is still unknown.

W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, is acting as intermediator. The belief is still general that the government will propose some form of subsidy or loan to aid the weaker mines.

The miners are receiving continuous evidence of sympathy.

J. R. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, in an interview says that the unanimous decision of the railway workers executives to handle coal from the first hour of the stoppage means in his judgment absolute paralysis.

CHEMISTS AS WITNESSES IN CRABTREE WILL CASE

BOSTON, July 27.—(AP)—Chemists called as expert witnesses in Suffolk probate court today disagreed as to the age of an entry on the flyleaf of a family Bible on which Mrs. Ida Manning Blankenburg of Tulsa, Okla., bases her claim to the $3,000,000 estate of Lotta Crabtree, Boston actress. The inscription on the Bible pole says:

"Ida Manning Crabtree was born October 18, 1878, in England at Crabtree Manor, Lancashire, and is the daughter of George Manning and Lotta Crabtree Manning (an actress)."

Professor Augustus H. Gill of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and William F. Turner, a handwriting expert, testified that the inscription was recent in date and that a chemical had been used to give the appearance of age. In open court last Friday Professor Gill made an acid test of the ink.

Charles A. Schmitt of Reading chemist for a large ink manufacturing company, testified that he believed the writing was in old ink which had become uneven in its writing quantities. He said the inscription appeared old and might have been written 10 years ago. The hearing is on the motion of the special administrators of the Crabtree estate to strike out the appearance of Mrs. Blankenburg.

HELD ON SUSPICION OF SLAYING GILLIS SISTERS

NASHUA, N. H., July 27.—(AP)—Two men, said to be vagabonds, were arrested on suspicion here tonight in connection with the murders of Helen and Georgianna Gillis, aged spinsters, in their home at Hudson last Thursday. The suspects were locked up as suspicious persons and will be held until the authorities question them tomorrow morning. One of the men, Frank Gillis, of Somerville, Mass., was arrested in the outskirts of this city while he was walking to Lowell, Mass., the other, whose name the police withheld, was found in the woods of Hudson, combed today by a posse of the Hudson and Nashua citizens attracted by the $2500 reward which the state, county and town of Hudson has offered for the slayer's capture.

Robert Baird, who was knocked unconscious by an unseen assailant when he entered the Hudson woods with three companions late last night, told state officials that he could give no description of his assailant.

Meanwhile the search for Demetrios Papantonious, who escaped a week ago from the Concord state hospital is being continued. He was committed to the hospital five years ago after he killed a man on a street in this city without apparent cause.

MISS CONSUELO VANDERBILT SUFFERS FROM APPENDICITIS

NEWPORT, R. I., July 27.—(AP)—Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, 2nd, will be operated on for appendicitis tomorrow morning at Beachmond, her mother's summer home here. Drs. Joseph A. Blake and Charles W. Stewart, the attending physicians, stated tonight.

Miss Vanderbilt, it was said, was stricken Friday night when Dr. Stewart was called to treat her. She rallied enough to act as maid of honor at the wedding of her sister Marie to Frederick Cameron Cahen on Saturday but was forced to remain abed Sunday when Dr. Blake in New York surgeon, was summoned by Mrs. Vanderbilt.

The physicians decided to operate after they visited Miss Vanderbilt today. They said her condition was not serious.

HIGH PRICES FOR WORKS OF ARTIST JOHN S. SARGENT

London, July 27—(A. P.)—When John Singer Sargent, the noted American painter, died last April and his will was probated, his estate was estimated to have a gross value of only £225,793, or about $125,000. Through the sale of his works just concluded, the real value of the estate has bounded close to $1,000,000.

The disposal of the artist's paintings brought great crowds to the famous auction rooms of Christie's and the total realized was £175,280, or roughly, $850,000. In all, 237 pictures were sold, and 77 of them were for the most part studies for bigger works or copies of great paintings in his beloved Italy, made from his own instruction years ago or left lying carelessly in his studios. Yet dealers fought desperately for them, as though they were original masterpieces.

PROBING SUDDEN DEATH OF NEW HAVEN WOMAN

NEW HAVEN, July 27—(AP)—Police are investigating the sudden death of Mrs. Lillian D. Coyle, 48, who died suddenly at her home on Eaton street yesterday. Two men are being held without bonds in connection with the case. They are Fred Hazzard, cousin of Mrs. Coyle, and Henry Waters, her brother-in-law. According to Medical Examiner W. A. Kowalski, her death was due to heart disease, possibly brought on by alcoholism.

PROCEEDINGS AT SUMMER WHITE HOUSE YESTERDAY

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 27—(AP)—A favorable report on agricultural conditions generally was given to President Coolidge today by Representative Purnell, republican, of Indiana ranking member of the agricultural committee.

Mr. Purnell joined with Senator Curtis, the republican leader, in declaring that the generic explanation which now seems necessary for the farmers was along the line of cooperative marketing. A bill which would give government assistance in this, he believes, would place agriculture on a substantial basis.

Farmers generally are working out their own problems, the Indiana representative said, pointing out that considerable benefit already had been derived from the extension of the agriculture experiment stations made possible by an act passed by the last session and sponsored by himself.

Mr. Coolidge also received today Marion Eppley, president of the Navy league and Walter B. Howe, vice president, who asked that he sanction again a national observance of Navy Day on October 27. It was understood the president will approve of this.

A drizzling rain driven in from the sea by a northeast wind held the temperature down and kept Mr. Coolidge indoors most of the day. He spent some time this morning posing for a portrait but the afternoon was given over to business and receiving of callers. Among these were Harry H. Williams, of Brockton, Mass., who served on the executive council, when Mr. Coolidge was governor of this state, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon R. Eykes, of Boston, old friends of the president.

SEES DANGER TO ITALY IN MEDITERRANEAN HOLDINGS

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., July 27—(AP)—Britain's hold on the Mediterranean sea is endangering the very life of Italy, Count Antonio Cippico, Italian lecture senator, said tonight in his second lecture at the Institute of Politics here. The one of President Wilsons fourteen points which deals with the freedom of the seas "freedom of the seas in the Atlantic," the speaker added.

Picturing his country as dependent for her existence upon the good will of those holding Gibraltar and the Suez canal Count Cippico urged that steps be taken in time to secure a just settlement between the criminal nations on a basis likely to insure peace.

Quoting from English historical writers in support of his statements, Count Cippico said that England had been without a settled Mediterranean policy but had been passed by the destiny of empire to her possession of today.

CONFERENCE OF LABOR PARTIES OF GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, July 27—Despairing attempts and rumors that the assumption that the conservative party was the only party in the United Kingdom which cared for the Empire, Ramsay MacDonald former prime minister, today opened a conference of representatives of the labor parties of Great Britain and the various British dominions the sessions will continue throughout the week in the empire parliamentary rooms in the house of commons.

Mr. MacDonald said the idea that Great Britain should be the pivot nation of the world was a preposterous one. The sooner Great Britain ceases to lanced responsibility and trusted to the self development of other people the better it would be for her.

As to the present conference of labor leaders, he said he hoped there would be periodical gatherings of this kind similar to the imperial conference.

The conference went into executive session after Mr. MacDonald's address.

COAL PARLEY RESUMES IN ATLANTIC CITY TODAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 27—(AP)—The union coal-tariff will likely come up again tomorrow when the twelve members of the anthracite joint scale sub-committee resume deliberations after adjournment since Friday.

Further stress, miners' leaders said tonight, will also be laid upon the demand for uniformity of rates.

The anthracite board of conciliation was authorized by the 1923 agreement to study the question and make a report. The study has never been made although the miners assert they have been ready at all times to start it.

John L. Lewis, miners' president did not arrive today, but hotel accommodations have been held for him by his followers since yesterday.

Negotiations will be resumed tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Traymore.

TWO EARTHQUAKS SHOCKS IN PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

QUEBEC, July 28—(AP)—Two earthquake shocks last night were reported from Sainte Helene de Homouraska. The first shock, a severe one was felt at 9:20 p. m., and lasted several seconds. The second followed a few minutes later. No damage was reported.

WILLIMANTIC

Deputy Sheriff Allison L. Frink, of Andover, found something new in the line of interference in placing an attachment on property, Saturday night, when he turned over ten valuable cows owned by Samuel and Minnie Weinigrad, of Leonard Bridge, to Meech & Stoddard, a Middletown grain concern who have brought suit against the Weinigrads for $816.36 damages. Sheriff Frink said that it was the worst attachment experience he had had in thirty-seven years. The interference came from Minnie Weinigrad, the wife of Samuel, who gave the officer and his assistants a battle royal while they were loading the cattle aboard an auto truck. The damages are sought for in unpaid grain bill and the case will be heard in the superior court in Middletown the fourth Tuesday in September. Upon serving the writ of attachment, Sheriff Frink had a truck owned by the Meech & Stoddard company, back into the Weinigrad yard and men in charge of Merritt Conwall, agent for the grain concern, began to load the cows. This met with the immediate disapproval of the woman who began to make good use of several weapons, including pieces of rubber hose, heavy ropes, boards and shovels. Sheriff Frink was struck a severe blow across the back with a shovel and one of the men got a bad hit on the arm, when hit with the edge of a board. Others were whipped about with the hose and ropes. Mrs. Weinigrad's actions became such that Sheriff Frink was forced to secure her hands in handcuffs and hold her at one side while the work proceeded.

Liquor and a feeling of animosity arising from the local strike situation against employes of the American Thread company, proved the undoing of three local young men, Louis Berube, William Delude and Thomas Vertefeuille, who were fined in the police court Monday morning on charges of intoxication and breach of the peace. Berube and Delude both pleaded guilty to intoxication and not guilty to breach of the peace. Thomas Vertefeuille also pleaded guilty to intoxication, but not guilty to injury of private property. Michael Chavideau, who came here two weeks ago to work for the American Thread company, stated that while he was on his way home Saturday night, two men, whom he recognized as Berube and Delude, approached him and said that they were going to "beat him up." Chavideau lost little time in running home and summoning State Policeman Arthur Whitmore. Officer Whitmore testified to receiving the complaint from Chavideau and of going to the place, where he saw Berube and caught him after a short chase. Delude was also about and the drunker of the two, the officer said. Delude was caught by Officer Fred Laramee of the local police department, who went to State Policeman Whitmore's assistance. Both men refused to say anything when asked to take the witness stand in court. Fines of $15 and costs, amounting to $22.15, were imposed in each case.

The complainants against Thomas Vertefeuille were Octave Maheu and his wife, who stated that the man came to their door, about 4:30 o'clock Sunday morning and after breaking through the screen door smashed a panel in the door of their home, in a house owned by Arthur Lisse, on Brick Top road. Maheu said that his wife went to the door when she heard the pounding. When she recognized Vertefeuille she asked him what he wanted and the man replied that he had something in his pocket that he wanted to use on the witness. Finally Arthur Lisse, owner of the house, who resides in the basement, got the man to come into his home and he was found sitting in a chair there by State Officer Honeyman, who answered to the call for assistance. Lisse said that Vertefeuille was drunk and that he broke the screen door of the Maheu apartment. When the witness asked the man what he wanted he replied that he was looking for him (witness) and both men then entered the Lisse home. Judge Foss imposed a fine of $15 and costs, totalling $22.15.

Moses Herbert Balcom, 72, died at his home at Clark's Corner, town of Hampton, Sunday. He was born in Douglass, Mass., March 17, 1853, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Balcom. He is survived by three sons, Edward H., of Waterbury; Elmer P., of Clark's Corner, and Arthur L., of North Windham. Mr. Balcom was the station agent at Clark's Corner for the past seven years. POETRY

MY COUNTRY.

I love my country's pine clad hills,
Her thousand bright and gushing rills,
Her rough and rugged rocks that rear
Their hoary heads high in the air,
In wild fantastic forms.

I love her rivers, deep and wide,
Those mighty streams that seaward glide
To seek the ocean's breast;
Her smiling fields, her pleasant vales,
Her shady dells, her flowery dales,
Her haunts of peaceful rest.

I love her forests dark and lone;
For there the wild bird's merry tone
Is heard from morn till night.
And there are lovelier flowers I ween,
Than ever in Eastern land were seen,
In varied colors bright.

Her forests and her valleys fair,
Her flowers that scent the morning air
Have all their charms for me;
But more I love my country's name
Those words that echo deathless fame,—
"The land of liberty."

—Hesperion.

ON A DEAD POET.

The hand that swept the sounding lyre
With more than mortal skill,
The lightning eye, the heart of fire,
The fervent lip are still!
No more, in rapture or in woe,
With melody to thrill.
Ah, nevermore!

But angel hands shall bring him balm
For every grief he knew,
And Heaven's soft harps his soul shall calm
With music sweet and true,
And teem to him the holy charm
Of Israel anew,
Forevermore!

Love's silver lyre he played so well
Lies shattered on his tomb,
But still in air its music-spell
Floats on through light and gloom;
And in the hearts where soft they fell,
Forevermore!

—Frances Sargent Osgood

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Dick: Do you believe in sports for girls?

Gertrude: Certainly; every girl ought to have one.—Good Hardware.

The Maid: I'm going to sneeze.

The Man: At who?

The Maid: "Atchoo!"—The Progressive Grocer.

Kant—"Surely you've heard of Scott, the great—"

Say—"Oh, yes, surely, many times—great Scott."—Pitt Panther.

Cholly Sapp—"Do you ever think of me, Miss Madge?"

Madge Cutting—"Les, but I'd hate to tell you what."—Life.

"Not happy? With so beautiful a bride? Why man, you got the girl who was the talk of the town!"

"So I discover."—Cornell Widow.

Tired Business Man: I'd like to go where I'd be entirely cut off from the world.

Friend: Why don't you try a telephone booth, old man?—Good Hardware.

Customer—That pound of evaporated peaches you sold me did not weigh over fourteen ounces.

Grocer—Well, ma'am, I didn't guarantee 'em not to go on evaporatin'.—Boston Transcript.

"My, but you look prosperous these days!"

"Oh, I'm living on the fat of the land."

"How come?"

"I run a fat-reducing establishment."—University of Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

The other night, while returning from the theatre, a man saw a motorist working under a car drawn up by the roadside.

"Can I be of any help to you?" he asked.

"Well, yes," answered a voice from under the car. "If you would answer my wife's questions and keep her amused while I get this darn thing fixed, it would be a very great help indeed."—Los Angeles Times.

Second-hand newspapers have a large sale in China. A newsboy who sells a paper on Monday buys it back the next day for a fraction of the selling price, smooths it out, and sells it in a nearby village for a reduced price. And the process is repeated from village to village until the paper has been worn to illegibility.

Unusual playmates are to be found at the home of Silas Oberdorf, Danville, Pa., where a robin, protected when it fell out of its nest when it was young, has become the almost inseparable companion of a terrier. Frequently the robin may be seen riding about on the dog's back and the terrier protects the bird from other dogs and from cats.

In order to enable Swedish radio fans to enjoy better the programs sent out from American stations, a course in English will next fall be started by the official Swedish radio service. Later on other foreign languages will be taught, but the start will be made with English, Captain George Reutersward, managing director of the Swedish radio organization, has announced. The course will take the entire winter season. It includes lectures by professors and travelers and readings by authors of their own works.

Thousands of flowers and plants of southeastern areas of the United States have recently been added to the collections of the New York botanical gardens in Bronx park. These specimens were gathered by Dr. John K. Small, head curator of the garden's museum, in a 7,000,000 mile exploration. They included about 5,000 dried plants mostly of the flowering varieties, and hundreds of living plants representing such groups as the spider lily, the iris and the orchid, as well as many other little-known types from various critical groups now being studied by the garden's botanists.

Experience either brings old age or is brought by it.

Preparing this rich summer breakfast

QUICK QUAKER cooks in 3 to 5 minutes
No hot kitchens, no muss, no bother

HOW you feel in summer depends on how you eat.
Start the day with oats . . . with the "oats and milk" breakfast doctors urge.

You'll feel better. You'll keep cooler. Your energy will not drain away so fast.

Get Quick Quaker. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. No hot kitchen, no muss or bother.

Start tomorrow. See how much better you will feel.

All that Quaker flavor is retained in this Quaker Oats. Quick Quaker cooks faster. That's the only difference.

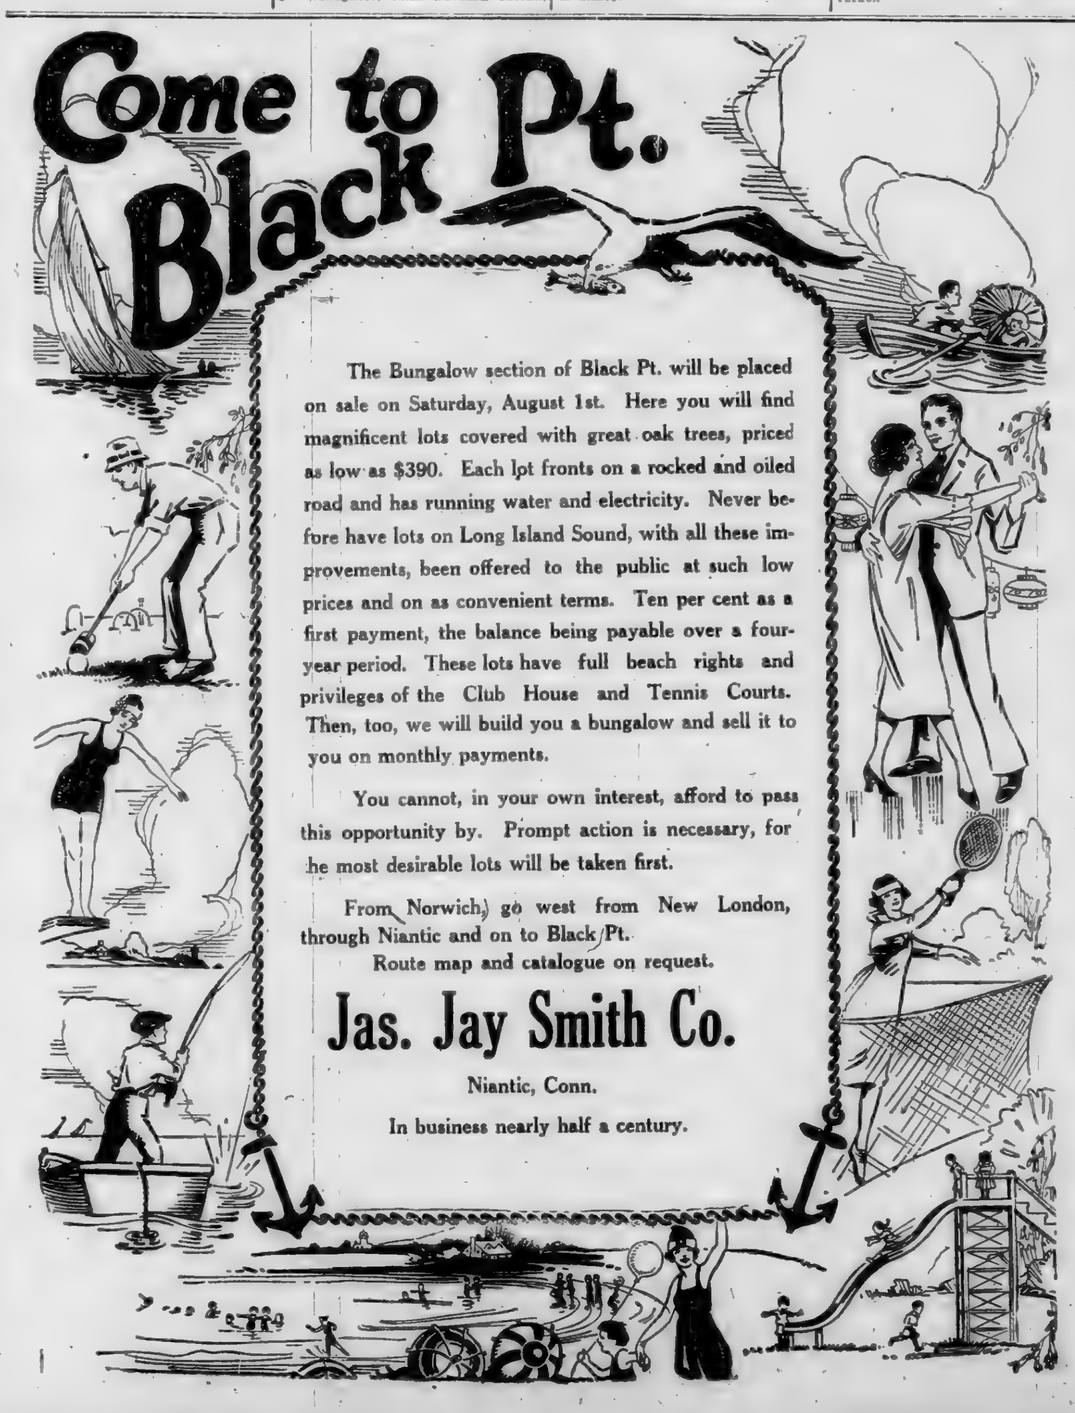
Come to Black Pt.



The Bungalow section of Black Pt. will be placed on sale on Saturday, August 1st. Here you will find magnificent lots covered with great oak trees, priced as low as $390. Each lot fronts on a rocked and oiled road and has running water and electricity. Never before have lots on Long Island Sound, with all these improvements, been offered to the public at such low prices and on as convenient terms. Ten per cent as a first payment, the balance being payable over a four-year period. These lots have full beach rights and privileges of the Club House and Tennis Courts. Then, too, we will build you a bungalow and sell it to you on monthly payments.

You cannot, in your own interest, afford to pass this opportunity by. Prompt action is necessary, for the most desirable lots will be taken first.

From Norwich, go west from New London, through Niantic and on to Black Pt.

DANIELSON

Bids will be opened this week at the office of the state highway commissioner in Hartford, for the construction of 5970 linear feet of re-enforced concrete highway in this town—another section of the concrete highway that eventually will reach from Putnam to New Haven, via Norwich and New London.

It is assumed that the stretch to be built in Killingly this year will extend from Morin avenue, at the northly line of the borough, where the concrete now ends, to the bridge at Elmville, near the plant of the American Woolen company. It is likely that the work will begin as early as August.

Last year the Crystal Water company installed a new line of mains and the Eastern Connecticut Power company installed a line of gas mains along this stretch of roadway against the time, it was then understood, when concrete would be put in by the state.

The state highway department has a survey of this section of roadway providing for the elimination of two curves—one south of the Davis homestead, above the state police barracks, another south of N. A. Jordan's property.

With the little more than a mile of concrete to be laid this year in Killingly all the distance between Danielson and Putnam excepting about two miles and a half between Elmville and a point north of Attawaugan will be concrete.

There is a possibility that the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company will increase the size and production capacity of its mill at Goodyear and build more dwellings in that community. It is known that this is under consideration, but no definite decision has been arrived at and no detailed information about the proposed construction is available.

The mere fact that construction has been discussed revives in the minds of some the brilliant visions they held of a greater Goodyear under plans that were maturing in 1920, when a nation-wide collapse in post-war time prosperity beset the great Goodyear Tire and Rubber company with extreme financial difficulties, since largely overcome. A spinning mill was about to be erected at Goodyear at that time, the contractors having made the necessary excavations and carried out other preliminary work. While it is not known what the corporation has in mind at this time, it is not believed the spinning mill plan will be revived. The Goodyear mills are running full time, with a night force also engaged in some departments, and have been doing splendidly for a long time.

Monday morning, the funeral of Louis Roberge was held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amadee Proulx, on Mechanic street, with services at St. James' church, Rev. Joseph Deschaux, M. S., being celebrant of the high mass of requiem. There were relatives and many friends in attendance. Burial was in St. James' cemetery. The bearers were Peter Rondeau, Louis LaRocque, Nestor Godreau, Salem Choquette, Rock Breault and Arthur Viens. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Z. Jesseon Maple street, Rev. Walter B. Williams conducted the funeral service for Miss Evelyn E. Jette, who died late Friday night in Boston. Many relatives and friends were in attendance. During the service Mrs. Esther Brown, with harp accompaniment sang Lead Kindly Light, and Abide With Me. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery, Central Village. The bearers were Gerard Chartier, Roland Goyette, George Williams and Max Bretschneider. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

At the home of Attorney and Mrs. Harry E. Back Sunday, the death of Mrs. Ida W. Kinney occurred. Mrs. Kinney, an aunt of Mrs. Back, was born December 7, 1842, a daughter of George and Lucinda Work Weatherhead. Her father was a mill man and for many years was connected with a manufacturing concern at what is known now as Attawaugan, but for years was known as Weatherhead. For years Mrs. Kinney was a resident of Voluntown.

Following a regular meeting of the board of directors Monday, it was announced at the Danielson Trust company that the savings department for the first time shows deposits in excess of $1,000,000. All of this has been accumulated since the bank first opened a savings department, about three and a half years ago. Here is another evidence of the thrift of the people of Killingly and surrounding towns. It is another evidence of the prominent place Danielson has attained financially in Windham county, and it is indicative of the stability of the people of this an adjacent territory.

July is doing its bit to make up the water shortage of the year. Heavy rain Saturday night and Sunday, with promise of more as Monday wore away, contributed to filling up reservoirs and bringing streams back to a level that one formerly considered normal. While Danielson has not had to worry at any time about having an ample supply of water, there are many places in the outlying country where the water shortage has been a serious matter the present year.

The Assawaga ball team of Dayville, playing airtight ball, won a classy 1 to 0 game from the North Grosvenordale team Sunday afternoon. The contest was one of the best of the present season in this territory and gave the fans many a thrill. Assawaga lost an 8 to 4 game in Wauregan Sat. but is playing remarkably good ball and creating enthusiasm for the national sport in this town.

George Foster remains a patient at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester. It is expected that he will return to his home here in about one month.

Richard A. Banigan, Gaston A. Miandon and Louis E. Young, members of the borough board of relief, were in session at the town hall Monday afternoon.

George H. Call, who is spending the summer at his cottage at Cedar Tree Point, R. I., was in town on business Monday.

Harmidos Couture, of Moosup, is making a trip to Florida, where he has been very successful in real estate transactions.

Sweet corn is now coming into the local market in abundance and is finding a ready sale.

Henry McDermott of Woonsocket was at his home here over Sunday.

There is a possibility that an emergency landing field, for the use of planes to engage in the New York-Boston aerial mail service will be established somewhere in the vicinity of Danielson.

Max Bretschneider, student at Northeastern university, Boston, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Bretschneider.

On many farms in nearby territory the hay crop is the best in years. Though August 1, is near at hand considerable haying remains to be done.

The Captain Put Engine company will elect delegates to the State Firemen's convention at a meet Wednesday evening.

DEATH COMES TO ALEX BRUNO WHILE ATTENDING VESPERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 27.—Alex Bruno, 70, died while at vespers at St. Mary's, Sunday evening. He had not been feeling well during the week and was so ill Thursday night that a physician had to be called, but he apparently recovered, attended mass Sunday morning and was in his pew early Sunday evening. Just before the service began he was seen to fall forward. He was carried unconscious to the vestry but died before a doctor arrived.

Mr Bruno was born in Canada but had lived in Putnam more than forty years. His home was on Mill street where he had a shoe-making and shoe-repairing shop.

Mrs. Bruno survives him with two sons, Frank and Phillip Bruno, both in Putnam.

JEWETT CITY

Chief Thomas Wakely, will make tests in the operation of the borough whistle fire alarm system between the hours of 6 and 8, this (Tuesday) evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cudkart and Miss Vassar, while on an automobile trip to Massachusetts last week made a three days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Huston, of Concord, Mass. Mr. Huston and his family were forme residents of Jewett City when he "went through" the Ashland Cotton Company's mill, as a part of the preparatory course to fit himself for eligibility to become a cotton mill superintendent. At present he is part owner in a successful mason and building business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Boston are guests of the former's brother, Daniel Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gay Thornton of Pawtucket are visiting relatives in town, including S. A. Thornton, of Pleasant View, the former's father.

Earlier in the month, the Swarth-more Chautauqua gave an especially pleasing and instructive series of entertainments. Included in the repertoire was a little play, entitled The Next Best Man. During the performance of this small theatrical a took, purporting to be the Bible was one of the "Props". Believing that it was really a bible, the fact of its use was open to criticism. A letter from Miss Leith Colman, the superintendent set things right. The book used was a copy of a small dictionary, used only for cross word puzzle emergencies.

Some prophet over on the extreme eastern border of Connecticut, in the course of regular annual predictions, told about a dry summer for this section. The advise was given to dig wells deeper, and there was the hinted possibility that ere this, farmers would be driving their stock over the arid fields to the few rivers that would be running only on curtailed summer scheduled. It may be truthfully said hereabouts, that the same is not yet. No June and July in this belt, has showed the precipitation marked for these two months in 1925, for several years back. Late potatoes and corn are going to yield a bumper crop. Streams and ponds are normal, and A. A. Young, superintendent of the Jewett City water works, is able to report the gauges at Stone Hill, as showing a water stage equal with most preceding years for Aug. 1. These facts are in comparison with measurements taken in early Spring, which showed the reservoir to be the lowest since its construction, 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Robinson and son Earl, and Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Zegeer, left Monday by automobile for Charleston, S. C. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ricketts and son Jay Jr., are residents of that city, so also is Mr. Zegeer's brother, hence the visitors from the north are touring to the southern capital.

Xavier Lucier is away on a three weeks' trip to visit relatives in the Province of Quebec.

Arthur J. LeClaire, William Mc-Govern, Thomas Barnett, Walter Hebert and George Lucier were visitors Sunday in Providence, Pawtucket and Rocky Point.

It would be a hard matter to tell all about the numberless auto parties that, seeing signs of clearing weather in the afternoon, pulled out for different places Sunday. Two of these parties, at least, went to Workapaug, to watch the surf and taste the salt air. Near Pleasant View a commercial hydro-aeroplane was in operation. For five dollars a head the parties were taken out over the sound, and returning landed in a sheltered basin, with much roaring of motors and splashing of foam.

At first off, when the air-boat was first made out by the visitors, a mere speck away up in the fog, there was a pretty general and keen desire expressed to "Just take a little turn up there." Presently the parties arrived right at the landing float, it was only a step aboard, the pilot was collecting the fares, the big Hayland motors were starting, it was either fish or cut bait. Well! it's sad to tell. One man got cold feet. One white haired guy was too busy eating pop corn and was afraid his hat wouldn't stay on and one red-headed gink backed out altogether, while still a fourth "hadn't got his books made up." t really but truly finally simmered down to the cold fact, that one small woman in the whole bunch was really, actually, no fooling, ready to make the trip and would have done so, only she didn't care to go alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Stafford, of Jewett City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Rita, to Mr. Francis Crotty, of Westerly, R. I.

The bird described by Miss Kinne, Voluntown, in the Wide-Awake circle letter to Uncle Jed, last week, was doubtless a bobolink. Older residents in this section call them "Skunk black birds." While not a rare bird, yet the bobolink is not among the plenty class in Griswold. Even before the tide of the year is full, the bobolink begins to prepare for his long journey to southern Brazil. He travels both by day and night. Soon, of not even now, the bobolink seen last week in Voluntown, will be on his way, with his mate. He may stop over a few days in some southern rice field, then will make the non-stop flight across the Gulf of Mexico, then a 1,000 miles over South America and the Amazon to his winter home. Then next spring, back he will come and some fine May morning, will be calling bobolink, as merrily as ever, sitting on Miss Kinne's back yard fence, in Voluntown.

Ms. Christopher Colligan, a former resident of Griswold, one-time owner of the Samuel Barber farm, now the property of Adam Rojeski, has been making calls on local friends. Mrs. Colligan, once a resident of Webster, Mass., now lives in Worcester.

Rev. Edward P. Ayer, the blind chaplain of the Connecticut legislature, preached at the Second Congregational church Sunday morning, and addresser a union meeting at the Baptist church in the evening. Rev. Mr. Ayer is here in the interest of the building of a church at Storrs. He was the guest, while here, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Armstrong.

In the evening at the Baptist church the feature of the attractive musical program, were a solo, Face to Face, by Miss Verna Tarbox and a duet, Ivory Palaces, by Miss Doris Carpenter and Miss Tarbox.

THOS. O'BRIEN MAKES $100,000 IN MIAMI REAL ESTATE

(Special to the Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, July 27—"I have sold my house for $25,000," writes Thomas O'Brien from Miami to a friend here. Mr. O'Brien, a resident here for a number of years, went south about three years ago for the benefit of his health. He had very little money when he arrived there, but found work as a house painter at a daily wage and, living carefully, saved some money. He bought a lot, sold it for a fancy profit and was launched on an investment and speculation career that has brought him $100,000. The house he has sold is only one parcel of his Miami real estate. "People are coming in here so fast this summer season that it will be almost impossible to build homes fast enough to house them next winter," Mr. O'Brien says in his letter, "and one can only imagine what a great host of people will be here next January and February."

CHAS. TYLER GETS 5 lb. BASS WHILE AT MOOSUP POND

DANIELSON, July 27—There is a saying to the effect that there are as good fish in the seas as ever have been caught. This may be taken with equal truth as applying to ponds, lakes and other bodies of water.

Charles Tyler, of Moosup, has demonstrated it quite effectively. At Moosup Monday the populace had the opportunity to look upon a bass weighing 5 pounds and 13 ounces that he caught in Moosup pond Sunday. This is the largest bass taken from Moosup ponds in years. It is next to the largest bass of record caught there in many years, this daddy of them all weighing 6 pounds and 2 ounces when it was caught, ten years ago. The man who caught that leviathan of the pond was none other than Charles Tyler, who repeated the feat so impressively Sunday.

Rhode Island's revenue from taxes levied by the state board of tax commissioners upon corporate excess profits of manufacturing, mercantile and miscellaneous corporations, franchise taxes and gross earnings of public service corporations now due, amounts to $1,850,290.95, according to the list made public Monday by the board.

This is a decrease from last year of $15,062.68. Virtually all of this loss is accounted for in the corporation excess profit tax. The tax from public service corporations also shows a decrease, but this is very nearly offset by a small increase in the franchise tax.

The revenue last year from the board's assessment was the largest since the department was created in 1912. The nearest approach to the record was in 1921. The revenue this year exceeds the revenues of 1922 and 1923.

The tax list reveals the business depression of the past year in practically all lines, the decrease not being confined to any one class of business.

The corporate excess profit of manufacturing, mercantile and miscellaneous corporations this year is $317,564,011.50, which is a loss of $3,785,197.13 as compared with last year. The tax on this amount at the rate of $4 per 1000, is $1,270,457.25, a loss of $14,340,000 as compared with 1921.

Washington county common carriers show the following gross earnings and taxes:

Wood River Branch Railroad company, $33,548.21, $335.48.

Westerly Automatic Telephone company, Boston, $57,919.97, $1,758.39.

Public utilities are reported with the following gross earnings and taxes:

Narragansett Pier Electric Light and Power company, Wakefield, $136,905.26, $1,368.05.

Wakefield Water company, Narragansett Pier, $35,740.11, $357.40.

Westerly Light and Power company, Westerly, $410,301.92, $4,103.01.

Manufacturing, mercantile and mis-cellaneous corporations paying a tax on a corporate excess of $100,000 or more follow:

Ashaway Woolen company, Ashaway, $117,033.62, $468.13.

Pawcatuck Woolen Mills, Westerly, $168,523.30, $674.09.

R. A. Sherman's Sons company, Westerly, $402,555.62, $1,610.22.

Sullivan Granite company, Westerly, $184,266.49, $737.06.

Wakefield Branch company, Wakefield, $169,260.38, $677.04.

Westerly Lumber company, Westerly, $110,772.67, $443.09.

Westerly Textile company, Westerly, $232,041.34, $928.16.

Funeral services for Mrs. William V. Currier, formerly Miss Frances Watrous, of this town, who died at the Lynn, Mass., Union hospital, were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Watrous, 2 1-2 Granite street. Rev. A. L. Schoning, pastor of the Broad Street Christian church officiated. There were relatives and friends present from out of town. The bearers were Alexander and Richard Lawry of New Haven, Conn., James White of Marlboro, Mass., and Charles H. Cowan, Jr., of Westerly. Among the floral tributes were handsome pieces from the head office of the Kresge stores in Chicago, Ill., and the Kresge store in Lynn, Mass., of which Mr. Currier is manager.

The body was placed in the receiving vault at River Bend cemetery where services were conducted by Rev. Schoning. The burial was private at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

Monday morning, shortly after 8 o'clock a Chevrolet sedan, 40-100, Conn., operated by William Magnus, R. F. D., No. 2, Westerly, came over the top of Berry Hill, on Liberty street, while the Ford delivery truck, 29-741 Conn. of Tony Alfiero of R. F. D. No. 1, of Stonington, was stopped on the right hand side of the road near the top of the hill. At the same time an automobile came up the hill and Magnus, applying his brakes, suddenly skidded on the wet surface of the roadway, turning completely around so that he faced in the direction from which he was coming. At the same time his rear wheel struck the dirt embankment at the road side wrecking the wheel. No one was injured, as the about-face was executed just at the rear of the truck, which was not hit.

Before Judge William A. Wilcox in a session of Stonington town court in Borough hall, Stonington, four cases were called Monday morning, at 9 o'clock. Three of these were answered to, but in the fourth no appearance was made and it was continued for a week to be defaulted at that time if unanswered.

Donald Boutler, 19, of 36 Williams street, Pawcatuck, was presented by Town Solicitor George R. McKenna, on complaint of Connecticut State Trooper Watson of Groton barracks that the defendant was guilty of operating his motorcycle at a rate of speed known as speeding on the Westerly-Stonington road, July 19th, near the Anguilla road, when over 45 miles an hour was registered. Fred Boulter, father of the young man was appointed his guardian ad litem and a plea of guilty was entered. Judge Wilcox sentenced him to pay a fine of $10 and costs of $10.96 amounting to $20.96 which he paid.

Jeremiah Crowley of Westerly was brought into court by Patrolman Kenyon of Pawcatuck on a charge of intoxication July 26, when he was found lying by the roadside on the Stonington road. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $2 and costs of $14.63, amounting to $16.63.

Timothy Spellman, taken into cus-tody by Patrolman Vernon A. Burdick of Pawcatuck July 26th in Pawcatuck, when found intoxicated, was presented on two counts, intoxication and breach of the peace and offensive carriage. To both charges he pleaded guilty. Solicitor McKenna told the court that the disturbance of the peace happened on Sunday and for the young man's own protection he would ask for a nominal fine and a jail sentence. He was fined $3 by Judge Wilcox on the first count with costs of $26.37 and on the second charge was sentenced to 30 days in New London county jail. The mittimus having been issued, commitment was made by Patrolman Burdick.

Later the fourth case was brought before the court when Charles Dixon, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., was charged with the operation of an automobile July 19th at a speed greater than was reasonable and proper. At the time Connecticut State Trooper Watson told the driver to follow him to Pawcatuck, but when the driver reached Wequetequock, he turned off the Main road into Lower Pawcatuck, to be later apprehended on Mechanic street and chained to the wheel. The complaint against Dixon, who was said not to have been the driver, although the owner, was that of speeding. The Willys-Knight automobile was held at the time at the Denison garage for the $500 bond required. He was fined $10 and costs of $19.13 and upon payment his automobile was released.

Before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., Sunday night, in a special session of the third district court in Westerly, William Keating arrested by Patrolman George H. Champlin of Westerly on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquors, entered a plea of not guilty, which it was stated he would probably retract Monday.

John Grattale, arrested on Canal street by Patrolman George Champlin, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of intoxication and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to the total of $8.80.

Robert Barrett, arrested on Canal street by Sergeant Michael Curtin on a charge of intoxication, also pleaded guilty to intoxication, having been arrested on Saturday on Pleasant street and was fined $3 with costs totalling $8.80.

Harold S. Barber, a past exalted ru-ler of Westerly lodge, No. 678, B. P. O. E., who is attending the National convention at Portland, Ore., has sent Westerly friends copies of a week's issue of the "Morning Oregonian," of Portland, Ore., which covers in detail with pictures and stories the doings of the convention week.

The front stone coping of the United Theatres block with brick facing on top, which has been carried up for some elevation, gives an idea of what the appearance of the facade of the structure will be. The earth excavated in the rear is now carried through the south store on a reinforced temporary flooring and carted away at the street level.

Cowell Davis returned to New Ha-ven by automobile Monday morning after a week end visit with his uncle, S. H. Davis, and family in Westerly.

Misses Martha MacDonald of Potter Hill, Jessie A. Aitken and Minnie Francis of Westerly were automobile visitors in Newport, Sunday.

Attorney Albert L. Saunders returned to his home in Boston Monday morning after being the week end guest of his father, Captain William F. Saunders, at Winnapaug Farm, Shore road.

Stephen Beradinelli, a student at the Boston University summer school, spent the week end at his home in Westerly.

E. S. Cornell has returned to Derby from a visit at the Ocean House, Watch Hill.

PLAINFIELD

Mrs. Turner Greene has received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ella Richmond, of Hartford. Mrs. Richmond is remembered by many around Plainfield, as for years she has spent many weeks at the Greene homestead. She was ill for a long time in a Hartford hospital.

Mrs. Greene also received word Monday of the death of her only aunt, Mrs. Emma Gray Ormsbee, of East Providence, R. I. Mrs. Ormsbee was the last of a family of nine children of Robert and Sally Gray, whose home was where Eugene Moffitt now lives and was in earlier days a toll gate. Mrs. Ormsbee has been in feeble health for a number of years. She leaves one daughter with whom she lived and one grandson.

Miss Hazel Dodge has been visiting friends in Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Desert and children have been visiting Pawtucket, R. I., friends.

Mrs. Elmer Greene's children, Helen and Lewis, have been spending a few days with relatives in Providence, R. I. Mr. Greene expects to meet them there Thursday of this week.

NIANTIC

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. R. DeWolf. The meeting was well attended. Speeches were made by Rev. Luther B. Grice, pastor of Niantic Baptist church, and Mrs. Ann Rogers Minor, of Waterford, who spoke about Palestine, as she had been through that country. Solos were sung by Mrs. Leon P. Brown, of Crescent Beach.

Mrs. Lucy Potter, who suffered a slight shock recently, is improving slowly, though still under the care of a doctor and a nurse.

Rev. George Warren Potter, now serving the Portland (Ct.) Methodist Episcopal church, recently underwent two operations. He has been under the care of a nose specialist for a month. Rev. Mr. Potter was a former pastor of the Niantic Methodist Episcopal church and was succeeded here a short time ago by the present pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Montgomery.

Mrs. Emma Fisher, who has been living in Niantic and Pine Grove the past seven years, will leave Wednesday next for Wethersfield, to make her home with her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark spent the week-end as guests of Rev. George Warren Potter, in Portland.

Cards have been received in the village from Nicholas Michaelis, of Orange, N. J., a former Main street merchant, who asked to be remembered to his many local friends, also the members of the Niantic fire department.

Mrs. George Neuschafer and son George, of Brooklyn, N. Y., have arrived at Alabama bungalow in Pine Grove to spend the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Whiting, of Hartford, are spending several days at their Pine Grove cottage. Mr. Whiting is painting the exterior of the cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Metcalf and two children, also Mrs. David Webster, motored to Portland last Sunday afternoon and were guests of Rev. George Warren Potter.

Raymond Randall is making improvements to his property in Pine Grove, also putting a fence around his place.

Harry Reycroft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending his vacation in the Grove.

Travis Douglas Morgan has entered the employ of Fred J. Howard.

John Mason has returned to his home in Springfield, Mass., after several days' visit with Mrs. Mason, who is spending the summer in Niantic.

Burnham Francis, who has been living at the Niantic House the past three years, will leave this week for Wethersfield to make his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion R. Davis, also Misses Grace Cure and Mary Horne, who are spending the summer in Pine Grove, motored to Grove Beach and Clinton, Thursday.

Herbert Reade is making alterations to Mrs. E. E. Claussen's summer home in the village.

Mrs. A. L. Tredenick who has been the guest of Mrs. Ella V. Weir in the Grove for the past two weeks, has returned to her home in Bridgeport.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN NORWICH

Building operations in Norwich continue to progress with marked activity especialy along the frame construction work such as dwelling houses and garages. There are only a few of the large contracts under way at the present time, these including the Bishop school on the East Side, the Sheltering Arms contract and the garage on Main street for Syar Bros. There is much work of a smaller nature including dwelling houses and garages of varying sizes.

The building on East Main street recently purchased by the Jordan Auto Co. of Willimantic is being remodeled for a sales room and garage. The brick front on the first floor is being erected and the steel beams for the reinforcing of the building have been set in place.

The foundation and floor of the new brick garage for Syar Bros. on Main street has been laid and the steel work is being set in place. The garage for Lloyd Jones at East Great Plain is practically complete as is the garage and filling station at the corner of West Main and Dunham streets.

The work on the Bishop school is being rushed by Contractor W. C. Spenser so that it will be ready for occupation by the time school opens in the fall. The steel sash has been set in place and is now ready for the glass. The interior work is progressing rapidly and in some of the rooms is ready for the painters.

Other buildings have been brought along at a good rate during the past week. At the office of Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton there were no permits granted but several applications were received.

REAL ESTATE SALES AND MORTGAGE LOANS

In Norwich during the past week there were 17 sales of real estate, five less than for the corresponding week a year ago. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $21,000 and $37,525.

There were 12 sales of real estate in New London during the past week, an increase of four sales over the same week in 1924. The mortgage loans for the respective weeks were $72,200 and $100,025.

The State Building Permits

Permits to the number 326 for new construction work to cost $1,308,962 were issued this past week in the various towns of the state reported in The Record. This is a slight decrease the like week of 1924, when 339 permits were issued for new buildings costing $1,175,723.

Manchester City Hall

The Peck-McWilliams Co., 47 West Main street, this city, have been awarded the contract for the proposed new city hall in South Manchester. The local firm's bid was for $161,149 and was the lowest of six submitted. Plans for the building were prepared by Architect Frank Farley and call for a colonial structure of brick and Vermont marble construction. The first floor will be arranged for offices and courtrooms and the second floor for additional offices and an assembly hall with a seating capacity of 1,000 persons.

New London

R. L. Strout, 249 Broad street, has taken permits for a stone garage on Parker street, and for an addition to his gasoline filling station at the corner of Broad and Parker streets. The garage will be 20x100 feet, one story high. The filling station will be enlarged on either end, making the completed building 20x108 feet. The additions will provide storage space for eight cars.

The contract for the carpentry work has been awarded for a dwelling in East New London for Mr. Underhill, Crystal avenue. The proposed house will be arranged for two five-room flats, with steam heat and other conveniences. The other contracts will be awarded by the owner. The cellar has been completed by day work.

The permit has been issued to Olive Wolfe for a dwelling on Brainard street. The house will be 26x48 feet, of frame construction, arranged for two families. The cost will be about $8,000. Austin Wolfe will have charge of the work.

The H. Wales Lines Co., Mercer building, have the contract for interior repairs at the Crown theater, on State street. There will be new plastering and other improvements.

Applications for Building Permits

Olive Wolfe dwelling Brainard street, $8,000.

R. L. Strout, garage and filling station, corner Broad and Parker streets $2,500.

Waldeslaw Oldbrave, frame garage 55 Winthrop street, $100.

M. Rosenberg, store front, 21 Maple avenue, $500.

Savings Bank of New London, garage, North Bank street, $7,500.

Number of permits issued for the week, 6; estimated cost of buildings, $18,600.

Danielson

A committee consisting of F. A. Jacobs, F. E. Bitgood and William Kinder has been appointed to look into the matter of additional school facilities and to report at a special town meeting to be held not later than Aug. 15. Work under consideration consists of an addition to the Killingly High school, general alterations at the Danielson Graded school, improvements at the Dayville school and better facilities at Attawaugan and Goodyear districts.

Willimantic

New Haven architect has completed the plans for the proposed changes to the building of the Southern New England Telephone Co. here. Estimates will be called for at once from a selected list of bidders. The work consists of two-story additions, front and rear, providing increased room for the general offices and operating room. New toilets and new plumbing and heating system.

The name is Kotex. It's made of cellucotton, the war's great absorbent.

It absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture—5 times that of the ordinary cotton pad!

It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—ending the old embarrassment of disposal.

It is deodorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

It's at every drug store, every department store. You ask for it, without hesitancy, under its trade name of "Kotex."

8 in 10 women of the better classes have adopted it. Doctors urge it. Hygienic authorities employ it.

It will mean much to you . . . it will make a great difference in your life. Going on with old ways is a folly.

KOTEX
DEODORIZED

1 Protection: 5 times as absorbent as cotton pads. Absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture—and scientifically deodorized.
2 No laundry. Discard as easily as a piece of tissue.
3 Easy to buy, anywhere. You ask for them by name. Many stores keep them ready-wrapped — help yourself, pay the clerk, that is all.

No laundry—discard as easily as a piece of tissue

AUSTRALIA'S WELCOME

In the welcome accorded the American fleet in Australia there is doubtless to be seen as expression of the feeling of the Australians that the two countries have much in common in their aspirations and should naturally be united in bonds of fine friendship. The report that 800,000 people witnessed the arrival of the fleet at Sydney indicates that practically the entire population crowded to points of vantage in the bay and this popular demonstration of welcome was enhanced by the speeches at the Melbourne banquet to the fleet staff officers.

A similarity in the problems confronting the Americans and the Australians in their national development seems to have developed a similarity in the attributes of the two peoples. Both were faced with the task of working from small beginnings to the conquest of a vast country of almost unlimited national resources and the struggle has produced a likeness that makes friendship natural and easy. This similarity was noted with great satisfaction on both sides, when, during the fighting in France, it was discovered that the Americans, Canadians and Australians had so much in common that their friendship was never doubted.

Fear of aggression from the north has been a disturbing thought for the Australians lately and has caused them to adopt protective measures. They have restricted all immigration to white persons, they have appealed to their own taxpayers and to the crown for naval protection, they have appraised the experience of their world war troops with satisfaction and they have cultivated their national ambitions. Thus there were several reasons why they were glad to see the American fleet. A significant value in the visit of the fleet is in the strengthening of the friendly ties that cheer and encourage both nations. Such visits by the American navy are well justified in the training opportunities they afford and in the promotion of a substantial American prestige.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

The death of William Jennings Bryan removes a figure whose fame was at once national and world wide. From the time when he sprang into national prominence and the leadership of the democratic party through his famous "cross of gold and crown of thorns" speech at the democratic national convention in 1896, Mr. Bryan was a force to be reckoned with. That his leadership led to defeat made little difference. He had the passion of a zealot, united to the fire of a born orator and he maintained his dominance in the democratic party, which three times gave him the nomination for president only to meet with defeat each time. At the last democratic convention, while he was unable to accomplish the nomination of William G. McAdoo for the presidency, he was yet strong enough to compel John W. Davis to offer the nomination for vice president to Charles W. Bryan.

His critics gave him credit for his sincerity, while those who were won by his standard gave him their unbounded support to the end. Yet he seemed to have an aptitude for espousing causes that were doomed to defeat from the time that he first flashed into national prominence with his advocacy of the free coinage of silver. In his one opportunity to demonstrate the qualities of statesmanship as secretary of state in President Wilson's cabinet, he showed his inability to grapple with intricate diplomatic questions that confronted him in the note-writing duel with Germany over submarine warfare. The only solution of the situation was in the resignation of his cabinet position.

He had a strong conception of right and wrong and he lived up to a code of conduct that he had set for himself, honorable on its political side and exacting on its religious and moral side. That he tried to do the right thing as he saw it is a distinctive, possibly all too rare in men of equal prominence with him in public life.

MODERN MANNERS

The plaint is made from New York that chivalry towards women seems to have gone by the board as daily demonstrated in the subway, where man gets the seat and woman stands. There is a physical superiority which a still operative no matter what claims to equality the feminist sets up.

American cities generally, in their rush and bustle, present conditions that are not far different from the New York subway in submerging better manners, both on the part of men and women. It is difficult to be polite under such circumstances, no matter how strong the desire may be. But a certain callousness is growing up in the ordinary relations of the traveling public which makes more for brutality than anything else. And, when it comes to being a plain, ordinary brute, the male of the human race still has the edge on the female.

An argument offered in extenuation of the lack of good manners today is that there is not time to be polite. Politeness is really a matter of consideration for others, and it is futile to argue that there is no time for such consideration unless the best and most desirable things in life are to be discarded. Good manners like cleanliness are in a measure related to godliness.

Are we willing to acknowledge that we shall submit to a reversion to brutality merely because men and women of today have not time to be considerate. The evolution of manners has brought us a long way from the dark ages and we are surely not willing to surrender to a retrograde movement. On the other hand, the powers that be in American cities should take steps to see that the facilities of the traveling public are adequate and thereby provide conditions under which good manners may not be subject to such rude attack.

SCRAPPING THE SHIPS

The question raised by some members of the shipping board as to whether it has authority to sell for scrapping purposes the 200 government owned ships for which Henry Ford has bid $1,706,000 introduces a complication which has been put up to President Coolidge with a view to obtaining a ruling from the department of justice. The merchant marine act as amended provides for the sale of ships, but there is a school of thought which contends that such a sale was intended for operating purposes only and not for scrapping. It is maintained that congress did not intend that vessels which were still undamaged and potentially serviceable should be scrapped.

There is little doubt that the sale and scrapping of these vessels would be hailed with satisfaction by British and other shipping interests which have maintained that the tied-up ships constitute a menace to British maritime interests. The British complain that the possibility of their being put into service operates to keep down ocean freight rates and to discourage new construction, all to the detriment of British shipping.

But the British viewpoint is not one that needs to be taken into account materially in determining the matter. The American viewpoint is that with which we are concerned and the question is whether it would be good business to consign the vessels to the scrapyard. If there is any real doubt about the intentions of congress, the ships ought not to be scrapped until congress has had opportunity to make its meaning clear and definite. These vessels belong to the American people and congress is the only agency entitled to speak for the people in the matter of their disposal. Certainly, an administrative authority, in doubt as to the construction of the law, would be taking long chances to authorize their breaking up. It would be much easier to destroy these ships than to replace them.

THE DOLLAR BILL

In its effort to induce the American people to use more silver dollars in place of dollar bills, no great success has been met by the treasury department. The difficulty is with the desire of the banks and business men to please their customers. The demand from the banks is for paper dollars, because their customers are so thoroughly accustomed to the use of this kind of currency that they are loth to shift to another. The result is that in the last 15 years the number of silver dollars in circulation has dropped from 72,000,000 to 54,000,000 and the country is wearing out 500,000,000 one-dollar bills a year. Nearly four tons of outworn paper dollars are destroyed every day and the replacement cost of this unfit paper money is $823,000 more annually than the unit circulation cost of silver dollars. This is the problem that disturbs the treasury department.

The fact is that the silver dollar is a heavy and awkward coin and a few of them in the pocket are a burden. The government can of course increase the use of silver dollars by denying the request of the banks for paper money, but as long as the paper dollar is authorized and there is a popular demand for it, the department will have to assume responsibility for discriminating between banks and sections of the country, and to put up with the protests of banks that are unable to supply the demands of their customers.

The economy plea is, however, especially effective at this time, and it is worthy of attention that no one is mortally offended by the tender of a silver dollar, and merchants seem to be as willing to accept them as ever. If everything else fails the treasury department might cut the size of paper bills and save accordingly for it looks as if it would be a difficult thing to dictate the currency styles of a people.

THE SEWING CIRCLE

"There," said the young matron with the auburn wave, folding up a scrap of linen-colored drawn-work and flapping it across her knee with emphasis, "that's finished, and it makes the set. I've slaved at those luncheon napkins for months and it gives me an exalted thrill to see 'em done. Also the thrill comes at a time when any little ray of sunshine is welcome to my ruffled feelings. It's been one of those days, You know."

The sewing circle nodded.

"Anything special?" inquired the fluffy-haired blond, sympathetically.

"Everything special," said the young matron, "but nothing serious, exactly. Just one after another of all the maddening, cat's-fur-the-wrong-way little irritations that human flesh is heir to, I guess. Somehow I'm always more subject to these sessions in late winter; George says it's spring housecleaning casting a shadow before, but of course that's absurd."

"Oh, I don't know," argued the fluffy-haired blond, suspending operations on her own embroidery and sniffing happily at the approaching tea wagon. "The cleaning to be done in our house this year would cast a shadow on the velvet blackness of a dark night. But I thought you were going to move," she added, naively.

"Oh, we are," said the young matron, biting into a sandwich with a click of her white teeth. "We have to, you know. That's what's wearing down my disposition. You simply have no conception of what housekeeping worries are, you lucky old-timers with homes of your own." She shook her head and hesitated before a swallow of hot tea.

"Well, I don't know about that, either," said the fluffy-haired blond. "Living in the house where you were born has complex points of its own, believe me. Now, take our attic, for instance, and picture to yourselves the junk that an active family will sidetrack in the course of many years. Not exactly worthless stuff, of course, but cherished possessions that you feel sure you'll want again some time.

"Once a year mother and I climb up to the attic, pick our way about among old picture frames, boxes of books and parlor sofas and hold converse like this:

"Mother—'I do wish Mrs. Evans would take her things away—they fill that whole corner and have been here ten years. And there's that pile of old brass window moldings; can't we throw those out in the ash can?

"Me—'Why, I wouldn't think of it, dear. Those are awfully cher-chez just now, and I was thinking only yesterday that we ought to put them up again. But there's that horsehair stuff of Mrs. Emmons'. Now that, if you say so, can be—'

"Mother (wearily)—'I'm afraid it can't. She was always the most peculiar woman, and if she should ever come back from California—'"

The fluffy-haired blond broke off her recital to sugar her tea. "Of course," she concluded, "they always do come back periodically. Mrs. Evans arrives each spring, comes and prowls around in the attic and descends with cobwebs on her nose and suspicion in her eye to inquire if Mrs. Emmons has been fooling among her china vases. Oh, it's a merry life, sporting an attic for the use of your neighbors."

"If that's the case," said the young matron, with a twinkle, "I might as well send over that colonial highboy that it worries me so to put in storage. It's too big for an apartment, anyway."

"No, you don't!" said the fluffy-haired blond, firmly. "Ten times bitten, once shy, and mother and I have sworn off. But I'll keep that highboy for you in the house somewhere, old dear. I always did covet it and maybe in the course of a few years you'll forget where it's parked. Or, if it stays there long enough, I'll set up a claim on the ground of confiscatory rights. I always did like caviar."—Chicago News.

From Small Beginnings

Karageorge the Shepherd, the Father of Serbia

A shepherd in the Serbian hills daily watched his sheep and thought bitterly of his hard life. For him, apparently, life had nothing in store. Today he is counted as the ancestor of royalty. He had native power, used it and became great.

Karageorge, or "Black George," was dark of hair and face, and darker still at heart. Partly because he hated the Turks, who ruled Serbia, and partly because he hated the monotony of shepherd life, he became a brigand with a band of Turks who fought against everyone. One day his black anger surged up and he killed a companion. After two years of hiding in the forests, he joined an Austrian regiment, which he soon deserted. Once again he became a bandit and showed such powers that the leaders of a conspiracy against the Turks asked him to be their chief. They needed a man like "Black George."

It was a stern time, a stern land, and he was a stern man. Scowling, morose, fiery-tempered, murderous, "Black George" was more than able to hold his own. To disobey him meant death. He killed between 100 and 200 men in anger, and is said to have killed his own father, and to have ordered the execution of his own brother. He knew neither fear nor pity and fought wherever the battle was thickest. Intuitively he saw the enemy's weakness and won victories. At the age of 38 he drove the Turks from Serbia; he was the one man for that terrible task.

His own aim in life was to free Serbia from the Turks. He cared nothing for treaties; massacred his enemies and was always violent.

The Turks sent a great force into Serbia and he fled to Russia. Another shepherd, Obrenvoitch, again set Serbia free. "Black George" crept back, was assassinated and his head sent to Constantinople. Nevertheless, his heroic fighting ushered in a new day for Serbia, and the old King of Serbia, "Black Peter", is the grandson of "Black George" the shepherd.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Manuel Quezon, who has been elected president of the Senate of the Philippines' Insular Government, is a college-bred man, a lawyer by profession, with a long and creditable record of service in his native land. From 1909 to 1916 he was resident commissioner of the Philippines in Washington, having a seat in the House of Representatives but not a vote. Prior to that he was a member of the Philippine Assembly, a provincial governor and a prosecuting attorney, his formal relations with the United States Government's insular officials having been established in 1903, the year he was admitted to the bar at Manila. As one of Aguinaldo's chief officers in the native forces that resisted American occupation he won military prominence and showed the positive character that he has since displayed in statecraft. His record while commissioner at Washington was one of dignity and courage and a reasoned setting forth of the national aspirations of the people he represented.

Stories That Recall Others

Christopher Arnold, the Peasant, a Great Astronomer

Until modern times the peasant people of Europe did very little thinking for themselves; they were content to go about the same kind of work, generation after generation. They were, in all fact, little better than beasts of labor. In view of this fact the story of Christopher Arnold, a great German astronomer, is altogether remarkable.

From being a peasant he raised himself to the position of a learned man, who predicted the courses of the stars. In every man, whoever he be or however humble his lot, there lies the spark that may be flamed into a light for all people.

"The moon has gone out! The moon has gone out!" wailed the frightened peasants on night, when an eclipse of the moon darkened the previously brilliant sky. "The wrath of the Lord is on us! Woe be unto us!" Then Christopher Arnold, standing looking at the sky, said, "Not so; it will pass, it is but the movement of the heavenly bodies, like the passing of a wain before a house." He was a marvelous peasant, this Christopher Arnold. Off in the flat country near Leipsig where he had been born, he had looked as a child up at the stars. "Mutter," he pleaded, "Tell me about those," and he held out his hands to the stars. "They are stars," was all she could say. The boy grew up, working hard in the fields like the other peasants, but always looking up at the stars and wondering about them. He watched the slow movements of the planets in the sky, and observed the rising and setting of the sun and of the moon. When he grew to manhood his interest increased. He began to put down in a book the things that he noticed. After a while he saved his hard-earned money and changed part of his house so that he could study the stars at night. All this, remember, was about 1460, when people knew little about the heavens. This peasant, from his humble home, saw and studied the movements of the planet Mercury as it passed in transit before the face of the sun. He watched the comets come into view from the depths of space. Little by little he wrote it down, and out of his deep interest made a book. All his life he looked up at the stars. He died in 1693 at the age of 45, but his love of learning had made him lead a happy life, and had made him famous.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

ITALY'S NEW AFRICAN "COW COUNTRY"

The announcement that as a result of negotiations the Italian flag has replaced the British flag over Jubaland, Africa, scrambles the map of Africa once more. The name, "Jubaland," will probably be eliminated, for the territory is being added to Italian Somaliland.

"News out of Jubaland a few weeks before the transfer of sovereignty telling of fighting between Somali tribes over water-holes, indicates that Italy is not adding an entirely peaceful realm to her 'colonial possessions,'" says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Americans who know something of fights between Indians and cattlemen in the arid regions of our 'cow country' in the old days—often around priceless water-holes—may fancy they can construct a picture of the continual cattle wars of Jubaland," continues the bulletin. "The American Westerner set down in this Africa cattle region, however, would find the differences so striking that probably he would lose sight altogether of the few similarities.

"Jubaland is alternately a parched desert and a green pasture. The Juba itself is the only year-round stream, and it rises in Abyssinia and receives practically all its drainage from that country. The region through which the river flows is remarkably level and steamers ascend the stream for 400 miles during all but the lowest water periods.

"The Equator crosses the country near the mouth of the Juba, and along the stream's banks are bands of tropical verdure. A short distance from the river the typical Jubaland plains begin, vast level stretches covered with a dense growth of thorn bushes higher than a man's head. In the dry season these bushes are leafless and the ground is dry and dusty. As soon as the rainy season sets in leaves spring out on the thorn bushes while the ground becomes covered with succulent grass.

"The Somalis, the principal people inhabiting Jubaland, keep extensive herds and drive them into the interior as soon as the grass appears. Scattered among the thorn thickets are numerous water-holes, filled by the rains around which grazing activities center. Game trails beaten out by antelope, giraffe, zebras, elephants and other wild creatures connect the water holes and are used by the Somalis. The chiefs of these natives consist of camel owners, goats and camels, the latter being used as burden bearers as well as serving to transport members of the tribe.

"Under the nomadic conditions entailed by the [illegible] clashes are inevitable between wandering tribes seeking water and grass. In addition the Somalis are born cattle traders and take advantage of any tribe or individual owners not showing enough to defend their possessions. In the same region are a number of Gallas, an inferior people, many of whom are held as slaves by the Somalis.

"The Somalis are Mohammedans and follow the outward forms of their religion most scrupulously. They dress in white, togalike robes. The dusky, white-clad Somali warrior, at rest, cranelike on one leg, leaning against his long, broad-bladed spear, makes one of the most picturesque sights in Africa.

"One custom of the Somalis not very popular with white travelers is their method of 'honoring' a visitor of importance by a war dance. The visitor, placed in a front seat, soon finds that the dance consists chiefly in the warriors rushing at him and brandishing their spears within a few inches of his face. If he winces or fails to show complete imperturbability he loses prestige.

"Another custom which fails to reassure a white man traveling without a formidable guard through the Somali country is the recognized method by which the young Somali men 'win their spurs' of warriorhood. The coveted emblems, a feathered headdress and a black-shafted spear, are given only to young braves who have killed an enemy. Since Somali are likely to consider anyone an 'enemy' who is not of their tribe, young men seeking to 'qualify' have been known to go on 'kill' hunts for non-Somali natives and even white men to murder them in cold blood.

Treating his first girl!

Timidly he stepped up to the counter to buy some Life Savers for himself and his little friend.

"We like the Violet best, Mister," he said. And how proudly he straightened up as he broke the little tin-foil roll to treat his first girl!

Every growing child craves sweets. Active little bodies demand sugar. But children's candy must be pure—and they should not overeat.

Life Savers, the little candy mints with the hole (life saver shape), answer this problem in just the right way. They are china-hard and deliciously flavored.

This means that Life Savers are eaten slowly. Children suck them to make those wonderful flavors last longer. Little tummies are not upset. And Life Savers are kind to tiny teeth.

They're safe and wholesome. You may conscientiously be generous with Life Savers for they are the ideal candy for little folks.

Six flavors are displayed at all good stores so you may help yourself: Pep-o-mint, Wint-o-green, Cinn-o-mon, Lic-o-rice, Cl-o-ve and Vi-o-let. Five cents a package.—Life Savers, Inc., Port Chester, N. Y.

A Funny Fishing Party

As a teacher I suggest Hunger as the very best.
—Old Mother Nature

It was a few days after Billy Mink and Jerry Muskrat had unsuccessfully tried to catch Reddy Fox's dinner that the strangest fishing party ever seen on the Green Meadows took place. Peter Rabbit happened to be over there at the time. Peter was sitting on the opposite bank, on the big rock at the middle of the Smiling Pool, not unlike Mooncat. Grandfather Frog was sitting on his favorite green lily-pad, while Spotty the Turtle was sunning himself on the end of an old log in the water. Side by side in a row on a dead limb that hung out over the water sat six young Kingfishers. The feathers on the tops of their heads all stood up like the hair of a boy getting up in the morning.

Rattles the Kingfisher and Mrs. Rattles were fussing about as only a couple of fond parents can. Suddenly Mrs. Rattles gave a sharp warning. "Look down there in the water!" she cried. "See those little fish!"

All the young Kingfishers bent their heads and looked down into the water. All of them saw the little fish. All of them suddenly became very hungry. But they didn't know what to do about it. It was the first time they had ever seen fish moving. They looked at the fish, and they looked at each other. Then they looked at their mother, Mrs. Rattles the Kingfisher.

At that very instant Mrs. Rattles suddenly closed her wings and shot straight down head first into the water with a little tinkling splash. "Oh," cried the six little Kingfishers together.

And just as the cried "Oh!" up came Mrs. Kingfisher, and in her bill was a little fish. "Oh!" cried the six little Kingfishers together again, and then all fixed their eager eyes on their mother and that little fish. Each hoped that that little fish was for him. You should have seen them all stretch their necks toward Mrs. Rattles as she flew over and alighted near them. But she didn't give them the fish. She pounded it on the branch at her feet for a moment, and then—well, what do you think she did? She swallowed that little fish herself. Yes, sir, she did so.

Such a look of disappointment as swept over the faces of those little Kingfishers! Even Peter Rabbit could see it from where he sat. He laughed right out. So did Jerry Muskrat. So did Grandfather Frog. So did Spotty the Turtle. It really was funny. Just then up came Rattles the Kingfisher, and the same thing happened all over again, only this time it was Rattles who caught the fish and ate it.

Several times Rattles and Mrs. Kingfisher caught fish and ate them. Then the boldest and the smartest of the six little Kingfishers, or perhaps it was the hungriest of the six, saw a little fish swimming close to the surface just below him. In his hurry he seemed to actually tumble off that branch. Down he went, and he was so awkward about it that he made a great splash when he hit the water, and when he came up he had no fish. But if he had no fish, he had made his first plunge. Not two minutes later he had another chance, and this time he caught the little fish. Never was there a prouder young Kingfisher in all the Great World. He hammered it against the branch as he had seen his father and mother do, and then he turned it around and swallowed it head first. He paid no attention to his brothers and sisters, who were begging him to give it to them. "Catch your own fish," said he, and flew over to another tree, where he could be by himself with a better chance of catching fish.

Talking of Sidewal Flags

The New London Chamber of Commerce is endorsing sidewalk flags "The Shenandoah Flag System", such as Norwich has and which gives so much satisfaction. So far, the New London city council is rather cool to the proposition.

Damaged Fr. O'Neill's Car.

There was general interest Monday in the two automobile accidents Saturday evening by which the car of Rev. Felix J. O'Neill, of Stafford Springs was twice damaged through the carelessness of other drivers. Father O'Neill, once an assistant at St. Patrick's Church, had come to Norwich to drive back Prof. and Mrs. Frank L. Farrell, who had gone to his church in Stafford Springs that day to aid with the music at a funeral.

While his car was parked outside the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell, on Washington street, about 9:15, it was run into. Later, while he was on his way back to Stafford Springs, another driver ran into him on Franklin Hill. There was much satisfaction among his Norwich friends Monday that Father O'Neill was not injured.

NELSECO PASENGERS NEARLY RUN DOWN BY DESTROYERS

Charging that the navigating officers of a flotilla of destroyers exercised little caution and less common sense in the operation of their craft, passengers on the steamer Nelseco making the Saturday afternoon trip to Block Island entered protest with the navy department. Twelve destroyers comprised the flotilla, and all but one crossed the bows of the Nelseco, three of them coming so close, according to passengers, that a collision would have occurred, had not Captain Edward F. Quarry of the Nelseco reversed his engines. The destroyers were bound from New York to Newport.

There were several hundred passengers aboard the Nelseco, and all of them were very indignant over the affair. Persons aboard the Nelseco, acquainted with maritime procedure claimed that according to the code of the sea the overtaking vessel should pass to the sterm of the leading craft, and said that in this case, the rule was violated.

According to the version of the passengers the destroyers were far in the rear when first sighted. Cutting through the water at an estimated speed of 30 knots per hour, they rapidly overhauled the passenger craft, and, according to the passengers on the Nelseco could more easily have gone astern of that craft, than across her bow.

Dr. John F. Alling, prominent New York physician aboard the Nelseco was strong in his denunciation of the tactics of the naval officers, charged that the maneuver was one of the "best bits of grandstand play" that he had ever witnessed, and said that he would strongly enter complaint with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

PROTEST AGAINST TRAINED ANIMAL ACTS AT FAIRS

Protesting against the cruelty to trained animals, the Connecticut Humane society is sending letters to officers and directors of fairs and other exhibitions, asking that no such acts or other objectionable performances be permitted in the state. The society calls attention to the fact that anti-cruelty laws of Connecticut impose substantial penalties upon those convicted, but states that it is much more desirous of preventing cruelty than of punishing it after it has been inflicted.

The society claims that almost all trained animal acts are the result of cruelty during the period when the animals are being trained and says that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus has voluntarily discontinued such acts. It is also stated that "a large vaudeville circuit has likewise put the ban on such performances." Objection is offered particularly to steer roping and rough riding exhibitions of which are often found at fairs and circuses.

MAYOR WATERS CALLS SPECIAL CITY MEETING

Mayor Milo R. Waters has called a special city meeting for next Tuesday evening at the town hall for the purpose of taking action on the new reservoir proposed for Norwich. The construction of the proposed permanent water supply for the city with a reservoir on the Deep River watershed, in the town of Colchester, calls for an appropriation of $1,050,000.

The proposed new water supply has been recommended by the board of water commissioners and approved by the court of common council and the matter now goes to the voters of the city for their approval.

LOCAL YOUTH HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

John Keenan, 20, of 40 Forest street, is held at police headquarters under bonds of $1,000 on a serious charge against an 18-year-old Norwich girl. Keenan was arrested at Franklin square Monday evening by Officer Hugh McAvoy, booked at police headquarters and locked up in default of $1,000 bonds.

The offense is said to have been committed several months ago. Keenan has been out of town for some time and is understood to have been in New Jersey. He returned to Norwich Sunday.

"THE BELLS OF ST. ANNE" AT MASS OF THANKSGIVING

A feature of the music at the Mass of Thanksgiving at 8 o'clock in St. Patrick's church Monday, commemorating the feast of St. Anne, was the playing by Prof. Frank L. Farrell, of "The Bells of St. Anne." In this the use of the organ chimes was very effective, the selection making a marked impression upon the large congregation. The solos in the mass were sung by Mrs. Farrell.

The mass was celebrated by the rector, Rt. Rev. Msgr. M. H. May.

PLAN TWO DAY DAIRY JUDGING TRIP

A two day judging trip for Farm Bureau club members is being planned for August 27th and 28th. This tour is being arranged in preparation for the annual judging contest to be held at Hartford state fair. At the Hartford fair a team will be picked to represent the state in the national dairy show.

GAVE SPLENDID CONCERT AT BACKUS HOSPITAL

The Sunday afternoon programme of music this week at the Backus hospital was furnished by Loyal circle, of the King's Daughters. George Guile, violinist, and Miss Lucile Guile at the piano were heard in a number of finely rendered selections which gave delight to the patients and the staff at the hospital.

West Mystic Woman 83.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis I. Copeland and daughter Miss Muriel and Mrs. Elisworth Weeks, of Chaplin, were at the home of Mrs. Fred Viall, in West Mystic, last week to celebrate the 83rd birthday of Mrs. Copeland's mother, Mrs. Martha Pike. The latter is in quite good health and was pleased to have all her children and some of her grandchildren eat dinner with her. She had a birthday cake and other gifts.

DEPARTMENT HEADS FOR THE COUNTY FAIR

With the announcing of the superintendents and judges for the 71st annual New London County fair, given out in part by Secretary Edwin V. Ross, Monday, several changes are noticed over preceding years. One important change comes in the juvenile department, which in past years has been a separate department. This year the juvenile department ceases to exist as such, as the young people are to exhibit their entries with the seniors, judging to be the same as the seniors, but with special juvenile prizes.

Superintendents announced as are as follows: Cattle, oxen, sheep and swine, W. Avery Gallup; poultry, John H. Curry; assistant, Carlos W. Rickter; horses, George G. Avery; pet stock, Philip McNamara; domestic exhibits, Mrs. Ambrose Sullivan and Miss Ruby E. Vaughn; vegetables and fruit, Oliver T. Peckham, assistant, Edward Cook; flower exhibit, George Charbonneau; farm machinery Charles A. Gager; beautiful girl contest, F. Russell Baird; automobile show, Kenneth F. Webb; automobile mardi gras, David S. Ballou; mutt show, Earl M. Wood; barn-yard golf, to be announced; better baby show, Dr. A. Elizabeth Ingham, director of Bureau of Child Hygiene, Hartford; speed secretary, Albert J. Bailey; exhibition hall, Fred G. Prothero; grounds, Charles P. Bushnell; chairman of governor's reception committee, Senator Lee Roy Robbins.

Judges selected are as follows: Cattle, sheep and swin, Prof. L. V. Tirrell, Durham, N. H.; horses, Griswold H. Morgan and George G. Avery; poultry, Daniel P. Shove, Fall River, Mass., assisted by Paul B. Ives, Guilford; pet stock, William A. Broesback, Hartford; domestic exhibits, sewing and cooking, Mrs. Mary Robbins, Norwich; canned fruit and vegetables, Mrs. Jean B. Ross; beautiful girl contest, nationally known motion picture actress; boy's dog show, prize to be awarded by Mayor Milo R. Waters. Other judges have not yet been selected.

Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the Norwich Chamber of commerce is shortly to call a meeting to which all manufacturers of eastern Connecticut are to be invited, with a view to having them exhibit their products at the fair.

Special events and changes announced over fairs of previous years include Governor's Day, the first day of the fair; beautiful girl show and better baby show on the second day and the automobile mardi gras, dog show and barn-yard golf contest and the final day of the fair. The prize announced for the beautiful girl show is a trip to Washington, with a letter of introduction to President Coolidge from Governor Trumbull of Connecticut.

FLETCHER POST PREPARES FOR STATE CONVENTION

With the approach of the state convention of the American Legion, to be held in New London the latter part of next month, activities in Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, of this city, and in Voiture Locale, No. 743, are being speeded up, with a view to getting members out en masse for the biggest Legion event eastern Connecticut has seen in the history of the state organization.

Fletcher post is making special endeavor to have every member wear the post hat in the monster street parade to be held on Saturday, August 29, the last day of the convention, and a special meeting of the executive committee has been called for this (Tuesday) evening for the purpose of lining up the post for the big event. One more post meeting will be held previous to the convention and final arrangements for the three-day convention will be made at that time.

Voiture Locale has sent out notices of a meeting to be held Thursday evening of this week when delegates will be named to the Grande Promenade at New London on August 28. Chef de Gare Jonathan L. Johnson plans to send the locale to the convention in great style and the boys are looking forward to a banner time in New London, when La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux is to hold a big street parade, followed by an initiation of prisoners de guerre.

STATE-WIDE STUDY OF THE APPLE CROP

Field work has been started in Connecticut on a New England-wide apple study, the purpose of which is to appraise the economic position for the New England apple industry and to develop a better system of reporting and forecasting the apple crop by varieties and grades. This study will include several phases, one of which is a farm to farm survey of commercial fruit farms.

The study for Connecticut will be under the general direction of Prof. L. G. Davis of the department of economics of Storrs with assistance from Messrs. Saunders and Topp of the New England crop reporting service at Wakefield, Mass.

A study such as this should be of great value to the fruit growers of New London county because the results obtained should give a more intelligent and accurate basis by which estimates of yields in forecasting the crop can be made.

Norwich Guest Lost Money

A correspondent writes: A friend of Mrs. Frank Harwood came from Norwich Thursday to spend the day at Willimantic camp ground and lost a large sum of money somewhere between her home and the Harwood cottage. A thorough search was made in the grove, but of no avail.

Automobiles Collided.

Peter Marrotte and Edward Russ reported at Willimantic police headquarters that their cars had figured in a slight collision on Main street opposite Bank street in Willimantic Monday evening. The men agreed to settle the damages.

Return Wednesday from Storrs

The 38 young people from New London county who have been attending the Junior Short Course at Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, will arrive back at their homes Wednesday of this week.

OBITUARY

Dr. Edward H. Linnell.

Word was received in this city Monday of the sudden death, Sunday evening, of Edward H. Linnell, M. D., well known Norwich homeopathic physician of 221 Broadway, while he was visiting at the home of relatives in Lyme Conn. Dr. and Mrs. Linnell motored to Lyme Sunday to spend the day and night with E. Stiles Ely, brother-in-law of Dr. Linnell. He had not been feeling well during the day and retired at 10:30 o'clock Sunday evening and was almost immediately seized with a heart attack, which caused death a half hour later despite all medical aid rendered.

Edward H. Linnell, M. D., was born September 15, 1853 in East Douglas, Mass., the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Jonathan E. Linnell. He attended the public schools in Worcester and also the Norwich Free Academy, in Norwich. After leaving high school he went to Berlin, Germany, where he took a special course under private tutors.

Being interested in the medical profession, he studied medicine under his father and later entered the New York Homeopathic college, graduating at the head of his class in the spring of 1876, and winning every prize offered for scholarship.

Following his graduation, Dr. Linnell returned to Norwich and began practicing under his father, continuing in business with him until the death of the elder Dr. Linnell, after a quarter of a century of partnership, then continuing the profession alone.

Dr. Linnell, in 1879, took a special course in the Ophthalmic hospital, New York, of which branch he had since made a specialty. In 1900 he went to Europe and visited many of the principal cities, taking special courses in London and Vienna. He was a member of the State Homeopathic society, of which he had been president; was an honorary member of the New York State Homeopathic society; was a member of the American Institute of Homeopathy and a member of the American Homeopathic Ophthalmological, Otological and Laryngological society.

Dr. Linnell was a thorough and patient investigator, a student who kept abreast of the modern advance of his profession and never tried new theories until after he was thoroughly convinced of the worth of the advance advocated. He was the first physician in the state of Connecticut and one of the first in New England to use radium in his practice. A careful and strict observer of the code of professional ethics, Dr. Linnell had built up one of the largest and most exclusive practices in Norwich.

His determination to study the latest and most advanced theories made him a man well qualified to speak or write on his profession, and he was a contributor of scientific articles to medical publications, some of which have been translated into French and German. Among his writings is "The Eye as an Aid to General Diagnosis," which work has been adopted as a text book in some colleges. He had for some years been a member of the state licensing board of homeopathic physicians. From 1896 until 1904 he served the town of Norwich as health officer, resigning this office in 1904. His contributions to the various societies of which he was a member were always welcomed.

In 1880 Dr. Linnell was united in marriage with Gertrude Hyde, daughter of Edward and Hannah Thomas Hyde. She died January 23, 1888, she was a member of the Broadway Congregational church, of which Dr. Linnell was also a member. On December 4, 1901, Dr. Linnell married for his second wife, Adelia Bunnell, daughter of Addison Smith, of New York city, and widow of Henry B. Bunnell, of New Haven. The death of Mrs. Linnell occurred in 1920. On January 15, 1921, he was united in marriage with Susan P. Miller, of Englewood, N. J., who survives him, with several cousins.

Dr. Linnell was one of the first homeopathic physicians to engage in practice in Norwich and through his many years of service built up a large clientele. He was a man admired by all who knew him and was a man interested in the welfare of the community in which he lived. Politically Dr. Linnell was a republican, but his active duties kept him from active part in party politics. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and he was also a member of the old Norwich club.

His death is a loss to the community. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to his family in their bereavement.

Herman Jackel

Following an illness of some time the death of Herman Jackel occurred Sunday in Preston. Mr. Jackel was born in Liebemuih, East Prussia, 65 years ago and came to this country in 1881, spending most of his years in Norwich where he had a wide circle of friends. Soon after his arrival in this country he was united in marriage with Caroline Bijehl, who survives him and now resides in Oakdale.

For many years Mr. Jackel was proprietor of a saloon at the corner of Water and Market streets, this being previous to the prohibition years. He was past grand president of the Order of Sons of Hermann and was also a member of the German Lutheran church of Norwich.

Arthur Neal Ladd.

After being in poor health for the past year and seriously ill for the past four weeks, the death of Arthur Neal Ladd, 75, occurred at 12:15 o'clock Monday afternoon at his home in the town of Scotland. Mr. Ladd was born in Salem, this state, August 4, 1849, the son of Asa and Harriet Ladd, and received his early education in that town. Most of his life was spent in Salem where he followed the occupation of a farmer, and nine years ago he moved to Scotland to make his home. He retired from active work a number of years ago owing to failing health.

He was married November 19, 1875, to Miss Katie Amburn, who survives him with three daughters, Mrs. Raymond Rogers, of Scotland; Mrs. William Craig, of Millers Falls, Mass., and Mrs. Charles Vallette, of Rhode Island; six grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Andrew Gardner, of Norwich Town, and one brother, Ellison Ladd, of Willimantic.

Mr. Ladd was a member of the Salem Methodist church and took an active interest in church affairs as long as he held residence in that town. Of pleasing disposition, he readily made friends and the news of his death will come as a severe shock to them, while his family in the loss of a loved one, will have the sympathy of many friends.

TOURING CAR SKIDS ON BROADWAY HILL

Broadway hill was slippery Monday morning and was the cause of an accident to a Cadillac touring car, driven by Aaron Goldblatt of 49 Cott street. While going up the hill the car skidded, turning completely around and bringing up against the curbing, demolishing the right rear wheel.

Similar accidents have happened to numerous cars on Broadway hill during or following rain storms and crippled wheels are not at all uncommon there.

AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming.—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as girls often have, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine." — Mrs. VERBENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

BALTIC GIRL RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP AT STORRS

Charlotte Babbitt, of Baltic, and Esther Dyer, of Cromwell, have been selected from 185 girls taking the short course at the Connecticut Agricultural college as the most physically fit and are therefore each to receive a scholarship for the course next year.

The examination was conducted by Dr. Elizabeth Ingraham, head of the bureau of child hygiene of the state department of health, and a corps of assistants. After repeated examinations of the two girls in question by several physicians it was decided that their contest for physical honors should be declared a tie as in all tests they were each given the same rating. The 185 girls were examined Saturday afternoon. They were first divided in county groups and the winner in each group selected. These eight girls were then examined to select the state winner and the tie resulted between Miss Babbitt and Miss Dyer.

Memorial to Capt. Randall

Sunday was observed as Memorial Day for Capt. Henry Randall at Douglas Camp Meeting. Mr. Randall was a great help to that Camp Ground as he has been in years past to the one at Willimantic.

MISS COLLETT HAS LOW SCORE FOR FIRST DAY'S PLAY AT SHENECOSSETT

EASTERN POINT, New London, July 27.—(A. P.)—Unfavorable weather conditions attended the opening of the seventh annual women's invitation golf tournament on the Shenecossett country club's links. Two hundred and forty entrants teed off for the qualifying round, constituting one of the largest fields ever starting in any tournament in this country.

Those playing today's round representing the foremost women golfers of the United States, the more prominent including Miss Glenna Collett, just back from Europe with the French championship; Mrs. Dorothy C. Hurd, last year's national champion; Miss Marie R. Jenney, metropolitan champion; Miss Maureen Orcutt, eastern champion; Mrs. R. D. Barlow, Bryn Mawr; Mrs. F. E. Dubois, of the Westchester-Biltmore Country club, and Mrs. Myra D. Paterson, former metropolitan women's golf association president.

After the closest kind of a contest it was necessary to play off a five cornered tie before the first flight could be made up. There was room for only four of five players who had each turned in a score of 91. In the play-off Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago, made a four on the first hole. Mrs. J. Thomson, Mount Vernon, and Mrs. Charles A. Downey, Springfield, Mass., made a five.

Mrs. Dorothy C. Hurd and Mrs. Jay Lee took six strokes each. They both had a five on the second hole but Mrs. Hurd by a brilliant putt won the third with a birdie three.

Tonight the fair contenders are holding their annual get-together dinner in the Griswold's grill which has been specially and elaborately decorated for the occasion. Men are admitted for the dance that follows the dinner but they must wait until they are invited to dance.

Low scorehoners for the opening day went to Miss Collett who made the round in 78. To do so she flashed some brilliant work including holing a mashie shot from the rought for a birdie three on the 363 yard seventeenth hole. Her card shows a very steady and well played 78.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, the Englewood, N. J., star was only three strokes behind Glenna with a very clean cut 84, which might easily have been 79. It happened at the ninth hole going out when she landed on the edge of the green in three, chipped into apparently good position but then took three putts to make the cup.

Mrs. Hurd was noticeably off her usual form today but landed in the first flight 47-44—91.

Mrs. J. B. Rose, of Pittsburgh made the round in 42-46—88. Mrs. D. M. Belcher, Arlington, Pa., nearly made a one on the 11th, her ball coming to a stop only three inches from the cup. Miss Marie R. Jenney qualified with an 87. Mrs. Roland Barlow, Bryn Mawr took 94 to make the round. Mrs. Paterson was below her usual form, her score being 46-46—92. Mrs. F. E Dubois, of the Westchester-Biltmore Country club, had a 85.

Pairings for tomorrow's play follow:

Miss Glenna Collett, 78, and Mrs. L. Phelps, 89; Miss Marie R. Jenney, 87, and Miss Dorothy Klotz, 91; Mrs. F. E. Dubois, 85, and Miss Helen Payson, 90; Miss Andria Aldie, 89, and Mrs. Charles A. Downey, 91; Miss Maureen Orcutt, 84, and Miss Marion Bennett, 95; Mrs. J. B. Rose, 88, and Mrs. J. J. Thompson, 91; Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, 86, and Mrs. Henry Martelle, 90; Mrs. Thomas Hucknall 87, and Mrs. Hurd, 91.

Mrs. Jay Lee, 91 and Mrs. John W. Converse, 93; Mrs. Donald Belcher, 92 and Mrs. R. H. Barlow, 94; Mrs. Myra D. Paterson, 92, and Miss Margaret Gordon, 93; Mrs. J. D. Woodfin, 93, and Mrs. E. H. Fitler, 95; Mrs. Charles B Stone, 93, and Mrs Edward F. Shay 93; Mrs. E. L. Beard, 94, and Mrs. E. P. Stone, 95, Mrs. Charles Voorhees, 92, and Miss F. Freeman, 94; Mrs Albert McDonald, 93 and Mrs. Philip Stevenson, 95.

JOE STEIN LEADS FIELD IN N. E. PROFESSIONAL

WAYLAND, Mass., July 27—(A. P.)—Joe Stein, of the Nashua, N. H., country club, with a total of 147 for 36 holes of play tonight, was leading the field in the New England professional golfers' organization championship tournament, which opened here today at the Sandy Burn country club. His rounds were 73 and 74, two strokes better than Alex Ellis of the United Shoe Machinery club, who required a 78 and 76 for a total of 149.

Though rain fell during a greater part of the day, the play was brilliant. Stein was the first golfer to negotiate the Sandy Burr links in less than 76.

Jack Starit of Hartford with a total of 150 followed Ellis. Willie Ozg of Worcester, who is defending champion, finished seven strokes behind the leader with a total of 153 for the 36 holes.

TAD JONES TAKES CAMP'S PLACE ON RULES COMMITTEE

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—Election of T. A. D. Jones, head coach at Yale, as a member of the intercollegiate football rules committee to succeed the late Walter Camp was announced today.

This action was taken at a meeting of the executive committee of the national collegiate athletic association during the past week, at which the following were named to take up the matter of a fitting memorial to Camp at Yale: E. K. Hall, chairman; Dr. J. W. Wilce, Alonzo Stagg and Walter Powell.

Playing of summer baseball by college athletics will be one of the topics for the midwinter meeting of the association in New York December 29 and 30.

GRAND CIRCUIT OPENS AT AURORA TODAY

AURORA, Ills., July 27—(A. P.)—Grand circuit horses were pronounced in good shape here tonight, and ready for the opening of the local circuit season tomorrow. A light shower this afternoon put the track in good condition.

It is planned to run seven to ten races each day, with distances ranging from four furlongs to a mile and a quarter. The season closed August 7, for the track here.

The American Trotting Derby, with a purse of $25,000 is set for Friday, July 31, and will be the only race on the entire program to be run in more than one heat. Thompson Dillon, four year old champion is rated a favorite for the premier event.

ALBANY HITS LOFTUS HARD AND BEATS PROFS.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 27.—(AP)—Albany hit Loftus hard in three innings today and scored its third straight victory over New Haven. The score was 8 to 3. Snover pitched well in the pinches. Showers twice interrupted play. Score:

Albany	3	0	1	4	0	0	0	0	— 8

Two base hits, Miller, Camarrano, Lerian Christy. Three base hits Butler Taylor.

LOCAL FAN CRITICIZES STATE HOSPITAL TEAM

Sports Ed: As a baseball fan who patronizes the games at the State Hospital quite frequently I was surprised that in the account of the Riverview-J. B. Martin game in Monday's Bulletin there was very little mention of the refusal of Dr. Wilcox to grant the Martin team a runner for their pitcher, Flynn. I grant that Flynn was probably as well able to run the bases as any member of the team, but so was Tony West, and yet, the J. B. Martin team gladly extended the Riverview club the courtesy of a runner.

If West had not been given a runner every time he got on base and had ran himself I should surely have backed Dr. Wilcox's attitude. But as the case was it seems to me that Dr. Wilcox should have been willing to return the courtesy extended him by the opposing team. It looked like pretty poor sportsmanship to me and savored a bit of soreness because his team was on the losing end of the score.

If a pitcher is able to pitch a game he should be made to run the bases unless he is injured. Just because he is lazy or tired one from his pitching is no reason for granting him a runner every time he gets on base. The sooner this habit is thrown into the discard the better for the game.

Now while I am talking about the Hospital team let me say just a few words of my impressions from watching several games. There seems to be a lack of harmony among several of the players. Just who is responsible for this I cannot say having no inside connection with the team. Still there is that feeling that the team is not running as smoothly as it might. I have noticed that when one player makes an error, whether it be excusable or not, he gets a call down instead of encouragement to do better next time. And some times these calls are not justified in the least. I have heard reports from those close to the team that one player in particular is prone to criticize the other players when his own playing is not of the best. The Hospital has a good team without a doubt but they can have even a better team if there is more harmony between them.

Years ago Norwich fans used to go to the hospital en masse and root for the Hospital team. Those were in the days when Bill and Sam Austin were playing. Do the fans do it now? No. They go there to cheer for the opposing team in hopes that the Hospital will be beaten. Why this condition is true is beyond me, unless it is for reasons such as I have quoted above.

Another thing that looks bad is to have the home team crab the umpire as if he were expected to give all the breaks of the game to the Ho pital. The umpire is in there to call things as he sees them and he should be allowed to run the game as he judges best.

This letter is meant only as criticism of the constructive type from one who hopes that Riverview wins all their games but if defeat comes take it with a smile of good sportsmanship although it hurts.

Yours in sport, JUST A. FANN.

PIRATES NOSE OUT BRAVES IN TENTH

PITTSBURGH, July 27—(AP)—Pittsburgh came from behind in the tenth inning today to defeat Boston 6 to 5. The score was tied at the end of the ninth. Boston went ahead in the tenth when Harris hit a home run. The Pirates staged a comeback, winning the victory with two runs when Moore walked, Cuyler doubled, Barnhart sacrificed, Traynor and Wright walked and McInnis sacrificed. Score:

Sachems Whitewash Yantic

Sunday afternoon on the Yantic diamond, the Sachems evened up matters, with the Yantic Mills Team, when they shut them out by the score of 6 to 0. Couture, pitching for the Sachems, was in fine form, holding them down to six scattered hits, and giving only one free pass to first, while his team mates gave him excellent support, pulling him out of many a hole or fast fielding. Three double plays helped very much to shut out the Up City Boys. H Lanphere, now playing third base for the Sachems, showed his old team mates, that he was still fast enough to help defeat them by putting one man out, assisting in three more, and getting 4 hits out of 5 trips to the plate, one of them being a triple.

The Sachems have next Sunday, the 2nd of August open and would like to arrange a game for that date. Please write—Sachem B. B. Club, 34 Lafayette St., Norwich, or telephone 1123-3, between 6:15 and 7 o'clock.

MOOSUP WOOLENMEN BEAT MECHANICSVILLE CLUB, 5 TO 3

The American Woolen team of Moosup added another victory to their record when they defeated Asst. King's Mechanicsville sluggers on Saturday by a score of 5 to 3. Both teams played fast baseball and the fans witnessed one of the most exciting games seen in Moosup this season. Mechanicsville scored first blood in the opening inning only to be tied by Young's circuit smash in the third; neither side scored until the eighth when Mechanicsville added two tallies to their credit on a single by Chase, a double by Dupre and an outfield fumble. The Woolen boys, however, found McCoy in this inning for two singles and a double, which with a base on balls and one error netted them four runs and the game. While Mgr. Lane's boys outhit their opponents by 9 to 5, Young, pitching for Moosup, kept them well scattered, while the Woolen boys bunched theirs when hits were needed. The Moosup team is travelling at a fast clip and for an aggregation of bona fide amateurs and mill employes are making an enviable record for themselves. The score:

Low gross for 36 holes; low net for 36 holes; low gross for 18 holes, and low net for 18 holes. In the first two there will be three prizes each and in the last two, two prizes each.

Entries will be taken at the first tee and the first round is to be started before noon. An additional trophy will be given for low gross of 36 holes, with the following conditions:

The name of the winner of each tournament to be inscribed on it, and to be awarded finally to the player who has his name on it three times, the trophy to remain with the association until won.

TRYING TO MATCH SILVER FOX AND AMERICAN FLAG IN RACE

CINCINNATI, July 27.—(AP)—Efforts will be made to bring together American Flag and Silver Fox, leading contenders for the three year old thoroughbred racing championship of America, Martin Mathiasson, secretary of the Coney Island Jockey Club, announced today. A $25,000 purse will be offered by the Coney Island management.

Albany Buys Phillips

ALBANY, N. Y., July 27.—(AP)—Purchase of Eddie Phillips, catcher of the Worcester Eastern League Club, was announced tonight by the management of the Albany Eastern Club. The purchase price was given as $1,000. Phillips who has been with the Worcester club two years, will report here tomorrow.

LARGE FIELD ENTERED IN JUNIOR GOLF TOURNEY

CHICAGO, July 27.—(AP)—Nearly 150 young golfers less than 20 years old today completed practice at Six Oaks links for the start tomorrow of the western junior golf championship. The lowest 32 scores will qualify for match competition in the championship flight.

Among the stars is Donald Carrick of Toronto, Canadian champion.

TWO UPSETS FEATURE FIRST DAY'S PLAY IN SEABRIGHT TOURNAMENT

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 27.—(AP)—Two upsets featured the opening day's play in the 32nd annual invitation tennis tournament at the Seabright lawn tennis and cricket club today when Cranston Holan of Leland Stanford University eliminated Jack Wright of Canada, and Arnold Jones of Providence, R. I., defeated Ray Casey of San Francisco, Calif. Holman defeated the Canadian Davis Cup Star and holder of the doubles title of Canada with Willard Crocker 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

In eliminating Raymond Casey, Jones, Yale tennis captain, halted the tournament ambitions of one of America's official representatives in the English championships at Wimbledon this year. The score was 6-2, 6-4.

Vincent Richards, won his way into the third round in the men's singles while Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., national and olympic champion worked her way into the third round in the women's singles.

The three Australian Davis Cup Stars won their matches, only Gerald Patterson, who defeated Herbert L. Bowman of New Rochelle, having any trouble, Bowman took Patterson to three sets, the Australian getting the verdict, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

TWILIGHT GAME POSTPONED CENTRALS VS. PALACE TONIGHT

The opening of the second half of the league schedule was delayed last night by rain and the East End-Nuggett game was postponed to a later date.

Tonight the league leading Centrals will play the runners up Mike Morins' Palace team and it should be good because should the Palace win tonight it will put the Centrals, Palace and E. C. P. practically in a tie for first place. While the Centrals are playing great ball and look good to cop the pennant there are many fans who are waiting to see them get beat once again so as to tighten the race and tonight when Morin's boys face them they will be grimly determined to stop the Centrals. The Palace played their first out of town game Sunday at Fishers Island against Fort Wright and with Morin in the box won a hard twelve inning ball game. These boys are beginning to play great ball together and like the Centrals are developing a great baseball machine and tonight it no doubt will be a treat to the fans to see which combination comes out on top. The last time these two teams met the Centrals won out after a hard game and from the word go tonight these two teams will battle desperately, the Centrals to retain their one game lead and the Palace fighting for a position along side of them on the top rung.

During the past two weeks the Palace weren't up to their real strength owing to Hamil their catcher being absent, but tonight they will throw their strongest lineup into action with Hamil catch, Mike Morin pitch, Mulcahy at first, Leo Morin on second Simcox at short and Chip Dugas at third with Shea, Jackson and Keenan in the outfield.

While Mgr. Holland admits that during the season he may lose another game or two, it wont be tonight, as any team that Morin or Chip Dugas has anything to do with will be easy meat for his aggregation and the Palace has as much of a show against his team as one of the grammer school teams would. This is rather a broad statement for anyone to make and tonight Mike and Dugas may make Holland swallow every word of it.

The Centrals will lineup as usual with Eccleston catch, Gaudette pitch, A. Dugas on 1st. Cardie at 2nd, Gaulier on short, Yerrington at third and Murphy, Courbois and Tombari in the outfield. Should it rain tonight again it will be a great disappointment as it is expected that a record crowd will jam its way into the park to see this game for not only first place but for blood.

So that evryone may get a good seat it is urged that everyone come early as Umpire Morin will call the game at 6:30 sharp.

SCRAMBLE FOR FIRST PLACE IN MAJORS CONTINUES

NEW YORK, July 28.—(A. P.)—Activity in both major leagues altered summit tenacy for the sixth time in the American and for the seventh time in the National since the first week in July. The Pittsburgh Pirates, flung from the crest early in the week, remounted the National pinnacle as Boston in last place, shook loose the Giants. Tumbled by the St. Louis Browns, Philadelphia recovered later to regain the heights as rain compelled Washington to abandon the defense.

The dope-fogged fan who brought forth paper and pencil today to record the damage consequently found both races still seething at the top with the Giants a half game nearer Pittsburgh in the National than they had been a week ago and Philadelphia gripping the American loft by a little more securely than before the week's upheavals.

A single victory for Brooklyn in two starts, carried home on the speed ball of Dazzy Vance, with a record of seventeen strikeouts, sufficed to hold the Robins in third place by a mere half game against the challenge of Cincinnati. Playing the same number of contests without a defeat, the uncertain Phillies dodged back to the top of the second division as the St. Louis tidal wave of early July receded.

Chicago Cubs, jarred but not loosened from seventh place, were still able tonight to look down upon the Braves in spite of the upward thrusts Bancroft's men have made at New York and Pittsburgh.

Harried by Philadelphia and Cleveland, the St. Louis Browns gave back third place in the American to the Chicago White Sox with Detroit still trailing both clubs in a hot three-cornered scramble.

Cleveland, New York and Boston Red Sox plodded on behind in that order with only mild objection throughout the week.

Stribling and Lee Matched.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 27—(A. P.)—W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., and Johnny Lee, Chicago light heavyweight, have been matched to box fifteen rounds at Lagoon, near here, on August 4.

Terris Outpoints O'Connell

NEW YORK, July 27—(A. P.)—Sid Terris, New York heavyweight, outpointed Charley O'Connell of Cleveland in a 12-round bout at the Queensboro stadium tonight.

Pitcher Perfect Game

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., July 27.—(AP)—Herman Schwartze, veteran pitcher for the Bloomington Three Eye League Club, hurled a perfect game today, not allowing a Springfield batter to reach first. Bloomington won, 4 to 0.

REDS TAKE THIRD PLACE BY BEATING CARDS TWICE

CINCINNATI, July 27—(AP)—The Reds went into undisputed possession of third place when they beat the Cardinals in a doubleheader Monday. Two second string pitchers Ruhe Benton and Jakey May southpawed the visitors to death and the latter fanned eight, permitting but six hits in the second game. Benton gave nine hits and neither pitcher gave a base on balls. The Reds got eight hits in each game but made them count in the scoring. They took three straight games from the Cardinals. ATHLETICS SWEEP SERIES WITH BOSTON RED SOX

PHILADELPHIA, July 27—(AP)—The Athletics made a clean sweep of the series with the Boston Red Sox by winning the fourth game of the series here today 2 to 1. Jack Quinn pitched his first game against his old team mates, held them to six hits and no runs, until the ninth inning when Boone and Carlyle hit successive doubles. Today's triumph marks the 15th victory the Athletics have scored over the Red Sox in 19 games. Score:

NEW YORK DRUG ADDICT PERMITTED TO LEAVE NEW LONDON ON NIGHT BOAT

NEW LONDON, July 27.—Samuel Harris, New York, who has been about the city some time and who is a drug addict, was delivered into the custody of the police, this evening, by City Physician George P. Cheney. Harris was in such condition that he had to be provided with narcotics at the police station and as he had transportation to New York, he was allowed to board steamer Richard Peck, at 11 o'clock and return to his home, instead of being detained here and becoming a charge upon the city.

F. A. Gardner, of South Manchester, was in Groton town court on continuance, this afternoon, charged with reckless driving. He entered a demurrer to the complaint, through his attorney, and Judge Cornelius C. Costello imposed a fine of $100 and costs the latter amounting to $23.82. Gardner's car was in collision with a machine owned and driven by Albert Benvenuti, 9 Chelsea street, on the Eastern Point road last Tuesday. At the time of the accident and when Gardner was arrested, he was taken before a Groton physician for the purpose of determining whether he had been drinking. He also caused the arresting officer, Edward Morgan of the Groton department, considerable trouble.

Leonard Borbridge, 126 Seventy-fifth street, New York, was arraigned on a charge of reckless driving, but his case was continued a week. Borbridge's automobile collided with a motionless car owned by Carl Dewire, Nelsons hotel, Groton, Sunday; the latter car being considerably damaged.

Edgar Arnold Derric and Mike Minnie, lobster fishermen, were sworn enemies when this morning, they ensued the police court, where the latter was charged with having made a vicious assault on the former. The testimony in the case was conflicting in important particulars and after two hours of trial, Judge Prince found the accused man not guilty and advised the pair to shake hands and "bury their troubled at an end. As might be expected, the men fit the same calling have reasons for breaking friendships. Derric had informed another fisherman named Ferguson that Mike had touched the fishing gear of Ferguson and that as a result Ferguson's pots were lost. When it came to Mike's knowledge that he had been represented as a vandal he resented that on the part of Derric, and at the first opportunity he asked Derric about the story that was in circulation. Derric was "ready," and reaffirmed what he had told Ferguson, and reiterated the statement to Mike. He also told Mike that he admitted the vandalism when he paid Ferguson for the damage occasioned, to the extent of $40. The bold stand taken by Derric rankled in Mike's brain and he decided to go to the home of Derric on Pequot avenue and seek an explanation. This he did, but Derric gave him a hot reception with a club. But Mike was a good runner and got away, though he bruised his arm in getting between the Derric fence and the house. Mike said Derric had some things to him that were profane and abusive and that Derric also attacked one Rossalini, who accompanied Mike to show him the way. Derric is a tall, muscular fellow and Attorney Troland compared him with Dempsey, the fighter, as contrasted with the late Pancho Villa. The lawyer had the men stand along side each other that the court could take judicial notice of the disparity in size of the two men. Derric didn't like the decision of the court, and remained until after Mike had left with his attorney. Whether the men will shake hands and re-establish friendship is doubtful. There seems to be antagonism between them that will not disappear by the soft word route.

Patsy Grillo, called by the police an imprudent beggar, was in the police court this morning for vagrancy and begging in the street, also for abusing a man who would not comply with an insolent demand made by Grillo for assistance. Grillo pleaded guilty of both offenses, but his crippled condition aroused the sympathy of the court apparently, for after sentencing Grillo to jail for 60 days, execution of the sentence was suspended and Grillo was turned over to the probation officer. He was given some advice, however, that should make him change his course in seeking a livelihood. "I should send you to jail," said Judge Prince, "for you are entitled to no sympathy, but you are a cripple and I mean to give you a chance!" Grillo promised that he would abstain from the use of liquor hereafter, as it is liquor that has led to much of his abusiveness and to his insulting manner when he is denied what he asks. He went to the home of Frank Davis in East New London Sunday, and when he was denied food he threatened to clean out the place. He is a violent fellow, so the police were called. That was the last of Mr. Grillo's doings for Sunday. He slept in a cell in the police station and this morning the fight was all out of him. His fighting fluid had been worked off.

Mrs. Samuel Siller sued her husband for non-support, about ten days ago. He left her some fourteen years ago at Bridgeport, and she was unaware of where he was till some relative learned that he was in business in New London and communicated the facts to Mrs. Siller. She lost no time in getting after Samuel and he had to step to the front and answer in court. This he did. He represented that his wife desired a divorce, but he wanted her to have it in a court of law, while the Jewish faith will not recognize such a separation unless both parties to the suit consent to a divorce under the rules of the Hebrew church. Siller started away with an expressed determination to have a rabbi divorce him and his wife, but that was as far as he got. He was ordered to pay his wife $10 a week on the 14th inst., when he was in court, but as he pondered over this payment he evidently decided that he would not comply with the court's order, for he has as yet made no payment, the prosecutor said. To secure compliance with the court's order Siller will be brought into court again Tuesday. He is over 50 years of age, and claims never to have been happy with his wife. He says divorce is her only purpose.

James Gleason, about 69, died at the Norwich State hospital, late Sunday. He is survived by a sister, Miss Mary Gleason of this city. He had been a patient at the hospital about three months. Mr. Gleason was a baker by occupation and for a number of years he was employed by the former Williams bakery. Since that time Mr. Gleason had been employed by several other local baking establishments.

The funeral of Pickett R. Dayton, former employe of Palmer Brothers, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. The services were conducted by Richard W. Mansfield, superintendent of the B. P. Learned mission. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

A defective high-powered electric light feed wire, attached to a pole of the Connecticut Power company, on Pequot avenue, opposite the Dixie Filling station, caused the pole to become ablaze this afternoon. The police were notified and officers were sent there to protect pedestrians and autoists. In the meantime the power company had been notified of the danger and a force of linemen were dispatched to the danger spot and made repairs.

Clophas Cook, colored, residing at 13 Stony Hill, lodged complaint with the police this afternoon because of William Fenn, 13, having stolen ten cans of foodstuffs from the home of Cook. The youth is alleged to have smashed a cellar window in order to gain access to the house.

John Rolleria, of Church street; Miss Hester Foley, Willetts avenue extension; Spencer Johnson, Fort Trumbull, Niantic; Mrs. Ray Beers and infant daughter, 17 West Colt street, George Miner, United States Coast Guard cutter Redwing; John Peters, 203 Willetta avenue; Mrs. Edmund Kilby and infant son, Montville; Mrs. Tony Tuccia, 75 Shaw street; Frederick Fischer, Niantic; Miss Henry Brooks, Westerly; Mrs. Harry Holloway, 43 Granite street; and Miss Juliette Avery, 43 Granite street, patients at Lawrence Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed today.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Bolling B. Stoeckel today caused the operator's license of Murray Edelman, 28 New street, to be suspended.

William H. Hull has sold to Charles C. Green a building lot on the westerly side of Ocean avenue.

Julius A. and Mary A. Koch have sold a parcel of land on Bank street to Lawrence W. Conti.

Jerome J. and Mary A. Collins have sold a house and lot, 22 Winthrop street, to John J. Sullivan.

Robert W. Rasmussen, of Montauk avenue, was in the Waterford town court late Saturday, charged with reckless driving. Because of conflicting testimony the charge against Rasmussen was nolled, upon his agreeing to pay the costs of the court. Rasmussen was operating his machine in Waterford, early Saturday morning, and in trying to pass other cars, Rasmussen's machine was in collision with cars owned and driven by A. J. Erlacher, Golden Spur, and John Richards of Niantic. Rasmussen's car was damaged and ditched, while Richard's machine suffered damage estimated at several hundreds of dollars. Rasmussen was ordered to appear in court, but when testimony was introduced before Judge Frederick N. Dimmock it was so conflicting that there was no positive evidence of Rasmussen having violated the law, especially as all three drivers declared that they obeyed all laws of the highway when the attempt of each motorist to pass the other took place. The matter is not ended by the disposition of the court, however, for it is understood that both Rasmussen and Richards will seek damages in a civil action.

Ralph R. Wolfe, of Hartford, where he is employed on the editorial staff of the Hartford Courant, is a patient in Hartford hospital suffering from concussion of the brain. Mr. Wolfe, who is a brother of Owen C. Wolfe, of Neptune Park, was in New London Saturday night with friends and witnessed the performance of "The Pink Elephant" at the Lyceum theatre. The party was entertained after the show by Mr. Wolfe's brother and left for Hartford at 12:30 o'clock. When the machine reached Silver Lane, East Hartford, the driver of the machine's vision was obstructed by a heavy downpour and the car collided with a telephone pole. The car hit the pole on the side of the car in which Mr. Wolfe was seated, which fact brought about his being the only occupant of the machine to receive injury.

The automobile owned and operated by Mrs. Lida Domler, 103 Federal street, was wrecked late this afternoon, when the machine skidded on the macadam highway, near Gallows Lane and became wedged between a stone wall and a large tree. Mrs. Domler escaped injury, but the machine, a Dumont roadster, was badly damaged and had to be towed away by a wrecker. Mrs. Domler was driving the machine southerly and after the car had passed Gallows Lane another car traveling in the opposite direction began to skid as it approached the Domler car. Mrs. Domler operated her car off the macadam surface and when she managed to operate back to the macadam it started to skid. Before she got the machine under control it had traveled across the highway and between the wall and tree where it was held fast until the wrecking crew extricated it.

Patrick Maxwell, a stranger in New London, where he has been employed some time, but who has now obtained work at Providence, was taken into custody this evening when he was found on Main street, near Colonial street, by Patrolman Edward Daniels, in a condition much the worse for his indulgence in liquor. When Officer Daniels picked up Maxwell the latter was in the company of a gang of loiterers and in his possession was $65 and a postal money savings bider for $100.

A small blaze occurred this evening at the Krystal Dyeing & Cleaning establishment, corner of Blinman and Truman streets, when a quantity of clothing in the cellar of the place became afire, from a cause not determined. An alarm was sent in from Box 34, corner of Blackhall and Bolles streets. On the arrival of the department the fire was quickly extinguished with chemicals and without damage of consequence.

Charles W. Perkins, Hartford, was before Judge Frederick Dimmock, in the Waterford town court this evening on a charge of reckless driving. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. The fine was remitted and the costs were paid by Perkins' employer. Perkins was arrested Sunday by Waterford constables.

Charles Kalash, of Hartford, charged with reckless driving, pleaded not guilty, but he was adjudged guilty and a fine of $25 and costs were imposed. Kalash was arrested by State Police Officer Giles Watson, of Groton barracks, a week ago. He is employed by John Papano, Hartford, and the machine he was operating collided with a horse-drawn vehicle while the latter was passing another horse-drawn outfit.

Earl and Carl Cunningham and Clarence Coburn, all of this city, were arrested Sunday by Deputy Fish and Game Warden George Bliven, of Quaker Hill, when the youths were detected fishing in Miller's pond without having obtained a fishing license. Both the Cunningham youths pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each, but the fine was remitted. Coburn pleaded not guilty, but was adjudged guilty and was fined $6, of which amount $5 was remitted. The boys were released upon their own recognizance and were given 30 days in which to pay the costs of the court.

The case of Dorsey B. Reeves, chief police officer, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and operating a machine equipped with defective brakes, will be tried the latter part of the week. Reeves drove his machine through the yard of Joseph Contino, Clark Lane, Waterford, and then operated the machine through the entrance to Contino's barn.

FIND DEAD SAILOR WAS FRANK A. LEMING, E. WEYMOUTH

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 27.—It was discovered today that the sailor who died in the ambulance of the Lawrence Memorial hospital shortly before last midnight, was Frank A. Leming, a member of the United States Coast Guard destroyer, 235 and that the man died of heart trouble caused by an attack of acute indigestion. The cause of Leming's death was determined this afternoon when an autopsy was performed at the submarine base hospital.

The body will be forwarded tomorrow to Leming's home in East Weymouth, Mass., where he has relatives.

MANUFACTURERS TELL CITY COUNCIL ABOUT WATER RATES

Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 27.—The city council this evening received protests from several manufacturing concerns asking for the abatement of a water tax levied under new rules of the city for water service in mills, where sprinkler service had been installed. The manufacturers complained that the tax was unjust, that it was not fair to levy it and that the manufacturers were paying a double tax when they paid the service tax for sprinklers. The protests came from the Palmer Brothers, the New England Carpet Lining company, from the Brainard & Armstrong Co. and from Edward Bloom Co. The protests were on the ground that the manufacturers paid from their own treasury for the installation of hydrants and sprinkler service and that these were a protection to property from fire, so saved the city the expense of calling out the fire department and that the water service was also a protection to property adjoining the mills. Councilors Fox, Woodruff and Streeter desired the tax to be abated, but the council did not act in that way, but referred the matter to the committee of public works for further report and recommendation. City Manager Holl showed that the system was in vogue in Woonsocket, where every mill's water service was metered and where the rate for water was similar to that charged in New London.

Of seven petitions for the privilege of building structures only two were for dwellings. One application was for permission to erect a business building.

The council was asked to permit the location of sockets in the sidewalks of the principal streets that a uniformity of decorations with the American flag might be attained. The chamber of commerce reported on the matter, as its ideas were sought by the city manager, and that body did not report endorsing the scheme, nor did it really oppose it. A representative of the concern that wishes to place the sockets attended the meeting of the council and explained what was desired. The sockets are to be sunk in the sidewalks 14 inches inside the curbing, to be countersunk and to be fitted with a cap when not in use. They are to carry a staff 12 feet in height that would leave the flag more than seven feet above the walk so that they would not interfere with pedestrians. The cost of the service is $7 or $7.50 and about ten merchants have signified a desire to adopt the plan. The council did not act on the matter.

Supplies for the fire department and the school for firemen were authorized to be purchased at a cost of several hundred dollars.

The zoning enabling act was presented and referred to the planning board. It is calculated to put it into use in New London.

TOUR FOR JUNIOR DAIRY CLUB MEMBERS

Announcement was made Monday at the office of the New London County Farm Bureau in the Shannon building that on Wednesday, August 12th, there will be a tour for Junior Dairy Club members in this county. Several of the outstanding club members in the county will be visited during the day. It is probable that four or five stops will be made on the tour.

Over Half Inch of Rain

Over half an inch of rain fell over the week end. Water department readings show the precipitation from 11 o'clock Saturday night to 8 o'clock Monday morning as 56-100ths of an inch.

ROAD AT PAWCATUCK IS BEING WIDENED

An amicable agreement having been made between Max Novogroski, owner of the strip of land at the west end of the Pawcatuck river bridge and the town of Stonington, work has been started on the widening of the highway at the west end of the bridge.

The work is being done under the direction of the highway department of the state of Connecticut, according to the vote passed at a meeting of the electors of the town of Stonington.

The curbstone of the sidewalk will be set back from a point near the Walton block to the west end of the bridge and at some points the highway will be widened between six and eight feet. There will be a slight change at the end of the bridge which will give more room to traffic.

To understand why U.S. Royal Balloons are known as "the Balloon Tire Principle at its Best," consider these facts—

THE comfort you get out of balloon tires depends on how soft you can run them with safety to the tires.

U.S. Royal Balloons are built in strict accordance with the original conception of balloon tire cushioning—true low air pressure.

They can be run at pressures which actually give you the comfort you expect from a balloon tire.

They do not have to be over-inflated to save them from early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

This is because their flat "Low-Pressure Tread" distributes the weight over a greater tread area than the ordinary round tread.

The entire surface of the tread comes in contact with the road.

The tire itself is built of the famous Latex-treated Web Cord, which gives the maximum strength and maximum flexibility so essential to balloon cushioning.

Put U.S. Royal Balloons on your car and enjoy the comfort of riding on genuine low air pressure.

LEGAL NOTICES

MAYOR'S OFFICE
CITY OF NORWICH, CONNECTICUT

The electors of The City of Norwich are hereby warned to meet in special city meeting in the Town Hall in the Court House Building in said City on Tuesday, the 4th day of August, 1925 at seven o'clock in the evening, standard time (eight o'clock in the evening, daylight saving time) for the following objects and purposes, viz:

1. To determine whether or not the Court of Common Council of said City shall be authorized to appropriate a sum of money not to exceed one million eighty thousand dollars ($1,080,000.00) for acquiring and constructing a permanent water supply for the City with a reservoir on the Deep River Watershed, so-called, in the Town of Colchester, Connecticut, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Board of Water Commissioners of The City of Norwich on July 13th, 1925 and approved by the Court of Common Council of said City at a meeting thereof held July 24th, 1925.

2. Also to determine whether or not said meeting will approve and authorize the issuance of bonds by the City to the amount of one million eighty thousand dollars ($1,080,000.00) either in one lot or in several lots from time to time under the provisions of an act of the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut entitled "An Act Authorizing The City of Norwich to Issue Water Bonds" passed at its January Session 1925 and approved May 21st, 1925.

3. Also to determine whether or not said meeting will authorize and sanction the borrowing by the City of a sum of money not to exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) on notes or certificates of indebtedness of the City in anticipation of the receipts of the sale of bonds by the City to be issued by the City under the provisions of said Act of the General Assembly, said sum so to be borrowed to be used for the purposes of meeting the expenses that may be incurred by the City under the appropriation that may be authorized by said meeting for a permanent water supply for said City, such sum so to be borrowed to be repaid out of the avails of the sale of said bonds when issued.

Dated at Norwich, Connecticut, July 27th, A. D. 1925.
MILO R. WATERS,
Mayor of The City of Norwich, Connecticut. jy28d

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States, District of Connecticut.
In the matter of The S. & W. Self-Service Grocery Co., Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy No. 7297.
UPON PETITION FOR DISCHARGE
Notice is hereby given that The S. & W. Self-Service Grocery Co., of Norwich, in the County of New London and State of Connecticut has filed his application, dated July 23, A. D. 1925, for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all his creditors and other persons interested objecting to such discharge may attend before Thomas M. Shields, Special Master, at his office in Norwich, Conn., on the 27th day of August, 1925, at 10 o'clock A. M., then and there to examine the bankrupt, and to show cause, if any they have, why such discharge should not be granted, and to determine whether or not to authorize the trustee to interpose objections to such discharge.
THOMAS M. SHIELDS,
Special Master.
Norwich, Conn., July 27, 1925. jy28d

DISTRICT OF COLCHESTER, ss. Court of Probate, July 27, 1925.
Estate of Theodore D. Peck, late of Colchester, in said District, deceased.
Upon the application of Edward T. Peck, praying that letters of Administration may be granted on the estate of said deceased represented intestate as per application on file more fully appears, it is Ordered, That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Office in Colchester in said District, on the first day of August, A. D. 1925, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and that notice be given of the pendency of said application and of the time and place of hearing thereon, by publishing the same once in some newspaper having a circulation in said District.
JOHN CONDREN,
jy28d Judge.

MARKET WAS BULLISH.

NEW YORK, July 27.—(A. P.)—Bullish operations were conducted on a large scale in today's active stock market, nearly fifty issues being pushed to new high levels for the year. The day's sales ran well over one and one-half million shares. The demand embraced a wide list but the best gains were recorded by a selected list of motor, rail, public utility, mail order and amusement shares.

Speculative expectations of a splendid quarterly report by the United States Steel Corporation tomorrow, publication of additional favorable earnings statements for June and rising commodity prices were all factors in the buying movement.

Selling pressure was renewed against the Pan-American Petroleum issues, which were forced to new lows on the current movement, but failed to unsettle the general list and subsequent short covering practically wiped out the early losses in these stocks. Rumors that bad feeling had arisen between the executives of the Standard Oil companies of New Jersey and Indiana as a result of the latter's purchase of a controlling interest in the Pan-American Company was held in some quarters to be responsible for the recent selling of the former Doheny stocks. Marland showed independent strength by climbing to a new peak at 46 7-8.

Despite recent price cuts, several of the motors touched new high levels. White Motors soared over 3 points to a new top at 90: Mack Trucks crossed 204 for the first time, and General Motors attained a new maximum figure at 87 7-8.

Individual developments accounted for the strength of several specialties. Remington Typewriter responded to reports of record-breaking earnings by touching a new top at 81 1-4. The sudden revival of activity in H. W. Mallinson was based on reports that the DuPont interests were negotiating for a large block of stock in connection with a plan to secure wider distribution of their Rayon Products. Coca Cola shot upward on rumors that the preferred stock would be retired.

Among the many other industrials to break through their previous high figures were American Agricultural Chemical common and preferred, American Radiator, American Safety Razor, Brown Shoe, Continental Can, Famous Players common and preferred, Fisk Rubber, International Harvester common and preferred, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United Fruit, Underwood Typewriter and Woolworth.

Public Service of New Jersey was one of the most active public utilities, climbing over five points to a new high figure at 78. Detroit Edison, North American and Pacific Telephone also were strong.

Heavy accumulation of Frisco common, which advanced 3 points to a new record price at 52 in anticipation of an early increase in the dividend, featured the railroad group. Other southwestern rails moved up in sympathy, both the Wabash issues mounting to new high levels.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper were unchanged.

A sensational jump of 185 points in Danish kroner, which attained the highest price in several years at 26.66 cents, featured the foreign exchange market. Other European rates were firm, demand sterling being quoted around $4.85 3-8 and French francs at 4.12 1-2 cents.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 27.—(A. P.)—With the peak of the movement of winter wheat to Chicago expected this week, and with the first car of new spring wheat this season arriving today at Minneapolis from South Dakota, the wheat market here showed a downward tendency most of the time today. Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 3-8 to 1 1-8c net lower, September $1.48 1-2 to $1.48 5-8 and December $1.50 1-4 to $1.50 3-8. Corn finished at 1-2c to 1c advance, oats 3-8 to 3-4c off and provisions showing 3 to 17c decline.

Liberal receipts of winter wheat in Chicago today, 701 carloads, eclipsed almost entirely the effect of an upward turn in wheat values at Liverpool. Commission houses as a rule were on the selling side, and continued so in a persistent way despite transient rallies due to reports that black rust had developed rapidly in Manitoba and notwithstanding that an increase of 741,000 bushels in the United States visible supply total was somewhat less than had been expected. Meanwhile, export business remained scanty, and supplies on ocean passage decreased only 960,000 bushels for the week in the face of small world shipments.

It was contended that the movement of win

DR. H. B. CAMPBELL NAMED CHAIRMAN 30TH DISTRICT ROTARY CONCLAVE

At a meeting held in New Britain, a committee to handle the Fall Conclave of the Thirtieth District Rotary International at the Hotel Griswold,

DR. HUGH B. CAMPBELL
(General Chairman)

New London, was appointed. Headed by District Governor John Alisen of Holyoke, the committee consists of Past District Governor George A. Cooper of Pittsfield, Past District Governor Albert E. Lavery of Bridgeport, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Norwich, Walter Batchelder of Holyoke, Ray Shattuck of Springfield, Thomas N. Cook of Greenwich, Ct., Benjamin Buxton of Rutland, Vt., Howard Solby of Springfield, Mass., and E. E. Regan, president of the New London Rotary club.

Officers were elected as follows:

General Chairman, Dr. Hugh B. Campbell of Norwich; secretary, Ray Shattuck of Springfield; treasurer, Thomas N. Cook of Greenwich, Ct. The dates selected were September 14th, 15th and 16th. The conclave will be honored by the presence of International President Donald A. Adams of New Haven.

Various committes were appointed as follows: The program to be handled by Holyoke club, under the direction of Walter Hatchelder, president; the publicity by the Springfield Club under the direction of Secretary Ray Shattuck; the registration and reservations under the direction of the New London club, Fred W. Edgerton, chairman.

The governor's ball, which is to be a fancy dress masquerade, will be held Monday night, September 14th, and a testimonial banquet and ball to the International President will take places on Tuesday night, September 15th.

It is expected that many Rotarians outside the District will attend this particular function.

NEW REGULATIONS TO CONTROL POULTRY DISEASE

Governor Trumbull has appointed rules and regulations for the eradication and control of bacillary white diarrhoea in poultry flocks. The rules are to be issued by Commissioner on Domestic Animals James M. Whittlesey in accordance with the control act adopted by the 1925 general assembly. An appropriation of $12,000 was made for the eradication work and it is expected that arrangements will be complete so that the work will start about August 1.

Harold O. Woodward, of Pomfret, and Tracy M. Swem, of Simsbury, have been engaged by Commissioner Whittlesey to make field inspections. Both are graduates of the Connecticut Agricultural college and have had considerable experience in making the blood tests which are a part of the work toward control of the disease.

Arrangements have been made for the use of the laboratories at Yale university under the direction of Professor L. F. Rettger, who was the discoverer of the disease and who has done much toward perfecting the means of eradication. Up to the present time the control work has been carried on by the Storrs Agricultural Experiment station. However, the work has grown beyond the experimental stage and it was found necessary to establish the new department under the commissioner on domestic animals.

There is a considerable amount of the disease at the present time in the state, Deputy Commissioner George E. Corwin said. It is not often fatal to full grown poultry, he said, but baby chicks from eggs of infected hens generally die within a few days of birth. The disease is highly contagious among poultry.

A summary of the new regulations for the control of the disease follows:

Poultry flocks may be put under the supervision of the commissioner for eradication under a signed application and agreement.

All poultry kept for breeding must be presented to the inspector for examination and blood test. No pullets or cockerels of the same age shall be presented for test until two months after the pullets have attained 20 per cent. production.

When infection is found in a flock and upon receipt of notification and direction from the commissioner, all positive and doubtful reactors must be isolated and quarantined and disposed of by slaughter within ten days. Doubtful reactors shall be isolated and held in quarantine until another test is made.

All coops and other equipment with which reacting poultry have come in contact shall be cleaned and disinfected within fifteen days from date of order. Approved disinfectants are lysol cresosols compound, U. S. P. one part to fifty parts of water; tablets of bichloride of mercury in solution with water, 1 to 1000 dilution.

When a flock has been officially tested, reactors removed, premises disinfected, inspected and approved, the owner will receive a certificate showing the flock has been "officially tested and reactors removed." When a flock has been tested and found without reactors the owners will receive a certificate showing that it has been "tested and found to be without reactors." When mature flocks have been subjected to two consecutive annual tests, or four semi-annual tests in the case of pullet breeding, and found without reactors, the commissioner will issue a certificate, entitled "Accredited Free From Bacillary White Diarrhoea."

Various regulations have also been issued for the continuance of the flocks within the accredited class. All flocks now under the supervision of the Connecticut Agricultural college and the Storrs Agricultural Experimental station may be transferred, maintaining the same status as determined under former supervision.

COUNTY FRUIT GROWERS TO VISIT ORCHARDS

The fruit growers of New London county will tour the county Friday, August 21st, under the auspices of the New London County Farm Bureau. The tour will start at H. W. Brownell's orchards at Kitemaug and which a visit will be paid to Simon Brewster at Jewett City where the growers will have an opportunity of inspecting a good paying orchard on a general dairy farm. Another farm is to be visited will be that conducted in Lebanon by E. J. Graham. The latter is proprietor of a large commercial orchard. Basket lunches will be taken.

HEAVY SERVICE FIRING AT FORT WRIGHT

Having completed sub-calibre practice Saturday, the Second Battalion of the Two Hundred and Forty-third Coast Artillery (HD), now in camp at Fort Wright, began service firing Monday. Maj. John J. Collins, commanding the battalion, expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress that has been made. He said that the batteries have reached a higher degree of efficiency than was reached in a corresponding period last year.

In the opinion of officers of Batteries G and D there is good reason for satisfaction over the sub-calibre firing, as ranges and deflections were sent to the guns from 15 to 25 seconds after readings, required for calculating the data, were received in the plotting room. Several direct hits were scored.

DRIVERS MUST KEEP THEIR CARS IN CONDITION

A new method is to be inaugurated by Superintendent Robert T. Hurley of the state police department in the campaign to clear the state highways of motor vehicles operated with defective equipment, which are said to be the cause of many accidents daily and to endanger scores of lives. All automobiles found with defective equipment are to be tagged, the defects indicated and ordered repaired, and arrests are to follow failure to comply with the order. The plan is to be put into operation at once.

The tag warning, which carries an order to make the necessary repairs immediately, is to be filled out in duplicate. The section given the owner notifies him that the equipment is illegal because of the defects and must be returned to department headquarters with a sworn certification made before a notary public that the repairs ordered have been made. The duplicate is sent to headquarters by the policeman to permit immediate checking up of the vehicle.

While in the past it has been the practice to arrest owners of cars with serious defects, only verbal warnings have been issued concerning minor defects. Under this plan the operators or owners have in many instances neglected to make the ordered repairs and have been apprehended the second time for the same neglect. It is expected the new plan will remedy the situations.

Detailed information as to the defects of the car is supplied on the tag given the operator. The possible defects itemized on the tag are as follows: Defective brakes, foot or emergency; defective lights, one light, focus or tilt, and tail light, number plate obscured, front or rear; defective tires, defective mirror. Space for the enumeration of the repairs necessary is allowed on the car. The tag also instructs the owner to "remedy this defect at once," as "the equipment on this motor vehicle is illegal for the reason checked."

The stub sent to headquarters by the policeman contains duplicate information in regard to the defects with description of the car and the name and address of the owner and operator.

WILL LIMIT "STRAP HANGERS" IN BUSES

The Connecticut company has been notified by the public utilities commission that the number of passengers who stand while making trips in buses must be limited, to 25 per cent of the seating capacity. This is about six more than are provided with seats and it is understood that it will not reduce the number of standing passengers now carried.

The decision was made at the request of the company in compliance with an act passed by the general assembly. Similar decisions will be made in the case of other bus companies, which must apply individually for the ruling. Standing passengers are not allowed on buses carrying school children.

GIVEN STIFF FINES FOR DRIVING UNDER INFLUENCE

In the city court Monday morning Judge Arthur F. Libby handed out some stiff fines to men charged with operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor, and also warned of even more severe penalties to follow, if such cases continue to be brought before him.

Henry F. Hanrahan, 20, of Norwich paid $200 and costs and was given a 30 day jail sentence by the court, on the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The execution of the jail sentence was suspended for a period of one year.

Attorney Thomas J. Kelly pleaded for his client but Judge Libby informed him that "It's something I am not going to take any sympathy with" and later in the case, he added, "I do not think that booze and gasoline mix at all." He then hinted that jail sentences, not suspended, would accompany fines and costs in the future.

Hanrahan figured in an accident Saturday night on Broadway when his car crashed into the automobile owned by Dr. William C. McLaughlin of Prospect street and another automobile owned by Rev. Felix J. O'Neil of Stafford Springs, damaging each car to the extent of about $200. His arrest followed immediately afterwards.

The second man found guilty and fined for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was Charles E. Phillips, 38, of 335 Central avenue, an overseer in the Hygienic Fibre Mills, Versailles. Phillips was fined $200 and costs and also given a sentence of 30 days, suspended for one year.

Phillips, operating a Cleveland sedan at the corner of North Main and Eleventh streets, Greeneville, collided with the motorcycle driven by Joseph Lenda of 867 Boswell avenue. He was arrested by Officer Peter Sullivan and booked for reckless driving. In court Monday morning Officer Sullivan went to City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins and had the charge changed to operating a car under the influence of liquor.

Attorney Kelly, representing the accused, objected to this change and asked for the reason. Evidence was then presented and Officer Sullivan testified to seeing Phillips staggering after the accident. He testified that Phillips told him he had been in an accident and that it was all his fault. He then made the arrest. The officer testified that he changed the charge because he believed the man had been drinking.

William Morran of 9 Oak street and Edward Meinhart of 635 North Main street testified that they thought Phillips had been drinking. Meinhart would not say the accused had been drinking, but said that he "looked like he was sleepy."

The accused said he had been up nights with a sick baby and that this was the reason he staggered. He admitted having had a drink earlier in the day, some nine hours before the accident, but denied having had another later in the day, when questioned by the court.

Sergeant Casey, on duty when Phillips was brought into the station, said that Phillips smelled of liquor, but he would not swear that the accused was drunk when he booked him for reckless driving, after the officer had told him to do so.

Judge Libby then found the accused guilty as charged and Phillips paid his bill of $212.66.

Edward Koslowski, owner of the Yellow cabs was discharged by Judge Libby. Koslowski was charged with violation of a city ordinance by parking a public service car on Franklin square. Officer Hugh McAvoy, who made the arrest, testified that Koslowski had parked his car at the square for 10 minutes, and was talking to some man when he told him to report to the station.

Koslowski testified to being called from home and that he was talking with his prospective customer when notified to appear at the police station. He said that he was behind the wheel at the time and that the motor of the car was running. The court then ordered Koslowski discharged.

Two men charged with violation of city parking ordinances paid fine fines of $5 each for their offense and one local man went to jail for failing to pay a bill for intoxication.

Fred Wolfenberg, 29, of this city, had his case continued for one year. He was arrested Saturday night on Franklin square and after reaching the cell in the police station became violent and ripped the interior of the cell to pieces. The damage to the cell, about $30 was paid by Wolfenberg before leaving court Monday morning.

HUGE WHALE WASHED ASHORE AT BLOCK ISLAND

The body of a 15-ton whale washed ashore on North Beach at Block Island, is one of the main objects of interest at the island at present. Scores of week end visitors at the resort made the trip to the shore to see the curio, speculate on the tragedy of the sea that cost the life and photograph it.

The whale, which is about 50 feet long, came ashore Saturday. It is now high and dry. Children regard it, especially its cavernous mouth, with awe.

It is considered possible that the whale, swimming within the line of fire of the Providence forts' guns, was struck by one of the shells during target practice.

NORWICH TOWN

"Faith As An Antedote For Fear," was the theme of the Sunday morning worship at the First Congregational church, when the pastor, Rev. Gurdon P. Bailey preached from the text Luke 8:50. "But when Jesus heard it He answered him, saying, fear not; believe only, and she shall be made whole."

Miss Ruth Beebe, a member of the faculty at Family school, Athens, Alabama, was the leader at the Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the evening, ably treating the topic, Progress and Achievement of the Negro, with Scripture references in psalms and proverbs.

The July missionary lesson for the Congregational Sunday school was conducted by a group of young men. Kenneth Gimble announced that it was the purpose of the class to present in five minutes a portion of history which required 100 years to make. He introduced Woodward Wheeler, who brought to the attention of the school, some outstanding characters in the early history of Christian missions. Little evidence of success marked their efforts, but, believing in the Lord Jesus Christ, they continued to serve.

He called upon Frank Chapman to tell the outcome of their efforts during the century. Mr. Chapman stated that today in these foreign countries and throughout our land Christianity is expressing itself in churches, hospitals, educational institutions, ranging from kindergartens to universities and in countless Christian homes.

The gifts of Norwich Town in money, men and women, was the next topic. In the absence of Lyle Johnson, the following figures and facts were read: In 1660 this church was established, so for 265 years it has been giving money for the good of mankind. Last year's records show that over $1,000 was contributed. During the same period 38 members have given some portion of their lives for the good of mankind, teaching people of other races or circumstances the truths of Christianity.

Dr. James Fitch, the first pastor, gave his services to the North American Indians and leads a list which is a credit to our town.

Miss Susan Hyde, who was ten years in Turkey, Mrs. William M. Zumbro, several years in India, and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, who served in this state, are among us continuing their work by stimulating the spirit of Christian missions, while Rev. and Mrs. Edward H. Smith represent us in China, Miss Ruth Beebe, in Alabama, and Miss Gertrude Avery in India. These are the offerings of this church in money, men and women, an honor roll which is a pride to all the members.

Benjamin Barber gave a sketch of the writing of Bishop Heber's poem, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," and of the tune composed by Lowell Mason, with which it is inseparably associated. The lesson concluded with the singing of this hymn by the school.

Esther 4:1-5:3, will be the topic at the Congregational mid-week service for conference and prayer, Thursday evening, in the chapel.

Rev. James B. Aldrich preached Sunday morning at the First Methodist Episcopal church, from Matthew 5-20. For I say unto you, that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the Scribes and Pharisees, Ye shall in no case enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. Lewis Aldrich was in charge of the Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the evening, when the topic assigned was, Progress and Achievements of the Negro. Psalms 40:1-5, Proverbs 22:29.

The Methodist Sunday school picnic is to be held Wednesday afternoon and evening at Mohegan Park. Mrs. Richard Carter and Lewis Aldrich are in general charge of the arrangements. A program of out-of-door games has been arranged and a tempting luncheon is to be provided under direction of this committee. A chartered bus is to leave the Methodist church that afternoon at one o'clock (daylight saving time). The committee has requested that each person carry a plate, glass and spoon.

Other floral pieces contributed for the funeral of Mrs. William Kinney of 18 Town street were: Cross, marked sister, from Mr. and Mrs. George Shepard; floral basket, Miss Annie Fredenberg; spray, George Durr; spray, Miss Abby Casey.

The religious service announced to take place at Scotland Road hall Sunday afternoon, with Clyde M. Beebe in charge, was omitted. Owing to unpleasant weather that morning it was decided to hold the service at some future date.

Under the auspices of Loyal Circle of the King's Daughters, a very pleasing programme of instrumental pieces was given during the musical hour at the Backus Hospital, by Miss Lucile Guile, pianist and George Guile, violinist. The popular program included the following: Alabamy Bound, Cantor; When You and I Were Seventeen, Kahn; Adoration, Borowski, Rondino, Kreisler; Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses, Shaw; My Best Girl, Donaldson; A Southern Dream Waltz, Lincoln; Honest and Truly Waltz with fox trot chorus, Rose; The Pal That I Love, Stole the Girl That I Love, Pease; Good Morning, Dearie, (Kalua) Kern; I Don't Care What You Used To Be, I Know What You Are Today Dubin; and in closing, a snappy fox-trot with song combined entitled Follow the Swallow, by Henderson. The programme which opened at three o'clock, brought cheer to these patients and was greatly appreciated by the staff and the shut-ins.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norton Brainerd (Dorothy Hicks) of Montreal, Canada, who are spending the greater part of two weeks' vacation at Mr. Brainerd's former home in Mystic, were Norwich visitors Saturday afternoon and evening. In company with Mr. Brainerd's mother, Mrs Harriet E. Brainerd and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gull Gremley, whose guests they are in Mystic, Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd have enjoyed some delightful automobile trips through Connecticut and Rhode Island. Saturday the entire party were supper guests at the home of Mr. Brainerd's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb of Town street. Leaving their home in Montreal, Saturday night, July 18th Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd travelled by rail to Albany, N. Y., reaching there Sunday morning. From Albany they took a steamer and had an all-day sail to New York, where they were guests at one of the latest, up-to-date hotels from Sunday evening until Wednesday morning, during which they did sight-seeing in and near New York. On reaching New London Wednesday evening, where they were met by automobile by Mr. Brainerd's brother-in-law, Mr. Gremley, Mr. and Mrs. Brainerd who took the sail up from New York, by day boat, figured that they had covered about three-fourths of their journey from Montreal by water.

Mr. Brainerd, who is assistant manager of a large motor company in Montreal, had not visited his relatives before in three years, at which time he was accompanied by Mrs. Brainerd, then Miss Hicks, their marriage having taken place while on a visit in Mystic, July 26th, 1922.

DEVOTIONS HELD OVER THE BODY OF BRYAN IN DAYTON

Memorial Ceremony Was Conducted by Rev. C. R. Jones of the M. E. Church—While the Body of the Great Commoner Reposed Inside the Front Window of the Rogers Home, Throngs on the Lawn Heard the Enlogy Delivered From the Front Porch.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 28—(A. P.)—Funeral services were said over the body of William Jennings Bryan late today.

The Rev. C. R. Jones, pastor of the Dayton Methodist Episcopal church, South, conducted the devotions. He stood upon the front porch of the Richard Rogers home where Mr. Bryan died, and spoke to the hushed throng who crowded the grassy lawn and blocked the street beyond.

The body of the great commoner, lying in the bronze casket inside the front window, was just three feet from the officiating minister outside.

As the preacher poured out a tribute to the champion of Christian faith, legal counsel in the Scopes evolution trial, Mr. Bryan's associates and staunch friends in his last great battle, occupied seats of honor on the porch in front of Mr. Jones.

The memorial services ended the period in which the dead man lay in state.

Tomorrow the funeral party, under escort of the invalid widow, will move toward Arlington National Cemetery.

TRIBUTE OF MOUNTAIN FOLKS TO THE GREAT COMMONER

DAYTON, Tenn., July 28—(A. P.)—The mountain folks of Eastern Tennessee, applauding spectators of his last great battle, paid their final tribute today to "Brother Bryan," fearless champion of their Christian faith.

Passing in an endless line, hundreds of men, women and children who watched with affectionate eyes the last days of the great commoner, looked for the last time late today at the face of their leader.

Later they stood to hear a minister praise God for the life and works of William Jennings Bryan.

It was Bryan, the herald of fundamentalism who received the last rites here today. Thursday and Friday in Washington, his countrymen will pay high honor to the democratic chieftain, presidential candidate and former secretary of state, in Arlington Cemetery, then, the well loved leader, colonel of volunteers in the war with Spain will be laid to rest.

To light the widow—embodiment of amazing fortitude from her trying ordeal was preparing her household for the departure toward the country capital, the special car for the funeral party arrived in Dayton late this A. M. at 10 a. m. it will leave for Chattanooga, whence after a interval to allow the public there will view the body, it will go to Washington by way of Knoxville, Bristol, Roanoke and Lynchburg. The journey will be over the Southern railway lines on a scheduled train which should cross the Potomac shortly before 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

In the party besides Mrs. Bryan will be Mrs. Ruth Owen, the commoner's daughter and her husband Major Reginald Owen, of the British army; Col. P. S. Callahan, Louisville; William L. Thompson, secretary to Mrs. Bryan; Wallace Haggard, Dayton lawyer and friend of the Bryan family; Mrs. C. C. Stevenes, housekeeper and William H. McCartney, chauffeur for the Bryan family.

Funeral arrangements at Washington had not been definitely fixed today. Early today Mrs. Bryan had announced that her husband's funeral services at Washington would be pronounced in New York Avenue Presbyterian church, the pastor, the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, had been a great friend of the former secretary of state and his family.

When Mrs. Bryan learned that Dr. Radcliffe was absent in Europe, she told Mr. Thompson that further details of the Washington rites would be worked out on arrival at the national capital.

W. J. Bryan Jr. will join his mother and sister in Washington early Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Hale Bryan, another sister. Funeral and burial plans will then be determined when the family has assembled after their long journeys.

Former service men in Army, Navy and Marine corps uniform formed a guard of honor at the residence this afternoon.

The Rev. Charles R. Jones, pastor of the Dayton Methodist church where Mr. Bryan last attended public worship and where on the day he died he raised his voice in prayer—his final public utterance—conducted the brief but touching devotional services. He spoke from the open porch of the Rogers home.

Four members of the prosecution counsel in the Scopes case were seated behind the minister. They were Wallace Haggard, Sue K. Hicks, Herbert Hicks and G. T. McKenzie. Relatives and close friends of the Bryans also occupied seats on the porch, among them Major and Mrs. Owen, of Coconut Grove, and S. Bryan Jennings.

The memorial service was begun by the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee," led by C. Wesley Hicks, choir leader in Mr. Jones' church. The throng upon the grass joined in the simple hymn.

The Rev. W. A. Moffatt, pastor of the Baptist church of Dayton, read scripture from the 15th chapter of First Corinthians from the 20th through the 58th verses, the selection dealing with the resurrection of dead and the victory over death.

In the prayer that followed, Divine blessings were invoked upon Mrs. Bryan.

The hymn "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" was sung.

"One of the young men associated with Mr. Bryan in the law suit said that one verse from the Bible was most applicable to him," the Rev. Jones began. "Wallace Haggard said that it was 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

"If the truth has ever been said of any man, this can be said of William Jennings Bryan. If there ever has been a faithful servant in the cause of the kingdom of Jesus Christ, the great Commoner was that man."

He then related how he had added the great fundamentalist to his congregation at the Methodist church services on the morning of the day that the Commoner passed away. The congregation remained standing, he said, while Mr. Bryan started a prayer "in a friendly, conversational tone," and asked the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Of this, Mr. Bryan's last utterance in public, no clear record remains.

"He prayed the blessing of God on the church of Jesus Christ and for the Bible he loved and I believe for this he gave his life," the minister said.

"I believe William Jennings Bryan went to his untimely death a martyr to the Son of the living God and as brave men have lost their lives on the battle fields . . . he met death with a smile."

As the speaker turned to make reference to "another brave character," the invalid widow, who sat listening in an inner room, tears came to many eyes.

"I found her sitting in a chair with a tear in her eye.

"'Workmen die but their work goes on,' I told her. 'I wonder who will take his place?' she replied."

"Mr. Bryan did not stack his arms and surrender his leadership," Mr. Jones declared emphatically. "I shall do my best to carry out the principles for which he fought and died."

If the lawyers did not carry on the fundamentalist doctrines of the Commoner, Mr. Bryan would have died in vain, so far as they were concerned.

"The opposing world was afraid of Mr. Bryan and greater fear has now fallen upon those opposing fundamentalism."

The minister asked blessings of Almighty God upon the bereaved family and upon the lawyers who fought side by side with him in the Scopes trial.

"Since Mr. Bryan had to go, I'm glad it was from this little town that he learned to love."

The services ended with the singing of the hymn, "Shall We Gather at the River."

EXCERPTS FROM SPEECH PREPARED BY WM. J. BRYAN

Dayton, Tenn., July 28—(AP)—The anti-evolution speech, in the delivery of which William J. Bryan hoped to make his "supreme effort," today was mediately given the world, despite the fact that his orator's lips had been sealed by death.

It was Bryan's exposition of religious faith and indictment of the evolutionary hypothesis.

The address was to have been delivered in the trial of John T. Scopes, convicted of violating Tennessee's Law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in its schools, but by agreement between counsel, closing arguments were dispersed with.

Then the great Commoner prepared to deliver his message at an early date, when it would have been released for publication through the country.

Following the death of her husband Sunday, Mrs. Bryan placed the speech in the hands of George F. Milton, president and editor of the Chattanooga News, a devoted friend of the Commoner.

Mr. Milton decided to make the address public today. "The right of the state to control the public school is affirmed in the recent decision in the Oregon case, which declares that the state can direct what shall be taught and also forbid the teaching of anything 'manifestly inimical to the public welfare'", Mr. Bryan asserted.

After adding it was hardly necessary to state that the anti-evolution law did not have "its origin in bigotry," Mr. Bryan asked "what right has a little irresponsible oligarchy of self-styled 'intellectuals' to demand control of the schools of the United States, in which twenty-five millions of children are being educated at an annual expense of nearly two billion dollars?"

Further discussion of legal phases of the case and the evidence introduced by the state was made by Mr. Bryan who then declared that Tennessee did not undervalue the service performed by science.

"Religion is not hostile to learning; Christianity has been the greatest patron learning has ever had," he continued.

"Further on; "Christianity welcomes truth from whatever source it comes and is not afraid that any real truth that comes by inspiration from God Himself, it is not scientific truth to which Christian object, but true science is classified knowledge and nothing therefore can be scientific unless it is true.

"Evolution is not truth; it is merely an hypothesis—it is millions of guesses strung together. It had not been proven in the days of Darwin. x x x The following excerpts were noted in the Commoner's address:

"There is no more reason to believe that man descended from some inferior animal than there is to believe that a stately mansion has descended from a small cottage.

"Our first indictment against evolution is that it disputes the truth on the Bible account of man's creation and shakes faith in the Bible as the word of God.

"He (Darwin) drags man down to the brute level and then, judging man by brute standards, he questions whether man's mind can be trusted to deal with God and immortality.

"The people of Tennessee have been patient enough; they have acted none too soon. How can they expect to protect society, even the church, from the deadening influence of agnosticism and atheism if they permit the teachers, employed by taxation, to poison the minds of the youth with this destructive doctrine?"

Another indictment "of the evolutionary hypothesis is that if taken seriously and made the basis of a philosophy of life, it would eliminate love and carry man back to a struggle of tooth and claw.

"If civilization is to be saved from the wreckage threatened by intelligence not consecrated by love it must be saved by the moral code of the meek and lowly Nazarine."

Council of Miners

PARIS, July 28.—(AP)—The council of the Miners' International at its first session here today decided "to undertake international action" in the event of the British mine owners "putting their menaces against the miners into execution on August 1."

An official communication, issued at the conclusion of the meeting this evening, says: "If a general strike is not immediately realizable, the production of coal in all countries will be reduced to such a point as not to create a menace to Great Britain's workers."

American Aviators Ready

PARIS, JJuly 28.—(AP)—The American aviators who are to serve with the French forces in Morocco will leave for northern Africa in French military planes next Monday. The seven men probably will take off from Toulouse. A French military pilot will be in each plane. It is expected the airmen will reach Alicante, Spain, Tuesday afternoon and there be officially received by King Alfonso.

CONDITIONS IN STEEL INDUSTRY SATISFACTORY

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—Satisfactory operating conditions in the steel industry in the second quarter of the year were reflected in the earnings statement of the U. S. Steel Corporation, made public today showing total earnings of $40,624,221. The report met the expectations of the financial district, in that profits were slightly better than those of the preceding quarter but below the figures of the corresponding period last year.

No change was made in the corporation's dividend policy, the directors authorizing the usual extra payment of fifty cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly imbursement of $1.25. The customary preferred dividend of $1.75 a share also was declared.

After deductions for charges and interest, the corporation's earnings available for dividends amounted to $21 539,004, equivalent to $3.06 a share on the common stock, compared with a return of $2.93 a share in the first quarter and $3.44 in the second quarter of 1924. The quarter's surplus of $6,688,790 was approximately $630,000 larger than that of the preceding three months period.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation omitted his usual comment on business conditions, asserting that the earning report gave a clean picture of the situation in the industry.

SUDDEN DEATH IN JAPAN OF AMBASSADOR BANCROFT

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Death of Ambassador Edgar A. Bancroft, at Karuizawn, Japan, as reported in the state department today by the Tokyo embassy, was caused by a sudden hemorrhoidal of duodenum ulcer. The brief cablegram added merely that the end came peacefully.

News of Mr. Bancroft's death immediately was telegraphed by Secretary Kellogg to relatives of the deceased in the United States and steps were taken to ascertain what arrangements the department might make to bring the body from Japan. Mr. Kellogg also expressed regrets that the government, through the unlimely death, had lost the services of a highly efficient and capable official.

The death of the ambassador came at a time when he was in the midst of working out through informal conversations in Tokyo certain important aspects of the Chincse situation at present the most difficult of the international questions before the Washington government.

The recent presentation here by Ambassador Matsudaira of the memorandum voicing Japanese resentment with American proposals that the commitments of the Washington conference relating to China be brought into play to solve the Chinese problem was an outcome, in part at least, of the work Mr. Bancroft was doing in Tokyo.

The ambassador's death makes it necessary for Edwin L. Neville, actual charge d'affaires of the Tokyo embassy, to assume for the time being the conduct of the Chinese negotiations since it appears certain that a successor to Mr. Bancroft will not reach Tokyo for several months.

MACMILLAN EXPEDITION ON WAY TO MELVILLE BAY

WASHINGTON, July 28—(A. P.)—The steamers Bowdoin and Peary, of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, left South Upernivik, Greenland yesterday morning and proceeded north to Melville Bay.

This information was conveyed in a radio message dated July 27, received today by the National Geographic Society via Seattle, it read:

"The Bowdoin led the Peary out of South Upernivik, Greeland, at 4:30 a. m., today. It was clear and cold by noon but toward 4 o'clock in the afternoon we met a thick belt of drift ice at Tugtokortoq. After fifteen minutes we were through in the blue water of the north.

"At 8 o'clock this evening we are off Wilcox head and the infamous Devil's Thumb, bane of explorers.

"We are in a light fog and the Peary is almost within hailing distance behind us. Tonight we enter the notorious Melville Bay which may be crossed in a day's sail and in which many a ship bound north has spent weeks or months fighting ice.

"We now have a variation of 30 degrees and the compas points west instead of north. All well."

HEARST SURRENDERED HIMSELF IN WINNEPEG

WINNEPEG, Man., July 28.—(AP)—Joseph Hearst, former president of the Hearst Music Publishing Company of Canada who disappeared after the firm failed for almost three quarters of a million dollars last December, walked into the police station and surrendered himself. A reward of $1,000 had been offered for his arrest.

Hearst disappeared from Winnepeg after an investigation into the affairs of his company. Auditing of the firm's books revealed a complete financial collapse of the corporation, involving a loss to investors throughout Canada and the United States approaching three quarters of a million dollars. Despite the concerted efforts of the police of this continent, Scotland Yard and Germany, he defied apprehension.

DIRIGIBLE SHENANDOAH MANEUVERING WITH FLEET

NORFOLK, Va., July 28—(A. P.)—The dirigible Shenandoah was off the Virginia Capes today for maneuvers with the fleet. Naval officials said she was under orders not to report to land stations until the maneuvers were completed.

Coolidge Hopes For Further Disarmament

Believes a Security Pact Among Powerful European Nations Will Lead to Another Conference.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 28—(AP)—President Coolidge hopes that once a security pact among the more powerful European nations becomes a reality the way will be clear for another armament conference. A security agreement in his opinion, would lay a broad foundation for further disarmament by stabilizing in a measure at least, conditions abroad.

The president's view was disclosed today at White Court with a reiteration that he is anxious to initiate another conference, but feels that any move in that end should be withheld till the situation in Europe is such as to offer some promise of success.

While Mr. Coolidge is convinced conditions abroad never will be perfect for the calling of another conference, he is hopeful that a tremendous stride forword will be taken by an agreement on security.

Until complete agreement is reached on security the president believes nothing could be gained and perhaps harm done by bringing the armament question to fore.

It was pointed out that Mr. Coolidge in taking the same attitude toward security as he did when he decided to hold in abeyance his armament conference move while the Dawes plan was being formulated and placed in operation and the Geneva arms traffic conference was being held.

President Coolidge during the day received first hand information on the conditions in Europe from William Phillips ambassador to Belgium, who called at White Court to pay his respects. Mr. Phillips declined to discuss his visit other than to say there was no discussion of the debt question.

The visit of the ambassador was the only engagement of the president for the day other than his regular semi-weekly conference with newspaper reporters.

DEMONSTRATED INACCURCY OF NIGHT PLANE BOMBING

CAMP DIX, N. J., July 28—(A. P.)—Air maneuvers last night, designed to show the tactics enemy planes would employ in a night air raid on an American seacoast point, demonstrated both the inaccuracies of night airplane bombing and the difficulties of anti-aircraft defense. It was learned today when results of the maneuvers were made public.

Six Martin bombers succeeded in landing only one of their "flare bombs" within a target a mile and a quarter square which represented an ammunition dump.

Beams from the 1,800,000 candlepower searchlights failed to locate the "attacking" planes, and the two anti-aircraft guns which were to fire several blank rounds whenever a plane was illuminated never once had occasion to be sounded during the two and one half hours. General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service in Washington, was one of the observing officials.

MISCELLANEOUS SPECIAL TAX DUE IN TREE DAYS

HARTFORD, July 28—(AP)—Only three days remain for the payment of miscellaneous special taxes to the internal revenue department, and it was announced today that about 1,000 assessments of special taxes in the state are still outstanding. Delinquent payment of special taxes incurs a penalty of 25 per cent. of the tax and a specific penalty in the case of an offer of compromise, between the limits of 75 and $1,000.

The special taxes include levies on pleasure boats, automobiles for hire, pool rooms, bowling alleys, shooting galleries, riding academies, cigars, tobacco, oleomargarine, pawn brokers and stock market brokerage business. The special taxes are due during the month of July.

DISCUSSED REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION FORCES

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—Plans for a "wedding of the department of justice and the federal prohibition department," to secure closer harmony and unity of action in the enforcement of dry laws, were discussed at a conference today between General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury, and United States Attorney Buckner.

The first move in the contemplated reorganization of dry forces was seen in the announcement of assignment of several Washington officials to New York and New Jersey headquarters.

TROLLEY CAR JUMPED TRACKS IN HARTFORD

HARTFORD, July 28.—(AP)—Loaded with factory workers, a trolley car jumped the tracks at Capitol avenue and Babcock street late this afternoon, stopping at right angles to the tracks with the front truck on the sidewalk and the front of the car less than two feet from sidewalk stands of a grocery store. Members of the crew and spectators were unable to account for the accident and all agreed the car was not travelling at high speed. No one was seriously injured.

SEAPLANE FLIGHT FROM CALIFORNIA TO HAWAII

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28—(A. P.)—Rear Admiral J. H. Dayton, in charge of the twelfth naval district headquarters here today received word from Captoint Stanford E. Moses at Honolulu that the United States navy's proposed 2,100 mile aeroplane flight from California to Hawaii will start officially from San Francisco on September 1 if weather conditions are favorable.

ELKS IN TRAIN WRECK ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY

GALLUP, N. M., July 28—(AP)—sixteen persons were injured, none seriously, when the New England Elks Special, running as second section of Santa Fe train Numoer 10 was derailed by a washout 17 miles east of here this morning.

Mrs. John H. Dunn, wife of Brigadier General John H. Dunn, U. S. A. of Boston, was among the injured. She was not seriously hurt. General Dunn is national president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Hatters Allowed Two Union Pickets

Judge Walsh Declined to Modify Injunction at the Berg Plant in Norwalk—Trial in Bridgeport.

BRIDGEPORT, July 28—(AP)—If union pickets of the United Hatters of North America desire to patrole the "open shop," of F. Berg company, Norwalk, they must be temporarily satisfied with only two pickets, Judge John J. Walsh this afternoon declined to modify a temporary injunction which limits the pickets to two persons and restricts their activities to the mere observance of those who enter and leave the factory.

Judge Walsh did not hear any evidence offered by the union officials, and he declared that he felt the case should be fully tried in court later on its merits.

Attorney David Fitzgerald, mayor of New Haven and counsel for the union, outlined what would be the outstanding points in union evidence, were it prescuted, declaring complete denial would be made of allegations of intimidation; that Secretary John F. McKnight authorized the offering of a $100 bribe to get the trimmers out of the Berg factory; or that pickets acted other than in orderly and legal fashion.

In arguments made today stress was made by Mr. Fitzgerald on the claim that the original trouble among the Berg employes, which caused the original walkout, resulted from internal dissatisfaction over prices and was in no way inspired by union interference.

MAN AND TWO BOYS FOUND DEAD IN ROOM IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, July 28.—(AP)—Coroner Eli Mix and the police tonight were endeavoring to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Michael Senczuk and his two sons, Aeronin, 4 years old, and Taddeus, 9 years old, of Providence, R. I., whose bodies were found today in the Hanagan hotel here. Death, it is believed, was due to poison. The police have been unable to find $1,500 in cash said to have been carried by Senczuk.

The police reported that they had learned that Senczuk and the boys left Providence on July 18, after having drawn $1,572.55 from a Providence bank, and travelled to New York, Buffalo, Springfield and Worcester. They arrived at the Hotel Flanagan Sunday evening. Yesterday noon the father went to a nearby store and purchased food and a bottle of ginger ale. He returned to his room and this was the last time that he or the boys were seen alive. The bodies were discovered this morning.

An autopsy on one of the bodies disclosed a brownish fluid believed to have been poison. An uncompleted note written by the father to his wife indicated that he was despondent. The police are of the opinion that the man, because of his despondency through his failure to find work, took his own life and also the lives of his two sons.

It has not been learned definitely, however, that the man spent all of his money in travel and the police are endeavoring to learn what became of the money.

Senczuk was 39 yeras old. He was a native of Poland and served in the Polish army in 1905. A military pass book disclosed that he had travelled considerably during his military career. A letter of recommendation showed that he was an expert wood turner and carver. It appeared that during the past few years he had made his home at 126 Burlington street, Providence. Additional papers disclosed that he had a post office box, number 50, in the post office at Olneyville, Providence, and the rent for that box had been paid to September 30, 1925.

Notes written by Senczuk indicated that he could write four languages. He and the boys were dressed well. When they arrived at the Hotel Flanagan, they had no baggage except a suit case.

Word received here tonight from Mrs. Senczuk, the wife, stated that on Sunday morning Senczuk took Joseph, 14, another son, to a nearby summer resort. A short time later, according to the message from Providence, the father told the boy to go home and tell his mother that he, the father, was going away with the two younger boys. When father and sons had not returned Sunday night, it was said that Mrs. Senczuk notified the Providence police. It was reported that Senczuk lost his position two weeks ago and was despondent. It was stated by Providence neighbors, that they knew of no trouble between Senczuk and his wife.

STILLS VALUED AT $20,000 DESTROYED IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, July 28—(A. P.)—A collection of illicit stills valued at $20,000 was destroyed by an acetylene torch wielded by a party of expert workmen in the county court house today. The stills had been collected in the criminal common pleas court during the past six months. All kinds of stills were included in the collection, from the machine made product down to the home-made outfit.

$25,000 ALLENATION SUIT FILED AGAINST MAN

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 28.—(AP)—Charged with "destroying the happiness" of Henry Schwartz, formerly of Bridgeport, and now a resident of Hoboken, N. J., and "alienating the love and affection" of Schwartz's wife, Erna, mother of his three children, Sam Carp, owner of a string of gasoline stations in Bridgeport, has been made defendant in a $25,000 suit filed in superior court here today.

BELIEVE A COAL STRIKE IN BRITAIN WILL BE AVERTED

Rumor That the Government is to Offer a Loan to Guarantee Mine Owners Against Any Temporary Loss That Might Result Through Continuing the Existing Rate of Wages—Premier Baldwin Will Preside Over the Conference Between the Mine Owners and Miners Today.

LONDON, July 28—(AP)—There are good grounds for the belief that a coal strike will be averted by a sort of truce for two months, to allow more negotiation on a new agreement.

Nothing was given out officially tonight.

The government committee's report on the coal situation, does not recommend a subsidy, but it is believed that Premier Baldwin's plan is to offer a loan to guarantee the owners against any temporary loss they may sustain through continuing the existing rate of wages for a limited period.

The committee, while making no specific recommendations, declares that the workers are justified in demanding a minimum wage agreement but in its opinion the amount of that wage should be negotiated.

The report indirectly deprecates the mine owners recent proposals by asserting: "We do not think the method of fixing wages, which permits of their indefinite diminution, can be regarded as satisfactory."

It also upholds the miners' contention that there are other means than the reduction of wages for improving the position of the industry, and adds "we venture to think that there is considerable room for improving the efficiency of the industry."

In this connection the committee suggests collective action on the part of the collieries and coordination with other enterprises.

Sir Josiah Stamp, in separate observations in the report, finds one deeper cause of the slump in the coal industry in what he calls "the one sided deflation consequent upon reversion to the gold standard." He considers that the competitive position of coal cannot be restored unless, and until, firstly, the costs in this country are reduced, or, secondly, gold costs of other competitive countries are raised either by gold inflation, or by less efficiency, shorter hours and higher wages abroad.

It is stated that Premier Baldwin will preside over the conference between the mine owners and miners tomorrow.

A deadlock arose tonight regarding the railway wage, when a meeting of all the unions concerned agreed to reject the proposals of the railway companies made in June for a voluntary reduction of five per cent. in wages and also in the salaries of officials and directors' fees. This decision does not entail an immediate crisis, and the matter will be submitted to the wage boards.

ARGUMENT IN WASHINGTON EVOLUTION CASE DELAYED

Washington, July 28—(AP)—Argument in the Washington evolution case, begun at the instence of Justice Siddons in the District of Columbia supreme court, was halted today and the hearing of the cause put over until next Friday.

Counsel for the federal government was addressing himself to the question of whether the plaintiff, Loren H. Wittner, an employe of the treasury, had a legal standing in court as a federal taxpayer when Crandal H. Mackey suddenly entered his appearance as counsel for Wittner and insisted on the legal right of his client to have two days in which to prepare an answer to the motions to dismiss held by the defense.

Previously E. H. Colby, one of Wittner's counsel, after a colloquoy with the court, had agreed to proceed to a hearing on what Justice Siddons described as the "threshold" question of Wittner's right to maintain his suit. J. N. Yorstead, also insisted on the legal right of his client and Justice Siddons then postponed the hearing.

There was hardly a dozen spectators. The court attendance was small.

FAIRBANKS WITNESS IN THE MARY PICKFORD CASE

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 28.—(AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture star and husband of Mary Pickford, was the first witness called at today's afternoon session of the trial of three men accused of plotting to kidnap Miss Pickford for ransom.

Fairbanks said he was told of the plot about the middle of last May by Los Angeles police officers between May 15 and May 30 when the trio was arrested. He said he saw Stephens and Holcomb here times loitering about the gates of the studio while he and Mary Pickford were conducting business.

He said that on the first of these occasions Stephens was driving a large sedan with Holcomb in the rear seat beside a third man, who, he said, he since had learned was Louis Geck.

Geck, who is said to be the state's star witness as the man who "sat in" with the trio in the alleged plot, is reported to be missing.

ANTHRACITE WAGE SCALE CONFERENCE RESUMED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 28.—(AP)—An unfulfilled clause in the 1923 agreement, the question of uniformity and equalization on all day rates in the hard coal fields was revived by the miners on resumption of the anthracite scale conference this afternoon.

Under the pact of two years ago the anthracite board of conciliation was directed to investigate conditions by which men in the colliery were receiving lower pay for work done in another colliery identically similar conditions.

Nothing came of the effort to standardize things because, according to the technical explanation made today, operators and men had failed to file rate sheets whereby the board could reach a conclusion. Each blamed the other.

MOULDER'S HELPER WAS ASPHYXIATED IN WATERBURY

WATERBURY, July 28—(A. P.)—Examining the cauldron of a cupola in the Bank street factory of the Farrel Foundry and Machine company, Umberto Vagnini, 23, a moulder's helper, was asphyxiated about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Fellow workmen who had left him for ten minutes found him hanging over the door, his head inside the furnace. Dr. Edward H. Kirschbaum, deputy medical examiner said he died within a few minutes.

According to co-workers of the man, the cauldron had just been charged with scrap and pig iron in preparation for the melting process. While Vagnini looked into the pot to see if it had been charged correctly a coke fire was started at the bottom of the furnace. Fumes from the coke ascended to the upper part of the Cupola and rendered the man lifeless in almost an instant.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

The evolution case was postponed until Friday.

Mrs. Robert M. La Follette declined to run for the senate.

Testimony as to hearings was introduced in the Nickel Plate hearings.

Protest against textile wage reduction was made by President Green of the American Federation of Labor.

LATEST MOVEMENTS ALONG WAR FRONT IN MOROCCO

CASABLANCA, Morocco, July 28—(AP)—Marshal Petain's meeting with General Primo De Riveria, president of the Spanish military directory, in the absence of important military developments along the front is attracting attention in all military and political circles in Morocco. The French marshal's cruiser Strasbourg has gone to Ceuta, and Petain and Primo De Rivera will proceed to Tetuan, where they will study Franco-Spanish collaboration in future military operations.

In the meantime Abd-El-Krim's troops are moving to the north and west and concentrating on the Quezzan sector along the Spanish front, where the rebel chieftain's brother Mohammed is exerting his utmost influence to attract all available tribes to his cause.

Abd-El-Krim has ordered the Djebala tribesmen, who have finished the harvest and are able to muster 20,000 rifles, to concentrate on the western sector because of the contemplated attack on Quezzan or El Araish. The eastern sector is quiet.

CEUTA, Morocco, July 28—(AP)—Marshal Petain arrived here today aboard the cruiser Strasbourg. He was met by General Primo De Rivera and all the military and civil authorities of the city. Petain and Primo De Rivera proceeded by train to Tetuan.

BRITISH STEAMER RACED TO LAND CARGO OF RUBBER

BOSTON, July 28—(AP)—The British steamer Menelaus, which with the Siberian Prince and the Kansas, has been racing from Singapore in order to land a large cargo of raw rubber in New York for July delivery, docked here today. Longshoremen immediately swarmed abroad to remove the Boston consignments which lay above the rubber. By daylight tomorrow the big freighter is expected to clear for New York which she should reach at least 24 hours before the rubber contracts expire.

Although she is running well ahead of time a day was lost when she was forced to put into Halifax to land Arthur Lewis Oldham, 23, of Lancashire, the seventh engineer, who had been stricken with acute appendicitis. The errand of mercy, performed with a fortune at stake, proved futile, however, for Oldham died Monday night at Halifax hospital.

The Siberian Prince, which was to have made this port first, has been ordered to New York with all haste to load her rubber and the Kansas, the third ship in the modern version of the old clipper ship races with China silks, was expected to make port there tomorrow, also within the time limit.

STATE CONVENTION OF THE SONS OF ITALY

GREENWICH, July 28.—(AP)—A banquet tonight completed the second day's program of the state convention of the Grand Order of the Sons of Italy being held here. Supreme Master John J. Visilvestro of Philadelphia and the state officers were the speakers.

Joseph Carbelli, of Bridgeport, was made a life member of the order today for his efforts in securing a corporation charter for the order. Messages of greetings were sent to President Coolidge and to the king of Italy.

Grand Orator Michael Russo reported on the orphans' home fund with which the Sons of Italy will erect a home for orphans in this state.

The financial report showed a balance of 75,000 in the treasurey and a mutual benefit loan with a capital of $100,000.

One hundred delegates are attending the convention which will be concluded tomorrow.

GOV. FULLER PURCHASER OF SARGENT'S WORKS

BOSTON, July 28.—(AP)—Governor Alvan T. Fuller, who paid the record price for a painting at the opening day of the sale of Sargent's works in London, was the heaviest purchaser at the second day of the sale yesterday. His agent paid the record price, $30,000, for "Prince Balthazar Carlos," a portrait after Velaquez done by the artist in his student days.

Governor Fuller was responsible for nearly one half the receipts of the day which amounted to 28,152 pounds. He paid $9,500 for "Las Hilanderas," another painting after Velasquez. In addition he purchased three copies after Frans Hals and two original holiday sketches by Sargent.

WILLIMANTIC

Eighteen or more members of the Stafford Springs Country Club are to make the links of the Willimantic Country club this (Wednesday) afternoon and will be matched against local players. The visitors will be paired with the Thread City golfers according to respective standards of play.

The funeral of Moses Herbert Balcom was held Tuesday morning at ten o'clock at the parlors of Avery and Van Zandt, No. 62 North street. Rev. A. Stanley Muirhead, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal Church officiated. Burial was in the old cemetery in Douglas, Mass., where Rev. L. Avery Gates, formerly of Hampton, conducted the committal service. The bearers were members of Douglas Masonic Lodge.

Due to violations of the state fish laws several arrests were made Sunday at Lake Wangumbaug by Deputy Fish and Game Warden Arthur Olson of Coventry. The cases have been turned over to Harry A. Eddy of Rockville, who is Tolland county game warden. The accused are believed to be mostly Hartford men and it is understood that they will be in court later in the week. The identity of the men has not been disclosed.

Construction of the new community hotel will be delayed, for the reason that all of the ten bids opened Monday at the office of the architects, Frank B. Post & Sons in New York City were in excess of the estimate set by the building committee. William P. Jordan of this city, chairman of the building committee was present when the bids were opened but does not care to state just what the committee's estimate was. He said that it was out of the question to award the contract even to the lowest bidder. According to Mr. Jordan, the architects, will in a few days, submit new specifications to the several changes, but as a whole the general work will be unchanged.

Five cases were heard in the city court Tuesday morning by Judge Frank H. Foss. Two cases were nolled, one was continued, a fine imposed in another and in the fifth the defendant secured a bond for the support of his child.

Maurice Griffin, charged with intoxication pleaded guilty and a fine of ten dollars and costs was imposed, amounting to $15.15, which was paid. Griffin was arrested Monday evening.

Everett Perkins, charged with the non-support of his minor child, entered a plea of guilty. First Selectman Russell A. Andrews informed the court that the town had been caring for the child at the rate of five dollars a week and that the father had been delinquent in doing his share. It was found necessary that some action be taken against Perkins to insure the payments. The latter had nothing to say other than that he was doing the best he could. The court sentenced him to one year in jail unless he could furnish a bond to cover the support of the child for one year. A friend came to the rescue after the session and Perkins was released.

The cases of Raymond Morin and Francis Connors, both minors, charged with breach of the peace, came to an abrupt ending. Morin was alleged to have thrown watermelon rinds and decayed peaches across Jackson street, some of which struck John Potvin, Jr. According to Officer Roderick Lariviere, who covers the Jackson street beat, complaint was made to him by Potvin, the latter describing the youths. On the strength of the description the officer brought Morin and Connors to the police station where they named the charge against them. Court Morin, through his guardian and atty., pleaded not guilty. As the complainant in the case, Potvin, or other witnesses were not in court, the case against Morin was nolled, and Connors was discharged also.

A dog owned by Mrs. Johanna Welch, of Jackson street, was the basis of the last case on the docket. Mrs. Welch was charged with breach of the peace and promptly pleaded not guilty. According to Officer Lariviere, he was covering his beat at seven o'clock Monday evening when the animal in question rushed out, snapped at him and seized his night stick in its teeth. He struck the dog he testified and was called down by Mrs. Welch, who, he said, called him some hard names. The officer declared that the Welch dog was a menace, as it snapped at anyone who carried any kind of a stick. He placed Mrs. Welch under arrest; he said, mostly on account of her language to him. The officer testified that he called Dog Warden John T. Meikle in regard to the matter and the latter visited Mrs. Welch and advised her to keep the dog tied up.

Dog Warden Meikle testified that he received a call from Officer LaRiviere in regard to the alleged trouble. He responded and advised Mrs. Welch to keep the dog tied up, for a time at least, which might break the animal of its habit. The witness said that he was somewhat deaf and did not hear all that was said between the officer and the woman. In his official capacity the dog warden said that he was given the power to kill any dog that roamed the highway, if contained of for causing damage, if his order to the owner was not complied with.

Mrs. Welch was not sworn in to testify. She said that she did not swear at the officer but just told him that he should be ashamed of himself for the manner in which he beat the dog. She said the animal might have grabbed sticks held by people, but never at any one. Judge Foss continued the case for one month.

Five prominent Rockville young men were in the Mansfield town court Tuesday forenoon, Louis K. and Robert Laubscher, Albert Brown, Jr., Walter Spellman and Herbert Hunniford. The first four mentioned were charged with breach of the peace and Hunniford with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. Pleas of guilty were entered by the quartet to the breach of peace charges while Hunniford denied that he was intoxicated.

State Policemen Russell L. Harmon and Henry Heingold, of the Stafford Springs barracks, were the witnesses for the state against the members of the party and they testified that the automobile containing the Loom City quintet went through Mansfield Depot village Monday afternoon at a fast rate of speed, headed in the direction of this city. It was alleged that the car was swaying from one side of the road to the other with the occupants singing and shouting. The officers gave chase and headed the party off near Perkins' Corner, where the members were placed under arrest.

The officers claimed that there was no doubt but that Hunniford was intoxicated, the latter latter denied this, but all admitted that they were enjoying themselves. Hunniford was found guilty and a fine of one hundred dollars and costs, amounting to $115.60 was imposed. In addition he was given a jail sentence of twenty days. The other members of the party were fined two dollars each with blanket costs of $16.60, making the assessment in each case $6.15.

Westerly Lodge, No. 678, B. P. O. E., of Westerly, R. I. plans to hold an open air bazaar in August. The second day, Thursday, is to be known as "Willimantic Night" and a number of local Elks are planning to be in attendance. George A. Bartlett of this city is booking the entertainment for the engagement.

St. Mary's Choir Boys and St. Josephs' Boy Scouts have arranged another series of baseball games, the first to be played at Recreation Park Sunday next. The following game or games will be played on the succeeding Sunday or Sundays. According to anunderstanding reached by the rival managements, the two teams must line up in the same manner as in the first series which was won by the St. Mary's outfit, the last two games being played at Columbia Lake, where the two organizations were in camp.

Mrs. Michael J. Tuohy and daughter Marion, of Maple avenue, left last week for a month's stay in Canada. They will make the trip on the Saguenay river from Quebec, then down the St. Lawrence, through the Thousand Islands and enter Northwestern Canada by way of the Great Lakes.

Miss Harriet Ellison, of Mansfield, who returned last week from a month's trip to Portland, Ore., where she attended a Christian Endeavor convention, gave a most interesting and comprehensive account of her trip at the C. E. meeting at the Baptist church, Sunday evening.

Edmund R. Portelance, of this city, a member of the state athletic committee of the Knights of Columbus, has been appointed on the executive committee for the state field day of the order to be held at Lighthouse Point, New Haven, Saturday August 22. This will be the first affair of its kind to be held in the state by the Connecticut state council of the Knights of Columbus. The plan is to have members of the order from all parts of the state assemble for a real old-fashioned picnic. Mr. Portelance received word of his appointment Tuesday from Frank M. Lynch, of New Haven, chairman of the state athletic committee.

Miss Doris Brown, of 17 Windham street, who recently underwent an operation at St. Joseph's hospital, is on the road to recovery.

CHARLES ROY FOUND DEAD AT HOME IN COLUMBIA

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, July 28—Charles Roy, aged about 63, was found dead in bed at his home on Pine street in the town of Columbia Tuesday morning. Mr. Roy had been a resident of Columbia for the past fourteen years and lived alone. He had not been seen by his neighbors since Saturday and an investigation was made Tuesday morning by Emile Henneguin and Isadore Bernstein. They found the doors of the house closed and no signs of the occupant. Entrance was effected and Mr. Roy was found dead in bed. Medical Examiner Dr. William L. Higgins of South Coventry was notified and gave his opinion that Roy had died of heart trouble and that he had been dead at least forty-eight hours. The body was turned over to a local undertaking firm. Mr. Roy is known to be survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lena Coulon, of Ardmore Park, Pa.

DEATH OF EVERETT G. BARROWS AT NORWICH TUESDAY

WILLIMANTIC, July 28—Everett G. Barrows, 82, whose death occurred in Norwich Tuesday morning following a shock sustained Thursday, July 16, was a well known and highly respected resident of this city. He had been in failing health for the past three years and was taken to Norwich July 13. He was born at Chestnut Hill in the town of Mansfield, February 15, 1843, the only son of A. P. and Anna Mariah Williams Barrows. His mother was a daughter of the late Captain Elisha Williams. Coming to this city when a young man, Mr. Barrows established a grocery business and was a prosperous and successful merchant for thirty-five years, retiring about fifteen years ago. Prior to his coming to this city, he was a carpenter by trade, also conducted a saw mill at Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Barrows is survived by his wife, who was Rebecca E. Dickson of this city. He was a member of Mansfield Congregational Church up to the time of his death. Having a kindly disposition and being a conscientious Christian, Mr. Barrows made friends of his acquaintances all over the city.

GALES FERRY

A very successful Silver tea was given for the benefit of the Gales Ferry Free Public Library, in the library from 3 to 5 o'clock, Thursday afternoon. The room was attractive with decorations of ox-eyed daisies and ferns arranged over the mantel and bookshelves with tea tables in cozy corners arranged by the president, Miss Grace E. Povey. Mrs. Allen S. Bush poured hot tea and tea was served by Mrs. Billings F. S Crandall and Mrs. E. W. Jones. Sandwiches, little cakes and cheese straws were provided. Those serving were Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Mrs. Everett Noyes, Mrs. Gertrude B. Latimer, Mrs. Delphine Fish, Mrs. R. Irving Hurlbutt, Misses Grace E. Povey, Adelina Povey and Miss Renton. There was a good attendance of the summer visitors in Gales Ferry, with automobile parties from Norwich and New London.

Jonah was the subject of the sermon of Rev. George Smith Brown at the Sunday morning service in the Methodist Episcopal church. The anthem, Blessed Are They That Dwell in Thy House, was sung by a quartette, Misses Grace Chapman, Gertrude Allen, D. R. Povey and C. E. Colver. Mrs. Eugene La Fontaine was organist. The altar flowers were baskets of sweet peas and white delphinium, arranged by Mrs. Dudley C. Perkins and Mrs. Fanny A. Molthrop, in memory of Miss Kate B. Colver, for many years president of the Ladies' Aid society of this church. Special notice was made of the observance of Permanent Fund day in August, it being twenty years on that date since Noyes B. Allyn promoter and collector of this fund for the benefit of the M. E. church began this work. It is hoped on that day to increase the fund. The Sunday evening service was a musical one with the singing of old hymns, including the Doxology, Coronation, Nearer My God to Thee, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Crusader's Hymn and others. Rev. Mr. Brown giving the name of the writer of each hymn and something descriptive in the life of each writer. In conclusion, the new Epworth League hymn, Look Up, Lift Up, written by the president of the local Epworth League, Miss Jennie G. Perkins, was sung.

Edwin Keeney, of New London, who is 95, accompanied by his niece, Mrs. Hand, motored here with a party, all of New London, and called on relatives and friends Saturday afternoon.

Casper K. Freeman, of New York, was the guest of his sister, Miss Caroline B. Freeman, over Friday night.

Station Agent and Mrs. A. O. Faford spent the week-end and Sunday with their son, Stanley C. Faford, of the Bronx, New York.

Frank A. Lester, of New York, was the guest Saturday of his brother, F. W. Lester and Mrs. Lester, of Norwich, at Gales Ferry, where they have been spending two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilcox, who have been guests at the home of the latter's sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bisbee, left Wednesday to motor to their home in Watertown, N. Y.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund E. Lewis, of Allyn's Point, entertained at dinner and bridge for Mrs. James R. Robertson, of Groton. Other guests were Lieut. and Mrs. Herbert B. Knowles, of the Submarine Base, and Lieut. and Mrs. Elliott Lewis, of New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Norcross and sons Warren and Carl, with Mrs. Norcross' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Fairfield, all of Allyn's Point, motored to Storrs Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Norcross' daughter, Rose Norcross, who is taking the Junior Short course at the college.

Mrs. Hugo Winckler and daughter, Miss Ethel Winckler, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Fairfield at Allyn's Point, returned Friday to Livingston, N. J.

LEDYARD

The Missionary Society met at the parsonage July 21, with a good attendance of members and a number of out-of-town guests. Reports were given from China, India, Japan, Africa, Mexico and other places. Those taking part were Mrs. J. M. Gray, Mrs. G. F. Goodenough, Mrs. John Finegan, Mrs. I. G Geer, Mrs Wm. S. Allen, Mrs. E. B. Geer, Mrs. J. A Clark, Miss Nellie M Gallup, Misses Ursula and Barbara Goodenough.

Rev. G. F. Goodenough presented resolutions which were adopted, expressing the sorrow of the society for the death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Peckham Gray. The resolutions expressed appreciation of the usefulness and loyalty of her life, also sympathy with the many who miss her presence. A tribute was paid to her efficient help, steadfast dependability and the cheerful courage which she displayed, and sympathy was tendered her own family, her husband, her mother, her brother and his children.

Miss Nellie W. Geer read a letter from Mrs. J. A. Cutting in which she expressed an active interest in the progress of the society; her husband, Rev. Chas. Cutting was a former pastor and Ledyard was her home for several years.

The sum of $40 was appropriated for missions. The refreshment committee, Mrs. I. G. Geer, Mrs. E. B. Geer and Mrs. S. E. Heidtke served sandwiches, cake and iced tea.

BOZRAH

The Christian Endeavor society held a social at the town hall Saturday evening. Games were enjoyed and a play entitled "The Cure," was given by eight members. Sandwiches, pickles, cake and orangeade were the refreshments.

Mrs. Sarah Purple is visiting in Quaker Hill, New York.

The Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. Howard Bishop of Yantic, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. William H. Dawley, of Norwich, was the speaker. There were solos by Mrs. Herbert Wightman.

The Center Congregational church will be closed during August.

WESTERLY

The safe arrival in Seattle, Wash., Monday night, of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Goodgeon, Miss Flora M. Marriott, and Mr. and Mrs. John O. Mills of Westerly was learned on Tuesday from a telegram received by Westerly friends. The Westerly party are at the Pacific seaport to attend the 36th Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar.

At a special session of the third district court Monday morning, before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., William eKating, who was in court Sunday night o na charge of possession of intoxicating liquors, following his arrest by Patrolman George H. Champlin, while intoxicated, changed his plea of not guilty to guilty. At the Sunday night session of court the case was continued to the regular session Friday next with surety required in the sum of $200 bail. On his change of plea, a fine of $15 and costs was imposed.

Well known throughout Washington county for the interest taken by him in historical and genealogical subjects, the death of Jeffry W. Potter, 75, of Perryville, R. I., occurred Monday noon at the South County hospital, as the result of being struck by an automobile Saturday night on the Boston Post road, a short distance from the Perryville church. Mr. Potter suffered numerous injuries about the head and shoulder in addition to internal injuries.

Following an investigation of the mishap by the Rhode Island mounted police, they declared the accident un avoidable. The driver of the machine, A. Morton Dexter, whose business address is 425 Walnut street, Philadelphia, was not held and, according to Capt. Jonathon H. Harwood, he will not be brought back to face any charges.

Born in Perryville, the son of the late Rouse Potter and Dorcas Watson Potter, Mr. Potter was a life-long resident of South Kingston and conducted a small farm in the Perryville section for several years. He had a wide acquaintance throughout the district and was a genealogist to some extent, publishing a number of books on the heritage of prominent South County families.

He married twice, the first time to Annie B. Hoidredge, who died in 1911, and later to Sarah B. Gledhill, who stepson, Sergt. Gledhill, served as a died in 1919. He had no children. A member of Company B, Three Hundred and Tenth Infantry, and was taken prisoner by the German forces. He died in a German war camp at Saarbrucken.

He is survived by four nephews George H., Louis C. and Walter H. Perry and Howard Potter, and by two nieces, Mrs. Katie D. Church and Mrs. Elizabeth E. Card, all of South Kingston.

On Tuesday afternoon at the home of her father, Robert T. Barnes on Stonington road, occurred the sudden death of Roberta Barnes, 10. The illness of the child had been of but a few days' duration.

Business callers in Westerly Tuesday in the interests of the New Haven railroad were Michael Kelly of New London, Harry Davis of Groton and Jabez West of Norwich.

Miss Frances Farnham of Camp Hoffman, South Kingstown, spent the week end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Farnham in Westerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Benson left Westerly Monday evening for Fargo, N. D., having stopped off on a return trip from Montreal, to visit at Avondale, Mrs. C. Palmer Chapman, a roommate of Mrs. Benson, at Northfield, Mass.

The hard training which Albin Stenroos, Olympic champion marathoner, has been undergoing at Westerly for many weeks is said to have put him into unusually fine condition for his 15-mile "return" race with Clarence De Mar, at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury, Saturday afternoon, and he is confident of taking the New Englander's measure. It is understood that Stenroos intends to return to Finland if he loses.

Willie Ritola, Otto Venttinen, Gunnar Nilson and other members of the Finnish-American A. C., of New York, have been training with Stenroos at Westerly and will also compete in the Scotch race. They all admit that they will not be able to defeat Stenroos at that distance. The competition which they have been affording the marathoner on his jaunts, however, has done much to put him back in the form that enabled him to defeat De Mar and the world's best, in the last Olympics.

Stenroos has never reconciled himself to the defeat that De Mar handed him in the 15-mile on his last appearance in Boston at the St. Alphonsus games. Russell Field, this spring. The Finn, who complained that he was not in the best of condition was forced to quit after nine gruelling miles. He immediately came down to a farm on the outskirts of Westerly and started to train diligently for a comeback attempt against De Mar.

De Mar has also been training daily over the roads in Melrose, while Jimmy Henigan, Clif Horne and other well-known runners are also preparing to make a battle for the honors. The Scotch committee wished to make the race at a shorter distance than 15 miles, but Stenroos insisted on the longer route in order to have a chance to wipe out his defeat at that event by De Mar.

TRACES OF SATIN MOTH CAUSE ALARM IN STATE

WESTERLY, July 28.—Traces of the dreaded satin moth which, if allowed to spread will become as great a plague as the gypsy moth, and a relentless enemy of poplar and willow trees, was detected by Federal Entomological Inspector William J. Ahearne of Westerly, in Newport Monday. In company with a representative from the chemical bureau of the department at Washington, who is detailed to Providence, a visit was made to the Vanderbilt estate, Stony Point, on the island of Jamestown, and the insects were found there. Especially subject to the attack are country estates where these trees are found in larger numbers because of their ornamental character. Tuesday, Inspector Ahearn was called to New London on business which prevented him from proceeding with his inspection.

Today (Wednesday) Mr. Ahearne in company with the chemist will leave Providence for Narragansett Pier to continue their search at some of the larger country estates there. The presence of the moth in Massachusetts has been known for some time and it was hoped that its spread could be checked, and it was with concern that the entomology bureau representatives found satin moths in at least four different towns in Rhode Island.

NOANK

Stanley Dodge, after a visit on Mason Island for a few days, has returned to Boston.

E. L. Dunn has returned to his home in Providence.

Robert Toulser is employed by J. H Webster.

In the tennis match between Noank and the Sun Set club, some close games were played. The Sun Set club won two out of three, before a large gallery. The results were 6-4, 6-0 and 6-2. Noank players were Roy Seapen and Ernest Gates; for the Sun Set club, H. Bracci and L. Harris. The games took place on Law field court. It was for the championship of the village. The next matches will be played next week at the same place.

As in other years, the summer services at St. Joseph's Catholic church continue to be largely attended, not only by the regular parishioners, but by many summer visitors in this vicinity. Rev. Thomas P. Mooney, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Mystic, is also pastor of the Noank church.

Charles Larrabee, who underwent a serious operation at the Hartford hospital three weeks ago, came home Saturday and is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Homer Wood and three children left Wednesday to spend several weeks with relatives in Fairfax, Vt.

Some excitement was caused Saturday noon when a neighbor, seeing a big blaze at Daniel Trigger's, thought the house was on fire and telephoned to the Centre for the chemical engine and to South Windham for the fire department. Both responded promptly, only to find that Mr. Trigger was burning a quantity of rubbish in the yard and their services were not needed.

Miss Mary Packer is visiting relatives in Mystic.

Miss Faine, of Danielson, was the guest of Mrs. E. W. Maguire here, Sunday.

During the thunder storm last week Wednesday, lightning struck at Alfred Abbe's and George Rathbun's, doing considerable damage at both houses. At the latter place, pictures were thrown from the wall and plaster was knocked off. At the Abee house, the bolt went in the telephone wire, jumped to the electric light wire, which it followed out to the hen houses, burned out all the bulbs, tore off beaver board from the ceiling and broke window panes, split beams, knocked over Mr. Abbe's guns, etc. No one was in the house at the time, and no fire resulted at either house. A bolt also struck a telephone pole near F. G. Barber's.

ROCKVILLE

Funeral services for Palmer L. Hopkins who died July 22, aged 85, were held dat his home Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. Paul S. Burdick pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, of which Mr. Hopkins had been a member for many years, officiated. Mr. Hopkins was the last Civil war veteran in this vicinity. Members of the Loyal Legion served as bearers. He was buried in Rockville cemetery beside his wife, who died in 1888. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Nettie Phillips, of Westerly and by two sons, William Hopkins of Shamrock and Claude Hopkins who lived on the farm with his father near this village. There are several grand children.

FOOTPRINTS OF PREHISTORIC MONSTER EMBEDDED IN COAL

SALT LAKE CITY, July 27.—Large pieces of coal in which are embedded the footprints of a pre-historic animal believed to be a tyrannosaurus, the fiercest of the carnivorous dinosaurs which roamed the earth millions of years ago, have been found in the Panther coal mine in Carbon county, Utah. The find was made several thousand feet underground.

The tyrannosaurus is believed to have been 47 feet long and 18 to 20 feet high when erect, with a tail like a lizard.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

At the Sacred Heart church in Wauregan, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Miss Alice L. Morrissette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Morrissette of Brooklyn, became the bride of Rene Taillon, of Bristol, Conn. Rev. J. C. Mathieu performed the marriage ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial high mass.

Miss Martha Dorien, of Holyoke, was maid of honor and Ovid Allaire, a cousin of the groom, Bristol, was best man.

The bride's gown was a very beautiful creation of white georgette, with garniture of Dutchess lace and pearls. Her veil was of Venetian lace and her bouquet of white roses about a central arrangement of Ophelia roses.

The maid of honor's gown was of coral pink georgette with crystal beads and her bouquet an arrangement of ophelia roses and sweet peas.

At the Mortlake house in Brooklyn following the marriage there was a breakfast, the party numbering twenty-three.

Mr. and Mrs. Taillon are to make their home in Bristol.

The bride is a former teacher in the schools of the town of Killingly, also has taught at Freehold, N. J., and at Thompsonville, where she completed teaching in June of this year.

Men who are about woods and fields more or less report an unusually large number of deer this summer. A herd of 15 recently was reported seen in a section between Brooklyn and Canterbury. This would indicate an increase in the number of deer in this part of the county, notwithstanding that numbers of them are killed each year in one way and another. One explanation of the increase in the deer herds in Windham county is that an open season for hunting deer in Massachusetts each fall results in the animals being frightened and finding their way into country where they are not so liable to be molested. There is a wide-spread prejudice against deer in towns hereabouts, largely because of their tendency to destroy young fruit trees and growing crops.

Gerald Aiken, Frank Connors, William Peavey and Arthur Dexter, Providence youths, hitching and hiking from their home city to Portland, Oregon, made the first stop of their long journey here Tuesday. They had walked two miles in making the distance from Providence to Danielson, getting rides the remainder of the distance. They hope, with good luck in getting rides, to be on the Pacific coast by September 1.

One of the traffic duties that keep borough police officers on the watch all the time is in preventing drivers of motor cars from turning them around in the business section. This practice is prohibited, as it is in most communities where there is heavy traffic. Yet every day a number of drivers try the stunt rather than drive around a block. It is banned because it blocks traffic and incidentally may lead to accidents in a congested area. Drivers of small light cars are the majority among the offenders against the rule and many who try it are from out of the state.

At the home of Attorney and Mrs. Harry E. Back, Tuesday afternoon, at one o'clock funeral services for Mrs. Ida W. Kinney were conducted by Rev. Roger C. Stimson, of the Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was in the Putnam Heights cemetery. The bearers were Harry E. Back, Harry E. Back, Jr., Oliver P. Bartlett, Sidney S. Stone, Sidney Perry, and Frank Gardner, of Voluntown. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Monday, at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam the death of Leander Bowen, 74, occurred. Mr. Bowen, a resident of Foster for the past decade, had been in failing health for about two years. Many weeks ago he fell and broke his hip. This led to a general decline that resulted in his death Mr. Bowen was born in Killingly, a son of George and Ann Chase Bowen. Excepting the time since he had lived in Foster, he had spent the greater part of his life in East Killingly and South Killingly. He leaves a brother, William H. Bowen, of this town. The body was conveyed to Danielson by Undertaker A. F. Wood.

Visitors from this town who remember Ashland, R. I., are amazed now to find that the community with its manufacturing plant, stores and homes has disappeared. It has been razed in connection with the development of the Providence reservoir project. Incidentally, a long section of the old Providence-Plainfield pike will be under the waters of the great reservoir, so a new state highway several miles in length has been constructed.

At East Killingly, the reservoirs are beginning to show the benefits of the recent heavy rains. These bodies of water have been very slow to respond to the efforts of nature to restore them to capacity holdings, but the water is now gaining. It was stated Tuesday, by one familiar with East Killingly's water for many years, that the gain once started is liable to continue for a number of weeks, due to the supply that will run in from springs.

Theodore Morrissette, who has a farm in the southwestern section of the town of Brooklyn, was seriously injured when he was thrown from a mowing machine while at work on his place. He is now confined to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Witter were visitors at Wallum Lake, R. I., Tuesday.

W. E. Jackson, county investigator, was in Danielson Tuesday on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Reed have returned from a stay of a few days on Cape Cod.

Jacob A. Reichman of New York is visiting with friends in Danielson for a few days.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department is arranging for the new fire police to have badges indicating their authority.

Few of the present day residents of the town of Killingly recall the fact that a bed of porcelain clay is located somewhere in the Mashentuck section of the town and that it was regarded as a great find by the early settlers of Killingly.

Arsene Lavallee is recovering from an injury to his eye—sustained when he came in contact with a clothes line. He has been under treatment by a specialist.

It is remarked that although there is much industrial depression in New England comparatively few tramps of the old school are finding their way into this region this summer.

Several hundred police dogs will be on exhibition at the field day to be held at the Palisade kennels, near East Killingly Sunday.

South Killingly is considering plans for its annual Old Home day, customarily held on Labor Day.

Lester C. Banks of Lowell was a visitor with friends in Danielson Tuesday.

Repairs and improvements have been under way at the Davis and Brown mill at East Killingly, the employes meanwhile etting a vacation.

POULTRY BUYERS' SCALES ARE DOCTORED TO CHEAT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, July 28—An irate buyer of live poultry who comes into this territory from Providence regularly complained to an officer here Tuesday that some of his competitors are indulging in a little game that not only knocks his business for a goal but also defrauds the people from whom they buy poultry. He cited an instance wherein he had purchased by agreement 150 hens, but when he came to get them for the agreed price of 28 cents per pound he found they had been sold to another dealer for 31 cents a pound.

Those prices would indicate that it was a perfectly natural thing for the owner of the hens to take 31 cents instead of 28, but therein lies a tale. It appears from the allegation of the complainant that his competitors are using doctored scales. He told the officer that the spring scales his competitors use should be checked up. He says that it is not an infrequent practice to take such a scale and efface the markings so that readings are not legible. This being done it is a simple process to get away with 200 pounds of poultry for 150 pounds, and explains why the price per pound does not figure so importantly in a sale as would ordinarily appear.

There is probably sufficient truth in the charge made to warrant a close inspection of the scales of poultry buyers operating in this territory, that those who are said to be guilty of the practice complained of may be found and required to do business honestly. In any event, the story carries a hint to all who have poultry to sell to watch the weighing operations closely.

BROTHERS STOLE CLOTH FROM MILLS IN PLAINFIELD

DANIELSON, July 28—Two arrests in the town of Plainfield are expected to result in stopping the theft of cloth from mills in that town. Thomas Zurek has been sent to Brooklyn jail for 60 days for his part in the cloth stealing and his brother, Toni, is awaiting disposition of his case, being out under bonds.

Thomas was an employe at the Aldrich mills in Moosup, and at the Lawton mills in Plainfield. Both these mills manufacture especially fine grades of fancy cotton goods. The arrests followed house searches and recovery of some of the stolen material. The belief is that much of the cloth that was stolen was shipped out of the town of Plainfield for sale in New York.

PUTNAM

At a business meeting of the Baptist church, Louis E. Law was appointed as a trustee and W. E. Moss and N. A. Ballard, auditors. It was voted to omit the services August 30, as this is the annual vacation Sunday.

Miss Grace Bartlett has returned to her home in Providence after two weeks spent as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Burton, of Grove street.

Dr. James M. Kent, of Larchmont, N. Y., was a recent guest of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Bryden Kent.

Second Lieutenant Jerome N. Andrews has returned from Camp Devens.

Miss Pelletier, nurse at Day Kimball hospital, has been called to her home at Miller's Falls, Mass., by the serious illness of her grandfather.

Rev. C. J. Harriman, of Philadelphia, formerly rector in charge at St. Philip's Episcopal church, has been a Putnam visitor.

Mrs. William Stahl with her little daughter, of New Jersey, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. T. Bradley, at Putnam Heights.

The Misses Dexter, of Providence, are spending several weeks at Fox Hill Farm.

"The Meadows," known as the Harrison place, is undergoing repairs, in preparation for the opening there in September of the Pomfret Rectory school. The school is growing so rapidly that the large number of buildings on this estate convertible to its needs are none too many.

Carl E. Gilbert, agent of the New Haven road at Pomfret, has returned from his vacation.

Mrs. King, mother of Mrs. de Flores, is at Fox Hill Farm for the remainder of the summer.

The next Well Baby conference is to be held Tuesday afternoon, August 4, from 2 to 4 o'clock, in the High school auditorium. The public health bureau sends out the following reasons why mothers should take advantage of these inspections: In hot weather, especially, it is important to weigh the baby frequently, and to practice care and regularity in feeding, and common sense in dressing. Small babies should show a fairly steady gain in weight, even during hot weather. Much worry, and often sickness, may be prevented by keeping the child under a doctor's observation. This may be done at the Well Child conference, where once a month a doctor is on hand to consult with mothers and to examine babies and small children. Here a weight card is given each mother, on which the growth may be noted, month by month.

William A. Jones, of the local telephone exchange, is having his vacation and with Mrs. Jones is on a motor trip to Lake George, New York.

Miss Mary Spanutious, of New Haven, has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. T. Bradley, at Putnam Heights.

Ferdy and Catherine Stalcher, of New York city, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schmidt.

Miss Catherine Whyland, of New York, is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Lowell, at Fox Hill Farm, for the remainder of the summer.

Miss Annie O'Neill, of Pomfret, is the guest of her brother, John O'Neill and family, of Hartford, at their summer home at the shore.

Hamilton Holt has returned to Woodstock from a business trip to New Hampshire.

Miss Evelyn Dudley and Miss Stella Dwire, of Providence, are spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Penner.

The men's class of the Baptist Bible school and the Whatsoever class held an outing, Tuesday, at Ochetuch Hill. After a basket luncheon everyone remained to see the beautiful sunset. The mid-week prayer service was held Tuesday evening instead of Thursday, the regular date, to permit all who wished to go on the outing, without missing the choir rehearsal.

Lawrence Perkins, who is spending the summer at Newport, has been the guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Perkins, at Ufton.

Mrs. S. B. Overlock, Mrs. Wicks and little daughter, Ann, are spending a month in Maine. They made the trip by automobile.

Mrs. Butler, of New Haven, is at the home of her brother, Alfred Briggs, during the absence of Mrs. Briggs, who is with her daughter, Mrs. Lyman Hits, in Portland, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Perkins and family, also Miss Mona Converse, of Southbridge, have returned from a trip to Millen Lake, Washington, N. H.

A. A. Vonsiatsky has gone abroad on a short business trip and Mr. Burnett, of Thompson, will take the important role created by Mr. Vonsiatsky in the "Arrival of Kitty" at the Bradley, for the benefit of the Day Kimball hospital.

Misses Dorothy Coit and Edith King, of Pomfret, are at Woodstock, N. Y., where they are putting on a Greek pageant. The productions of Miss Coit and Miss King have achieved national success.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Morse and infant and the baby's three great-grandmothers, Mrs. Herbert Morse, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Gilbert, all of Putnam, were recent guests of Mrs. John Shepard, of West Woodstock.

ACTING PRIN. R. H. KEYES RESIGNS AT TOURTELOTTE H. S.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 28.—R. H. Keyes has resigned as acting principal of the Tourtelotte Memorial High school at North Grosvenordale, and is to be superintendent of schools at Ludlow and Plymouth, Vt., a locality made famous as the birthplace and boyhood of the president of the United States. The departure of Mr. Keyes will be regretted by the pupils of the T. M. H. S. John Dexter Coombs, a friend of Mr. Keyes and his roommate at college, has been selected to succeed Mr. Keyes. Mr. Coombs is a graduate of Bates college with the degree of B. S. and has been principal of Lisbon Falls High school in Maine for three years.

SOUTH KILLINGLY

Gertrude Hall is in Putnam at the home of Mrs. William Holland, who is ill.

Elizabeth Barber is spending a few days at A. E. Hall's.

Mrs. Henry Leonard and daughters returned to their home in Valley Falls Sunday. They have been at Spalding Cottage for a week.

Perton Brown, Mrs. Raymond Barlow and Ruth Coffey spent Saturday in Bradford.

Mr. and Mrs. Winsor Barlow, of Hillsgrove, R. I., spent the week-end with Mr. Barlow's parents.

Mary Fiske, of Groton, accompanied by his mother and a friend, called on friends here Sunday. Mr. Fiske was a former resident of this place.

Mildred Kelley is attending summer school in Hyannis, Mass.

Mrs. Charles Spaulding, of Auburn is spending this week at Spalding Cottage.

Alice Ayer, of Norwich, is visiting Mrs. Charles Spaulding and daughters. Miss Ayer taught the local school several years ago.

The regular Sunday service was held in the church Sunday evening. This is the last service until the first of September, as the pastor, Rev. W. B. Williams, is having his vacation.

The Girls' club held a social in the Community house, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Barlow and son, of Danielson, spent Sunday with local relatives.

William Hughes and family, of Providence, are spending a vacation in a camp on George Slater's farm.

CENTRAL VILLAGE

Peter Marrotte, a mill worker and farmer living in Brooklyn, while loading hay Saturday afternoon at his place, fell from the load of hay and badly dislocated his left elbow, besides breaking a small bone. The elbow was badly twisted. Dr. J. L. Gardner was called to the house and reduced the dislocation under an anesthetic.

A farmer at the company's barn at Wauregan came near his death when a bull in an enclosure came ferociously for him, knocking him down and hunting him, until two men with pitchforks came to his rescue and drove the animal off.

It is reported the two years proceeds of the Sugar Brook farm festivals have netted something like $3,000 for the church organ fund.

Judson E. Gardner, of Bridgeport, with his wife and son are visiting relatives in Central Village and Danielson. Mr. Gardner formerly lived in Central Village.

One automobile upset on the Danielson road Monday from slippery roads and skidding. No great bodily injuries were suffered, but the car was damaged.

By happening to have on two pair of trousers, Richard Eiffert of Troy, Ill., saved $6. He was in a store when a holdup man entered and robbed the proprietor. Then the robber went through the pockets of Eiffert's outer trousers and failed to find any cash and departed. Eiffert's money was in the inner pair.

JEWETT CITY

It seems to be the general impression that there is not likely to be a regular station agent appointment to fill the vacancy made by the placing of Olin T. Miller on the New Haven R. R. pension roll.

One man it is understood can act as agent for several stations, leaving the rating of clerk, applying to all positions held at such several stations, except that of the telegraph operator.

Pachaug Community club is to meet Thursday evening at Grange hall.

Mrs. F. H. Gilbert is to entertain the Baptist Ladies' Aid society at her cottage at Lake Paucomac, Thursday afternoon. The automobiles leave the church at one o'clock.

Mrs. E. E. Scates and children, Alberta, Robert and Miriam, have gone to Massachusetts and New Hampshire to spend a month with relatives. Miss Winifred Scates will go to Pleasant View with Mrs. W. H. Payne and daughter.

The chamber of commerce plans to meet this (Wednesday) evening in the American Legion room.

Read's Island is a considerable tract of land, situated in the bend of the Quinebaug, opposite the one-time Shipman's grove. Previous to 1826 the entire flow of the Quinebaug went around the "Bend," so called, and what is now Read's island, in the town of Lisbon, was then Shipman's grove, in the town of Griswold. The remarkable stories told by Mark Twain in Life on the Mississippi, have much to relate about the enormous cutoffs that occasionally took place, sometime in one night. In one instance a man went to bed one night on his farm in Louisiana, there was a great flood in the lower river, a sluice-way had broken through and thousands of acres were cut off and the river changed its course. The man awoke next morning to discover that his farm was on the other side of the river, in the state of Mississippi.

With a little less enormity, yet with no less decided results, one of the great Quinebaug floods occurred in a springtime freshet, something over 100 years ago. The volume of wate, that used to run wild through the Quinebaug basin, well remembered today by many who have seen its terrific force in later years, was a display of the natural power of the river, never witnessed today. The amount of water was so large, that its momentum became too great to make the turn at the head of the island. Across the western part of the grove it tore, and probably in 10 minutes or even less a 20 acre island was shifted into the town of Lisbon, and the present channel of the Quinebaug was established.

Up to 20 years ago, Read's Island was in fact an island with the "Bend" stream entirely encompassing its area. Today, as the result of wash from the high banks which bound the low island on all sides except the east, together with the gradual filling up of the intake channel at the head, Read's island is such in name only.

Its owners are Morris Goldberg and E. F. Burleson, of Lisbon. Between Shipman's grove and the newly made island, after the flood, the water was very shallow. Thomas Read's father took the newly acquired island for pasturage, and his stock continually waded the stream to the more fertile Shipman holdings in Griswold. Not a little disturbed, the late T. L. Shipman's father sold the island to Read, and its eastern boundary was fenced.

Miss Vera McBroome is spending this week with the party of girls chaperoned by Mrs. N. B. Parkhurst, at Pleasant View.

The Epworth League had planned a business meeting and weenie roast to be held on Cheney's hill in Lisbon Monday night. The weather proving unsuitable the business was conducted in the church vestry, after which there was a social time, with refreshments.

Mrs. Zegeer did not accompany her husband on his trip to South Carolina.

E. M. Gray's residence, Broad View, on Taylor Hill, the highest point in Jewett City, is receiving decoration and painting.

W. Byron Sweet, a student at Mt. Hermon college, is at home for the summer vacation.

Griswold appears to be a wonderfully prolific habitat for dog-bane. The cemetery in the rear of the Baptist church, in spite of many efforts to keep it neat, is grown up to dog-bane, its generic, and one of its English titles, arose from the belief, which formerly prevailed, that it was poisonous to dogs. Its duties in that line seem to have played out in this section, for the cemetery is overrun with dogs as well as with the erect and branching shrub. Those who are adding this flower to their amateur herbariums will find this small and inconspicuous blossom to be very beautiful if closely examined. The entomologist will find interest as well, for the dog-bane beetles are numerous on the plant of the same name. They are among the handsomest of local insects and are bright little creatures of metallic red and green.

Mrs. Charles Palmer and children, Lorraine and George, are spending two weeks at the Wigwam, Lord's Point.

Mrs. W. Yorke and daughter Doris and Mrs. Stillweager of Richmond Hill, N. Y., are at Elm Tree Farm, guests of Mrs. John Carlson for July.

Here is a MESSAGE to the Woman Who Desires a SLENDER FIGURE

"What a difference excess fat makes in a woman—By using SAN-GRI-NA I lost 30 lbs. and my friends all say how well I look again."—Writes Mrs. Zollo, beautiful Chicago Woman.

Without injuring your health or having to diet or exercise, you can today easily take off 5 to 6 pounds a week with a French prescription conveniently put up in a small tablet called SAN-GRI-NA. Since SAN-GRI-NA has been introduced in America, it has met with such tremendous success that Doctors, Specialists, Nurses and even a former Health Commissioner, have thoroughly investigated it, and now exclusively recommend it to fat people as absolutely harmless and most effective. If you have been fat for years; if your case is most obstinate; if you have tried everything advertised without success; if you suffer from puffing, high blood pressure, tired feeling—simply do this:

Get a package of SAN-GRI-NA from any good druggist, (do not accept any imitation—you will save yourself from disappointment), take two small tablets before each meal, and watch your weight gradually go down and your health and appearance improve. Not only will SAN-GRI-NA do away with fat, but almost from the moment you start taking it you will feel a wonderful change in your entire system. Thousands of people have been benefited by SAN-GRI-NA, and are sending in most gratifying reports. These cases vary in reducing from 5 to 75 pounds or more in a remarkably short time; and many say that "almost immediately after taking SAN-GRI-NA they felt 100 per cent better." BEWARE OF IMITATIONS!

Prominent American Specialists, Doctors and Former Health Commissioner Exclusively Recommends

SAN-GRI-NA
FOR FAT PEOPLE

On sale at any good drug or department store. If your druggist does not carry San-Gri-Na in stock he can get it from his wholesaler or you can send a money order or check for $1.50 direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 1541 Broadway, N. Y. City.

EXASPERATING ADVICE

Instead of hearing advice from John Hays Hammond, chairman of the powerless fact-finding commission, not to bid up anthracite coal while mine owners and miners haggle over negotiations for a new agreement, the public would be more interested to see some active move taken to do away with this bi-ennial threat of a coal famine. As day by day passes and no progress is reported towards a settlement, the strike situation becomes more acute.

There are two things to bear in mind, however. The national government is at present powerless to intervene. Even if troops were ordered to the hard coal field they would not be able to mine the coal. The other point to remember is that the federal government should not be so impotent as to permit so essential an industry to hide behind a one-state monopoly to the great cost of consumers elsewhere.

What Mr. Hammond's advice is intended to avert is a buyers' panic. But there would be no buyers' panic, if the public had any assurance that President Coolidge would seek some action beyond appointing a fact-finding commission without power to put its findings into execution. The patience of the public has about worn out with these periodic crises in the coal industry, and with the heretofore futile efforts of the government towards relieving the situation.

Enough coal may have been mined to last to Christmas, but it is certain that the profiteer will not be restrained in his gambling on a sharp rise for the coal required later. It is this supply that makes the householders of New England nervous. Washington has almost leaned over backwards in its desire to give miners and mine owners fairplay, but there is a larger element that should engage the attention of legislators. This is the coal buying public. It has been apparent repeatedly that Pennsylvania has no intention of regulating the anthracite fields as her own intra-state affair. With so large a part of the hard coal industry dependent upon inter-state demand, no better time than now could be found to guarantee consideration of the interests of those without the state of Pennsylvania. If some serious move in this direction were made, the haggling negotiators might be able to see the handwriting on the wall and come to a reasonable settlement before the strike date.

CHINESE EXCHANGES

Through dispatches from Washington it appears that substantial accord has been reached between the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy on the programme for presentation to the provisional government of China. If finally accepted by these nations, it will call for a conference to consider revision of Chinese customs duties with the intention of giving the Peking administration a larger income with which to conduct affairs. There will also be a commission to inquire into extraterritoriality, under which foreign nations maintain their own courts for the trials of disputes in China affecting their own nationals. Both of these are steps that could not be avoided short of a betrayal of confidence, for both were included in action taken at the Washington conference of 1921-1922, dealing with armament limitations and Pacific problems.

So little information has been made available by the world capitals, particularly Washington, London and Tokio, which have most at stake in China, that it is difficult to judge as to probabilities. There is no longer any doubt that there is definiteness to the present far east movement. It is led by the better element in Chinese life that is seeking to create and maintain a national spirit. That does not mean necessarily that everything that is being demanded can be justified when all factors are considered. Certainly that must be true of extraterritoriality, which, if relinquished at once might be followed by a disruption that would react on the best interests of all. The Chinese question is tied to the United States quite as much as it is to Europe. Our past interest in China's welfare, coupled with the importance of our present relations in the Pacific, makes the present situation one in which the American government will bear an important part. For that reason, the details, as well as the broad outline of what is contemplated should engage close attention when they are forthcoming. Halfway action might, conceivably, allay present unrest, although that is by no means certain. It would, however, even if successful, be followed by new complications. This is the time for a conference that will be widely comprehensive.

DIVORCE

Divorce, compared with either the total population or the total married population in the United States is on the increase. Of the 48 states, 40 showed an increase in the total number of permanent legal separations in 1923, when compared with 1922 on a percentage basis. Two thirds of the divorces were granted to men and women who had been married less than ten years. In 1923 the marriage rate also showed a gain, but not nearly so large for the whole country as the gain for divorce. There is an astounding and persistent increase in the divorce figures.

The institution of marriage is, of course, not threatened, but when the number of divorces continues to mount faster than the growth in population there is need for a scrutiny of conditions. While the bureau does not go into that side of the situation, its data seems to imply that hasty weddings are encouraged by loose marriage laws, and common observation points to this type of union as the one most likely to be severed. Up to 1570 divorce was not so prevalent as to cause uneasiness, and the habit of early marriage was common. If tradition is to be trusted, even marriages at an early age were not then entered into without extensive consideration of all that was involved.

The home was the center of most social life a half century ago and women did not figure in the business world. Today many homes are hardly more than a place from which to pivot, and women are actively engaged in commercial occupations. Such things and social and economic modifications bear on the problem. It is difficult to imagine a home without a woman who is capable of managing all its details in a thorough manner. Many women can do so who followed business pursuits before marriage; but many are unprepared for such tasks just as many husbands are so engrossed in their vocations that the business of being a husband is neglected.

So between men and women the blame for unsuccessful marriages must be divided rather equally. The peril of divorce puts on both a heavy responsibility. Until now it has not been met in a manner that insures increased respect for the meaning of marriage. The existence of contented homes is a national asset, and when divorce exists on its present scale it becomes a serious matter for the country as well as those directly concerned.

PROSPERITY PROOF

The loading of freight cars ought to be nearly the best index of the state of industry and commerce in the country. It shows how people are buying and selling. It provides a measures of agricultural production and the shipment of manufacturers. It tells us whether orders are many or few, whether factories are busy or idle, whether the railroads themselves are likely to make large returns upon their huge investments in rails, roundhouses, buildings, equipment and rolling stock.

Between January 1 of this year and July 4, the carriers loaded 25,162,080 cars with revenue producing freight. This number is 306,456 more than in the same period last year; it exceeds the first six months of 1923 by 1,219,024 cars. It is, in fact, an entirely new record in the railroad business.

A few weeks ago there were some whispers of a blighted prosperity. They went so far, indeed, as to charge the administration at Washington, intent upon establishing permanent government economy, with setting a pattern in uneconomic miserliness. The calamity howlings tend to prove that somebody was crying out before he was hit, that prosperity of a deep and unspectacular kind was rolling up records that nobody was seeing.

HECTIC LIFE

"Listen," commanded the pretty young woman with a gleam in her eye. "You have told me, in your sweetly malicious way, about my blow cuff and crooked collar, and you have asked how it happened that I put more paint on my right cheek than on my left. If you will just let up I will tell you all about it. You know I went to Rosewood Park to spend the week-end with Aunt Angela?"

"Yeh," said the other young woman. "I knew it. You wanted to get out of the hurly-burly."

"Exactly," continued the first young woman. "Aunt Angela met me at the station Saturday noon and shoved me into her car, remarking: 'We'll have to into her car, remarking: 'We'll have to cle George is the village banker. We drove up to the bank. Aunt Angela honked the horn and we waited. Every few seconds Aunt Angela would wail, 'Oh, why doesn't George hurry? Cook will be furious about luncheon.'

"In about five minutes Uncle George came out and we started off. Aunt Angela was lecturing him energetically about being late when she suddenly stopped the car in front of a shop.

"'I simply have to run in here a moment,' she declared and disappeared.

"Uncle George chatted nicely for a time, then began to squirm. 'What on earth is keeping Angela?' Why doesn't she hurry?' He sat and fumed for fifteen minutes, when Aunt Angela came out and began to hurry again.

"We reached the house. At Aunt Angela's earnest request for haste I rushed upstairs and washed my face and hands. Then I flew back down the steps, where I presumed a gradually cooling luncheon was being watched over by an agonized hostess and cook.

"Aunt Angela and Uncle George were nervously turning the pages of some magazines in the library. My aunt looked up and hissed under her breath: 'I wonder why she does not get luncheon ready? She knows we are in a hurry. I told her the Rogerses were coming to take us to the golf club.'

"A half-hour later a slim, efficient-looking woman announced luncheon. I was just bury my teeth in a delicious roll and was contemplating with joy the most excellent meal I had had in some time when Uncle George burst forth. 'Remember, girls, we must not keep the Rogerses waiting. I tried to speed up my eating and immediately burned my tongue on hot souffle.

"After luncheon I did so want to put on my new sports suit, but Aunt Angela was worried about keeping the Rogerses waiting, and I would do very nicely as I was. So we all put on our hat, clasped our wraps to our arms and waited breathlessly on the edge of our chairs. In just one hour a car drove up filled with laughing, happy, sports-clad people. And we reeled out, battered wrecks after all that tension.

"The situation began to grow appalling when I heard Mrs. Rogers say that she was afraid we would not be ready because they were about half an hour earlier than they had told Aunt Angela to expect them. I was so conscious of my tousled appearance that all afternoon I sat dumb and miserable on the club porch.

"I kept hoping to myself that they would give me time to freshen up a bit before evening. So I was delighted when we arrived home to hear Uncle George announce jovially, 'You two girls have just thirty minutes to primp, for I am going to take you to the movies right after dinner.'

"Thirty golden minutes! What couldn't I do in thirty minutes! I did a marathon up the steps and tore open my dressing case. I began to sing happily to myself. But just then Aunt Angela tapped on the door and called, 'Better hurry, dearie!' And would you believe it! I couldn't do another thing right.

"I gave up then and there. The rest of my stay with Aunt Angela is a blur. I have a hazy, confused remembrance of hurrying through dinner, hurrying to the movies, hurrying to bed, hurrying to get up, hurrying to church, hurrying to dinner, then just hurrying hurrying, and where to I'm blessed if I know.

"Aunt Angela had me up at 5 o'clock this morning so that I could get back to town and to the office on time. Uncle George hurried me to the train. When I got to this office I found I was just an hour too early. But I don't care. I am so happy to be back in the old workshop where one can loaf a bit.

"Excuse me a moment, the boss is calling. 'Well, what do you know about that! He says he has some letters he wants to get off in a hurry!'"—Exchange

From Small Beginnings

Toussaint L'Ouverture, the Slave, a Great Negro Leader

The French revolution led to an insurrection in Haiti. British soldiers landed, and would have won Haiti if it had not been for the remarkable military skill, the superb daring, and the intense patriotism and ambition of a man who had been a slave in the island of which he now became master.

Toussaint L'Ouverture was the son and grandson of slaves, but his grandfather had been an African chief. The grandson inherited a thirst for power and knowledge.

In spite of his slavery, he learned to read, studied, and became a physician. Because he could rule others the white people made him an overseer of slaves. Then the time came when rebellion arose against the government of Haiti, and the slave became an officer of black followers. Every opportunity increased his ability, and he became leader of a great mass of liberty-loving blacks.

With genius, he organized a powerful army, and announced himself Governor of Haiti for life. The French now sent a strong force to subdue him, but his colored soldiers, who war-griped their leader, fought like fiends. The French could not conquer the slave.

Finally, treachery did what warfare could not. The French gave Toussaint L'Ouverture solemn guarantees, and he surrendered. His enemies promptly violated their oaths, took him to France, put him in prison, and kept him there until he died.

Toussaint L'Ouverture stands out in history as one of the greatest men the black race has produced. A man who rose from the depths of slavery and became a soldier, an organizer, a statesman, and a leader of his people in a death battle for liberty.

A Little Talk on Thrift

How Great Railroad Practices Thrift

The Pennsylvania railroad has conducted experiments with gratifying results at its Trenton shops. From scrap received from various points on the New Jersey division alone it saved $120,000 in one year. Nothing is too lowly to have its chance again to help the railroads to run. From a tiny nut to a big brakebeam, articles were picked out of the piles and used over again. The $120,000 saving from these scraps represented such items as 241,000 pounds of miscellaneous car castings and forgings, 22,000 brake shoes of all kinds, most of them picked up along the right-of-way; 2,847 brake beams, 49 smokebox doors for all types of locomotives, and 63 standard log chains. In one year more than 181,480 pounds of lead was reclaimed. It was molded into standard ingots and distributed among the railroad's storehouses.—The Thrift Magazine.

NEARLY 10,000 MILES OF FEDERAL AID ROADS LAST YEAR

Nine thousand four hundred and forty-five miles of Federal-aid road was brought to completion during the fiscal year ending June 30. An additional 4,587 miles is reported but has not been finally inspected and accepted, according to the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States department of agriculture.

The outstanding result of the year's work has been the large mileage of continuous highway routes made available. In practically every state gaps in through routes have been closed and many extensions made. Probably the most notable project opened to traffic is the Wendover Cut-off across the Great Salt Lake Dessert, which has removed an age-old obstacle to transcontinental traffic.

All the construction has been on the designated 175,000 mile Federal-aid highway system which is to serve as the main road system for the nation. At the beginning of the fiscal year 35,452 miles had been completed with Federal aid, and the year's work brings the total to more than 46,000 miles in service, since a considerable portion of the 17,123 miles reported as under construction has already been opened to traffic.

Texas led in mileage completed during the year with 784 miles, followed by South Dakota with 456 miles, Illinois with 431 miles, and Minnesota with 429 miles.

A farmer in the Ozark mountains subscribed $3,000 to the University of Missouri building fund. When a collector came, the farmer "signed" his check with an "X." Unable to read or write himself, he wished to help others to get an education.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

"For the application of botany to the development of the raw materials of the Empire," the British Society of Arts has awarded the Albert medal for 1925 to Sir David Prain, who for twenty years, until his resignation quite recently, had served as the director of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew. The latest honor bestowed upon him marks Sir David's work in connection with the production of that most valuable drug, quinine. By organizing the government's cinchona plantations, which annually yield vast quantities of quinine, he has brought this drug within reach of every part of the world and has thereby saved countless lives. Sir David is a native of Scotland, was educated at Aberdeen and Edinburgh universities. He entered the Indian Medical service in 1884 and for many years was curator of the Calcutta Herbarium and director of the Botanical Survey of India.

Stories That Recall Others

Pleased With Herself.

Two well dressed women were heard in a conversation on a street car. One asked the other whether she had seen some men standing in front of the stores of a drug company handing out samples of chewing gum.

"And, say, do you know," said one, "I walked down one street and around through another and I passed four stores and got four pieces of gum."

And she smiled in a way to show she was well pleased.

Not Quite Enough.

MacTavish had been invited to spend an evening at a friend's house listening to a wireless program.

At its conclusion the host said: "Well, Mac, what could a Scotsman desire better than that? Singing, instrumentalists, a talk on blue bottles, opera, news and dance music—all for nothing."

"Aye," said MacTavish, "but we didna have any acrobats."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Longlegs Loses His Temper.

A temper lost is sense mislaid,
And seldom has it ever paid.
—Old Mother Nature.

Longlegs, the Great Blue Heron, had for some time been getting an excellent living at the Smiling Pool and along the Laughing Brook near it. He couldn't recall when fishing had been better. So he had spent more and more time up there. The fishing of Rattles the Kingfisher and Mrs. Kingfisher hadn't disturbed him. There were fish enough for all, and so long as enough of them went down that long neck of his he felt good-natured. It wasn't that the six young Kingfishers required so many more fish, it wasn't that at all. It was the fact that in learning to catch them, the young Kingfishers were so awkward and so clumsy that they frightened many times as many as they caught.

Time and again Longlegs, standing motionless in the water, would see a school of little fish swimming straight toward him. He would stand motionless with his head drawn back between his shoulders ready to be shot forward the instant those fish came within reach. Then, without warning, there would be a clattering rattle behind him, and splash in amongst those little fish would go one of the Kingfisher youngsters. Then up he would come, sometimes with a fish and sometimes without, while that school of little fishes would be scattered in every direction.

Day after day this happened and Longlegs said nothing. But at last he lost his temper. One of these young Kingfishers caught a little fish almost under Longlegs very bill. It was more than he could stand. Like lightning his long, sharp bill shot forward and down. It was fortunate for that young Kingfisher that he was just beyond reach. As it was he dropped the fish he had just caught, and with a scream of fright, flew to a tree on the bank. Rattles and Mrs. Kingfisher came hurrying up to find out what the trouble was about. When the frightened young Kingfisher had told them, they flew over to where Longlegs the Heron was once more patiently waiting. Such a racket as they made as they darted down at him, and threatened to peck his eyes out. At first Longlegs ignored them. But pretty soon he lost his temper again and struck angrily at them whenever they came near.

"Why don't you teach your youngsters not to spoil the fishing of an honest fisherman?" he screamed. "If one ever comes within my reach he'll never fish again."

He couldn't recall when fishing had been better.

"If you don't like the fishing here why don't you go somewhere else?" retorted Rattles. "This fishing is free to everybody. Our children have just as much right to fish here as you have, you great big robber."

Poor Longlegs. He was quite helpless. He knew he had been very foolish to lose his temper for he knew that when he had lost his temper he had lost his dignity, and a Heron without dignity is a sorry looking bird. He spread his great wings and flew to the other end of the Smiling Pool. But there he found a young Kingfisher fishing. He flew across to the other side of the Smiling Pool, and there was a young Kingfisher there. Wherever he went he found a young Kingfisher fishing. Finally, with a croak of disgust, he flew away toward the Big River. It hadn't paid to lose his temper.

BOXING SHOW FOR FREE OPERA FUND

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—Humbert J. Fugazy, who promoted the recent Wills-Weinert and Walker-Greb boxing matches at the Polo Grounds today laid before the New York state athletic commission a proposition to join boxing and open air opera.

Fugazy would engage the prospective match between Mickey Walker, champion, and Dave Shade of California, for the welterweight title, at Ebbets field in September, the profits to go to the fund for free municipal opera.

Much depends, however, on Shade and Walker agreeing to battle for any cause whatsoever. The commission postponed consideration until next week's meeting. August 15 is the last day of grace for Walker, who agreed to meet his California challenger before he was permitted to engage Greb at the Polo Grounds.

Jack Burke of Pittsburgh, light heavyweight who was trounced by Jack Delaney at Coney Island last week, was suspended for sixty days for attacking the referee when the fight was stopped.

Stamford Tennis

STAMFORD, July 28.—(AP)—Third round matches in the Fairfield county tennis championship tournament at the Stamford Yacht club today resulted as follows:

Walter E. Houghton, Jr., Stamford, defeated J. H. Barnum, Norwalk, 6-1, 6-0.

T. H. Williams, Bridgeport, defeated James E. Ewing, Yonkers, 6-1, 7-5.

George F. Goodyear, New Haven, defeated Harvey Husted, White Plains, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Husted injured his ankle in the first game but continued the set.

One game was played in the doubles, Arthur Wheeler and Walter E. Houghton, Jr., defeating William Smart, Jr., and William Barton, Stamford, 6-3, 6-0.

Lott Coming to New York.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—George M. Lott, Jr., national Junior champion and ninth in the national tennis rankings, will arrive in New York tomorrow to prepare for his participation in the East vs. West matches at Forest Hills, N. Y., August 7 and 8.

ADVANCE IN POSTAL RATES CAUSING TROUBLE

Although the advance in postage rates went into effect last April there are still many people who do not thoroughly understand the new rates. This results in considerable delay over the forwarding of mail as it is held up for postage due.

People make many mistakes with respect to special delivery, because the old rate was 10 cents on everything. They merely put a ten-cent stamp on the mail. They should pay attention to the weight of a package, because in many cases a 15-cent or 20-cent stamp is necessary. Of course where there is a package weighing between two and ten pounds, 15 cents would be necessary. If merely 10 cents is on, this from two-to-ten pound package is held awaiting for the 5 cents postage due. Thus speed is lost by the mailer, and te post office is blamed for its delay in handling this package.

The most important thing for the public to observe in connection with these rates is;

Newspapers and magazines sent by private individuals to other individuals, which formerly took one cent for each four ounces, or fraction, now require two cents for each two ounces, or fraction.

Parts of newspapers take 1 1-2 cents for each two ounces, or fraction. The old rate used to be 1 cent for each two ounces, or fraction. Parts of newspapers should be so marked on the wrapper.

Private mailing cards which used to be 1 cent for the ordinary card, now take 2 cents.

On every parcel post package there is now a service charge of 3 cents, in addition to the regular postage.

In order to insure prompt delivery of parcel post, there is a special handling charge of 25 cents, which gives it as speedy transportation as first-class mail. This special handling charge covers transportation on the railroad. A special delivery stamp, in addition to the special handling stamp, will give it speedy delivery after it reaches its destination, being sent out from the destination post office by special messenger.

On each package sent to all foreign countries, there is a terminal charge of 3 cents a pound, in addition to the regular postage, (which is 12 cents a pound), except Gaudeloupe, Haiti, Japan and Peru, where there is no terminal charge.

The rates for domestic postage which went into effect April 15, 1925, follow:

Domestic Postage

First class: Letter and written and sealed matter, 2 cents for each ounce. Government postal cards, 1 cent each. Private mailing or post cards, 2 cents each.

Second class; Newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals containing notice of second-class entry, 2 cents for each 2 ounces up to 8 ounces and fourth-class zone rates, plus 2 cents service charge, on each parcel over 8 ounces.

Third class (limit 8 ounces:) Circulars and other miscellaneous printed matter, also merchandise, 1 1-2 cents for each 2 ounces. Books (including catalogues) of 24 pages or more, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, scions, and plants, 1 cent for each 2 ounces.

Fourth class (over 8 ounces): Merchandise, books, printed matter, and all other mailable matter not in first or second class.

NEW YORK DRIVER HELD UNDER BONDS OF $500

Unable to raise bonds of $500 Jack J. Burney, 29, of No. 423 West 42nd street, New York city, remained locked up at police headquarters Tuesday and Tuesday night on a charge of driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor. He also faces an additional charge, that of evading responsibility, which it is understood will be brought against him in the Montville town court.

Burney's arrest followed a chase from Montville to this city after his machine had collided with a machine owned and driven by Dr. Lester Walker of Norwich. The accident happened about noon Tuesday. Dr. Walker, with passengers, was driving towards New London. While he was driving through Montville he noticed a Nash touring car approaching at a fast rate of speed and headed directly for his machine, a Hupmobile coupe.

Dr. Walker pulled over to the right side of the road but the oncoming Nash crashed into him disabling his machine. The driver of the New York machine failed to stop and kept on towards this city. About the time of the accident Thomas Leahy who was headed for this city arrived on the scene. Dr. Walker hailed him and after explaining that the New York machine which hit him had kept going, Mr. Leahy took the doctor in his machine and set chase for the New Yorker.

Mr. Leahy overtook the speeding Nash touring car on West Thames street, near the Thamesville schoolhouse, drove him towards the sidewalk by cutting in front of him, and brought him to a halt. He then got a police officer and Burney was taken in charge by Officer John O'Neil. When Burney's car was searched several bottles of liquor were found. Burney was booked at police headquarters and in default of $500 bonds was locked up.

The state police, notified of the accident, conducted an investigation and questioned Burney at police headquarters. After Burney's case is disposed of in the city court in this city, it is probable that he will be taken to Montville for trial in the town court there on a charge of evading responsibility.

Both machines were considerably damaged in the crash. A hub cap and left running board on the Nash were smashed and the radiator and motormeter were damaged. Dr. Walker's car, which suffered considerable damage, and which was put out of commission, was towed to this city for repairs.

CORONER'S FINDING IN GRADE CROSSING FATALITY

That the death of Moses J. Solomon, 40, of this city, who was fatally injured when his machine was hit by a train at a grade crossing in Moosup last January, was purely accidental is the finding of Coroner Jeremiah J. Desmond, made public Tuesday. In his findings the coroner says:

On January 23rd, 1925, at, or about 5:20 o'clock p. m., said Moses J. Solomon, operating a Dodge coupe, was approaching the grade crossing in Moosup where the tracks of said railroad company cross Main street a short distance easterly of the Moosup railroad station; he was alone in the coupe, and was travelling slowly; Mr. Solomon was on the southerly side of the crossing, on Main street, moving northwardly; there was a locomotive steam engine attached to a freight train at the station on Mr. Solomon's left; the alarm bell at the grade crossing was ringing; the freight train was on a side track; just as Mr. Solomon drove the coupe onto the grade crossing the engine drawing a regular passenger train, from Providence to Willimantic, and coming on Solomon's right, struck his automobile, and he was fatally hurt by the collision; the latter engine sounded its whistle as it approached the crossing, and was slackening its speed preparatory to stopping at the station; Mr. Solomon's attention was manifestly concentrated on the freight engine on his left, and he did not notice the passenger engine on his right, but drove onto the tracks when he perceived that the crossing was safe from the freight engine; just as he had come onto the track he apparently detected the passenger engine on his right, and opened the door of the coupe on his left, hoping to be able to get out before the coupe would be struck by the passenger train engine; but there was then no time for him to leave the coupe, which was struck whilst he was still within it. He was taken immediately after the accident to the Backus Hospital at Norwich, Conn., where he died from said injuries on the 26th day of January, 1925. He was a careful and experienced automobile operator. The passenger train was on schedule time, and its approach to the crossing could have been easily observed, by Mr. Solomon if he had glanced to his right before driving onto the tracks.

There were several persons who saw the accident, and whose testimony establishes the material facts of the accident.

I am satisfied, and find that the death of said Moses J. Solomon was not caused by the criminal act, omission, or negligence of any other person or persons.

PROF. HUGH KINDER SCORES IN CONCERT AT PINE GROVE

A Niantic correspondent writes: The annual summer concert given Thursday evening, at Pine Grove auditorium, Niantic, presented a fine array of professional entertainers. Conspicuous among the musicians was Prof. Hugh Kinder, well known concert singer and teacher, of Norwich. Prof. Kinder possesses a voice of wonderful range and calibre and as an interpreter of vocal art his work is always a delight to even the most critical. The audience was captivated and greeted the singer with rounds of applause. Prof. Kinder leaves directly to fill concert engagements at Queen City park, Vermont, Montreal and Ottawa.

Miss Una Merkel, who for four seasons played in pictures under the management of Golden and who is at present a member of a big New York production, "Pigs," appeared in dramatic readings to the delight of all.

Althea Gerlach, a youthful and graceful toe dancer, was enthusiastically received.

A. Hazen Stoddard, formerly leading man in stock, and lately featured on the big circuits, appeared in character impersonations, accompanied on the piano by Prof. Kinder. His numbers brought rounds of applause.

These concerts have become exceedingly popular among summer guests at Ping Grove and surrounding resorts.

ARE MAKING EXTENSIVE TOUR OF COUNTRY

Charles and Raymond Tarnowski, of St. Regis avenue, left Norwich Tuesday on a motorcycle trip throughout the country. They are carrying a camping outfit with them and their motorcycle is equipped with a sidecar. They will first tour the New England states, afterwards going to New York and on through the northern states to the west coast. They will return through the southern states and expect to arrive back in Norwich by the summer of 1927. The brothers will spend the winter months in the southern states.

THAMESVILLE BOY REPORTED MISSING IS FOUND

Police headquarters was notified Tuesday evening that Paul Sowa, the 12 year old local boy, reported as missing during the day had been found. It turned out that he had been to a neighboring farm. The boy's mother reported to the police Tuesday that the boy had left home to attend the Polish school and had failed to return home. The family live on Potter Place, off Dunham street.

OUT OF TOWN DRIVERS VIOLATED TRAFFIC RULES

A Utica, N. Y., autoist and a Willimantic woman driver got into difficulties Tuesday over the local traffic rules. They were given red tags and booked at police headquarters on charges of violating local ordinances. Their cases will be disposed of at the city court session this (Wednesday) morning.

STATE HOSPITAL PATIENTS PASS THE 2,000 MARK

The Norwich State hospital has shown a rapid growth in the number of patients listed during the recent years and early this week passed the 2,000 mark for the first time since the hospital was established in Preston.

Dr. Franklin S. Wilcox, superintendent of the hospital, has announced that there are now 1,015 men and 986 women at the institution, a total of 2,001, and that if the hospital family continues to grow as it has in past months this figure will be increased shortly.

Every year has seen a growth in the size of the hospital family and a number of new buildings have been constructed in the past few years to care for the increase, a majority of which are mental cases, though some are inmates of the inebriate farm or cases there for minor treatment for nerve troubles.

WORK ON MAIN STREET HILL IS PROGRESSING

The roadwork on the Main street hill from the junction of Market street to Washington Square is proceeding rapidly. The laying of the new road between the trolley rails has been completed. The street is open to trolley traffic and guards are posted at each end of the new pavement to keep vehicular traffic off that section of the street. Traffic is being routed through Water street while the improvement is under way.

This is one of the street improvements voted for at the annual city meeting in June and when completed will be welcomed by motorists who in the past have been compelled to bump along over the old and uneven cobblestones.

WILL PREACH SUNDAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The Central Baptist church is looking forward with great anticipation to the coming of Dr. M. Joseph Twomey, who is to preach both morning and evening Sunday, August 2. His morning subject will be "When Jesus Sang," and the Lord's Supper will be observed. In the evening, Dr. Twomey will preach upon "The Greatest of These."

The Central church takes pride in recalling that Dr. Twomey received his impetus to enter the Christian ministry while a member of that church. He is now pastor of the Peddie Memorial Baptist church of Newark, N. J., and is one of the outstanding Baptist leaders in the Northern Baptist Convention.

FOUR LEGGED CHICKEN AT REARDON FARM

At the John M. Reardon farm on the old Cohanzie road in Waterford, is a Rhode Island Red chicken with four legs. The chicken was hatched three weeks ago. The chicken will never have a tail like other chickens as the extra two legs are where the tail was supposed to be. They are joined together as far as the feet. Many people have been to see the curious little chick.

ON AUTOMOBILE TRIP THROUGH NEW ENGLAND

Mrs. Cora B. Remmington, of Colchester, in company with Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Banks, of Danbury, and their niece, Miss Edna Jennings, of Fairfield, is enjoying an extended automobile trip throughout the New England states. After a week spent at Old Orchard, Maine, they will go to Concord, N. H., and through Vermont to North Adams, Mass., returning home by way of the Berkshire route.

GRANITE STREET FIRE— CHIEF DAMAGE FROM SMOKE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., July 28.—An alarm from Box 39, Granite and John streets, was sounded on the bell of the Westerly fire department for a fire in the basement of the grocery store owned and occupied by Francis L. Holliday, 155 Granite street, about 9.45 Tuesday evening. The pump and a hose wagon of the fire department responded, but their services were not needed as the fire was soon extinguished. Clouds of smoke issued from the basement where the fire appeared to have started and in which was stored a quantity of salt. The damage was slight and chiefly from smoke.

FLETCHER POST WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST AGENTS

At a meeting of the executive committee of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, held Tuesday night at the Legion rooms on Main street, several of the members discussed complaints which have been made concerning ex-service men who come into the city and sell articles, the proceeds from which, they claim, are to be used for disabled veterans.

Several such cases have been brought to the attention of the Legion within the past few weeks and the members decided that the public should be warned against some of these men. In some instances the sales are open and above board but in the past, in other cities, schemes have been uncovered where magazines and other articles are sold by men, who pocket the money for themselves, although they claim the disabled veterans are benefitting.

The Legion warns against some of men and urges the citizens to get in touch with the officers of the Legion or the Norwich Chamber of Commerce if the sales do not sound right, or if the men are not really ex-service men with honorable discharges from the service.

Frank P. Chase, chairman of the house committee, reported everything ready for moving into the new Legion quarters in the Thames Bank building on Shetucket street, the latter part of this week. The Legion has secured the quarters vacated recently by the Eagles, the growth in membership of the post making it necessary to secure larger post quarters.

A committee consisting of Warren Wilcox, Samuel E. Jennes, William A. Anderson and Harry W. House, was named to arrange for securing the Norwich fair grounds for Labor day, and to bring up for post action on the first Friday in August, whether or not the post should conduct motorcycle races at the race track on Labor Day.

Plans were also discussed relative to having a booth at the fairgrounds during the County fair in September.

Matters relative to the state convention of the Legion were discussed. The local Legion plans to send a large delegation to New London to participate in the convention activities and parades.

CASE AGAINST KEENAN CONTINUED FOR WEEK

John Keenan, 20, of No. 40 Forest street, arrested Monday night in the vicinity of Franklin square on a serious charge against an 18 year old local girl, was presented in the city court Tuesday morning before Judge Arthur F. Libby. The original charge of rape was changed to criminal assault on the girl. The city attorney and counsel for the accused asked for a continuance of the case and the continuance was granted for one week by Judge Libby. Bonds were set at $500 and were furnished.

The offense is said to have been committed on October 31st, last and the complaint to the authorities was made last March at which time a warrant was drawn up for Keenan's arrest. He left town about that time and is understood to have been in New Jersey. Keenan arrived back in Norwich on Sunday and was picked up Monday night by Officer Hugh McEvoy and booked at police headquarters.

WEDDING

Bruhns-Sherman

Miss Beatrice Sherman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus T. Sherman, of Hinsdale, N. H., formerly residing at 210 Huntington street, New London, was married to George Robert Bruhns, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Bruhns of Black Hall, at the home of her parents, Friday evening. The Rev. Stanley Sherman, brother of the bride, officiated at the ceremony. The double ring service was used.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attended by Mrs. Myrtle Foster, of Beachmont, Mass. The best man was Joseph F. Nerrow, of Meriden. Ring bearers were David and Marion Sherman. The bride wore a wedding dress of white crepe de chine and a white picture hat. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The matron of honor wore a blue satin dress and carried pink roses.

Mrs. Bruhns is employed by the Connecticut Motor Transportation company as bus starter at Colchester and is a member of the Northwest Hose company of New London. Mrs. Bruhns was a member of the teaching staff of Jordan school.

They will reside in Colchester.

STATE OF WASHINGTON SPENDS MILLIONS FOR HIGHWAYS

SEATTLE, July 28.—More than $17,000,000 are to be spent on Washington state's pay-as-you-go road building program during the coming biennium. Of this sum it is estimated that $14,500,000 will be available from licenses for motor vehicles, and a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline: $2,250,000 from Federal aid, and nearly $500,000 from forest funds.

Four bridges on the Pacific Highway between Everett and Marysville in the Northwestern section of the state, will absorb $1,000,000.

During the past 20 years Washington state has appropriated $50,000,000 for highways and received $10,000,000 from the Federal aid fund and has 2,465 miles of improved highways to show for its money. Of this mileage 537 are paved and 1,770 graveled.

MORE TELEPHONES IN USE IN NORWICH

In the six months ended July 30, a net gain was made of 9,526 telephones in public service in the territory served by the Southern New England Telephone company. On the date mentioned there were 243,049 telephones in Connecticut's comprehensive communication system, reaching into every byway and crossroad.

Hartford now leads the larger cities in the number of telephones in service, but during the six months it just held its lead over New Haven. The half year increase for Hartford was 1,621 and in New Haven it was only one under that figure. Bridgeport and Waterbury are third and fourth in number of telephones in service, but in the half year Stamford made a gain of 520, which is 28 more than Waterbury added.

But all the cities and towns contributed substantial quotas to the large increase within the state, indicating a sound and improving business condition throughout Connecticut.

The number of telephones in service and the increase for the half year in some of the principal cities follow:

	Total	Gain
Hartford	41,086	1,621
New Haven	40,169	1,620
Bridgeport	33,077	552
Bridgeport	23,077	552
Waterbury	14,583	494
Stamford	9,556	520
New Britain	9,018	470
Meriden	6,262	275
Norwalk	6,251	254
Norwich	5,575	170
Danbury	4,743	191
Bristol	3,973	212

CANTERBURY GREEN

The death of Charles Herrick a resident of Canterbury for about half a century occurred at his home Sunday July 19, after several years' declining health. He was born in the town of Plainfield, Nov. 4, 1848, the son of Hiram and Maria Stanton Herrick. The family later moved to Canterbury on the place near the Plain which was the Herrcik home until a few years ago, when Mr. Herrick was compelled to give up active work. He had lately lived near the Green. Funeral services were held at the house Tuesday afternoon and were largely attended. Mr. Crofts of Hanover officiated, in the absence of Rev. Ralph Knight, the regular pastor. Mr. Crofts referred to the kindly and helpful spirit of the deceased. Two hymns were sung by Mrs. Willoughby, of Scotland, and Mrs. Sager. Burial was in the family lot at Canterbury Plain. The bearers were W. Robinson, Thad Wilson, Clinton Frink and Judge Hale Bennett.

Mr. Herrick was twice married. His first wife who was Miss Jennie Williams of Canterbury and a son Frank, a young man, died many years ago. August 11, 1917, he married Myra Costello who survives him. His only living relatives are three cousins, John and George Stanton and Mrs. Ida Connor, of SanFernando, California.

Through some mistake no minister was secured for Sunday, so no church service was held.

The Ladies' Aid Society plans to meet this (Tuesday) afternoon with Mrs. H. B. Brown.

Visitors in town Saturday were Rev. M. H. Jones of Providence and a friend, Miss Truman, a teacher in that city.

Miss Lydia Lathrop has gone to New Haven where she will engage in her profession of nursing.

Guests at Lemuel Carpenter's for the week end were Mrs. Clough, a cousin of Mrs. Carpenter with her son and daughter, all of Willimantic.

Miss Lena Fipher of Plainfield is visiting Mrs. James Towne.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilcox, of Oneco, lately visited at the Apply homestead.

Nelson Lyon who has been confined to the bed with a severe cold, is able to be around the house.

Mrs. Ferguson and infant son and Dudley Ferguson are spending several days in New Jersey, motoring there with relatives, who had been visiting here.

Dr. Helen Baldwin of New York is spending her vacation with relatives at South Canterbury. Miss Lucy Baldwin is away on a trip to Nantucket.

Mrs. S. B. Hadley, Miss Hadley and Dr. Baldwin were recent visitors at Watch Hill, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Ross, of Lisbon.

Several guests assembled at the home of Nathan Exley, Sunday, on the 81st birthday of Mrs. Mary Avery, an aunt of Mrs. Exley. Cake and ice cream were served. Several gifts were brought to Mrs. Avery. An older sister, Mrs. Frances Babcock, was able to be pesent and enjoy the day. Among the relatives were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey and children, of Danielson

NAP LIBERTE OF JEWETT CITY WILL REPORT TO HARTFORD EASTERN CLUB

Once again a product of the sandlots of eastern Connecticut has graduated a player into organized baseball. This time it is Nap Liberte of Jewett City who takes the plunge into the limelight. Nap was ordered to report to Manager Paddy O'Connor of the Hartford club of the Eastern league today for a tryout at third base.

Nap is only 20 and according to Tommy Corcoran is the best infield prospect in a number of years and Tommy knows a baseball player when he sees him. The Jewett City lad has been prominent in semi-pro ball in the eastern part of the state for the past five or six years, having played with a number of teams in this section. Last year he played with the Taftville A. A. but this season has been playing with the Jewett City town team, which has been playing fast ball during the season.

The boy is at the height of his form and his hitting is well over the .300 mark. In the Norwich Twilight league Nap is tied with Bill Austin, a former leaguer, for hitting honors. His work around the hot corner has been without reproach and classes him as one of the best of the guardians of this sack.

Nap's advance leaves a hole in the Jewett City team that will be hard to fill, but his team mates and all the fans of eastern Connecticut wish Nap the best of luck.

GO BOUTS AT BRADFORD PARK FRIDAY NIGHT

Followers of the squared ring will be interested in the second of the series of outdoor boxing exhibitions at Douglas Park, next Friday night at Bradford, R. I., Promotor Sankey of the Bradford Athletic club has signed up Battling Thomas of Boston and K. O. Nolan of New York, two likely colored middleweights, who go ten rounds in the feature bout.

Young Dutchie of Providence, in the semi-finals, will swap punches with Young Coulon of Norwich for eight rounds. In a six-round mill Young Reits of Westerly will meet K. O. Moran of Providence. Lined up in two four-round bouts are Scotty Caroll and Pat Murphy, both of New London, and Kid Pancho of Bradford against Frankie Debartio of Westerly.

Conditions for the boxing exhibition are ideal at Bradford, the grounds at the end of Bowling Lane are on a higher elevation of land with unlimited facilities for the parking of automobiles, beyond the thickly settled section of the manufacturing center.

Harry King of the Bradford Dyeing association plant is the manager of the Bradford Athletic association, and from assurances given him, the arena at Douglas Park, Bradford, will be thronged with fight fans from New London and Washington counties to say nothing of those who will attend from distance cities.

HOME RUNS FEATURE GIANTS' WIN OVER CUBS

CHICAGO, July 28—(A. P.)—Five lusty home run smashes by the New York Giants gave the champions an easy victory over Chicago 10 to 3 in the first game of the series. Jack Bentley allowed the Cubs only five scattered hits and never was in great danger as his teammates played great ball behind him. Meusel collected two of the four baggers and Lindstrom and Gowdy hit their homers consecutively in the sixth inning.

Bentley got his four base smash with two men on in the seventh. Meusel's first homer was made in the first inning with one man on and the other in the eighth. Score:

RUTH HITS HOMER AND YANKS WIN

NEW YORK, July 28—(A. P.)—One old right hander proved better than two young left handers today, and New York defeated St. Louis 6 to 2. Bob Shawkey was more effective than Ernie Wingard and Chester Falk, the latter going to the mound in the seventh.

Babe Ruth hit into the bleachers for his 11th home run of the year in the seventh with Paschal on base and he drove in a run in the opening round with a single. He scored himself three times, being forced in by Wingard's wildness in the third. The Babe put a climax to the game by picking Hargrave's foul out of a pavilion box for the final out. The score:

GREENEVILLE TEAM BEATS ELIZABETH ST., 8-TO 2

Tuesday evening, Greeneville downed Matt Sheridan's Elizabeth street team to the cracking refrain of 8 to 2. This was as good a baseball contest as has been seen in National League Playground ball.

With the opening stanza of the initial inning it looked for a time as if it were a walk-away for the boys from the West Side. Serafin, first man up, hit; Siegal bunted; Serafin was nabbed while stealing; Stockdale singled; Sadinsky singled, sending Siegal to third; Ferguson passed Tombari, forcing in Siegal; Murphy went on an error, sending in Stockdale with the second run, but this proved to be Elizabeth street's last run.

After his opening wildness Scrappy Ferguson steadied down and pitched a superb game, allowing only two hits for the rest of the game, fanning eight and giving but two bases on balls. The Greeneville ace proved to be the star of the game by cracking out a clean home run and a sweet double and crossing the rubber with three runs. Side by side with Scrappy's contribution, the work of young Breen should share the lime-light. Out of four possibles Breen poled out three clean bingles and romped home with an eighth of the bacon.

In passing we cannot fail to give due credit to the splendid pitching of young Greene, star hurler of the Elizabeth street aggregation. His clever work atop the mound in all of Elizabeth street's games class him as steady and as consistent a twirler as any team in either National or American Playground league can boast. Sadinsky caught a fine game and led his team mates in hitting. Out in the high grass, Stockwell and "Henny" Reardon shone. Stockwell's perfect throws to the plate provoked murmurs of admiration from spectators. "Henny" Reardon's grandstand catch of a possible three-bagger supplied the feature of the game.

LEGERBLADE WINS PRO TITLE OF NEW ENGLAND

WAYLAND, Mass., July 25—(AP)—Herbert Legerblade of Bristol, Conn., won the New England professional golfers organization championship in the 72 hole play concluded today at the Sandy Burr Country club. His total of 302, made with rounds of 76, 79, 72 and 75, was two shots better that that of Joe Stein, of Nashua, N. H., yesterday's leader, and Jack Stait, of Hartford, Conn., who tied for second place.

Stait turned in cards of 74, 76, 71 and 83. His 71 this morning gave him a six stroke lead over Lagerblade with 18 holes to go, but the 83 in the afternoon round killed him off. However the 71 set a new record for the course and won the Sandy Burr medal offered for the best 18 hole round.

Lagerblade who was runner up two years ago, in addition to winning the medal and prize money of $150, won the Donald Ross trophy. His steadiness, combined with brilliant shots, won the championships, for both Stein and Stait lost their chances through one bad round when each scored 83.

Tom Jones, of Fall River, with 308, finished fourth and other prize winners were Alec Simpson, of Stoniington, Conn., and Willie Ogg, of Worcester, the defending champion.

MAILS WEAKENS AND BROOKLYN BEATS CARDS

ST. LOUIS, July 28—(AP)—Dazzler Mails weakened and Brooklyn defeated St. Louis 12 to 9. The Robins bunched hits in the sixth and seventh innings for 8 runs. EDERLE TO MAKE CHANNEL ATTEMPT NEXT MONDAY

BOULOGNE, France, July 28.—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, the American girl swimmer, has decided to make her attempt to conquest the English channel on Monday, August 3.

Miss Ederle will take the water at 5:45 o'clock in the morning, four hours before the tide is due to reach its height, weather conditions permitting.

Experts after having watched Miss Edrle, are of the opinion that she will succeed and probably make the trip in record time.

CENTRALS SMOTHER PALACE TEAM UNDER AVALANCHE OF HARD HITS

The league leading Centrals strengthened their hold on first place in the Twilight league Tuesday evening when they swamped the Palace aggregation under a 13 to 1 score. As in most of their previous games, the Centrals displayed a powerful hitting attack, and knocked Mike Morin's offerings all over the lot for a total of seventeen safe hits. A. Dugas, the Centrals' first baseman, accounted for four of his team hits, while Bob Cardie and Gauthier had three safeties apiece. While the Centrals were hitting everything that came over the plate, Gauthier was making the Palace team look foolish with his slow hooks, and change of pace. Although touched for nine hits, Gauthier proved invincible in the pinches, and the Palace could do little with him with men in a scoring position. Chip Dugas and Joe Jackson were the only Palace hitters who could solve Gauthier to any extent. Chip gathered three hits out of as many trips to plate, while Jackson made two out of three. Dugas also played a star game at third, accepting seven chances without a slip.

Neither team scored in the first inning. Lefty Dugas opened the game with a single to right, and was forced at second by Cardie. A. Dugas singled to right but both runners were left when both Murphy and Eccleston fied out. In the Palace half, Gauthier retired the side in order, fanning Shea, Mulcahy and Hamel.

In the second, however, the Centrals made a walk-away of the game. In this frame, thirteen men stepped to the plate, scoring nine runs on four doubles, three singles and two errors.

In the third, Holland's team counted once more on Cardie's double to left, and A. Dugas' third hit, a single to right.

In the last half of the third, the Palace scored their only run of the game. Hamel led off with a single to center and went all the way to third when Gaudette let the ball go through him. Chip Dugas beat out an infield hit to third, and Hamel crossed the plate. Keenan then hit a grounder to Yerrington, and caught Chip coming into third. Jackson singled to left but was forced a moment later on Morin's grounder to Tombari.

There was no more scoring until the first half of the final inning, when the Centrals tallied thrice on doubles by Gauthier, Cardie and A. Dugas, and a single by Eddie Murphy.

The fielding feature of the game was furnished by Gaudette, who robbed Mulcahy of a two-bagger with a one-hand running catch in the third inning. The score:

Tonight's Game.

Last night, the Centrals gave the Palace a most decided bump, not only in the game but also in the league standing, sending them from second place down to a tie for fourth place and took a firmer hold on first place themselves. With the exception of the second inning when the Centrals drove the ball to every corner of the lot scoring nine runs, it was a game well worth watching, featured by some nice catches, hitting and pitching.

Tonight, the fans for the first time in two weeks will have a chance to see the Eastern Conn. Power team in action against Hallville. Rain has interfered considerably with the Power club's schedule, keeping them idle for two weeks, much to the disappointment of their large following of fans. About three weeks ago they put a new team on the field and won two games straight, playing whirlwind ball and then and there everyone decided that they were the real contenders of the Centrals for the pennant, but since then have had to lay idle and provided rain lays off tonight will again get a chance to display their wares. The C. C. P. are now alone in second place and will have to play hard ball to stay there as Hallville is in third and will no doubt tickled to slip one over on the Power team, as they did to the Centrals three weeks ago. Manager Taylor is one of the shrewdest managers in the league and it's hard telling what kind of a stunt he will pull next.

When asked to give his lineup for tonight's game he refused but announced that he has coubed New London thoroughly and tonight he will put a team on the field that will make the Power boys know that they were in a ball game.

The E. C. P. will lineup as follows: Cormier catch, Simcox pitch, "Chick" Stanley at first, Davis on second, Ringland at short, Whitney at third and "Chick" Clabby Eddie McKay and one of the Hull boys in the outfield.

One thing that was noticed in last night's game was the fact that the game started at 6:30 and went the full seven innings. This is quite an improvement and no doubt the fans appreciated it as they all stayed until the last man was out. Umpire Morin says that from now on all the games will start promptly on time.

MISS COLLETT WINS EASILY AGAINST MRS. PHELPS

EASTERN POINT, Groton, Conn., July 28.—(AP)—One hundred and seventy-six women golfers, including the more prominent stars and championship holders, teed off today in 11 flights of match play in the second day of the seventh annual invitation tournament on the links of the Shenoussett Country club.

Miss Glenna Collett, Metacomet, the French championship holder, in a performance of almost perfect golf, defeated Mrs. Louise Phelps, Chicago, 8 and 7. Miss Collett played par golf for ten of the eleven holes when the match ended. Her long drives and accurate putting overwhelmed her Chicago opponent. On the fourth hole, Miss Collett putted clear across the green for a three and on the eleventh hole her drive landed on the green.

The day also witnessed a fine recovery of form by Mrs. Dorothy C. Hurd, Merion, last year's national champion, who yesterday was barely able to qualify for the first flight. Today she defeated Mrs. Thomas Hucknall, Forest Hills, 6 and 5. Mrs. Hurd's approaches were deadly and her putts almost uncanny at times.

One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Miss Marie R. Jenney, North Hempstead, metropolitan champion, by Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago, 4 and 3. Miss Jenney was apparently off her regular game, her drives being particularly poor for her.

Miss Helen Payson, the Maine state champion, who qualified with 90, defeated Mrs. F. E. Dubois, Westchester-Biltmore, 3 and 2.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, White Beeches, eastern champion, defeated Miss Marie Bennett, New Britain, Conn., 3 and 1, but only after a hard fought battle. Both qualified in the low 80s.

Mrs. J. B. Rose, Pittsburgh, although playing a steady game, was beaten 3 and 2 by Mrs. J. J. Thomson, Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kansas, had no difficulty in defeating Mrs. Henry Martell.

Mrs. Charles A. Downey, Springfield, Mass., had one up on Miss Audrea Addie, Williamstown, Mass.

Results in the second flight follow: Mrs. Jay Lee, Hackensack, lost to Mrs. John W. Converse, Point Judith, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Donald Belcher, Westchester-Biltmore, lost to Mrs. R. H. Barlow Merion, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Myra D. Paterson, Westchester-Biltmore, was defeated by Miss Margaret Gordon, 5 and 4.

Mrs. J. D. Woodfin, Brae Burn, won three and two from Mrs. Edwin H. Fitler, Merion.

Mrs. Charles B. Stone won by 2 and 1 from Mrs. Edward F. Shay, Metacomet.

Mrs. E. C. Stone, Belmont place, was a 2 and 1 victor over Mrs. E. L. Beard, Pocomoke.

Mrs. Charles Voorhees, Baltusrole, won 2 and 1 over Miss F. Freeman.

Mrs. A. C. McDonald, Cherry Valley, was one up on the 20th hole over Mrs. Philip Stevenson, Piping Rock.

The second round of match play tomorrow promises some good encounters. Much interest attaches to the game between Glenna Collett and Dorothy Klotz and that between Mrs. H. D. Sterrett and Mrs. Dorothy Hurd.

HEARNE SHUTS OUT BRASSCOS WITH 5 HITS

BRIDGEPORT, July 28—(AP)—Bridgeport brought Waterbury's winning streak to an end here this afternoon. Hearne allowing the visitors but five scattered hits and defeating the champions 5 to 0. Keefe's wildness allowed Bridgeport to pile up an early lead.

The tenth anniversary of the founding of the Eastern league was celebrated by a fourteening game between a team composed of former Bridgeport players and the present team. The Veterans won, 10 to 5. Dory Miller, former Bridgeport third baseman hit a home run with the bases run for the Veterans. Score:

WHITE SOX TAKE TWO GAMES FROM SENATORS

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Chicago gave the Washington Senators a severe setback today by winning both games of a double header. In the first game the White Sox drove Walter Johnson to cover, forced the Harris men to use three other pitchers, and won 10 to 5. In the second contest the Sox, after pounding two pitchers from the mound, won 6 to 2, when the game was called in the eighth because of darkness. Score:

NEW LONDON LIQUOR CAUSES MAN TO GO TO SLEEP ON RAILROAD TRACK

NEW LONDON, July 28—Pat Merrill must have been born to die a natural death. He was found with a load a mule couldn't carry, lying against the railroad tracks on Water street with one of the steel rails for a pillow, when Richard W. Mansfield happened to pass that way. The man was aroused and then he disclosed to the probation officer that money was not all that was desirable in this world. He had his supply of it or at least he had sufficient to tide him over with a comfortable lodging had he spent his money in that way. He shook out a handful of bills and they counted more than $50. He also had a postal money order that showed he had $100 on deposit where he could get it by going after it. Still his bed was on the ground and his pillow a railroad track. Mr. Mansfield did not argue with Merrill longer than to tell him he was acting most unwisely. Then Policeman Ray was asked to escort Merrill to the lockup and give him sleeping accommodations. Merrill slept the sleep of the just till he was aroused this morning and presented in the police court for having become and being found intoxicated. He said he was drunk—good and drunk. Judge Prince fined him and he left with the court some of the money he had in his fist when he was found where a train might have crushed the life out of him and sent him to an undertaker's place instead of where he finally landed.

William A. Green, a laborer, one of the army of men who claim to be on the way to or from Fishers Island to work, was collecting a crowd on State street Monday night about 10:30 when there was heavy traffic in the street and on the sidewalk. Green was doing contortion acts and the shimmy dance, while he was urged to continue by sailors and soldiers about the Salvation Army hotel front. Police Sergeant Samuel Hick was in the crowd attracted by Green, and the policeman at once put a stop to the fun by escorting Green to the police station. Green said he had been at work at the island two months, but that he had finished up. He represented that he met a friend with a bottle, after which there was nothing to it. He became drunk, and didn't realize what he was doing. That sort of story might have been partly true, but Green didn't tell the whole of it to he, was fined. He had the money to pay, so he escaped a term in jail.

Samuel Siller is old enough to realize that he cannot take unto himself a wife and live with her as such, and then desert the woman at will. He was impressed with the fact when he appeared in court today to answer for not conforming with the order given him about ten days ago which was that as he had not supported his wife for fourteen years he must now contribute $10 weekly to her. Divorce seems to be the chief object of Mrs. Siller. She wants to be rid of Samuel, and Samuel evidently desires to be rid of the woman, but he doesn't want to pay any money to accomplish that, to him, happy situation. Mrs. Siller arranged that if her husband would go before a Hebrew rabbi and be divorced in the manner recognized by the Hebrew faith she would be content with that as she could then resort to the courts of the state for legal separation that is recognized the world over. Siller didn't do as he agreed, so his wife has fire in her eye now and she threatens to sue for divorce in Fairfield county where she resides, also to seek alimony.

The Sillers resided in Bridgeport at the time of their marriage. One morning Sam left his wife and for more than fourteen years she did not hear from him. Then she learned he was in New London and doing business, so she and her brother hastened here and found her elusive spouse. He didn't attempt to escape, but he did talk until there was nothing else to be said. Today he was sentenced to three months in jail and again ordered to pay his wife $10 a week, but he appealed from that decision to the court of common pleas where he will continue to fight against payment to his wife. Siller is about 50, plausible as a Chamber of Commerce statement and possessed of good earning powers, it is said.

A group of lads that has occupied Camp Terrehegan, at Mystic, the past five weeks is to return home Thursday.

Taxpayers are complaining that street surfaces that are torn up for making gas connection with residences are not restored to the condition in which they were found, and that therefore the city is under expense to replace the surface. It was supposed that the street department of the city watched for such breaches as those complained of.

Every once in a while "Peeping Thomas" appears in one part of the city or the other, and in most instances the peeper practices his peering into the windows of bedrooms located on the ground floors. Last night, however, another form of the operation of the peeper was discovered, when a resident on Williams street informed the police that a young man had ascended a tree that was close to a house near the corner of Williams and Fremont street and had climbed to the upper part of the tree. Acting Lieutenant James D. Gaffney and Patrolmen John Sullivan and Edward Daniels proceeded to the location where it was alleged the peeper was secluded in the tree, only to find that the peeper was nowhere to be found. A search of the vicinity of Williams and Fremont street, was made by the officers, but no suspicious looking person was discovered. The informant of the police was positive of what she had reported and even declared that the peeper had a white sweater and wore a dark cap.

An automobile that had been parked on Colman street throughout the entire day yesterday was reported to the police late last night as still being alongside the highway. Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray investigated and he found that the automobile was the property of Raymond C. Davis, of Montville, and had been parked when it became disabled.

Silas Maxson, Jr., has sold a dwelling on the easterly side of Montauk avenue to John Brownell.

Clarence T. Brooks has sold a tract of land, corner of Montauk and Glenwood avenues, to Frederick S. Langdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Mix, formerly of New London, now residing in New York, are spending a few days in this city. Mr. Mix is employed by the Merritt-Chapman-Scott Wrecking company.

One of the New Haven-Shore Line busses, operated by Douglas Wilbur, 34 Ledyard avenue, Groton, in making a turn on State street, near the union station, this afternoon collided with a traffic signal, suspended from which was a lantern. The lantern was damaged and Wilbur agreed to reimburse the city for the trouble the bus occasioned.

The body of Frank A. Lemire, sailor attached to the United States Coast Guard destroyer 233, who died in an ambulance of Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital Sunday night from heart trouble, aggravated by acute indigestion, was sent to the young man's home at East Weymouth, Mass., today.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operator's license of Arthur Gagnon, a youth residing at 350 Ocean avenue, to be suspended. A machine owned by the boy's father, John J. Gagnon, and operated by the boy, was in collision with another automobile recently and the crash caused considerable damage.

George L. Kenney, chauffeur in the employ of Henry E. Russell, 1001 Ocean avenue, reported for Mr. Russell at the police station this afternoon, that two suspiciously acting men had been noticed twice during the day in the vicinity of the Russell residence. The men attracted attention because of their shabby appearance and because of the scrutiny the Russell home and other places nearby was given. One of the men was described as being tall and the other slim and both wore gray suits and felt hats. The men appeared about the Russell home during the forenoon and again during the afternoon.

Mrs. Maria B. Chaney, 163 Broad street, reported to Patrolman George Perkins this afternoon that she had been given considerable annoyance, the past day or two, because of the condition of a manhole cover at the corner of Broad and Channing streets. Mrs. Chaney declared that whenever an automobile or other vehicle passes over the cover, which is loose and in a condition out of repair, metallic noise is caused which annoys the residents of that section of the city. The cause of the annoyance was reported to the highway department.

The bathing at Ocean Beach is now at its best and from now until the season is concluded bathers are most likely to enjoy superb water as regards temperature, for several days the bathers have reported the water unusually warm.

Myron F. Ames, 50, a resident at the Y. M. C. A., died today at Lawrence-Memorial hospital where he had been under treatment about a week for abscess on the brain. Mr. Ames was a native of New London, born Dec. 9, 1877. He had always resided here and for many years was employed by the D. & Whiton Machine company. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eliza Potter and a sister, Mrs. C. S. Reynolds, both of Waterford.

Because of numerous automobile accidents at the corner of Federal and Huntington streets, a traffic signal was put into use there today.

Mrs. Mary Whiting has sold a residence and two adjoining buildings, on Phillips street, Waterford, to Arthur Freedman of this city.

Mrs. Eugene Nugent and infant son, of Uncasville; Paul Hermanns, 23 West Colt street; Loren Parks, Groton; Mrs. Peter Auer, Bradford, R. I.; Albert Iverson, 161 Howard street, and John Dart, 35 Evergreen avenue, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were able to return to their respective homes today.

Mrs. Minnie E. Hart, of Hartford, has purchased a bungalow on the banks of the Niantic river, Waterford.

There is New London interest in the Jewett City news in The Bulletin of Monday that Olin Miller, son of James W. Miller, who established and conducted the Firemen's Lunch on Bank street, has just been retired on a pension by the New Haven Railroad company. He had been on the first of July in the service of the company 38 years. Young Miller came from Kansas, where he and "dad" were in the newspaper business. Mr. Miller was married and his wife was a compositor, Jim Miller brought the western style to the east when he came and years ago his writings appeared in many of the newspapers hereabouts.

Traffic on the streets of the city was heavier this evening than it has been in some months, unless there was special occasion for calling it out. The weather was warm and owners of automobiles generally made use of them.

The sidewalk on the west side of Bank street, between Montauk and Jefferson avenues, is in need of immediate repair, the walk being in such a condition as to endanger the limbs of pedestrians. A few days ago a defective section of the sidewalk was reported to the highway department and was repaired. Tonight, Patrolman George Laboue reported that another section of the walk has become broken and users of it are liable to suffer injury of a serious nature by falling.

A double wedding was solemnized at 3 o'clock, at St. Joseph's church, when the Misses Mary and Christina Orlando, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Orlando, 170 Montauk avenue, became the brides of Reno Morelli and Richard Valentino, respectively. The double ceremony was performed by Rev. William C. Fitzsimmons, pastor of the church.

Misses Mary S. Smith and Alice Smith, 195 Williams street, are at Provincetown, Mass., where they will spend several weeks.

John Neary, formerly of New London, now residing in Jersey City, N. J., has returned home, having spent a week in New London.

MARKET WAS STRONG

NEW YORK, July 28—(A. P.)—Stock prices swept upward today in a wild outburst of bullish enthusiasm which carried fifty issues to new peak prices for the year. Total sales crossed the 3,000,000 share mark for the first time since May 21. The remarkable feature about the advance was that it took place in the face of unusually heavy profit taking, which reached sufficiently large proportions in the late trading to materially reduce, or wipe out some of the earlier gains.

Practically all groups participated in the rally but the best gains were registered by the steel, rail and automobile groups, with several strong spots also scattered among the high priced industrial specialties.

Heavy buying of the steel shares was based on predictions of an early increase in pig iron prices, and in anticipation of a favorable quarterly report by the United States Steel corporation. But a report, issued after the market closed, showed total earnings for the second quarter of $40,624,227, compared with $39,882,992 in the first quarter and $41,361,039 in the corresponding quarter last year.

United States Steel common closed nearly two points higher at 120, after having sold slightly above that figure. Independent steels sold off on realizing although Midland Steel Products preferred and Otis Steel preferred attained new peak prices.

Rails continued to discount the possibility of increased earnings and special dividend distributions this fall. Buying centered largely in the southern and western issues, new top prices being recorded by Atlantic Coast Line, Frisco common and preferred, Norfolk and Southern, "Katy" preferred, Seaboard Air Line common, Western Pacific preferred and the three Wabash issues.

White Motors was the sensational performer of the automotive group, jumping from a low of 86 3-8 to a new maximum at 95 3-4 and then yielding to 92 1-2, where it was up nearly 3 points on the day. Total sales in that issue were well over 100,000 shares. Other issues in that group to better the previous 1925 high prices were General Motors, Fisher Body, Chrysler and Hayes Wheel.

Crude Rubber, which is reported to have large inventories of crude rubber at low prices, also established a new peak for the month.

Dupont and Brown Shoe each soared to other points to new record prices the net gains of 2 1-2 to nearly 5 points were recorded by American Foundation company, General Motors Trucks, Westinghouse preferred and a few others. International Combustion Engineering moved up on the announcement of a substantial increase in foreign business.

Gains were recorded by such unseasoned issues as American Commercial Alcohol, American Ice, American Safety Razor, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit preferred, Certainteed Products Corporation, Detroit Edison, International Harvester, Maryland Oil, Motor Wheel, Postum Cereal, Remington Typewriter and Woolworth.

Sterling again ruled unchanged at 4 cents. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm, at 4 to 4 1-2 per cent. Strength of the Scandinavian currencies again featured the foreign exchange market. Danish kroner ruled strong, just under 24 cents and Norwegian kroner moved up to new peaks to 18.05 cents, the highest in two years. Demand sterling was heavy, above 4.85 1-2 and francs ruled steady around

NORWICH, CONN., WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1925

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS DESPATCHES

The Bulletin.

Norwich Wednesday, July 29, 1925

THE WEATHER

Conditions

The disturbance that was off Nahtucket Monday night has advanced to Nova Scotia with a trough extending southwestward to North Carolina, while the disturbance that was north of Lake Ontario has remained practically stationary.

During the last 24 hours, scattered showers and thunderstorms have occurred over the Rocky Mountain region and the north portion of the states along the lower lakes and the eastern coast and in the middle and north Atlantic states it has become cooler in the Ohio valley, the lower lake region and the n rth portion of the middle Atlantic states. Elsewhere temperature changes have been unimportant.

The outlook is for mostly fair weather Wednesday, and Thursday in the states east of the Mississippi river except that there will be showers on Wednesday in the eastern lower lake region, the extreme north portion of the middle Atlantic states and in northern New England. It will be cooler on Wednesday in the south portion of the middle Atlantic states.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Fresh southwest and west and weather partly overcast with occasional showers Wednesday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh possibly strong southwest and west and weather partly overcast with occasional showers Wednesday.

Forecast

Eastern New York: Partly cloudy Wednesday, probably showers in north portion, continued cool; Thursday fair.

For southern New England: Partly cloudy Wednesday; slightly cooler in southwest portion; Thursday fair.

TAFTVILLE

The committee in charge of arrangements for the Pioneer Day celebration met Monday evening at Ponemah hall with John B. Benoit presiding. The team captains who have charge of coming the village for cards reported that they were meeting with fine success and that all the workers are contributing to make the affair a memorable one for Taftville on Monday (Labor Day), the committee has planned to have something doing every minute for the entertainment of the visiting Pioneers. A Norman band has been engaged to furnish the music, and there is to be a big clambake on Ponemah Heights served by the famous King George boys. There will be drills by the Tumbling section of the Maennerchor Verein and community singing of popular and old time songs. Plans have been made for a baseball game between the visiting Pioneers and the local Pioneers. Committees were appointed to take care of the minor details and many reports were on hand from people who now reside in other places who are counting the days to the big old home week celebration.

A meeting of the Taftville Business Men's Association was held Monday evening with President Frank Belque in the chair. The annual outing of the association is to be held on August 20th at the drawbridge. Joseph Dugas was named as chairman of the outing committee and he will appoint his own committee.

Francis Lester Pingree of North Broad avenue and Jack Houston of South second avenue have returned from Camp Tippecan the Boy Scout Camp at Beach Pond, where they have been spending the past week.

Miss Edith Adams has returned to her home on North Third avenue after spending a week in North Stonington as the guest of Miss Roberta Ferguson.

Joseph Bazinet has been confined to his home in Occum with an injury to his arm.

Miss Helen Allard of South B street is an appendicitis patient at the William W. Backus Hospital, Norwich.

The Occom-on Camp Girls are to leave Saturday for Groton Long Point where they are to spend a week at the Wigwam cottage, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther D. Parsons of North A street. The group is to be in charge of the guardian, Mrs. Edwin Gordon Crowdis, and the assistant guardian, Mrs. John Volkman.

Fred Seidel, of the Baltic Mills office staff, is enjoying his annual vacation.

Mr. and Hormidas Disco, and family of North B street are to leave Monday for a motor trip to the Province of Quebec, Canada, and plan to visit the city of Quebec, Sherbrooke and St. Anne de Beaupre.

At Groton Long Point.

Mrs. G. H. Roberts of 191 Broad street, who has been ill for several weeks is convalescing at her bungalow at Groton Long Point.

The style of beauty that a man prefers generally depends upon the girl he is with.

FOR BURNING ECZEMA

Apply Zemo, the Antiseptic Liquid—Easy to Use

When applied as directed Zemo effectively removes Eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also Sores, Burns, Wounds and Chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive antiseptic liquid, that is especially adapted for daytime use because it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, antiseptic and healing, 25c. All druggists.

NORWICH MAN STATE DELEGATE TO K. OF C. SUPREME CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. Diggins, of 32 Church street, will leave Friday, July 31st, for Boston, where they will join the Massachusetts delegation on a trip to the Knights of Columbus supreme convention, which is to be held, this year, in Duluth, Minn.

FRANCIS T. DIGGINS

Mr. Diggins will represent Connecticut at the convention, having been elected a national delegate at the state convention, held at New Britain, early in May.

The party will be under the direction of the George E. Marsters Co., and an opportunity will be given, both on the trip out and the return trip for stop-overs and sightseeing trips. The trip out will be over the Michigan Central railroad and it is planned to spend one day in Chicago. While in the latter city Mr. and Mrs. Diggins will be entertained by Mrs. Julie A. Ward Clingen, national director of the L. C. B. A. Mr. Diggins is also planning a visit to the manufacturing plant of the E. Kuppenheimer Co., while in Chicago. The men's store of the Porteous & Mitchell Co., of which Mr. Diggins is manager, are local agents for Kuppenheimer clothes and he has had a special invitation to visit their plant.

The convention will last four days and while in Duluth the delegates will be entertained by the Minnesota state councils of which there are 73 and a splendid programme of interesting events have been planned for the four days that the convention will be in session.

The return trip will be made on the steamship Juanita of the Great Lakes Transit Co., through the Great Lakes, stops being made at Mackinac Island, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. One day will be spent at Niagara Falls, where a number of sightseeing trips have been arranged. The party will arrive at Boston at noon Tuesday, August 11th, the entire trip taking 12 days.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN CROWD LOCAL PLAYGROUNDS

When one notes the enthusiasm which is manifested throughout each and every play center during the Industrial period, we know we have gone up another rung on the ladder of playground success, said an official of the Norwich playgrounds, Tuesday. After several periods of active play when the children's energy is tried to its utmost the sewing and cord work period offers a time for pleasurable relaxation. The children are very attentive and eager to learn and their joy at their success in handling the problems is manifested in many ways.

In the beginning there were some who would rather swing or slide down the chute than join the industrial class, but they soon found out what they had missed and the following week found them eager to join the ranks.

With such a spirit back of the work we have every reason to look forward to a most progressive season crowned with success at the end.

Attendance at Play Centers.

STATE POLICE KEPT BUSY TAGGING CARS

Several hundred cars were tagged by a state policeman Monday during the first day of the campaign undertaken by the state police department to clear Connecticut highways of automobiles with defective equipment. All the officers on duty were supplied with tags and whenever they came across machines which appeared to have bad brakes, illegal or poorly adjusted lights, or any parts weak or defective, they took the car number and left a tag on the steering wheel.

These tags, which are to serve as warnings, mean that the owner must at once have the defective part noted on the tag repaired. When that has been done a statement to that effect must be sworn to before a notary public and the notary's certificate with the tag sent to the state police headquarters. The owner of any car found in operation on the highways after it has been tagged and before such tag and certificate has been returned is subject to arrest.

Parked cars or vehicles in operation are subject to inspection by state police officers, and it is expected that the campaign will continue throughout the rest of the summer.

RELIEF CORPS MEMBERS HELD ANNUAL OUTING

The thirty-ninth anniversary of the institution of Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps, No. 16, was observed, Tuesday, when a large number of members enjoyed a lawn party at the home of Mrs. David Dean at Norwich Town. The members left the city at 10 o'clock by trolley, and at noon a basket luncheon was served. The afternoon was spent in a social time, various members entertaining. The day was ideal for the outing and the hostess received a vote of thanks for the courtesies extended.

SABRE FOR NEW LONDON'S "WORLD FLIER"

The sabre presented to Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, of New London, world flier, in behalf of the state of Connecticut by Governor Trumbull on May 14, has been completed and after being on exhibition for a time will be sent to Lt. Arnold at his station in California.

The sword, voted to Lieutenant Arnold by special act of the legislature was to have been presented by a committee of three, including the governor, the speaker of the house and Major Talbot G. Ferguson, head of the Connecticut aeronautics unit. The, proceeded to secure samples of the metal and went about getting a sword that would do credit to the state and to the deed it commemorates. Such things are not done in a day.

The form of the sabre has now nearing its close, and Arnold has been ordered to the Pacific coast. It became evident that the sword would not be ready in time for presentation in the form that had been planned. But the committee was equal to the emergency. The set had been introduced into the legislature, and, through the education given Connecticut people interested in aviation, and particularly the 118th observation squadron, under Lieut's patronage, a flying unit with Major Ferguson as its buddy writing, the presentation to made with as much formality fitting to such an occasion. A mere gift of a sword to a hero of Normandy with a note, however, expressive of the state's pride in him, would be was not what was wanted. The presentation should be made with all the legislative hubbub and the speeches that fitted the occasion.

It was on May 14 Governor Arnold was summoned to Hartford where he was met by the commander and escorted to the Hartford city, where, with the committee and a throng of other prominent persons of the state he had come to see, he was escorted to the state capitol. A joint session of the general assembly was called, and in the presence of all that filled the chamber of the house a sword was presented to the governor, who expressed the pride of the state in the New London boy who had done excellent work in the air and the United States the honor of being the first nation to communicate around the globe by plane. And after the plaudits of the crowd had died down Governor Arnold accepted in a few modest, heartspoken words. It made no difference to Arnold, as he then gathered there, that the committee had not the emergency with a damned sword and that the beautiful one which would be the states real gift would not be ready for presentation for more than two months.

The sabre which is now ready is enclosed in a silver scabbard trimmed with gold. The guard is in gold and on the scabbard just below the sword hilt is the monogram of the letter A raised gold. Below this, decorated in gold, is a golden shield with the American eagle, the army insignia. Plain in raised letters on the silver scabbard is the inscription:

Presented to Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold World Flier by Connecticut The State of His Birth, May 14, 1925.

Under this, in an oak leaf wreath, is the seal of the state of Connecticut. The end of the scabbard is also decorated with gold.

AWARDED $174.09 IN FINAL SETTLEMENT

Compensation Commissioner James J. Donohue of this city has filed with the clerk of the superior court in Norwich, his finding in the case of George Wood, No. 149 Thames street, Groton, vs. The Spicer Ice and Coal Co., of Groton. The hearing was held July 27, and the finding was filed Thursday.

The claimant was injured January 13th, last and by a voluntary agreement the claimant received compensation up to February 16th. On that date he resumed work and continued working until April 25th when he was compelled to give up working.

He then entered a claim for the second period of disability. The commissioner awards $174.09 compensation for 12 2-7 weeks from April 25th to July 21st. This with reasonable medical and surgical bills is in full and final settlement of the claim.

FINDS MOTORMAN BLAMELESS IN MONTVILLE FATALITY

In a finding made public Tuesday, Coroner Jeremiah J. Desmond has exonerated Fred L. DeWitt, motorman of the trolley car which ran over and killed Mrs. Rose Legare, 18, at Montville last May. The coroner finds there was no want of due care on the part of the motorman. Following is Coroner Desmond's finding:

On the evening of May 8, 1925, said car, which was numbered 203, was proceeding from New London to Norwich, operated by Fred L. DeWitt, of said Norwich, a regular motorman; it was a double truck car, with Conductor Clarence F. Lynds, of Norwich, in charge. The car was in good condition, and its parts and mechanism were in proper working order. The evening was clear. There were passengers in the car when it left New London, and also when Mrs. Legare was fatally injured. The car was a closed car; it left New London on time at 6:45 p. m., (standard time), but was delayed, by loss of power, for a half hour, at Bolle's cove, which is some distance south of the place where the accident occurred. As the cars running on this line during this part of the day make half-hourly trips, car No. 203, when leaving the turnout near Bolle's cove, one-half hour after its schedule time, was running practically on schedule time, but one-half hour late, so that it proceeded northwardly at the usual rate of speed to a point on the Norwich-New London turnpike road in the town of Montville known as "Hill Top." About 200 feet north of "Hill Top" there is a refreshment establishment, called the Tea Room on the easterly side of said turnpike; there is a regular stopping place for the cars on this line a short distance north of said tea room; at this point the rails of the single track line of this company are on the easterly side of the road; and easterly of the track is a curved driveway in front of the tea room; this driveway leads eastwardly from the turnpike both on the north and on the south of the tea room. The grade of the turnpike, and of the tracks slopes downward to the north passing the tea room. Darkness had set in before the car reached Hill Top, and the light in forward end of the car was burning brightly; this was an arc light. At a point about 125 feet south of the tea room the motorman sounded the whistle, giving two long, and two short blasts; and as he approached the tea room he turned off the power, letting his car coast down the incline. About the time when he first saw Mrs. Legare she was on the driveway in front of the tea room about 125 feet north of his car; this was the time when he sounded the whistle; she was then walking northwardly on the driveway about 4 or 5 feet easterly of the east rail of the trolley track; as she walked along the motorman noticed that she appeared to be buttoning her coat; presently she began to run forward, and then the motorman sounded his gong, and Mrs. Legare turned her face towards him and smiled; she then immediately went a few feet easterly of the east rail, and when the forward end of the car reached a point about 15 feet in front of her she turned suddenly to her left and leaped between the rails directly in front of the car which was moving at a rate of about 20 miles an hour; she had given no signal, or other indication of intention to board the car before stepping onto the track. As soon as the motorman saw her spring onto the track he applied his emergency brake, and made every possible effort to stop his car, but it was impossible to halt it before reaching the woman; and she was struck by the forward end of the car and thrown sideward onto the road on the westerly side of the west rail and thereby fatally injured. The car was brought to a stop about 40 feet north of the point where Mrs. Legare, and she was at once taken into the tea room; a physician was summoned, and arrived in a few minutes; the ambulance arrived a little later and the injured woman was placed in it to be taken to the William W. Backus hospital in Norwich, and died of her said injuries soon after reaching the hospital. At the time of the accident there appears to have been no other vehicle than the car in the immediate vicinity. The tea room was lighted, and there was an electric light on a pole on the road very near to the scene of the accident.

The evidence in this case makes it manifest that Mrs. Legare saw the trolley car approaching before she stepped onto the track; and seems to indicate that she intended to pass over the rails before the car would arrive at the place where she stepped between the rails, and that she unfortunately failed to accurately gauge the close proximity of the car before passing onto the track.

There was no want of due care on the part of the motorman in any manner contributing to this distressing fatality.

I am satisfied and find that the death of said Rose Legare was not caused by the criminal act, omission, or negligence of any other person, or persons.

UNCAS POWER COMPANY SUED BY RAILROAD

The Uncas Power company, of this city, has been made the defendant in a $7,000 damage suit brought in the superior court by the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The papers are returnable to the superior court the first Tuesday in September.

The complaint alleges that on July 12, 1907, the plaintiff and defendant entered into a written agreement whereby the plaintiff granted permission to the Uncas Power company to build and maintain a dam across the Shetucket river at a point about 1,000 feet westerly of the Windham-Scotland town line of the town of Windham.

Among other things, the agreement provided that the Uncas Power company would indemnify and save harmless the New Haven road from all loss, damage and expense which might occur to the plaintiff by reason of the construction and maintenance of said dam across the Shetucket river, and the Power company agreed to reimburse the plaintiff for the expense of any additional rip-rapping, or for any other expense made necessary at any time in the judgment of the plaintiff by reason of the construction and maintenance of the dam. The plaintiff built the dam, pursuant to the terms and conditions of the agreement.

On or about Aug. 28, 1922, the Power company opened the gates of the dam and allowed the water to run out of the reservoir so rapidly that it washed out the roadbed of the plaintiff's railroad at that point. As a result the plaintiff was required to expend the sum of $4,684.38 in making the necessary repairs to its roadbed. The Power company has refused to pay the plaintiff the said sum or any part thereof.

The plaintiff alleged that said damage was caused solely by the negligence and carelessness of the defendant and no action of the plaintiff contributed in any way to said damage.

NORWICH DOINGS 75 YEARS AGO

In Norwich 75 years ago there was very little of interest outside the preparations for the presidential obsequies for which a committee was appointed. President Fillmore announced his cabinet which included Daniel Webster of Massachusetts as secretary of state. The New York correspondent wrote of the wreck of the Elizabeth off Fire Island which sank shortly after striking the rocks. Of the 23 passengers about eight were drowned.

Extracts from the files of the Norwich Courier for the week are as follows:

Tuesday, July 23, 1850—President Fillmore has announced his cabinet as follows: Daniel Webster of Mass., secretary of state; Thomas Corwin of Ohio secretary of the treasury; James A. Pearce of Maryland, secretary of the interior; Edward Bates of Missouri, secretary of war; William A. Graham of North Carolina, secretary of the navy; J. J. Crittenden of Kentucky, attorney general and N. K. Hall, of New York, postmaster general.

The committee in charge of the presidential obsequies is William A. Buckingham, James A. Hovey, Franklin Nichols, John G. Huntington, D. B. Tucker, Gurdon Pendleton, N. C. Brakenridge. Thirteen guns will be fired at sunrise, thirty at two o'clock and one at sundown. A procession will be formed on Franklin square under the direction of Gen. David Young, chief marshal, at 2 o'clock, and march through Main street, Washington street, Broad street and Broadway to the Little Plain where an eulogy will be pronounced by the Hon Lafayette S. Foster, with other appropriate services. It is expected that citizens and organizations in New London and Windham counties will participate in the services.

Chang and Eng, the Siamese Twins, have written a letter at their residence in North Carolina positively denying that they died in England some time since. Furthermore they state that they are both in good health and spirits and that each has just received an addition to his family, making Chang the happy father of five and Eng of four; children.

Thursday, July 25, 1850—The ship Elizabeth went ashore at 5 o'clock yesterday morning at Fire Island and became a total wreck. Of the 23 persons aboard eight were drowned. The mate, it is said, mistook the Fire Island light for that of the Highlands. Among the passengers were the Count and Countess Ossoli with their child all of whom were lost. The lady was better known as Miss Margaret Fuller, an author of some note.

COLLECTED 36 MILLIONS IN TAXES IN STATE

Gifts made in contemplation of death, to escape the federal inheritance tax or otherwise to evade federal taxation, were assessed $841,911 by United States Internal Revenue Collector Robert O. Eaton in Connecticut during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to the annual statement forwarded to Washington.

The assessments which aggregated that amount were made under the recent act of congress which went into effect June 2, 1924, just prior to the beginning of the last fiscal year. Gifts of more than two million dollars in this state were effected by it, and an inheritance tax of $4,204,143 was collected in addition, being an increase of $1,507,147 over collections under the inheritance tax in the previous year.

Notwithstanding the tax reductions made in the last revenue act, the total for the year—$36,850,219—were $3,581 in excess of the collections for the year ended June 30, 1924. Collections under the income tax amounted to $26,656,620 of this amount, showing a decrease of $336,149.

Next to the income and estate taxes the most productive source of income for the federal government in Connecticut last year was the 10 per cent. tax on firearms, sheills and kindred products, the tax collected being $2,034,276, or an increase of $190,402 over the previous year. The tax indicated that more than twenty million dollars was involved in the production of such acticles during the year.

The capital stock tax yielded $1,279,120 in the year, indicating that the capitalization of taxable Connecticut corporations is in excess of one and one-quarter billion dollars, and that the capitalization, based on a fair market value, increased by more than fifty-two million dollars during the year.

Taxes on all forms of tobacco, except Class E cigars ($15 a thousand at wholesale), decreased and the manufacturers' excise tax on, tires and tubes dropped from $783,309 to $481,809. The excise tax collected on jewelry and sculpture dropped a quarter million dollars, but taxes collected under the prohibition laws, including fines and penalties imposed on those found violating the Volstead act, increased from $11,932 to $72,554.

The repeal of the tax on candy deprived the government of any income in Connecticut from a source which supplied $239,027 last year. Other sources which yielded nothing this year for the same reason were: Tax on hunting knives, etc., which produced $3,052 last year; yachts and boats, which yielded $13,618; and theatres (special tax) which returned $24,973. The cut in the admissions tax, which chiefly affected theatres, caused a drop of nearly a million dollars in revenue from that source, which produced only $298,943.

WEDNESDAY ANNIVERSARY OF GREAT WORLD WAR

Just 11 years ago today (Wed.) the great world war broke out. It was on July 29, 1914 that the Austrian government rejected overtures towards mediation of its dispute with Serbia and officially notified that government that a state of war existed. Germany at the same time notified Great Britain that it was prepared to stand with Austria and was in sympathy with the latter's refusal to mediate.

ROTARY CLUB CELEBRATES BIRTHDAYS OF 8 MEMBERS

(Special to the Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, July 28—An innovation in the form of a birthday ceremonial entitled "Judgment" took the members of the Rotary club and guests by storm, at a big evening meeting held in Scotland Grange hall, Tuesday. President John Ahern called the meeting to order and activities immediately began and continued without a halt until the closing bell. Doc. Jones was at the piano for the Rotary songs, with Ralph Gibson, violin. Music for the ceremonial was furnished by Clifford Donnelly, pianist, and Ralph Gibson, Raymond A. Parker was song leader. The first number was "Allouette," by the French double quartette, comprising George W. Hickey, Frank H. Foss, Arthur Roy, Peter Laramie, Valentine Murphy, Raymond Parker Girard E. Loisel and Joseph M. Perard. Aime J. Martineau acted as leader for this song. Next came a harmonious rendering of "Carry Me Back to Ol' Virginny," by Harry Standish, Ray Parker, John Pickett, John Ahern, Ellison Smith, Arthur Roy, Doc. Reardon and William A. Dawson. A solo "Go 'Long Mule" by Harry Standish followed.

The excellent meal of baked beans, potato salad, sliced ham and other good things was concluded at this point with the disappearance of mince and custard pie.

Dick Dodge of the program committee, was put in charge of the meeting. He called for remarks by Edwin J. Donnelly and Frank P. Fenton, both guests and both responded aptly. John Brick sang his famous Hiawatha ditty, "Yon Yonson From Wisconsin." Arthur Roy then pleased with a beautiful interpretation of "Sunrise and You," by special request.

All lights were then dimmed and a huge birthday cake was placed in the center of a table, where eight members who celebrated birthdays in June and July were seated. President Ahern was summoned to cut the cake and while he assailed the birthday men with humorous interrogations, the stage was being set for the feature act of the evening. To the music of "Nearer My God To Thee," being played behind curtains, Frank H. Foss clothed as Father Time and bearing a scythe and alarm clock stalked solemnly from the further angle of the hall. With the hall still in semi-darkness he proclaimed his identity and within a few minutes was joined by Girard E. Loisel as The Guardian Angel. The latter waltzed into the hall in full angelic regalia bearing a harp and swinging gracefully to "Hearts and Flowers." After the reading of the angel's proclamation, a sudden clanging of trays and pan heralded the arrival of James P. Bath, who bounced into view in fiery red with pitchfork in hand. The eight birthday men were then called up separately for judgment and allotted by Father Time to either the devil or the guardian angel. Brief addresses by Charles B. Pomeroy and Dr. George E. Wilcox followed.

The meeting closed at 9 o'clock with a rising vote of thanks to those who served the supper, and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner. Judgment was jointly composed by Frank Foss, Secretary Girard Loisel and James P. Bath, who had charge of the program for the evening. The guests were Arthur Roy, G. Raymond Young, Joseph M. Berard, John Brick, Robert Fenton, Frank P. Fenton, Joseph Reardon, Robert Rose, Frank P. Bradway, Judge Otto B. Robinson, Edwin J. Donnelly, J. Schley Donohue, Carlton P. King, Dr. George E. Wilcox Stanley Dodge, of this city, Senator James H. Johnson, of Scotland, who gave a delightful talk, and Attorney Howard Bradford, of Putnam.

SMALL BOY'S BICYCLE WRECKED BY AUTOMOBILE

About 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a small boy, Charles Rydzewski of No. 27 Second street appeared at police headquarters and told the officer in charge that an automobile had smashed his bicycle which he had parked by the curb on Main street. The boy had the registration number of the machine on a piece of paper which he turned over to the officer.

The bicycle was practically demolished and Charlie had carried the wreckage up to police headquarters where he left it temporarily. From what can be learned of the affair it was purely accidental and it is understood the driver, whose name the boy did not learn, promised to settle for the damage.

WILLIMANTIC MAN HELD FOR NON-SUPPORT

WILLIMANTIC, July 27.—Several arrests on minor charges were made Monday night by local and state police. Everett Perkins was arrested by Chief McArthur on a charge of non-support. One man was arrested for intoxication and Raymond Moon and Francis Connor were arrested for breach of the peace by Officer Lariviere. These three cases will be heard in police court this Tuesday morning.

Five Rockville young men were arrested on the Coventry road on charges of intoxication by State Police Officers Harmon and Honeyman. The young men had parked their car on the road and were singing and playing banjos in such a manner as to arouse the neighborhood. They will be tried in the Mansfield town court. They were released on bonds.

NORWICH TOWN

There is the usual number of summer visitors in local homes and all express the opinion that they have never seen the town more beautiful during July.

Motor tourists running through this section never fail to show interest in the D. A. R. Museum, the former Carpenter store, on Norwich Town Green.

Growers of flowers have had great success this summer and in the grounds at nearly every home the roses, especially have been particularly fine and prolific. Lawns look well cared for and there is general pride in making home places attractive.

At the Sacred Heart church, Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock, in the presence of relatives, family friends and neighbors, Rev. Charles W. Brennan, the pastor, celebrated a month's mind requiem high mass for the repose of the soul of James Butler. The musical part of the mass was under direction of the organist, Miss Elizabeth A. Malone, the regular choir singing. At the close of the mass, Miss Mary Buckley sang Abide With Me.

ALTAR SOCIETY'S FETE CROWDS BEAN HILL GREEN

That the lawn fete under the auspices of the Altar society of the Sacred Heart church, Norwich Town, of which Miss Nellie Kingsley is president, was a decided success, was evidenced by the large gathering on the Bean Hill Green, Tuesday evening, several hundred attending.

Miss Kingsley, who also was the general chairman, was ably assisted by the several committees, every member working in a zealous manner to have everything complete for the evening.

A feature of the fete, was the programme of popular numbers by the Italian band of Norwich, which contributed inspiring music throughout the evening from 7:30 o'clock, until the fete closed. The band was located near the border of the green under a large tree, the stand being electrically lighted, and similar vari-colored bulbs were strung across the front and on either side of the green, red, white, blue, orange and lemon tints predominating.

Here and there bordering the green, tables were arranged, from which hotdogs, sandwiches, cake, ice cream, also home-made aprons, were for sale, in charge of women of the parish in summer frocks, each one having a white cap with yellow band. Dell Herbert was in charge of the soft drinks.

Other attractions included, a cake booth, candy booth, also a booth with flapper dolls and toy police dogs.

In charge of the several tables and their assistants, each chairman having had one or more cashiers, were: hotdogs, Mrs. Patrick McGrath, chairman, aides, Misses Anna and Catherine Shahan, Mary Filburn, cashier, Miss Levina Mehan; cake, Mrs. Dell Herbert, chairman, aides, Mrs. Dennis Houlihan, Mrs. Richard Quinn, Miss Blanche Richards, Miss Mary D. McNally, cashiers, Miss Julia O'Connell, Miss Helen McNally; ice cream, Mrs. George A. Smith, chairman, aides, Mrs. Mary Tracy, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, Mrs. Benjamin L. Kennedy, Misses Mary Burns, Catherine Casey, Mary White, Bessie Callihan, cashiers, Misses Annie Gorman, Agnes White; aprons and balloons, Miss Nellie Kingsley, aides, Mrs. Annie Lynch O'Leary, Mrs. Walter Moran, cashier, Miss Alice Kilroy.

Those in charge of the booths were candy, Timothy Fields, cashier, Miss Alice Casey; cake, Henry T. Gorman cashier, Miss Alice Founch; flapper dolls and toy dogs, Lawrence Curry assistant, Frank O'Neil, cashier, Miss Winifred Founch.

The waitresses were, Misses Catherine and Loretta Lash, Katherine Wagner, Alice Kennedy, Elizabeth and Mary Mara, Catherine Rushworth, Dora Marchand, Abby Casey, Agnes Filburn and Margaret Mahoney, with Miss Bessie Callihan in charge.

The general chairman, Miss Kingsley, and the other members of the Altar society, greatly appreciated the courtesy of the First Methodist Episcopal church parish, in loaning the tables and chairs for the fete; also the electricians and men of the Sacred Heart parish who rendered every assistance to this company of energetic young women.

Many automobile parties parked around the green and on West Town street, to listen to the band concert.

The pastor of the parish, Rev. Charles W. Brennan was greatly pleased with the success of the evening and the spirit of hearty co-operation shown by all the people.

CROWDS VIEW CAR BEARING BODY OF BRYAN EASTWARD

At the Large Towns, Where Stops Were Made, the Rear Door of the Funeral Car Was Opened Exposing to View the Flag Draped Casket—At Way Stations and Crossroads Crowds Gazed at the Funeral Car—Funeral Services at the Church in Washington Will Begin at 3 P. M. Friday, to Be Followed by Simple Ceremony at the Grave.

Bryan funeral train through Tennessee, July 29.—(AP)—City, Town and tree-clad countryside stood by to honor William J. Bryan today as the train which bore his mortal form passed north and eastward through hilly Tennessee.

Along the line of the Southern Railway, between Chattanooga and Knoxville, the followers of the commoner stepped to the right of way at stations and crossroads to gaze in sorrow and deep respect at the funeral car of the former secretary of state.

In the villages through which the train, maintaining its rapid schedule, carried without stopping, men and women gathered in groups; they lined the railing of overhead bridges where keen of vision, glimpsed the flag draped bier where Mr. Bryan lay.

[illegible] stops were made in larger towns [illegible] scores of eager watchers hastened to the rear Pullman compartment where the flag draped casket might be seen. At these times, by request of the invalid widow, the rear door of the funeral car was opened so that all might look within it. Many [illegible] had closed their business houses in honor of the fallen fun[illegible]mentalist cause.

In Chattanooga an immense throng [illegible] the station. Here for one hour the people passed silently through the car and looked down into the peaceful face of the dead man.

Mayor Richard Hardy of Chattanooga and the city commissioner called upon Mrs. Bryan and expressed the sympathy of their community.

The journey in quiet tones, which yet betrayed the strain of her trial, thanked the delegation.

In her stateroom near the casket Mrs. Bryan sat throughout the long hours, talking in a restrained voice to members of her household who sought to assuage her grief.

At Knoxville where the train halted a few minutes beyond the scheduled time the car was again opened to the public at the request of the widow.

FUNERAL SERVICES AT 3 P. M. FRIDAY IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Tentative arrangements for the funeral of William Jennings Bryan here were subject to the approval of [illegible] were made today as the body of the commoner was being brought to Washington from Dayton.

[illegible] be services both at the New York Avenue Presbyterian church, where Mr. Bryan worshipped [illegible] secretary of state, and at the Arlington National Cemetery. [illegible] ceremony will be as simple as might be that of the humblest citizen.

[illegible] for the artillery caisson on which the body will be conveyed from the church to the Potomac river.

Hills, and the sounding of taps, the soldiers requiem, at the grave there will be no hint of military honors. That will be as Mr. Bryan had wished.

Immediately upon the arrival of the funeral train at Union station early tomorrow, the bronze casket will be taken to an undertaking establishment, but if Mrs Bryan approves, it will be moved a few hours later to the New York Avenue church to lie in state during the afternoon and the early hours of Friday.

Funeral services at the church will begin at 3 p. m., Friday and will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, the pastor, who is returning here from his vacation in New York state. At the conclusion of these services the funeral procession will move across the Mall and Potomac Park to the Virginia hills beyond the river where the body will be interred on the side of a hill dominated by the Dewey mausoleum.

The edifice in which the services will be held is a red brick structure three quarters of a century old, tucked in among buildings in the heart of the city's business district, it is known as "the church of the presidents."

Here it was that the martyred Lincoln, whose life Bryan so much admired, worshipped. The pew which he and his family occupied is still preserved and upon it is a silver plate bearing these words: "Abraham Lincoln. 1861-65".

Andrew Jackson, Franklin Pierce, James K. Polk, James Buchanan and Andrew Johnson were other presidents whose names have been enrolled as members of the church [illegible] since the construction of the present building or between that period and the year 1803, when the congregation first was organized.

PERSONNEL SELECTED FOR PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, July 29—(A. P.)—[illegible] to cope with the construction of the treasury's new prohibition enforcement machine, Assistant Secretary Andrews has definitely decided on seven or eight of the men to fill the posts of prohibition administrators under the reorganization.

The names of the men were withheld. It was said tonight, however, that they were regarded by the treasury as among the best available and that each had agreed to a considerable personal sacrifice to join with Mr. Andrews. Mr Andrews proposes to build a first line of defense against smuggling of liquor along the Canadian and Mexican borders with a customs patrol, motorized and increased in numbers over the present force. Although development of the plan will be slow, the assistant secretary feels he is prepared to act on it now, having at his disposal complete reports of the views of customs officers on the various border points.

The government is said to be losing money—estimates of the loss being from ten million to fifteen million annually—because of weak links in guarding the border. Many stretches of the border, both north and south are wholly unguarded while the patrols at numerous other points are undermanned and improperly equipped. It is Mr. Andrews' purpose to supply the right number of men and provide them with the means of transportation that will assure quick action.

SENT MESSAGE TO COOLIDGE ON EVE OF HER 105TH BIRTHDAY

NEWARK, N. J., July 29.—(AP)—Mrs Gute Fox, the oldest woman in the Harlem home of the Daughters of Israel, on the eve of her 105th birthday, tonight received a reply to an invitation she had sent to President Coolidge to attend and eat of her cake bearing 105 candles. The answer, sent by telegraph, read:

"The president greatly appreciates your invitation and sends congratulations and good wishes upon your birthday."

HIGH PRICED LIQUORS SEIZED ON A STEAMER

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP)—Three thousand cases of high priced liquors and many barrels of malt were discovered today by revenue officers in the coal bunkers of the steamer Augusta, which was seized Monday in the Hudson river after the ship had run the rum blockade gauntlet and landed a $250,000 cargo. At the first search only fifteen bottles were found on the ship. Two members of the crew are held in $5,000 bail and 22 in $500 bail on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

PROGRESS MADE AT THE ANTHRACITE CONFERENCE

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 29—(A. P.)—Anthracite miners continued today, and presumably, completed presentation of their demand for uniformity and equalization of all day rates. On adjournment until tomorrow operators pronounced it the first day in which they felt the conference had made headway.

Uniformity and equalization of rates comprise demand No. 3, which now is assumed to have taken a place with demands 1 and 2, the union check-off and the 10 per cent. wage increase with $1 additional for day men under the head of finished business.

Word from the conference room tonight intimated that the miners might likely complete detailed submission of the four remaining demands by the week-end adjournment.

The remaining four requirements which the miners name as conditions to renewal fo the contract expiring August 31 cover: payment of coal mined on the basis of a 2,240 pound ton where now paid for by the car; payment for "dead work" of various description; certain rate revision on refuse and rock work; and finally a lengthy demand No. 7, more than 300 words long, calling for general improvement of conditions.

John L. Lewis, miners' international president, is reported delayed and his arrival is now not expected until Saturday.

KILLED BY AUTO AS HE PLAYED BALL IN STREET

TORRINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—John Sullivan, 14 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, of Grove street met death here tonight when struck and run over by a car driven by Joseph Michna, R. F. D. number 3, as he was engaged in a street baseball game near his home. Running to catch a ball the boy evidently did not hear the warning horn signals of Michna's car, and before the car could be stopped, was lying under the front wheels with a crushed head. He was rushed to the Charlotte-Hungerford hospital, but was dead on arrival.

Besides his parents, he leaves one brother, Michael, and one sister, Nellie. Funeral arrangements are not completed.

TWO MEN HELD WITH 200 CASES AND 10 KEGS OF BEER

STAMFORD, July 29—(AP)—Two men were arrested here today when a state policeman found 200 cases and 10 kegs of beer in the truck which they said they were driving from New York to Bridgeport. They gave their names as Raymond Pease, of Bridgeport and Anthony Cooke, of Stratford.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Prof. E. M. Borchard Honored

BERLIN, July 29—(AP)—Edwin M Bochard, professor of law at Yale university and the first post-war exchange professors at Berlin university has received an honorary degree of doctors of laws, in recognition of his scientific research in international law and his services in reestablishing cultural and scientific relations between the United States and Germany.

COOLIDGE ATTENDED A REUNION OF REPUBLICANS

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 29—(AP)—President Coolidge mingled for an hour today with old friends and associates at the mid-summer reunion of the Essex county Men's Republican club. The outing was held at Chebacco Lake, near Essex, 20 miles by motor from White Court.

The president did not deliver an address. After posing for a group photograph, however, he went to the speakers' stand and heard himself praised by Frederick H. Tarr, of Rockport, president of the club, and Governor Fuller, of Massachusetts.

Mr. Coolidge started on the return trip to Swampscott before other speakers, including Senator Butler of Massachusetts, his close friend; Senator Deneen of Illinois, who is a house guest at White Court, and Representative Andrew of the fifth Massachusetts district, had delivered their addresses.

Those in attendance included Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, and William Phillips, ambassador to Belgium.

Before his departure the president was made an honorary member of the club, his name being proposed by Henry Cabot Lodge, grandson of the late senator.

Governor Fuller, after declaring that no president since Lincoln, had stirred the imagination of the American public as Mr. Coolidge has, pleaded for party harmony and urged the re-election of Senator Butler. Not only is Mr. Butler qualified to serve in the senate because of his ability and knowledge of the needs of business, asserted the governor, but he should be returned to th enat "because as fild marshal, he is the man responsible for placing Calvin Coolidge in the White House."

Governor Fuller contended that it was the duty of republicans in selecting candidates for both senate and house to give their support to men known to be in sympathy with President Coolidge's policies.

Senators Butler and Deneen reviewed the political situation.

DESPONDENCY CAUSED MAN TO POISON HIS TWO SONS

NEW HAVEN, July 29.—(AP)—Despondency over another woman led Michael Senczuk, of Providence, R. I., to poison his two sons and then commit suicide in a room in the Hotel Flanagan here, Mrs. Julia Senczuk, wife of the dead man and mother of the two boys, told Coroner Elli Mix tonight. Mrs. Senczuk was questioned for three hours by the coroner.

A Providence undertaker arrived here this morning, intending to take the three bodies back to Providence for burial, but the coroner refused to issue the necessary permit until the widow had arrived and had told her story.

Mrs. Senczuk told the coroner that a few weeks ago, her husband left home and was gone three or four days. Mrs. Senczuk said she learned that Upon his return he said he had been in Springfield, Mass., to visit a brother. Mrs. Senczuk said she learned that he had not been in Springfield. A few days later he left home again and that time did visit his brother in Springfield.

She and her husband had quarreled over the other woman. Mrs. Senczuk told the coroner, and she said she had found letters and photographs from the woman in her husband's clothing. She said she had never met the woman and did not know where she lived.

On July 3, according to Mrs. Senczuk, her husband left his work and on July 14th drew $1,572 from a Providence bank. Following an argument, Mrs. Senczuk said he turned the money over to her. The next day he and the two sons left home, she said. It developed that Senczuk had taken $40 in cash with him. The suit case which was found in the hotel room here had been taken to the Providence railroad station beforehand and had been checked there.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT FIRING TESTS SUCCESSFUL

WASHINGTON, July 29—(A. P.)—Recent anti-aircraft firing tests conducted by the dirigible Shenandoah and the battleship Texas were described at the navy department today as the most successful of this character ever held.

Hundreds of hits were made on the target towed by the big airship during the firing from the Texas off the Virginia Capes, and it was indicated that the Shenandoah might be available for similar tests with army gunners at Fort Tilden, Long Island, about August 12.

A report of the anti-aircraft target practice made public today by Rear Admiral C. F. Hughes, director of fleet training, who witnessed the tests, declared the experiments were important because the sleeve target towed by the airship was much larger than ever used before, leaving it visible to gun pointers, and yet much smaller than any aircraft.

"The firing was on the southern drill rounds, approximately 40 miles east of Capt Henry," Admiral Hughes said. "The target was sausage shaped ten feet in diameter at the loop. It was 45 feet long. The firing was from three inch guns on the Texas, not more than six of which fired at any one time.

ROCKVILLE PEOPLE GUESTS OF TOWN IN MANCHESTER

SOUTH MANCHESTER, July 29.—(AP)—A dispute between South Manchester and Rockville back in 1833 and which has resulted in rivalry between the two places since then, came to an end today when the people of Rockville were the guests of the town of South Manchester at a get-together celebration. Between 8,000 and 10,000 persons attended the celebration, the invitation to Rockville having been extended by the ninth school district which comprises South Manchester.

A concert was given by the Rockville band, a Rockville orchestra furnished music for dancing and a Rockville baseball team defeated a South Manchester team 9 to 6

The dispute nearly a century ago centered over railroad rights and the establishment of the Hartford, Manchester and Bolton railroad.

The man with a swelled head doesn't usually suffer as much as those who are compelled to associate with him.

Commons Votes to Construct Cruisers

Bristain to Keep Sea Force Not Inferior to Those of Any Country in the World.

LONDON, July 29—(AP)—The house of commons tonight put its stamp on approval of the government's cruiser building program after the liberals and laborites had sought to have the appropriations for new warships reduced on the ground that there was no naval war in sight and therefore there was no need to burden the already heavily taxed country with an additional expenditure of £58,000,000.

Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier, moved a reduction of the ship building vote, but the house rejected his proposal by a vote of 276 to 140.

There was a great deal of talk about potential trouble in the Pacific, but Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and the other government spokesmen avoided the subject. The chancellor, in his official statement respecting the new cruiser building program said there was only one menace—that the fleet was wearing out. Mr. Churchill took occasion to repeat one of his most persistent remarks, that Great Britain having immensively modified her entire historic position by agreeing to have a navy of the same size of that of another country, intended to maintain her sea forces not inferior to those of any country in the world.

Several speakers with no government portfolios to incline them to vagueness had much to say about possible trouble between the United States and Japan and also about the tendency of the French to increase their submarine strength.

Mr. MacDonald, arguing that there was nothing in sight to make war either necessary or inevitable within a dozen years, declared that nobody would say that the United States and Japan were possible enemies. So far as France was concerned if anybody imagined her a possible enemy the speech was not naval but one of the air primarily, or of coordination of land, sea and air forces. Already Great Britain had 49 cruisers, while Japan, the next power in that type or armament, had only 42. He seemed to think it a pity that there was no indication that the government was doing anything regarding a disarmament conference.

Former Premier Lloyd George contended there was no menace in Europe to justify the new cruiser program, and he asked the government to say whether there was a menace through the trade routes on the Pacific which justified it in imposing a burden of £58,000,000 on the people.

"Can the government conceive any peril in the Pacific in the next ten years, in which the United States will not be far more involved than we are and on the same side," he asked.

Alluding to the foreign press comments Mr. Lloyd George said there was no use preaching disarmament with the Sermon on the Mount in one hand and an order for £58,000,000 worth of battleships in the other.

Chancellor Churchill, in defending his stand, said he thought the program which the government had presented to parliament provided no more than any reasonable man would regard as necessary for "the short, yet solid, defense of our permanent naval position."

Rear Admiral Sueter, superintendent of aircraft construction, declared that friction might arise at any time between Japan and the United States, and he added, "we might be dragged in the same way as America was dragged into the Great War."

He made reference to the hurt feeling which the Japanese expressed because the United States threw over board "the gentlemen's agreement," and asserted that the Japanese did not like the voyage of the American armada from Pearl Harbor to Australia. The admiral urged a round table conference to consider "wiping out" the battleship, which he looked upon as a practically out of date naval creation.

Major Sir Bertram Falle, conservative, complained because Great Britain ranks third in naval power in the Pacific, he even went so far as to rank the members of the house if they could be sure about America's friendship. He had a notion that the United States might be coveting Jamaica or the Bermudas, the Bahamas, the Falkland Islands, or even Canada.

MISS CONSUELO VANDERBILT IS GETTING ALONG WELL

NEWPORT, R. I., July 29.—(AP)—"Very cheerful and getting along as well as could be expected at this stage," was the way physicians tonight described the condition of Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, 2d, who was operated on for appendicitis yesterday at Beachmound, the Vanderbilt summer residence here. Miss Vanderbilt appears to have entirely recovered from the shock of the operation, the doctors said.

AMERICAN WOMAN SLAIN AT BASLE, SWITZERLAND

BASLE, Switzerland, July 29—(A. P.)—The body of a woman, believed by the police to be that of Mary Bowen, was found today in the vicinity of Goetheanum, a suburb of Basle.

There was a revolver or knife wound extending through the heart and the opinion is that the woman was murdered. She was about 35 years old. The police assert that papers found on the body indicate that she came from Berkeley, California. No arrests have yet been made.

EVOLUTION LEGISLATION DEFEATED IN FLORIDA

ATLANTA, GA., July 29.—(AP)—Instant defeat came today in the Georgia legislature to the first move toward legislation dealing with the teaching of evolution in schools of the state.

A clause attached to the general appropriation bill, providing that no teacher of evolution in the common schools of the state would be able to draw money from the state funds was overwhelmingly voted down.

Two armed robbers who at first said they were government agents looking for contraband liquor held up and bound a night watchman in the East Side commercial garage on West 35th street, New York and escaped with two trucks loaded with rubber worth about $30,000.

To Fight Lower Wages In Textile Industry

WASHINGTON, July 29—(A. P.)—Protest yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, against rdeuction of wages in the textile industry was unanimously approved today by the executive council of the organization.

The council decided to endorse whatever steps Mr. Green proposed to take in handling the matter, and also ordered an investigation of profits made by textile corporations.

PUBLISHER CLAIMS NO REAL POSTAL DEFICIT

PHILADELPHIA, July 29—(A. P.)—The "postal deficit" comprises only "archaic bookkeeping" and "a state of mind," the congresional special joint sub-committee on postal rates was told here today by Charles F. Jenkins, spokesman for the agricultural press and publisher of the Farm Journal, Philadelphia. Mr. Jenkins is chairman of the postal committee of the Agriculture Publishers' Association.

"There is no postal deficit," Mr. Jenkins told the three senators, and three representatives who constitute the sub-committee investigating the functioning of the revised postage scale throughout the large postal centers. "Archaic bookkeeping methods have been responsible for the reports of postal shortage."

Mr. Jenkins illustrated by citing the custom of the post office department to enter all equipment expenditures under the year made instead of equally distributed over the several years of the equipment endurance. He said the rural free delivery system is being constantly extended, too, but that extensions should rightfully be financed by special appropriations rather than out onto postal rates.

W. R. Herb, Philadelphia, director of post cards, told the committee the orders for illustrated cards this fall in 1925 had totaled less than 25 per cent of the 1924 orders for the same period. The post office department, he said, would lose severely from these decreases because of the added postage.

MARY PICKFORD TELLS OF KIDNAPPING PLOT

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—(AP)—Mary Pickford, film actress, told in court today that she knew of an alleged conspiracy of three men to kidnap her here a few months ago.

In the ten minutes she was on the stand, Miss Pickford, in a calm, clear voice that carried throughout the room, testified she was advised of the alleged plot by her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, about the middle of May. She had never seen the three defendants, Charles Stephens, Claude Holcomb and Adrian J. Wood, loitering about her studio, as previous testimony said they had.

Miss Pickford, however, had seen an automobile which she had been told the defendants had used in trailing her and Fairbanks as they went from the studio to their home.

Cross examination was brief.

The courtroom was jammed. Most of the spectators were women. As the star left the courtroom accompanied by her mother, Fairbanks and her brother, she was greeted by the multitude by a constant "Goodbye Mary." During the departure she was separated from her husband for a few minutes as she was called back by the court to identify Louis Geck, the state's prominent witness, as one of the men who loitered about the gates of the Fairbanks-Pickford studio with the defendants. Geck had been missing for some time.

Earlier in the day the defense had introduced testimony to the effect that the defendants made their "confessions" under coercion of physical violence.

WELCOME IN MELBOURNE FOR UNITED STATES SAILORS

MELBOURNE, July 30.—(AP)—Melbourne's door of hospitality again opened wide last night to officers and men of the United States fleet, to town and county at the lord mayor's ball. Four thousand persons, including Admiral Robert E. Coontz and his party were present.

The fleet aviators were entertained at a special entertainment tendered them by the Australian Aero club.

Reports were received today from points in northern Victoria of welcomes accorded the 62 officers of the American navy who are touring that section by train.

Newspapers today gave high praise to the display of "high quality" boxing given by navy fighters last night against local scrappers. The navy men were declared to have upheld their reputations as clean sportsmen.

The Victoria baseball team downed the nine from the U. S. Omaha yesterday, 14 to 6.

Rear Admiral Leigh, speaking at a Rotary Club dinner last night as representative of Admiral Coontz, said that "the very air here is charged with friendliness for the visiting Americans." He was hopeful that the feeling between the United States and Australia might become just as friendly.

WHAT LIGHTNING DID TO A MAN IN MONTANA

GREAT FALLS, Mont., July 29.—(AP)—When William Black, 38, a truck driver, was struck by lightning yesterday in the oil fields near here, the bolt performed some freak takings.

It broke his watch chain, welded together two silver dollars in his pocket, tore off both trouser legs and shoes and burned his hair.

He was unconscious for two hours, but will recover, physicians say.

The same bolt set fire to a nearby oil tank and destroyed it.

CHICAGO POLICEMEN FOUGHT FOUR ROBBERS AT A HOTEL

Battle Resulted in Death of Two of the Bandits and the Cashier of the Drake Hotel, a Fashionable Lake Shore Drive Hostelry—Another Robber Was Captured in the Hotel Kitchen—The Fourth Escaped With $10,000 of the Hotels Money.

CHICAGO, July 29—(A. P.)—Four masked robbers who attempted to hold up the Drake hotel, fashionable Lake Shore drive hostelry, during the afternoon tea hour today precipitated a battle between the robbers, hotel detectives and policemen that resulted in the death of two of the robbers and the hotel cashier.

Another of the robbers was captured after a terrific battle in the hotel kitchen and a fourth escaped in an automobile with $10,000 of the hotel's money snatched from the safe and till while bullets whizzed about his head.

The robbery, was perpetrated by men under the influence of narcotics, the police said that examining the captured robber and questioning hotel employes.

One of the holdup men was shot several miles from the hotel after he had commandeered a taxicab, forced a woman from the cab, and commanded the driver, at the point of a pistol to speed away with him.

The man captured gave his name as Jack Holmes and said he recently came here from New York. The robber killed in the taxicab chase he said to be Eric Nelson, a former employe of the hotel and the man shot in front of the hostelry was Tex Corts of Texas. The hotel cashier and head clerk, Frank Rodke, was shot in the abdomen during the shooting in the hotel and died later.

The four robbers entered the hotel shortly after 3 o'clock, ascended to the mezzanine floor where the cashier's cage is located, and after stationing themselves at strategic points, suddenly donned masks and drew pistols on 25 employes, mostly women. Two robbers guarded the employes herded together while two others ransacked the cashier's cage.

The roobers were about to leave when James McCurdy, house detective opened the door of his office, also on the second floor and was confronted by the masked men. The robbers opened fire and McCurdy with a pistol in each hand, returned the fire, wounding one of the robbers who, however, staggered across the lobby.

Traffic policemen met the robbers as they emerged from the hotel and a second pistol fight followed. The wounded robber was shot and killed outright as he tried to escape. A second robber, his avenue of escape cut off in the lobby, fled to the hotel kitchen where he was beaten into insensibility. The third robber carrying a satchel containing the loot made his escape in an automobile left running at the curb. He was followed by a motorcycle policeman from whom no word was received and who evidently lost the trail.

The fourth robber leaped into another automobile and headed north through Lincoln park but crashed into a light post. He jumped out, pistol on hand, stopped a taxicab with a woman passenger, forced her out, and ordered the driver, at the point of a pistol to continue north through Lincoln park.

Policemen who had taken up the chase in commandeered automobiles picked up other policemen in the mad race through Lincoln park and north in Sheridan road, until half a dozen officers were in hot pursuit of the flying cab. After a five mile chase the cab driver steered his car into a street car deliberately and the latter

WILLIMANTIC

Reports of a pitched battle, akin to a riot, between strikers and present operatives of the American Thread company, in Lower Village, late Tuesday night dwindled down following an investigation to the throwing of a few stones at a party of employes by the passengers of a passing automobile. Rumors had it that there had been considerable shooting, but this was denied by all parties concerned and the police department, Wednesday. Officer Frederick Laramee received a complaint while patrolling the lower village beat, that several men and women employes at the plant were stoned while they were walking along Brick Top Road. The stones came from occupants of an automobile which drove past and one rock struck one of the party, causing a wound on the head. Following a description of the occupants the police rounded up six residents of lower village and they were in court Wednesday morning, but as their identity could not be established they were discharged.

Mrs. Rose Collins, who died in Hartford Monday evening, was the wife of Chester E. Collins. She leaves besides her husband, two brothers, George W. Brewer, of this city, and Morgan Brewer, of Warrenville. Her father was Darwin Brewer.

Following a collision between an automobile owned by John Eisenstock, of New York city, and a horse and buggy driven by Miss Sylvia Durkee, of 176 Walnut street, Willimantic, Eisenstock was given a hearing in the Andover town court Wednesday afternoon charged with reckless driving. He pleaded not guilty. Miss Durkee was thrown to the roadway and the buggy was damaged. Eisenstock stated that neither car was parked to one side of the road and he did not see the team although he had brought his car almost to a dead stop when it crashed into the rear wheels of the wagon. After an investigation, Deputy Sheriff Albert L. Frink placed the man under arrest. Justice of the Peace Charles A Faucher found reasonable grounds for guilt and imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

An early evening parade of the former employees of the American Thread company was held in the village of the plant but was broken up by the state police officers on the grounds that the strikers were congregating on the streets and sidewalks in front of the plant. In contrast to a previous demonstration of this nature, so far as the employes of the plant were concerned the strikers assisted to some extent, as they dispersed.

STORRS PROFESSOR EXPLAINS EMBARGO ON FOREIGN BULBS

WILLIMANTIC, July 29th.—A practical talk on horticulture by Sherman P. Hollister, professor in that department at Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs, was listened to with great interest at the weekly meeting and luncheon of Willimantic Exchange Club held at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday noon. The president, Dr. Clarence L. Simonds, was in charge. Chairman Edwin P. Hayes of the "fresh-air children" gave a report of the progress being made by the various club committees in arranging for the entertainment of the New York kiddies. The club voted to take care of five children and the members readily subscribed to a fund with which to furnish the coming of these little visitors from the imprisonment of pavements and brick walls. Wednesday evening August 5th, the club is to hold its regular meeting on the Andover town hall. It will be the Ladies' Night and C. C. Case is arranging a program for the evening.

Professor Hollister announced his subject as, "The Recent Restrictions which the U. S. Government Had Placed on the Importation of Bulbs from Foreign Countries." In this connection he gave historical data on the growth and origin of blights and pests which affect American plant and tree life. It is contended that the country would have been free of pestilence and blights which have swept from coast to coast if the people had properly propagated the species by planting seeds instead of importing bulbs. He showed the purposes of the new law in stating as an example, that if a person sending bulbs from Holland to Danbury would violate one of three laws, since this city is located in a quarantined district and Danbury and a small portion of Connecticut are on a non-quarantined section. From May 23 to July 1st, New York state placed an embargo upon the importation of coniferous trees from other states. Referring again to the enactment of a recent bill into legislation, Professor Hollister, stated that many had the erroneous impression that the importation of all foreign bulbs is prohibited, after January next. This is not so as the law [illegible] principally only such bulbs as are of the narcissus family. It is common knowledge, he said that a great many nurserymen are taking advantage of the ignorance of the law in this respect to raise prices.

In a forum which followed the making of this statement George W. Fraser, local horticulturist, refuted this remark by citing several reasons for the passage of the law in which he pointed out that it was merely a protective tariff on bulbs which was fostered by the northwestern bulb growers.

Two graduates of Connecticut Agricultural College are now working in China and Japan in an effort to find a parasite to combat the Japanese beach beetle. Several songs followed the talk. Adjournment was taken at 1:15 o'clock.

NORTH STONINGTON

Rev. S. M. Cathcart, of Westerly supplied the pulpit of the Congregational church Sunday.

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim W. Maine held a reunion at their mother's home in this village, last week. The members of the family are: Mrs. B. F. Arnold, of East Greenwich; Herbert E. JEWETT CITY

A new store is to begin business in the Perry and McGuvero block. Two of the Le Claire brothers, Alpherie and Wilfred will be the proprietors.

Many people were interested in the tests of the borough's fire alarm system Tuesday evening. It was interesting to note, and remarked by passersby, that nobody turned a hair when the big whistle roared out its numbers.

The Bulletin in the morning had told of the test to be made, so the three thousand daily readers in this section, knew as about it.

Swordfish, mackerel and other fish, at local fish-market.—Adv.

William M. McNicol one of Jewett City's leading business men, in publishing a very interesting four-page sheet, which he will circulate among friends and patrons. Many current topics are illustrated and storied in modern style. The title of Mr. McNicols' sheet is The Safer Way. Mr. McNicol, through his advertisements in the Bulletin has turned over $25,000 of property in the last few months.

A returning driver of a local automobile reports seeing in the south part of the town, over 100 sparrows sitting on a telephone wire, sitting so close together that each touched his neighbor with his folded wings.

So far in July, old Jupiter Pluvius has poured out 3 and 3-10 inches of perfectly good and welcome rain.

Ernest Brangs and his daughter, Jessie, have returned to their home in Wellesley Hills, Mass. They have been guests for a week of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Whiting, at The Elms.

Again the item of "Damage done by Deer" will take its place in the report of the selectmen of the town of Griswold, this fall. During the last ten years the damage by deer to growing crops has cost the town close to $400. There are two reports this week of beans being damaged to considerable extent. One of the largest damage accounts ever paid by this town, was for the destruction of newly planted fruit trees by deer; it amounted to over $100. Deer may be killed with a shotgun by the owner of property, by a member of his family, or hired man, if they are caught in the act of doing damage. One farmer argues the futility of using a shot gun. It is exceedingly hard to come at them, at a sufficiently short range, so that the animal would be killed by a charge of shot. Instances are cited where deer have been found, wounded by shot, with evidence of days, perhaps weeks of suffering from broken legs, or festering body wounds.

Few men are to be found that take pleasure in shooting a deer. No local sportsman would think of such a thing. Two years ago, on Stone Hill, in the great wooded sections, it was found that deer were being trapped and killed for the commercial value of the meat. Local officers and state police soon made arrests, and the deplorable practice was ended.

Passengers on a Norwich-bound trolley last week saw two young fawns in the fields, near the sevenmile curve. There are no reports, however, of ever coming upon a doe, with newly born young.

Mrs. Edward A. Faust, Miss Ellen Faust and Harold Faust are spending some time at Watch Hill.

Miss Mary Jane of Providence has been a guest in her former home, at Fred Condies.

Miss Selma Roux, of Washington, D. C., returns there today (Thursday) after visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dawley's.

The fishing fraternity of this section is all excited again, over the appearance of German carp in the upper Aspinook. Two years ago several big fellows were seen by bass fishermen in Bennett's cove that makes in off the main pond near Salmon rock. Within a week H. E. Willis, Edward Wyatt and William Magel, are authority for their re-appearance. One was seen last Sunday close at hand, lying still among the lily pads in shoal water, with its dorsal fin well above the surface.

Reliable estimates are to the effect that 40 pounds is not too high to place the weight of one seen Sunday. Those great fish pay not the slightest attention to the most tempting bait, not even deigning to inspect the trailing spoons and lures of experienced anglers. One enthusiastic disciple of I. W., tried two small boiled potatoes in which a hook was hidden but with no results. It is believed that the bass and pickerel spawn which these fish are destroying will result disastrously. If it were within the law, a man with a spear or shot gun could have secured two old whoppers, one day last week.

Reports in this section are to the effect that people are stocking up with their winter's coal earlier than usual.

The little spurt of ripe tomatoes, that supplied the markets with a few bushels last week has died out.

Vines all about in local truck and door yard gardens are loaded with green ones, which seem to show little signs of speedy ripening.

Local cross-word puzzle fans, let go their accustomed job Wednesday, and handed the following item from the Boston of the 29th:

THREE GREAT- GRANDMOTHERS ACCOMPANY THIS BABY

(Special to the Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Morse and infant and the baby's three great-grandmothers, Mrs. Herbert Morse, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Gilbert, all of Putnam, were recent guests of Mrs. John Shepard, of West Woodstock.

Some declared it couldn't be "no how." Others figured that the three great grandmothers must be running a close second to Methuselah. A few wise geneological experts, have doped it out, allowing however, that people up that way must have been marrying sort of youthful, and furnishing proof right off the reel, that they were anti-race suicide apostles, to be rated Class A.

Progress is being made on the widening of the west or Connecticut side of the approach to the Pawcatuck river bridge, on Broad street. The west end of the iron fence at the south side has been relocated on the extended iron brackets which have been bolted on by the iron workers. The cement curbing and a portion of the walk has been broken out of the cement which will be taken in to the highway while that portion of the sidewalk will be carried out on the bracket arms. When this is completed the curbing on the sidewlak approach to the bridge will be moved back and a matter of two feet or more gained will be taken into the highway at that point.

Under direction of the Westerly police department crosswalk lines on Broad street have been repainted white. The crosswalk lines at the head of Main street have been painted a yellow tint to see if the color will be more durable.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Interhal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Lee & Osgood Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

There's an investigation on down in New York about the promiscuous use of "P. D." markers on automobiles not in actual use by the police department of that city and Commissioner Enright is to be asked all about it. This having been broadcast through the press, it was not without local interest that two cars bearing New York registrations and "P. D." plates have been seen going through Danielson this week. These police markers help a driver not at all in avoiding motor vehicle regulations in Connecticut, though!

A plan calling for an expenditure of about $75,000 for the enlargement and improvement of Killingly High school may come before the voters for consideration at a later date, but that is not certain as yet. There is such a plan in existence, but there is nothing to establish as yet that the special committee appointed by the town to investigate as to Killingly's need of increased school facilities will recommend its adoption. Inquiry tends to indicate that an enlargement of the high school may be recommended to the electors of the town.

Gaston A. Maindon, who as a diversion keeps colonies of bees, was severely stung and in a number of places while handling one of the hives. A defective board in the hive is believed to have stirred the bees into a fighting mood and to be responsible for their attack on Mr. Maindon, who has handled them for years without any such incident occurring.

Crystalline Bead Lamp Shade Demonstration by Miss Rice, of Dennison Mfg. Co., at Shaw Jewelry and Gift Shop Wednesday Thursday, Friday. —adv.

That catch of a great bass in Moosup pond by Charles Tyler has stirred the imagination of the fishermen and heightened their interest in that particular body of water. A number of good bass have been taken from Moosup pond this month, but none to compare with the one caught by Mr. Tyler.

The bearers were George Pierce of South Sterling, Harvey K. Viall, George Phillips and Evan Phillips. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Danielson has a mystery man—and the police are said to be looking for him. The fellow is supposed to be mighty bad, scares girls, threatens and maul everything. He is wicked. He stuck out his tongue at one girl, and another reports he promised to give her a punch in her permanent wave. Anyway, he is supposed to be a roundinger and if things break right he is going to be in court one of these fine mornings.

Today (Thursday) brings another half-holiday for the store forces of Danielson and many places of business will be closed at noon. Golf seems to be the prime favorite as a diversion for many who get this half-holiday, and to the links they go each Thursday afternoon.

Charles Dansereau, bound over to the superior court from the town of Plainfield, is out under bonds and living at his place near the Moosup pond road. The Danseareau case is expected to come to trial at the early fall term of the Windham county superior court for the consideration of cases on the criminal list.

Pheasants released in towns hereabouts the past week appear to be searching for areas suited to their liking. Wednesday, a flock numbering half a dozen and apparently of the lot released last week, were encountered in the center of a state highway within five miles of Danielson. Observers noted that after crossing the highway and entering a field they peered about as though searching for a locality they might like in which to remain, or at least make their headquarters. Three such flocks of young pheasants have been so reported this week.

John J. Baring of Providence was a visitor with friends in Danielson Wednesday.

A large number from Danielson attended the mid-week dance at Wildwood park, Wednesday evening.

A fawn living in the woods near the Heath place in the Mashenutck district of the town is so tame that it enters the house and visits with members of the family.

K. of C. members here are interested in the supreme convention of the organization that will open in Duluth early in August.

During August at Camp Woodstock there will be a Y. W. C. A. encampment period and girls from Danielson will be in attendance.

A. E. Hall is chairman of the Old Home day committee at South Killingly, the event to be held on Labor day.

A number of guests were at the home of Miss Alice Bessette, on Main street, Wednesday evening for a birthday party in her honor. There were various diversions. Refreshments were served.

What the row was all about can not be known to human kind—fundamentalist or evolutionist. But there must have been something important at stake. The turtles paid no heed whatsoever to Mr. Gallant and banged up against his boat as they continued their struggle, which seemed destined to end in the death of either one or both.

But Mr. Gallant is a kindly man. Using an oar, he belabored the turtles until they desisted from combat and sank to the bottom of the pond.

No one may say with truth and knowledge what great issues were at stake in this strange commotion in the waters of the pond where peace usually reigns. It may be conceded that they were important, unless turtles bite chunks out of each other for very trivial things.

Miss Cathryn Connor, Mrs. M. E. Hallagin and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manzo of Providence were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Greeley, on Academy street.

CAN A MAN BE SURE OF ANYTHING?'

The answer is "yes." If he will now take out enough life insurance to protect his family they will be protected from want if he leaves them.

PUTNAM

On Sundays during the summer more than 500 automobiles pass the home of D. B. Gilbert, on School street, every hour. Mr. Gilbert has taken count of the machines many times for a period of five or ten minutes and the average is a little over 500. There is also a steady increase in the number. From now on and into the fall, Mr. Gilbert says, there will be an increasing number of foreign machines cars from other states, almost every other state. Also, he thinks, he has seen every kind of motor-propelled vehicle that travels the highways, including many of European makes.

VISITORS FROM LABRADOR BRING YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

PUTNAM, July 29.—Accompanied by her parents, Marjorie Haviland, one and one-half years old, born north of fifty-three, and whose eighteen months of life have been spent in her birthplace, is in Putnam on a month's visit. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. Haviland, of Cartwright, Labrador, and they are guests of the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Justin S. Greene, of Center street. His mother, Mrs. Haviland, and his sister, Mrs. Ira Pray, live at Ballouville.

Anyone who thinks that a climate with an average winter temperature of twenty degrees below zero, with many a day when it is forty below, is not suitable for the rearing of children, has only to see her to be convinced of their error. With the exception of one day little Miss Haviland spent the greater part of every day of last winter out of doors, and thrived and grew strong. Her usual costume included a double fur-lined coat with a knitted sweater, five pairs of stockings and two pairs of moccasins made of Bay seal.

Mr. Haviland, who is about 33, has been in Cartright eight years. He is the agent, the factor, of a big fur-dealing company with headquarters in New York. Many years ago they established a trading settlement at Cartright and its population of 100 families and about 300 souls are engaged in the service of the company in trapping the fur-bearing animals or in the other activities that the maintenance of a community of that kind requires in a region so far away from the marts of men.

For eight months of the year they are cut off from transportation communication with the rest of the world. The last boat leaves St. John's, New Foundland (not St. John, New Brunswick) the nearest sailing port, early in October and returns the middle of June. Weather cold enough to freeze ice that blocks the bay sets in at the first date and this ice breaks up only when June begins.

The mercury drops from 18 to 20 below. There are some days that are warm enough to be classed among the New England winter variety and there are others when the gales sweep down from the not-so-distant Arctic, to congeal the blood, and keep the people at the village hovering over their fires or cause the hunters to seek such shelter as they may have provided in case of need.

The snowfall reaches an average depth of seven or eight feet and traveling is over its thickly encrusted top by sledge and dog teams, or snow shoes.

Cartright is an old trading post. Its people are nearly all English. Many of the adults have spent their lives there, as their fathers did before them. There are some of mixed blood, for the Esquimaux are frequent visitors. The latter have hunted and trapped for the company for generations, a few of them have permanent homes in the settlement. A predecessor of the present school teacher was an Esquimau.

The school has been established for a long while; there are forty pupils and the building is as good or better than the average rural schoolhouse in Windham county. It is well lighted and constructed with a view of protection from the kind of weather that prevails in the Arctic Circle. Wood is the only fuel, but there is abundance of it, and a little saw mill, the engine propelled by gasoline, cuts the timber into usable sizes.

There is also a church. It is a Church of England Mission, and a resident minister. The church also provides the school teacher.

The nearest physician is 150 miles away and this healthy youngster was ushered into the world without the presence of a disciple of Esculapius. But the minister's wife is a graduate nurse and there is a nurse at the Grenfell mission, four miles away. They were amply equal to the emergency and one or both will officiate at all the visitations of the stork.

The Grenfell mission is on Muddy Bay. It is a settlement of the great Hudson Bay company, but the permanent population is smaller than Cartright. It is the only nearby town.

When asked as to the health of a community of 300 that has no doctor, Mr. Haviland smiled and said that he thought the mortality rate was no higher than it was in New England except among the infants, and there the number of deaths was cut down as the parents were being taught how to better care for their children.

In the matter of diet, he said, the situation was complicated in hard seasons when game was scarce and the poorer part of the population subsisted mainly on bread and tea, but it was surprising how strong a person of English ancestry could become on what would be considered here a rather restricted menu.

During the past winter the children of one family contracted diphtheria and three of them died. Whether antitoxin serum would have prevented these deaths he could not venture an opinion. There had been an epidemic of measles a year ago with 22 cases but no fatalities.

It is possible to get a physician in an emergency but a messenger has to be sent for him and bring him back. The round trip from the time the messenger starts until the doctor reaches the patient requires from four to five days and is attended with more or less hardships because of the severity of the weather, so that only in urgent cases is he sent for. The doctor only answers a summons, however, as that is what he is there for and he knows that only when the need is very great is he asked to make the trip.

This physician is at West River, another trading post of the same company with which Mr. Haviland is connected and which is also under his supervision. He makes at least one trip there a year, traveling by sledges drawn by ten or more dogs with a carrying capacity of fifty pounds to the dog. His arrival is an event in the life of the place.

At Cartright, they have a fairly well balanced menu, rabbits and partridge and occasionally seal meat, with bread and a variety of canned goods. There is one kind of berry that is indigenous to the soil and in seasons when the crop is good nearly all of the families put up a supply, not by canning but by freezing and thawing when wanted. Seal meat Mr. Haviland does not particularly care, for, but on his annual trip to his other post, when his provisions are necessarily limited, he finds it very palatable. For the dogs, he says, it is the best and most healthful food. They like it and thrive on it.

The summer is short but the days are very hot, the sun shining with an intensity that is not known here. It cools quickly in the evening and the nights are not unpleasant but the night there is not of long duration. Shortly after the sun sinks below the western horizon one may face about and see the light of the dawn coming from the east.

At first thought, one pictures the privations, the solitude, the giving up of most that civilization has to offer, but that is a superficial view. Mr. and Mrs. Haviland are educated, cultured people. Both are well informed as to what is going on in the world and while they know that they are missing many advantages and some luxuries that are to be found in the thickly populated United States, they do not think that they are enduring any more hardships, or making any more sacrifices than people in remote parts of New England.

Before he went to Cartright, Mr. Haviland was employed in the New York office of this same company, consequently knows the contrast between life in the metropolis and a far north fur trading post. But he has grown to like the climate except the intensely cold periods, and he and Mrs. Haviland have adapted themselves to the life there. The residents, he says are friendly and for the most part have estimable qualities. Their life, he declared, is not the mean and sordid kind of existence that it is generally depicted. The houses are comfortable, lighted by windows and heated by stoves. Some families have more comforts than others, according to their means, just as they do elsewhere.

The training in the school is of a higher order than one would expect, and the church services are well attended. A year ago, through the church authorities, a moving picture machine was secured and every Saturday night a picture is shown. The attendance at that performance, he said, was about 100 per cent, of those in the settlement who are not kept away by illness. Enough pictures have to be brought in during the summer to last throughout the year. A fair percentage of the movie fans are Esquimaux. They marveled first at the exhibition, but they have grown to expect that there is hardly any miracle beyond the power of the white man. They know of and most of them have seen an airplane, and they know about the radio.

Last summer, Mr. Haviland had a radio installed in his own home and that he says, has done more to make life endurable than any other invention. Mrs. Haviland and he have a long list of stations they have reached including concerts from Cuba and Chicago.

Dr. Grenfell was a passenger with them on the boat out of St. John. The doctor told Mr. Haviland that before starting he tried to reach his wife, who is in New York, by radio. The message was picked up at St. Louis, telephoned to New York and a telegram in answer to it was sent to him at Sidney.

Honor compels us to tell a man his faults to his face, but the law of self-preservation makes it safer to tell his neighbor.

Brig.-Gen. Herbert M. Lord, Director of the Budget, who came in for a lot of praise from President Coolidge, on the latter's outline of future tax reductions. In the four years that the budget system has been operative, annual expenditures have been reduced $2,081,000,000 and the public debt has been decreased $3,426,000,000. The public debt reduction includes a decrease estimated at $700,000,000 for the fiscal year just closing.

TWO BIG TURTLES BATTLE IN FEUD AT KEACH'S POND

(Special to The Bulletin.)

DANIELSON, July 29—This being an inland section, it has to worry along without a sea serpent yarn, to furnish a thrill these blithesome summer days. But there are compensations. Keach's pond, a few miles to the northeast of Danielson furnished one this week. It has to do with a battle royal between two giant turtles, weighing, as near as a competent observer could judge after a close range view, about 50 pounds each.

Most people have never given a thought to the subject of turtle fights, there being so many other kinds of trouble regularly on tap. But turtles do fight. Mark Gallant, reputable citizen of Putnam, will bear witness to the truth of this.

Mr. Gallant was fishing at Keach's pond Monday afternoon when his attention was attracted by a commotion near his boat. He was amazed to see two great turtles in deadly combat. Approaching for a better view, he found the water in the vicinity of the battle dyed in blood.

These battling members of the family testudinidae were having it out to a fare-you-well. One would stretch out his extension neck and hook on with his powerful jaws to the fleshy part under the other turtle's shell. Then, apparently, throwing into reverse he would draw out a section of his opponent's skin and flesh until he actually tore it apart and blood poured from the wound. The other turtle did likewise.

STUDEBAKER

Special Six Coach

$679.00 down and 12 monthly payments of $104.46

Why the One-Profit* Coach Excels

—it is engineered and built complete by one organization—Studebaker. It is a perfectly co-ordinated, harmonious unit. This means better performance, greater comfort and increased mileage at an accepted coach price

AN AUTOMOBILE, like any other highly specialized machine, runs more smoothly—lasts longer—gives greater satisfaction—when its thousands of elements are carefully co-ordinated into one harmonious unit.

Obviously, a better car can be produced when all vital parts are designed, engineered and manufactured by one organization.

The Studebaker car is built on this "one-profit" principle. Not only all the engines, but also all the bodies, and all the axles, gear sets, differentials, springs, clutches, steering gears, gray iron castings and drop forgings are manufactured in Studebaker plants. This is not true of any other automobile in the fine car field.

The Studebaker, therefore, being built as a unit—functions as a unit—with all of the advantages of unit over assembled construction.

*By a "one-profit" car we mean a motor car that, in its vital parts, is manufactured by one organization—thus cutting out the extra profits and overheads which arise when vital parts are bought from others. There are only two cars that can be thus classified, because—of all the makes of passenger cars built in the United States, only 2 make all their own motors, bodies, clutches, springs, axles, gear sets, differentials, steering gear, gray iron castings and drop forgings. One of these 2 is Studebaker and the other is Ford.

"Coach" in name—Coupe in quality

The Studebaker Special Six Coach is an outstanding example of the finer quality made possible by this "one-profit" principle of motor car manufacture.

This automobile is really a fine 5-passenger coupe, but is called a "coach" because it carries the lowest price at which an enclosed car has ever been sold on the famous Studebaker Special Six chassis.

In this Coach fine grades of upholstery are used. You'll find the same quality of workmanship and materials in all hidden places that you see out in the open.

Many of the superiorities of this Coach are invisible—and therefore all the more important. But here are some you can easily see and check against competing cars: gasoline gauge on the dash, 8-day clock, automatic windshield cleaner, rear view mirror, door pockets, rear window curtains, ash receiver, trunk rack, ornamental pull-cord, cowl ventilator, stop light, dome light; tire carrier locked by the same key that locks door, and the splendid coincidental lock to ignition and steering wheel. Lights are operated from a switch on the steering wheel which is left free for this convenience by the elimination of the spark lever. In all Studebakers the spark is automatically controlled by the speed of the motor.

In its insistence upon comfort, this car is typically Studebaker. There is comfort in the extra heavy cushions—in the big springs—in the full balloon tires for which steering gear, fenders, etc., have been specially designed—in the ease with which passengers may enter or leave the rear of the car—in the extra large windows and windshield.

You can buy all this style, comfort and performance at the price because this is the only "one-profit" coach on the market today.

Buy now—no "yearly models"

You may buy this Coach today—or on any day of the year—with the assurance that there will be no "annual announcement" to make it artificially a "last year's model."

For Studebaker has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of cars every year. Instead, Studebakers will be kept up to date all of the time.

Therefore you can buy this Coach in safety NOW.

HAVE CHILDREN PERFECT FOR ENTERING SCHOOL

About half of the more than 4,000,000 children who enter the first grade in the elementary schools each year fail to reach the second grade, according to a tabulation just completed by the interior department through the bureau of education.

Most of these pupils become so-called "repeaters." It is estimated that the cost to each school district is from $72 to $80 per year per pupil because these children fail to pass successfully the first grade of school, resulting in a tremendous waste in education which should command the serious consideration of every parent and teacher in the United States.

The commissioner of education in calling the attention of parents to this extraordinary situation, declares that much of this waste in education is due to physical and mental defects in the children. He believes that the number of pupils who repeat the first grade can be materially reduced if parents will give due consideration to the defects of their children before they enter school.

The bureau of education of the interior department is collaborating with the national congress of parents and teachers in an intensive campaign to have children 100 per cent. perfect in mind and body before entering school for the first time next fall, signified their intention of participating in the campaign. Parents September. Thirty states have already throughout the nation are urged to join the campaign at once and so prepare their children for school during the next eight weeks.

The bureau of education has issued posters and circulars calling attention to the movement, which publications are distributed widely through parent-teacher associations, to communities throughout the United States.

THE ARMAMENT ISSUE

It is evident that such diplomatic soundings as President Coolidge has been able to make have not been unproductive in determining the attitude of Europe towards disarmament. They have disclosed that progress is being made in that direction though it is painful and slow. As Prime Minister Baldwin pointed out in a recent speech, the way to disarmament is through two preliminary steps, security and arbitration. If the nations succeed in passing through these two stages, they will have gone a long way towards approaching the real pressing question of reduction of armaments to which the powers subscribing to the treaty of Versailles are committed.

For America the principal object in view is a rounding off of the policy of naval limitations initiated at Washington. The treaties there concluded set certain tonnages for naval competition. The 5-5-3 principle was applied only to capital ships, but the United States would like to see it applied to navies as a whole.

The reduction and limitation of land armies was also included in the American plan at Washington, an element of the situation that forms the main point of departure in Europe. It is unfortunately true that establishments that were designed to maintain the peace, for instance, also, succeeding under the control of military forces with an aggregate strength of 6,000,000 men.

Whatever action upon land armaments can come only from Europe, the United States naturally lends its moral support to all efforts to clear the way for disarmament. On Europe is ready, the United States will be willing and eager to go further—to sponsor an international conference for the purpose of evolving and putting into effect a definite plan. When the way is found cleared to give expectation of accomplishment; through a disarmament conference, the European nations are going to find it extremely difficult to decline an invitation from President Coolidge to participate in such a conference. The time is not yet, but there is hope that it is coming.

There is unusual significance in the declaration for a substantial reduction of the surtax which has been made by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader of the senate. This marks an important gain for sound tax revision not only because Senator Robinson is one of the ablest men in the senate but it indicates a change of policy in the democratic organization.

It was Senator Robinson who opposed the revision programme offered by Secretary Mellon and the president and who helped to force the compromise under which the present law was passed, a compromise which has been generally recognized as political and not scientific. It is hard to believe that a man of Senator Robinson's ability did not know that the treasury recommendations were sounder than the ideas, interests and prejudices which were expressed in congressional action. Giving him credit for this understanding of the subject, the apparent explanation for his action is that he could not put aside party tactics. An election was on the horizon and party tactics prescribed that possible party prestige that could be gained by plausible fallacies likely to move voters ought not to be lost. There would be much election ammunition in a revision of the law that could not prove its value until long after the vote had been cast.

The regret is that public men of such calibre feel at times constrained to make such compromises, whether of one party or the other, and we can only hope, now the election is done with, that they will join in the task of carrying out a revision as free as possible from politics, partisanship and class prejudices. We can not say that the condition of the country is critical. On the whole business is fair, but a sound tax revision would help a good deal towards a better business outlook. Relief is actually needed and it must be obtained not merely by government retrenchments and tax reductions but by readjustments and revisions. This ought to be accomplished on non-partisan, non-political lines so far as that is possible and it is for Senator Robinson and other men of his weight on both sides to work together for practical results instead of allowing American business to suffer while they carry on a fencing match for points.

AFTER NEARLY THREE YEARS

Two years and six months after the French entered the Ruhr the evacuation is so well under way that it is expected the last soldier will be gone by August 1. This is two weeks in advance of the official day set for the final departure. The evacuation helps us to see that a great change has come about in Europe in less than three years—a great change in spirit. When the Ruhr was entered, the arrival of the French troops was accompanied by all the excitement and confusion, the rejoicings and denunciations, that belong to military invasions. The prediction was freely made that all Europe would be fighting again in a few months. Now the French troops are going as quietly as they can. Germans are avoiding anything in the way of demonstrations of any kind. The movement of the troops back to France is proceeding as quietly as if it might be a local excursion. Europe has changed. It has all but captured that peace it prayed for.

AMBASSADOR BANCROFT

To have the diplomatic relationship between Japan and America disturbed just at a time when it is important to maintain a close understanding is an aspect that emphasizes the loss which the American diplomatic service sustains in the death of Ambassador Bancroft. He had scarcely had the opportunity to use his influence towards ameliorating the unpleasantness caused by the exclusion law, but his speeches soon after had taken his post had attained for him the confidence of the Japanese government and the good will of the Japanese people. Since last November relations between America and Japan have shown a constant improvement and Ambassador Bancroft had done his part in a quiet and satisfactory manner. He had laid good foundations for working with Japan on the policy of President Coolidge towards China. Now that it is necessary for the two countries to reach an agreement upon their attitude toward and treatment of China which might easily lead to unpleasantness unless completely handled, the loss of Ambassador Bancroft will be doubly felt.

HOLIDAYS

The trouble northern engineers have had with laborers in a tropic clime has been that with the slightest provocation from the calendar in the way of a fiesta they knocked off and took to the bushes and firewater and were of no use to the canal or the railway or the plantation that employed them. A few hours of work would get them money enough to make possible a long siesta under the banana fronds in a land where a living came almost as easy as breathing.

Do those for whom it is a holiday all the time know what a holiday means? The answer must be in the negative.

"I miss my vacation," said a man who had retired from the active life of an engineer to play, rather miserably, at being busy. His vacations had ceased to mean anything any more because they were not interludes between periods of absorbing occupation; they were a continuous inanition. He found then what a misfortune it was that he had no hobby to ride; that he had not cultivated a diversified array of physical avocations and intellectual pursuits. Life was dull for him because he was bereft of his desk and his dollar marks. He had limited his imagination and his sympathies too much in his business. That gone, he could think of little else.

To most real live men, a holiday must be one of animation, not vegetation. They would be wretched if condemned to what passes for amusement. They may welcome a change of pace or a rest, but they will find either by a shift, not an abandonment of occupation. They have formed the habit and they must have something to do. Some time ago Edison took a holiday out of reach of lamps and batteries and filaments, and it made him so wretched that he said he would never repeat.

If you would give a busy man a restorative recreational holiday, do not confront him with the alarming prospect of nothing whatever to do.

FAMILY TRAIT

"So you had three of Jim's business friends here last night," smiled Jim's mother, as her daughter-in-law drew forth the cozy tea-table and laid a brightly embroidered scarf across it. "Did you have a good time, Joan?"

"Why, yes; they enjoyed it very much," responded Jim's bride a trifle absent-mindedly.

"Joan! I asked you if you had a good time. I know they did," laughed Jim's mother.

The little bride glanced up at her mother-in-law with a puzzled frown; then burst into laughter. "I get you, dear. Well, of course, it was rather unexpected."

"Rather!" repeated Jim's mother. "Joan, child, you needn't be afraid of hurting my feeling on that score. I know exactly what a nuisance it was. I've often told him that he'd better have a little more consideration for his wife——"

"Oh, well," Jim's bride rose gallantly to his defense, "it really isn't such a terrible fault. Jim is such a dear! Only it's—er—inconvenient sometimes."

"Inconvenient is mild," sniffed Jim's mother.

"It did take me off my feet, mother. I had planned to do ever so many things last night. You see, in the morning Jim told me that these men were coming in from Wisconsin, and I suggested to him that he bring them home to dinner. But he said that that would be too much work for me——"

"I've heard that before," Jim's mother laughed.

"Anyway, he said that he'd just take them out to dinner and maybe a show, and would I mind if I didn't come along? The other men weren't bringing their wives and so on. Well, I was tickled to death, because I've wanted an evening to myself for a long time. And as long as he wasn't coming home to dinner, I sliced some cold meat and made a light supper for myself. And just when I had finished it, in walked Jim and those men!"

"Yes?"

"Well, after I'd been introduced, Jim followed me into the kitchen. 'Dear, I thought I'd bring the boys home for a real dinner,' he whispered. 'Is it too much bother? I wasn't going to let you do it, but you wanted to so badly this morning——' The little bride shook with laughter.

"If I hadn't experienced the same thing several hundred times I'd never believe that a man with Jim's brains could be so funny," sympathized Jim's mother.

"Luckily one of the men had brought along a big ham from his farm, and my pantry was pretty well stocked, so we managed mother."

"We?"

"Yes. Jim helped. In fact, they all did. Outside of peeling potatoes and setting the table, I really didn't do much. Jim sliced the ham and fried it, and one of the men is an expert salad mixer, and Jim's biggest customer cut the bread—great chunks of it—regular doorsteps——"

"You're more fortunate than I was," smiled the older woman. "Jim used to drag home a troop of friends without a second's warning, but I don't recall any of the boys helping me get dinner. Of course, they all pitched in when it came to dishwashing. At least, they did until I found one of my best Havilland cups broken."

"Jim's most important customer broke one of my crystal goblets," confessed the bride. "Of course, I told him that it was an old set and that several pieces were missing. Jim said I was a real sport."

"Which helped, of course," laughed his mother. "Praise from the idol——"

"And that isn't all!" announced her daughter-in-law, as she skipped to her serving table. "Look! Jim's customer sent this lovely set out early this morning."

"My goodness! At that rate we'll let him break as many dishes as he wants. Still, something should be done to Jim."

"Oh, well," the little bride laughed. "I guess I can stand for that kind of fault."

"Im afraid you'll have to," her mother-in-law smiled. "I've stood it from Jim's father for thirty-six years now. It's a family trait."—Chicago News.

Stories That Recall Others

Not Fast Colors

She was caught in heavy rain without an umbrella. A friend coming along was about to pass without speaking.

"What are you trying to do—cut me?" she demanded.

"Oh, is that you, dear?" said the friend. "I didn't recognize you with out your complexion."

Juvenile Knowledge

Jimmie paid his first visit to the farm the other day.

All his life he had lived in the heart of the great city. And then he suddenly came in sight of a haystack.

He stopped and gazed earnestly at what appeared to him a new brand of architecture.

"Oh, Mr. Vowles," he said to the farmer pointing to the haystack, why don't they have doors and windows in it?"

"Doors and windows," smiled the farmer. "That ain't a house. Jimmie—that's hay."

"Don't try to fool me, Mr. Vowles," was the scornful rejoinder. "Don't you suppose that I know that hay don't grow in heaps like that?"

From Small Beginnings

Rousseau, the Watchmaker's Son, a Great Philosopher

In 1728, a 16-year old boy, an engraver's apprentice, after a day's ramble found the city gates closed. He had had a harsh master who thought him a fool; his present master was still harsher; his father had been in jail and had fled from town; his mother had died. The boy took fate into his own hands and ran away from the city that locked him out.

From that day until he died at 66 Jean Jacques Rousseau was more or less a wanderer. He was a footman for a rich woman, teacher of music, private secretary, student, writer, copyer of music and vagabond.

He wrote essays on civilization, two novels and a book called "Confessions," so intimate that it is almost unbelievable. If all he says is true he must have been afflicted with partial insanity.

In spite of this Rousseau profoundly influenced the world. He saw the dead he saw oppression, and in his book, "The Social Contract," he said that government depends upon the consent of the governed. That book helped to bring about the French Revolution and to establish popular government everywhere.

His novel "Emile" taught that education should develop manhood as well as give information, and that natural methods, founded on an understanding of children, on love and sympathy and the spirit of play, are the best. That book is one of the foundations of modern education. He showed, too, that education is a long course of development whose object is to enable a man to live at the very height of his ability.

That this strange, half-insane wanderer should have written books that revolutionized government and education is indeed most remarkable. Rousseau's life is an example of what good can be done for the world, even by the humble, the unfortunate and the eccentric.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Edmund C. Tarbell, who has been commissioned to paint two portraits of President Coolidge, one for the State House in Boston and the other to be placed in the National Capitol, is a noted artist whose career has been largely in Boston, and in Washington, D. C., where he has served as director of the Corcoran Art Gallery. As far back as 1889 Mr. Tarbell became an instructor in drawing and painting at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and he left a distinct impression on many students now in their own well known, and in some cases famous. Some years ago he was admitted to the National Institute of Arts and Letters and he has been honored with the presidency of the Boston Guild of Artists. He has served on juries of international expositions, and has won scores of prizes at the best exhibitions of American art.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

"Amoy, China, one of the ports at which the presence of warships has been requested to protect foreigners, has a place in the history of the American revolution, although few Americans know it," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society. "It was from Amoy, then the world's premier tea port, that the ship sailed in 1773 which figured some months later in the famous 'Boston Tea Party.'

"Amoy was one of the earliest Chinese cities to have contacts with the west. The Portuguese established themselves there in 1644 but were expelled before long. The British then began operations in Amoy and continued trading through that port exclusively until 1730 when they were ordered to change to Canton. For a long time Amoy was the world's leading port in tea exportation, but for a century this trade has been declining.

"The greatest blow to Amoy trade came in 1894 when Formosa, just off the Chinese coast from Amoy, was taken from China by Japan. Formosan tea and other products had reached the world through Amoy.

"Since Japan took the big island its own ports have been developed and trade worth millions of dollars annually has been lost to Amoy.

"Amoy is still a big city, however, with a population of about 150,000. And nothing can take from it the distinction of having one of the best harbors on the Pacific. Like Hongkong, the town is situated on an island—Amoy Island, which has a circumference of 35 miles. The nearest peninsula of the mainland is three miles away. The arms of the island and the mainland enclose a large bay whose mountainous shores and islets make this body of water one of the picturesque spots of the Chinese coast. Outside Amoy Island a string of islands, stretching north and south, forms an excellent natural breakwater which adds to the value of Amoy's great, deep harbor.

"The native city of Amoy has two parts; the old and new cities, divided by a low range of hills topped by old battlements. The site of both is itself the steep slope of a larger hill which rises to barren, boulder-capped summits behind the town. The streets are narrow, steep affairs in which no vehicles but sedan chairs can be used. Even the grandiloquently named 'Chaunchow Highway' is little more than a footpath over which an occasional donkey picks his way.

"Amoy is popularly accorded a world's record, but it is not one to be shouted about by proud citizens. Many travelers who have seen the unspeakable filth and smelt the indescribable odors of certain Oriental centers assert that in dirtiness and insanitary conditions Amoy is the Abou ben Adhem of cities. Because of this situation Amoy is frequently visited by cholera and plague.

"There is a great gulf in the matter of conditions—and half a mile of salt water—between Amoy and its foreign settlement. This is on Ko-longsu, a small island which lies between Amoy and the mainland. With its consulates and residences built among shady groves, its schools, hospitals, churches and hotels, and above all with its sanitation along western lines, this little oasis is known as 'the Paradise of South China.'

"Amoy is a great gateway for coolie emigration, especially to Singapore and the East Indies. About 75,000 natives embark at Amoy each year, and only a small part of this number returns. Nearly every family in Amoy has one or more members abroad, and since the decline of the port's trade, economic disaster is staved off largely by the remittances sent home by these expatriates. This 'tribute' to Amoy amounts to more than $12,000,000 annually.

"The largest and deepest draft vessels in the world can be accomodated easily in Amoy's commodious harbor. Because of its excellent harbor facilities, Amoy was selected by the Chinese government in 1908 as the port at which to receive and fete a section of the United States fleet then on its famous trip around the world."

Airport on Thames Planned

LONDON, July 29.—A new development in air service between the continent and London is being planned for the near future. Experiments are being carried out with a view to the establishment of an airport on the river Thames at Hammersmith, just below Putney, where French amphibian planes will alight and set down passengers on a specially constructed landing stage. The authorities stipulate that such landing shall occur before nine o'clock in the morning so that dislocation of river traffic may be avoided.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during this Critical Time

Baltimore, Md.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help me through the Change of Life and for a broken-down system. I had been complaining a long time and dragging along had tried other medicines which did not help me much. I read in the newspapers of the Vegetable Compound and after taking a bottle I felt better. I did not stop with one bottle, but took it through the whole critical time and am now practically a well woman. I have two daughters whose health was very bad before they married and I was worried about them. I got the Vegetable Compound for them and it helped them, and after they married it also helped them in bearing their babies. This is a great and good medicine for all complaints of women, and I recommend it to all."—Mrs. L. GINGRICH, 1275 N. Gilmor St., Baltimore, Maryland.

The Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for women of middle age. Let it relieve you of nervousness, that feeling of strain and those annoying hot flashes so common at this time.

For normal weight and healthy growth—
let Nature feed your children Nature's way

Trouble starts when we tamper with Nature. Children should eat foods as Nature intended—untampered—unrefined. Most diet troubles of children come from eating "refined" foods.

Thousands of years have proved wheat to be Nature's most perfect food—wheat as it comes from Nature—whole wheat. Mixed with milk it is perfect. As good for growing children as mother's milk for babies.

That is why we have gone back to Nature for these delicious breakfast flakes—Wheaties. Made from specially selected wheat. Contain Vitamins A and B—vital for normal growth. Rich in body-building natural mineral salts. More iron than in raisins.

Wheaties bring underweight children up to normal. Correct underweight. Because they are Nature's ideal food—untampered, unrefined.

Double nourishment children need

So many "refined" foods only supply energy. It is not enough. Overweight or underweight may result. Children must have "building" nourishment also.

Wheaties meet this double need. First—they supply both energy and building elements. Second—in the right proportions to keep up normal weight and healthy growth.

Wheaties awaken sluggish appetite. Build strong digestion. Their natural bran prevents constipation. They keep growing bodies healthy and normal!

For your children's sake—test at our risk

No need to urge children to eat Wheaties. A tempting new wheaty flavor they all adore. Crisp, sparkling flakes—stay crisp until the bowl is emptied.

Authorities highly recommend this natural food. So for the good of your child try Wheaties. At our risk. If you are not entirely satisfied your grocer will give back full price you paid.

No mother should miss this opportunity. Phone your grocer for a package today.

Danny Meadow Mouse Takes a Plunge

Danger dearly loves to steal
On the ones who safest feel.
—Old Mother Nature

Danny Meadow Mouse had gone over to the Smiling Pool. It was no place for Danny to be and he should have known it. However, there he was and to tell the truth he rather enjoyed being there. He was sitting in the middle of a tussock of long grass on the very edge of the water. Peeping out from between the grass stems he could see all that was going on.

He could see Grandfather Frog sitting on his favorite big green lily-pad. He could see the head of Snapper the Turtle thrust out of the water. Looking up in the blue, blue sky he could see Redtail the Hawk. Over on the big rock, Billy Mink was eating a fish. Sitting in the top of the Big Hickory Tree was Blacky the Crow. Reddy Fox came down on the other side to get a drink. Hardly had he disappeared when Old Man Coyote did the same thing. A little farther along the shore above where he was sitting, Longlegs, the Great Blue Heron, was standing with his head back between his shoulders, waiting for a careless fish or young frog to come within reach.

Danny chuckled to himself. Every one of those people would have enjoyed a dinner of Meadow Mouse. It tickled Danny to think that he was where he could see so many enemies without one of them having the least idea that he was there.

Now you and I, had we been in Danny's place, would have been worried to death. How would you feel if everywhere you looked you saw some one whom you knew would like nothing better than to kill you? But Danny didn't worry. He wasn't in the least unhappy. In fact, as I said before, he chuckled. You see, he was so used to being surrounded by enemies, so used to having narrow escapes every day, that it merely tickled him to see so many of his enemies at one time, while they had no idea at all that he was anywhere near.

But though Danny felt so safe and secure, so sure that no one would dream of looking for him there, he didn't allow that feeling of security to make him any the less watchful. Long ago he learned that there never is any time when it is entirely safe for one of the little people of the Green Forest or the Green Meadows to cease watchfulness. So it was that Danny still kept watch with ears and eyes and nose. His ears, those funny little ears of his, brought him the first hint of possible danger. It seemed to him that he heard a rustling of grass stems somewhere back of him. He turned to look, and at the same time he strained those little ears of his. There it was again, that faint rustling. Then he saw the grass stems moving. Danny's heart gave a little jump. He didn't have to see who was coming through the grass. He knew without seeing.

"Mr. Blacksnake," thought Danny. "He is following along that little path I made. He is so near now that I haven't a chance to turn back."

Danny looked hastily all about him. A short distance away in the water stood a little clump of tall grass making a tiny island. Without hesitating a second, Danny plunged into the water and swam straight over to that little island. He climbed out and hid in the grass. Then as he peeped back he saw the head of Mr. Blacksnake come from the grass of the little tussock he had just left. "It's a lucky thing I can swim," thought Danny.

The next story: "Danny's Second Swim."

He couldn't see grand-father Frog sitting on his big green lilly pad.

TWO RANKING WOMEN GOLFERS ARE ELIMINATED IN SHENECOSSETT GOLF

EASTERN POINT, GROTON, Conn., July 29—(A. P.)—While Miss Glenna Collett, Metacomet, came another step nearer to victory today in the seventh annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Shenecossett Country club, two strong contenders for the trophy, Mrs. Dorothy C. Hurd, Merton, last year's national champion, and Miss Maureen Orcutt, eastern champion, were eliminated.

Miss Collett won her match with Miss Dorothy Klotz, Chicago, 4 and 3. Mrs. Hurd was defeated on the 19th hole by Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kas., and Miss Orcutt lowered her colors to Mrs. J. J. Thomson, Mt. Vernon, who won the match one up.

The match between Miss Collett and Miss Klotz was hard fought from beginning to end. Miss Collett won the first two holes with par golf, both players making tremendous drives. On the third hole, Miss Collett was out driven for the first time in the tournament. Miss Collett reached the edge of the green in two but missed her putt for a four. Miss Klotz also reached the edge of the green on her second shot and after a fine approach won the hole and 4 and 5.

On the fourth Miss Klotz almost made a one, driving to within one inches of the cup and making a birdie two. Miss Collett drove into a trap. The fifth hole was halved and Miss Collett won the next three to four. The seventh was halved at par and Miss Collett won the eighth 4 to 6 after Miss Klotz had driven into a trap. Miss Collett also won the ninth, 5 to 6, being three up at the turn.

Miss Klotz drove 225 yards on the tenth but landed in a trap. She made a fine regovery, halving the hole in five. The 11th and 12th also were halved but Miss Collett won the 13th, 4 to 5, getting a birdie with a 15 foot putt, after recovering the 538 yards in three. Miss Klotz won the 14th, 4 to 5, but Miss Collett captured the next hole with a birdie two. The match ended at this hole.

Mrs. Hurd won the first hole of her match and halved the next three. She lost the fifth, 6 to 5, but won the sixth with a birdie 2 to Mrs. Sterrett's par three. Mrs. Hurd drove two balls out of bound on the seventh, losing the hole 7 to 6. She also lost the eighth but won the ninth when Mrs. Sterrett went into a trap. They turned all square. Mrs. Hurd took the lead by winning the 10th and 11th, 5 to 6, and 3 to 4 and the 12th and 13th were halved. Mrs. Sterrett running through traps on both holes. The 14th was gained and Mrs. Sterrett won the 15th with a birdie two to five. Hurd's par 3. The 16th was halved as was the 17th. On the 18th hole both players were short on their putts and halved the hole with four each. On the 19th, Mrs. Sterrett's second shot ran through a trap to land on the edge of the green from which position she won the hole and the match.

ETHELINDA AGAIN LOWERS MARK FOR 6 FURLONGS

AURORA, Ills., July 29—(AP)—Single G., 1:58 1-4, the 15 year old "iron horse" of the grand circuit, won the six furlongs dash of the free-for-all pace today in 1:30 and then finished fourth in the mile and a quarter event of the same race, which was won by Sir Roche in the world's record time of 2:35 2-5. It was the third time in 13 years of racing that Single G., owned by W. H. Barefoot, of Cambridge, Mass., has been out of the money.

The program today was dedicated to the veteran pacer and he was given an ovation by the crowd when he was driven on the track by Ed Allen. He came from behind in the stretch to win the six furlong dash, beating Sir Roche by a head at the wire.

In the 1 1-4 mile race, Single G., was in a pocket most of the way. Allen got him out at the head of the stretch but Sir Roche which stepped the last quarter in 28 1-2 was going so fast that the veteran could not get up. Sir Roche beat Hal Mohoney by a head and Margaret Dillon nosed out Single G. for third place.

One other world's record was broken today when Tthelinda a bay mare, by Peter the Great-Ethel Volo, owned and driven by Walter Cox, stepped six furlongs in 1:30 clipping two-fifths of a second off the record established by Tommy Murphy's Etta Druten yesterday.

PADDOCK SAYS HE HAS VIOLATED NO AMATEUR RULES

STOCKHOLM, SWeden, July 29—(AP)—Charles Paddock, American sprinter who is on a world tour arrived here today from Helsingfors, Finland.

Regarding the recent charges made in Germany concerning his amateur status and that of his companion Loren Murchison, Paddock told the Associated Press he felt it was unnecessary to answer the German charges, as he had not violated amateur rules.

"Immediately upon our return to the United States Murchison and I will give the American Athletic Union a complete report," declared Paddock. "We have in no way violated either our own or international rules."

Paddock and Murchison competed in the All-Europe field meet in Berlin on June 21, after which charges were made that the two sprinters received money from sports promoters for their appearances. While Paddock went north to compete in the Baltic countries, Murchison went to England for the annual British A. A. A. championships, in which he was the outstanding star. The British authorities however withheld his medals because his amateur standing had been questioned in Germany.

Murchison already has denied that his amateur standing was jeopardized by his Berlin appearances, and he declared that he is contest to leave the question to the official amateur athletic bodies of England and the United States.

BLAKE BESTS GREENFIELD IN PITCHING TUSSLE

CHICAGO, July 29—(A. P.)—Chicago defeated New York 4 to 2 in a pitching duel between Sheriff Blake and Kent Greenfield, youthful pitcher of the Giants. New York's defeat and Pittsburgh's victory place the league champions another full game behind the Pirates.

Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs smashed out his twenty third homer in the seventh inning, breaking the tie score. This blow unnerved New York's young pitcher and he weakened in the next inning to the extent of walking two men and allowed two hits. One a double which with a sacrifice fly, netted two runs. McGraw rushed his reserves into the game in the ninth when Blake apneared to wayer but the best they could do was to score one run on three hits and an error. Score:

SENATORS WIN BEHIND DAILEY'S FINE PITCHING

HARTFORD, July 29—(A. P.)—The Hartford team played fine ball behind masterly pitching by Joe Dailey and the Senators defeated Albany 4 to 0. Dailey's hurling dominated the contest. He allowed Albany only three hits, struck out five and did not issue a base on balls. Spates also hurled well, but solid hitting at opportune times caused his downfall. Taylor and Comiskey starred in the field. Score:

TAFTVILLE A. A. AND EAST ENDS PLAY TO A 6 TO 6 TIE SCORE

Darkness called a halt in the seventh inning on a pretty battle at the Providence street grounds between the East Ends and the Taftville A. A. with the score deadlocked at 6 to 6. Hazel Mills pulled the best of the Taftville counselors and for a time it looked as though the invaders were going to win the trick. After leading for five innings the East Ends stepped and the youngsters tied up the score and neither team was able to break the deadlock in the seventh.

Lefty Dugas started on the mound for Taftville but his arm was not fully recovered from the injury of several days ago and Lloyd Jarvis finished the game. These two teams will meet in the play-off next Wednesday evening. The score:

NEW HAVEN CELEBRATES 10TH ANNIVERSARY OF EASTERN

NEW HAVEN, July 29—(AP)—New Haven today celebrated the tenth anniversary of the Eastern league and the celebration brought back to this city a host of former Connecticut league stars who have left the baseball diamond but who are still remembered by the fans.

Men prominent in baseball circles attended the celebration including President John Haydler, of the National league; President Dan O'Neil, of the Eastern league, and Commissioner K. M Landis.

Before the regular Eastern league game here this afternoon, a team of old Connecticut leaguers defeated a team of New Haven semi-pro old timers by teh score of 2 to 0. Ahearn, former Waterbury catcher, got a double with two men on bases in the fifth scoring the only runs of the game.

The old Connecticut league team was made up of Noyes, Ball, Hannifin Guest, Fitzpatrick, O'Dell, Ladd, Jope, Chincel, Sherwood, Rogers, McKee, Doherty, Ahearn, Giblin, Tuckey, Farley and Wilhelm.

RICHARDS AND WILLIAMS REACH THE SEMI-FINALS

SEABRIGHT, N. J. July 29—(AP)—Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., R. Norris Williams, 2nd, of Philadelphia, Cranston Holman of Leland Stanford University, and James O. Anderson of Australia are the semi-finalist in the Sea Bright bowl victories on the grass courts of the Sea-Bright lawn tennis and cricket club today.

Richards eliminated Gerald Patterson, runner-up for the Australian singles title, 6-4, 6-2. Williams defeated J. B. Hawkes, Australian left hander and No. 3 on the Antipodean Davis cup, 7-5, 6-3. Holman, only 18 years old eliminated Dr. George King of New York, 6-4, 6-2. Dr. King is the man who yesterday scored the most sensational up set in the tournament by defeating William M. Johnston No. 3 man of the national ranking list. Anderson, the lone Australian threat left in the completion and the singles champion of the island continent, defeated Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, Mass. 6-3, 6-2.

Helen Wills, national champion, won her way into the semi-finals for women, by defeating Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del., 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Mrs. Molla B. Mallory won her third round match defeating Miss Molly D. Thaver of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-1. The semi-finalists in the other half of the bracket are Miss Mary K. Browne of Los Angeles and Miss Elizabeth Ryan of England. Miss Browne today defeated Miss Martha Havard 6-8, 6-1, 6-2, while Miss Ryan bolted Miss Eleanor Goss, 6-1, 6-2. Miss Wills will meet Mrs. Mallory and Miss Browne will face Miss Ryan in the semi-finals tomorrow.

POWER CO. TEAM HAS EASY TIME IN BEATING THE HALLVILLE CLUB

The Eastern Connecticut Power company got off to a good start in the last half of the Twilight league season, Wednesday evening when they easily defeated Hallville by a 7 to 2 score. As composed in last night's game, the Power nine looks like the best in the league and should give the leading Centrals a good battle down the home stretch.

Manager Taylor of Hallville was unable to secure the services of several of his best men and as a result played the game with a lineup made up largely of substitutes. This makeshift team put up a surprisingly good exhibition however against the powerful E. C. P. nine, holding them down to five runs up to the final inning.

Spicer twirled for Hallville and although he lost, pitched fine ball. He limited his heavy hitting opponents to ten hits, at least four of which were questionable, and fanned eight. Considering the aggregation of heavy stickers he was up against, Spicer did remarkably well to hold them down to as small a score as he did.

Tommy Simcox started on the mound for the Power team and pitched the first four innings. He allowed four hits, and two runs, both of which were unearned and fanned five. Dickson, a New London Twilight league pitcher, hurled the last two frames and although he was touched for two hits in the final frame, Hallville was unable to score.

After Hallville had been retired in the first, the E. C. P. scored twice in their half on two hits and a couple of errors. Whitney led off by being hit, and stole second. Harold Hull fanned, but Clabby shot a single to right, and Whitney scored. Clabby went down to second on Stanley's out to short, and when Barry got an infield hit, Clabby took third and started for home. Red Charon threw the ball wild over the catcher's head and Clabby scored with the second run of the inning.

In the third the Power team added one more on Clabby's single to left, two infield outs and a single by Ringland.

In the fifth, Hallville scored their only run of the game tallying twice. Spicer walker as a starter and when Red Charon drew another pass went down to second. With the count three and one on Fuller, Simcox threw over a second strike, but Fuller thinking it was a ball started for first. Spicer and Charon each started to move toward the next base, and Shefflot threw to third and Spicer was caught in a run-up. Spicer had his luck with him however, as just as he was about to be touched with the ball, he hit him on the head, and he scored easily. In the meantime, Charon had got all the way around to third, and when Shefflot threw there again to catch him off the bag, Whitney let the ball get away from him and Red scored with the second unearned run in the inning.

The Power team added two more in their half of the fifth on a walk, a double by Simcox, and a single by Whitney. In the seventh, Harris' team brought their total of runs up to seven, scoring two more on two errors, and singles by Barry and Stanley.

Barry led the E. C. P. at the bat with three hits out of four, while Sullivan was the leading sticker for Hallville with two hits out of the same number of trips to the plate. In addition to his hitting, Sullivan contributed several nice catches in the outfield, his catch of Whitney's drive in the sixth being especially noteworthy. The score:

Tonight's Game

The game last night sent the fans away well satisfied as it was one well worth watching. It wasn't until the last inning that the E. C. P. really sewed up the game as the Hallville team battled gamely from the very beginning. When both the teams took the field it loked like a real slaughter as the Power Co. looked very strong while Hallville minus the New London boys who were playing in their own town looked very weak, but Spicer who Taylor sent into the box pitch a very nice game with his team fighting hard behind him and held down the opposing team in good shape. But that doesn't mean that the E. C. P. will be held down in every game as they are a hard hitting aggregation and with the addition of Shefflot, Joe Barry, Dickson and Parisi to their roster will give plenty of trouble during the rest of the season.

Tonight the game between Yantic and the St. Josephs will without a doubt be a real ball game as these two teams are as evenly matched as any two teams in the league. The fans will get a chance to see Yantic's improved team in action and to miss this opportunity will be a real disappointment as they have picked up a team from Lebanon and South Windham that is mean. These boys all sock the old pill in good shape and with "Cannonball" Gill Jones in the box for them present a strong lineup. After Yantic had been followed by a loss since the beginning of the season these boys came down last week and drove Hallville's ace out of the box and also pulled the Hallville team out of second place. The Yantic team will line up as follows: Smith, c, "Cannonball" Jones, p., "Big Boy" Sweet, 1b, Hoxie, 2b., Ainsworth, ss., Cummings, 3b., and Marchand, L. Hoxie and Burns in the outfield.

For the Saints either West, Spike Liberty, of Zemke will pitch and Allard will catch. The rest of the Saints lineup was not known at a late hour last night except that Oney has signed up several new men from Jewett City. Tonight Nap Liberty will make his final appearance in the Twilight league as he goes to Hartford of the Eastern league Friday.

The fans will no doubt miss Nap as he is a good, clean, fast, ballplayer and has caught, pitched, played third and short at the Duwell field and played well in every position, while everyone will miss him without a doubt everyone will be pulling for him to make the grade.

Challenge Accepted

The Taftville Sluggers have accepted the challenge of the Hallville Jrs., on the J. B. Martin grounds on Friday in a twilight game. Game will start at 6 o'clock.

Attention Valiant, Jrs.

The Taftville Sluggers will play the Valiant Jrs., Thursday night in a twilight game. Game will start at 6 o'clock.

DAVIES SCORES EIGTH SHUTOUT AGAINST BEARS

NEW HAVEN, July 29—Errors behind Drake gave New Haven a 3 to 0 victory over Bridgeport here today. Davies pitched his eighth shutout of the season, striking out six batsmen. The game was preceded by a game between Connecticut league "old timers" and local semi-pro "old timers," the leaguers winning 2 to 0 in five innings. Walter Ahearn, former Waterbury catcher, drove in two runs with a double in the fifth, winning the game. New Haven's jubilee day was celebrated with Judge Landis, President Heydler of the National league and President Dan O'Neil in attendance. Judge Landis pitched the first ball to President O'Neil. Score:

Bridgeport	000 000 000—0
New Haven	000 012 00x—3

INDIANS AND BOSTON PLAY TAME GAME

BOSTON, July 29—(A. P.)—Cleveland hit Ehmke freely in the third and fifth innings today and took the second game of their series with the Boston American club, 10 to 5. Miller was effective with a sharp southpaw curve and his hitting was a material help in the visitors' scoring game. Catches by Jamieson, Speaker and Flagstead featured an otherwise tame game. TRAFFIC ORDINANCES A JOKE, NEW LONDON MAN GETS INTO COURT

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 29.—Edward Soltz has his own ideas of a joke, but they are such as he will be wise to abandon. He parked a business automobile on the west side of Main street, in a restricted section for more than an hour, this morning. The machine was found there by Officer Nagle who lost no time in hunting Soltz up in the store where he is employed and in telling him to move the car. Soltz regarded the warning as something of a joke and laughed at the officer. Soltz then sauntered into a cigar store and purchased a cigar. When he came back he found his car tagged and he was ordered into the police court, where he appeared just in time to avoid a capias being issued for him. He was told that he and all others would be obliged to obey the parking and traffic ordinances of the city. The information was imparted to him in language that was so positive that Soltz understood it. Then judgment was suspended for 24 hours. It is claimed that New London people, who are supposed, naturally, to be familiar with the traffic ordinances, are the most frequent offenders against the law. A change is coming now in the treatment of the offenders when they appear in court. Leniency has not accomplished what it was expected it would achieve.

The police claim that there would be fewer petty burglaries reported on Bank street, especially the lower end of that thoroughfare, if the occupants of the buildings would securely fasten windows. The police officers on the beats declare that some of the little store proprietors are exceedingly careless about fastening windows, and say that wind of strong force would blow out the windows.

The stopping of traffic on Bank street this forenoon during the progress of the fire in the Burckle building, aroused interest in the suggested plan to open up the south end of Green street to Tilley street. Had the street been so open for traffic this forenoon there would have been no congestion in Bank street, for vehicles could have had ingress and egress from the upper part of State street. The making of this improvement has often been suggested, but the suggestion has never been acted upon. The expense, it is believed, would be comparatively small but the convenience would be such as would be appreciated throughout the city.

John Harrington was sent to jail from the police court, this morning, for intoxication. He endeavored to tell Judge Prince what DeWolf Hopper would call a "fairy tale" but the judge didn't accept it as literally true, so he told John that he "needed to be burned out," and then ordered him to be committed to the county jail. John made his fifteenth appearance in court for intoxication in a year or so and his case did not awaken any sympathy. The police refer to him as "Harrington Monthly" because of his frequent appearances. John will be in jail three weeks for that offense. He was found last night on Water street behind the power house where he had been dragged by men who took him out of the danger zone while he was lying in the street.

John Downes, of Camp Trumbull, Niantic; Miss Marjorie Coulson, 17 Marshall street and Mrs. John Tayler and infant twin sons, of Westerly, were discharged from the hospital today.

The funeral of James Gleason was held this morning, at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Wolschaeger, with Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, deacon and Rev. William J. Fox, of Groton, sub-deacon. The bearers were Joseph McNamara, James T. Sexton, William Elwood, Edward J. Nolan, Frederick H. Gavitt, and James R. May. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

The funeral of Miss Jane F. Adams was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 15 Masonic street, the services being conducted by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

The automobile owned and operated by A. M. Powell, 416 Williams street and a machine owned by the Gordon Luggage Shop, New York, were in collision this afternoon, corner of State and Washington streets. Powell's car suffered slight damage.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today suspended the operators licenses of Clifford Mayhead, a sailor, stationed at the submarine base, and Frank Rose, 14 Tenth street. The machines owned by Mayhead and Rose were recently involved in collisions.

Four youths from Fall River, Mass., were taken into custody by Sergeant John Cavanaugh this forenoon when the boys, none over 18, were loitering about the streets. It developed that the quartette left home a week ago and went to New York and are now endeavoring to get back home. They were turned over to the custody of Probation Officer Richard W. Mansfield, who saw to it that the youths were placed on a train for Fall River.

The New London police were requested today by the New York and Block Island authorities to institute a search for Maude Johnson, colored, 16, who is supposed to have left New York for this city on the 16th inst., to go to Block Island, where she was to have joined her mother, who is employed at a Block Island hotel. Whether the girl came to New London is not known, but it is believed she did, for she was intending to board a steamer here that would convey her to the island. The girl has not put in an appearance at the island so it is believed possible that she is still in this city.

Morris Rosenberg, proprietor of a grocery store, 21 Maple avenue reported to the police this forenoon that his store had been entered early this morning and that $20 had been stolen from the cash register. Sergeant John Cavanaugh, who was assigned to the case, reported that there was no evidence that the store had been forced and that there was little ground to give Rosenberg's story credence.

The building in which the Rosenberg store is located, consists of a second store and a dwelling, which Rosenberg and his family occupies. Rosenberg recently decided to change his stock from one store to another and the work of transferring the goods was started last night, the work not being completed until 2 o'clock this morning. When work was suspended Rosenberg declares that he left the cash register containing the money in his former store and that when he took charge of the register today the money was missing. While Rosenberg declared that the register contained but $20 his wife stated that there was close to $60 in it, but Rosenberg asserted that his wife did not have any knowledge of the contents of the register. The only means of access to the building are through doors and windows and neither show signs of having been disturbed by a jimmy or similar pry. The police are satisfied that if entrance was gained to the place it was made possible by some one having a key to the store other than Rosenberg.

James Booth has sold a residence and two dwelling lots on Colman street to John B. and Sarah Hendry. Mr. Hendry is contemplating the erection of two houses on the vacant tracts.

James R. May and John C. Geary have sold a building lot on Saunders street to Mrs. Annie Jones.

James R. May and John C. Geary have sold a building lot on Dell street to Mary V. Brennan. The purchaser will have a cottage erected upon the site.

Frederick W. Finnegan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Finnegan, of Willetts avenue, and Miss Josephine O'Connell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Connell, of Tenth street, were married this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, the nuptial mass being celebrated by Rev. Dr. Timothy M. Crowley, rector of the church. The best man was Robert Sullivan and the bridesmaid was Miss Grace Finnegan, sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan left this afternoon on a wedding trip, which will include a visit in Montreal. Upon their return to New London, Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan will take up their residence at 18 Tenth street. Mr. Finnegan is employed as yard brakeman by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Two runaway boys were taken into custody late this afternoon, John Kelozs, 17, of 187 Main street, Westerly, and Frank McKenna, 18, 128 Main street, Westerly, and Frank McKenna, 18, 128 Main street, Westerly. The boys were observed on Main street by Traffic Officer William Graham, who learned when he questioned them that the youths had run away from home. The boys are being detained at the police station until their parents come here and take charge of them.

Mrs. Jennie M. Miller Francis, 44, widow of Charles Francis, a former resident of New London, died late yesterday at the State hospital, Norwich, in which institution she had been under treatment some time. Mrs. Francis formerly, resided on Shaw street. She is survived by a son, D. J. Francis, of Shaw street, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Perry, 243 Shaw street. She was a member of the First Baptist church.

Three drunks were taken into custody, late this afternoon and one of them William Green, is likely to receive a jail sentence when he is given a hearing in the police court tomorrow, for he was arrested a few days ago and was given his liberty. Green was at the union station this afternoon, making a nuisance of himself because of his condition and he was taken into custody by Sergeants McGrath and Kane of the New Haven railroad's force of special agents. When searched at the police station Green had a half pint of denatured alcohol, which he had been drinking, after it had been "cut" with water. The other two men were arrested by Traffic Officer William Corcoran and Patrolman John Clifford when they were found in a helpless state on Potter street.

The trolley car due to arrive in New London at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon in passing through Main street, near Crystal avenue collided with a commercial automobile of the Meyers bakery as the automobile was being driven from the curb. The automobile was damaged, but not badly.

One of the merchants, at Ocean Beach is desirous of installing a weighing device on one of the main sidewalks at Ocean Beach and requests that he be given permission by the city to set up the machine several feet across the sidewalk. It is impossible that the permission will be granted because of its impeding traffic during Sundays and other days when pedestrian traffic is exceedingly heavy at the shore resort.

City Manager William A. Holt has sent Captain of Police Charles Pinney, a request that the latter render the city manager a report as to the advisability of making another change in the traffic conditions on State street, near the corner of Bank street. It is planned by the suggestion of the city manager that automobiles, whose drivers desire to enter Bank street from the north side of State street and from North Bank street upon signal from the traffic officer.

The newly installed electrically operated traffic signal, which was installed at the corner of State and Bank street a few days ago, is not being operated, having become defective after its operation but a short time.

MERCHANTS WOULD CONTINUE CLOSING AT 6 P. M. SATURDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 29—With a view to obtaining a continuance of the stores on State street suspending business on Saturdays at 6 o'clock in the evening, a committee representing the chamber of commerce and consisting of Edward S. Neilan, Nestor Dreytus and Graham S. Hislop, held a meeting last evening at which time the matter was discussed. The session was called because of the approaching operation of the two Kresge stores and it is desired by the merchants and chamber of commerce that the Kresge stores close their business day the same hour as the other stores do. However, it is not known whether this plan will be adopted by the management of the two new stores, one of which will open next Saturday.

The State street merchants desire to continue the Saturday night plan of keeping closed and with that end in view a committee of women has been appointed for the purpose of circulating a petition among the New London housewives or the female shoppers, requesting them to lend their support toward obtaining a continued Saturday night closing of the stores by signing the petition. Most of the merchants declare that their weekly sale shows an increased business during the year that the stores have closed Saturday nights, declaring that the shopping public patronize the stores in greater numbers on Fridays and Mondays, instead of on Saturdays. Another meeting of the committee will take place next week.

WILLIE WAHR AGAIN CAUGHT VIOLATING NARCOTIC ACT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 29—New England narcotics agents swooped down upon the city tonight and assisted by New London and Norwich officers raided the quarters of Willie Wahr, alias Willie War, 205 Main street, where they arrested Wahr, together with Lee Fai, formerly of 28 Main street, Jewett City, Lee Dick, State street and Wen Ling, of Golden street, charged with violation of the narcotic act. All four Chinamen were locked up without bail, to await hearing tomorrow before United States Commissioner Russell P. Corcoran. The raiding officers were J. A. P. Flynn, F. A. Kenefick, C. F. Robbins, narcotic agents, County Detective William Lewis, of Norwich, Motor Cycle Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman Edward Daniels of the New London department.

The raiding force conducted a systematic search of the Wahr residence and were rewarded by finding quantities of opium, smoking outfits and complete layouts for the use of opium. These were seized as evidence against the accused.

During the progress of the raid Wahr attempted to make his escape, going to the upper part of the house to the roof, where he attempted to get to the ground by jumping to another building. A shot fired in the air by one of the narcotic agents, caused Wahr to stop and then he was handcuffed and brought to the police station.

Wahr, who has been arrested before and fined in the United States district court for violation of the narcotic act, has been suspected for some time as being an agent for the distribution of opium among users of the drug in New London. A watch of his movements had been kept for several weeks.

CIGARETTE IN GASOLINE CAUSES $2,500 FIRE LOSS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 29—The wooden structure, 22-24-26 Bank street, owned by the Edward Burckle estate and occupied for commercial purposes, was threatened with serious damage this morning, when a blaze that gave indications of assuming serious proportions resulted from the carelessness of a smoker, who dropped a lighted cigarette in a pail of gasoline.

One store in the structure, that occupied by N. Glanakopoulos, shoe shining and hat cleaning establishment was gutted, while Peck's restaurant was slightly damaged and the Capitol haberdashery suffered slightly from smoke. The building was damaged to the extent of $2,500.

The fire occurred about 10 o'clock when Bank street was congested with vehicular traffic. A smoker in the shoe shining place tossed his cigarette towards a pail nearby one of the shoe shining stands. The cigarette, instead of dropping to the floor landed in the pail, which contained about four gallons of gasoline being used in the cleaning of hats. Immediately the gasoline became ablaze and before attendants could even attempt to throw the pail into the street the entire place was enveloped in flames.

An alarm was rung in from Box 23, State and North Bank streets, which brought practically every piece of the city's fire fighting equipment to the place. When the firemen arrived the interior of the store was a mass of flames and to subdue it a large quantity of water and chemicals was turned upon the burning building. With the blaze finally subdued, the partitions between the Peck restaurant and the shoe shining place on one side and the Capitol haberdashery on the other were found damaged, while the shoe shining place was completely burned out.

INDIAN CHIEF REDWING ARRESTED AT EAST LYME

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 29—State Police Officer Joseph J. Bobnick, of Groton barracks, arrested Chief Redwing, at East Lyme, charged with breach of the peace, upon complaint of his wife. Redwing, who claims to be a full blooded Indian, was locked up in the New London police station to await trial at East Lyme tomorrow afternoon.

MEN COLLECTED JUNK— GAVE BOOZE IN EXCHANGE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, July 29.—Maurice Elman, of 150 Porter street, Providence, and Jacob Kiberg, of 61 1-3 Stamford street, Providence, were presented Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock, before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., on two counts, possession of intoxicating liquors and picking up junk without a license. They pleaded not guilty and were fined $50 and costs each on the first count and $3 and costs on the second.

The men were arrested by Patrolman Robert Vessell, of Westerly, Wednesday morning, about 11 o'clock, on Oak street, when they were driving into Westerly from Bradford in a Dodge truck owned by Elman. On them were found one bottle of gin, a bottle of Old Smuggler and four bottles of cognac brandy. The men were reported to have picked up junk, in return for which the liquid goods were passed out.

AGRICULTURAL INTERESTS

VICTIM OF "CHEAP" SEED

Because he thought that farmers "don't know beans," a certain exploiter of soy-bean seed is now revising his opinion while serving a term in the penitentiary for violation of the postal fraud law. Some farmers "do know beans," and when some of these better posted soy-bean growers recently received shipments of Tarheel Black instead of the Otootan which they had ordered the matter was called to the attention of the postoffice department and the United States department of agriculture.

Investigation by the postoffice officials disclosed the fact that this one lone operator was advertising the high priced variety, Otootan, for sale at about one-half the regular market value and doing a tremendous business. His plan called for no shipment of beans of any variety until the customer became insistent, and then he substituted the cheaper Tarheel Black. He was brought to trial and convicted of fraudulent use of the mails. Because of the high prices of the Otootan and Laredo varieties there has been considerable substitution of the cheaper black varieties, such as Wilson, Ebony or Black Beauty, Peking and Tarheel Black.

The moral in this little story, says the United States department of agriculture, is not only to know soybean considered substitution of the bean varities, but to buy soy-bean seed from reliable and established seedsmen or growers and beware of "cheap seed."

EXPANDING SHEEP PRODUCTION

There is a tendency to expand sheep production in the United States according to the United States department of agriculture. A survey recently made by the department shows an increase of 5.5 per cent. in the lamb crop over last year and a percentage of yearling ewes in breeding flocks more than sufficient for replacements. The increased lamb crop is due to increases in the so-called "native" sheep states, the "western" states showing a decrease. The tendency to expansion is more marked in native farm flocks and in small flocks in the western states.

The survey shows that the number of yearling ewes on June 1 was 19 per cent. of all ewes one year old or over at that time for the United States, 20.1 per cent. for the native states, and 18.1 per cent. for the western states.

Considerable difference is shown between the two regions as to the percentage of lambs saved to breeding ewes. The number of breeding ewes January 1 is taken as the basis for computing the lamb crop. The figure for the native states is 93.4 per cent; for the western states, 74.9; and for the United States 85.6.

The increase of 5.5 per cent. in the number of lambs this year compared to last, for the United States showing a decrease. The figures are 122 per cent. for the native states, and 97.7 per cent. for the western. The decrease in the western states was caused by the smaller average percentage of lambs saved as the estimate number of breeding ewes was larger this year than last.

The increase in the native states may be attributed to considerable extent to the increased number of farmers handling sheep, the department states. In many states, over 15 per cent. of the returns were from farmers who reported no lambs raised this year.

FARM RETURNS INSUFFICIENT

Although agriculture in the United States did better financially in the year ended June 30, 1925, than in the preceding 12 months, its income was nevertheless not sufficient to yield both a fair return on the capital invested in the business and a fair wage for the labor of farm operators and their families. This is brought out by the department of agriculture in an analysis of the agricultural balance sheet for the last crop year.

On the capital invested in agriculture for the year ended June 30, 1925, says the department, was at the rate of 4.6 per cent, compared with 3.3 per cent. In the year ended June 30, 1924. This return represented interest on the investment and payment for the managerial services of farmers if it was the net income that remained after providing for operating expenses and property taxes, and making an allowance for the unpaid labor of the farmer and his family at hired labor wage rates. In round figures the net income for the 1924-25 season was $2,712,000,000, compared with $1,992,000,000 in 1923-24.

But this sum did not go exclusively to farmers, because farmers do not own all the capital invested in agriculture. They own only about 75 per cent of it, and have to pay interest on the balance. It is estimated by the department of agriculture that the current value of the total capital invested was $59,164,000,000 in 1924-25 compared with $59,548,000,000 in 1923-24. When farm indebtedness is subtracted from these figures, the remaining amounts are approximately the value of the capital owned by actual farm operators. In 1924-25 the value of the farmers' unencumbered capital, according to the department, was $46,904,000,000 compared with $47,298,000,000 in the preceding crop year.

In estimating the net return to the actual farm operator in the crop year 1924-25 the department divides the gross return on this unencumbered capital in the same way as it does the gross return to all the capital invested in agriculture. That is to say, it reckons the net income available for interest on capital and the managerial services of the farmers after deducting operating expenses, taxes and an allowance for the labor of the farmer and his family. On this basis the return on the farmer's unencumbered captain in 1924-1925 was 4.1 per cent., compared with 2.5 per cent. in the preceding year.

"While this is a gratifying increase, it still comes far short of equalling the rates that the farmer has to pay for the use of borrowed capital. Interest paid by farmers on mortgage and other indebtedness in 1924-25 was 6.4 per cent., and 6.6 per cent. in the preceding year. Thus, as a combined return for the use of their capital and for their own managerial services, farmers received around 2 per cent less than was paid solely for the use of other capital, under conditions not requiring the farmers to take any responsible part in production."

NEARLY 92,000 FOREST FIRES

Nearly 92,000 forest fires swept 29,000,000 acres of public and private lands during the calendar year 1924, according to a report just compiled by the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture. The actual money damage was $38,000,000 exclusive of damage to young growth, watersheds protection, wild life, and recreational facilities. Compared with the calendar year 1923, the 1924 figures represent an increase of 24,000 fires and compared with the 9-year average an increase of 45,000 fires, or nearly 100 per cent. In acreage swept by the flames the 1924 figures are only slightly larger than those for 1923, but are almost double the acreage figures, compared with the 9-year average.

An analysis of the 1924 statistics shows that incendiary fires top the list with 21,000, or about 23 per cent. of the total. Brush burning comes next with 16,000 fires, or 18 per cent., and fires caused by smokers is third with 13,000, or about 14 per cent. Other chief causes of forest fires in 1924 were railroads, camp fires, lumbering, and lightning. Lightning is considered the only natural cause of forest fires. Only 6 per cent. of the 1924 fires were started by lightning.

"The greatest single agency with which to combat forest fires," said Colonel Greeley, "is public opinion. No thoughtful citizen can read the 1924 figures without coming to the conclusion that the fight against forest fires is his personal fight. The Federal and State governments are doing their utmost with the funds and equipment allotted to them. It is high time that a more effective weapon is placed at their disposal, and that weapon is an outraged public opinion."

FORECAST BUMPER TOBACCO CROP

A bumper crop of field grown tobacco exceeding that of last year in poundage, will be harvested in Connecticut valley this year, if present favorable conditions continue, according to the July forecast of the New England crop reporting service. Shade grown tobacco production, however will be much less than last year's crop.

The total acreage set of all varieties throughout New England this year is estimated at 37,242 acres as against 40,306 acres set and 38,013 acres harvested in 1924.

The production forecast in Massachusetts is 11,803,000 pounds of all varieties as compared with 11,790,000 pounds last year and a five-year's acreage of 12,658,000 pounds.

For Connecticut the production forecast is 37,260,000 pounds as against 36,820,000 pounds last year and a five-year's average of 39,161,000.

The total New England harvest, as forecast, will be 49,063,000 pounds, as compared with 50,800,000 pounds forecast in Pennsylvania, 36,660,000 pounds in Wisconsin, 31,201,000 pounds in Georgia, 5,600,000 pounds in Florida and 2,350,000 pounds in New York state.

The combined acreage planted to tobacco in the eight states for which the forecast was made amounted to 235,000 acres as compared with 218,000 acres planted in 1924 and a five years' average of 202,000 acres. The total production forecast for the same states is 235,114,000 pounds as compared with 214,121,000 pounds harvested in 1924 and five-year's average of 226,126,000 pounds.

New Finance Minister Of Italy

Alberto de Stefani has dropped his thankless task of regulating Italy's finances. His successor, Count Guiseppe Volpi, will need courage as well as skill. He must now be consulted in reference to the settlement with America. His appointment caused the delay in negotiations at Washington.

RUSSIA TAKES ENTRAILS BUSINESS FROM GERMANY

MOSCOW, July 29.—The export of entrails to foreign countries is one of the chief items of Russia's foreign trade. Exports of this commodity during the last six months amounted to over $1,000,000, official statistics show. Russia has found a ready market in the United States for this kind of material, American sausage makers having purchased 45 per cent. of the total export of entrails during the last six months.

In pre-war time Russia did a great trade in entrails. It had an unlimited supply of sheep's intestines and special factories were built in Leningrad equipped with the latest mechanical devices for sorting and preparing the goods for export. The whole trade was previously in the hands of Germany, which had a monopoly for purchasing entrails in Russia, but Soviet exporting organizations are now preparing to deal direct with the consuming countries.

Using discarded automobile license plates, Oscar Lemdahl, of Seattle, Wash., completed shingling his summer cottage. The plates bear the names of nearly every state and many years. More than 2,300 were used on the cottage roof.

AT A COURT OF PROBATE HELD at Montville, within and for the District of Montville, on the 28th day of July, A. D. 1925.

Present—DAN D. HOME, Judge.

Estate of Mary Bridget Maloney, late of Montville, in said District, deceased.

Daniel E. Callahan, of New London, Conn., appeared in Court and filed a petition praying, for the reasons therein set forth, that an Administrator de bonis non with the will annexed be appointed upon the estate of said deceased, the executor now being deceased.

Whereupon, It is Ordered, That said petition be heard and determined at the Probate Court Room in Montville in said District, on the 3rd day of August, A. D. 1925, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and that notice of the pendency of said petition, and of said hearing thereon, be given by the publication of this order one time in the Norwich Bulletin, a newspaper having a circulation in said District at least three days prior to the date of said hearing and that return be made to this Court.

DAN D. HOME, Judge.

The above and foregoing is a true copy of record.

Attest: SUSAN F. PLOUFFE.

PAINTING, BELIEVED A VANDYCK OF CHARLES I, FOUND IN OSLO

OSLO, July 29—Art circles here are greatly interested in the discovery of a painting which experts are inclined to believe to be a portrait by Vandyck of King Charles I of England.

The picture was purchased by an Oslo solicitor recently. It depicts the king at about the age of 25, dressed in a suit of dark velvet with a broad collar of fine lace, and with hair falling in long curls over his shoulders.

The owner has had photographic copies made and despatched them to every famous gallery in Europe where contemporary portraits of Charles I are known to be. Experts at these galleries are reported to have unanimously pronounced that the original is not a copy of any known portrait of the king.

MARKET WAS REACTIONARY.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(A. P.)—Stock prices turned reactionary today under the weight of an unusually large volume of profit taking. The orderly character of the decline suggested good underlying support, considering the rapidity of the recent advance in many issues. Net losses in the popular shares ranged from 1 to 3 1-2 points. The market showed a tendency to become dull on the reaction, the day's sales running about half a million shares below those of yesterday.

Operations for the advance were not entirely abandoned. A large accumulation of overnight buying orders imparted a strong tone to opening prices more than a dozen issues attaining new peak prices for the year on initial sales. In all, about 40 issues broke through their previous high levels during the session, although many of the gains were reduced or wiped out in the late wave of profit-taking.

Trade news was largely favorable. It included the publication of statistics showing that freight car loadings had crossed the million mark for the first time this year in the week ended July 18. Weekly steel trade reviews stressed expanding operations and orders. The quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation, which was issued after the close of the market yesterday, received favorable comment in commission house advices although the steel shares apparently had fully discounted the news. United States Steel common fell back 1 1-2 points to 118 1-2 after having touched 120 3-8.

Strength of the specialties was based largely on individual developments. Foundation Company touched a new high for all time at 134 3-4 on reports that earnings in the first six months of the year were in excess of $20 a share. International Combustion and Engineering also touched a record high at 45 7-8 in further reflection of several large contracts recently closed by that company. Ward Baking B, soared nearly six points to a new top at 74 5-8, but forfeited part of its gain on realizing.

General Motors touched another new top at 89 1-2 in speculative expectation of a large extra dividend next month. Fisher Body reached new high ground at 86. Among the many other industrial issues to establish new maximum prices were Brown Shoe, Continental Can, International Nickel, International Telephone, Pacific Gas & Electric, United Drug, Remington Typewriter, Spicer Manufacturing and Orpheum Circuit.

Rubber shares turned heavy in sympathy with the lowering of commodity prices. United States Rubber common dropped over 3 points to 58 5-8. Net declines of two points or more also were recorded by American Safety Razor, Chrysler Motors, Crucible Steel, Famous Players, Houston Oil, Mack Trucks, May Department Stores, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United States Cast Iron, White Motors and Woolworth.

Call money ruled unchanged at four per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady with 4 to 4 1-4 per cent. the ruling rate.

Except for the weakness of the Scandinavian currencies, due to heavy profit-taking, there was little of interest in the foreign exchange market. Danish kroner dropped about a cent to around 22 3-4 cents and Norwegian kroner fell back over 30 points to around 18 3-8 cents. Demand sterling held fairly steady around $4.55 1-2 and French francs were quoted slightly higher at 4.75 cents.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Beatrice Gadbois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gadbois, of Hunters avenue, is spending some time at St. Anne de Beaupre, P. Q., Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weseman and family, of North B. street, are camping this week at Billings Pond.

Miss Margaret Robinson and her niece, Miss Robinson, of Patterson, N. J., are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Grant and family of the Old Canterbury Turnpike.

Mrs. Alexander H. Disco, of Norwich, spent Wednesday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fontaine, of South Second avenue.

Henry W. Winslow, of New London, was a caller in the village Tuesday.

Robert Brown, of Hartford, is the guest of his father, William Brown and family, of South Fifth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laramie, of South Fourth avenue, Mrs. William Smith and Miss Margaret Smith, of School street, have returned from a short stay at Buttonwoods, R. I. Miss Lillian Laramie, of North B. street is spending the week at Buttonwoods where she is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thibeault at their summer camp. Mr. and Mrs. Thibeault are former Occum residents, and now reside in Woonsocket, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. James Broughton and daughter, Miss Dorothy Broughton, of Blissville road, have returned from a short stay at Lord's Point.

The tennis court on South Second avenue has been put into condition by some of the men of the neighborhood and is in nightly use.

Now that the state highway department is calling for bids on the completion of the road from Taftville over the Old Canterbury Turnpike and Gallows Hill, to Norwich Town, the villagers are encouraged to believe that the work might at least be started before the coming winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillias Duhaime and family, of Merchants avenue, are to move soon to a house on South C. street.

Treffle Demers has resigned his position with the carding department of the Ponemah company.

Rev. Henri F. Chagnon, assistant pastor of the Sacred Heart church, who has been spending a short vacation in Canada, is expected to return to town the latter part of this week.

Ponemah Heights, the spot selected for the big clambake at the Pioneer Day old home week celebration, is probably without equal for this sort of an affair. The high cliff, which overlooks the entire town and commands a good view of the mills, and a great part of the town of Lisbon, was once the scene of many a jolly bake. At that time tables, benches and fireplaces had been erected on the heights and great crowds were accommodated for the eating of the clams which were cooked in a big barrel of seaweed with hot stones furnishing the cooking energy. The seats and tables have long since disappeared but the spot is as inviting as ever. Four big roque courts have been laid out at the top of the ledge, and there are groves of mammoth oak trees, under which the Pioneers will congregate on Labor Day. A good ash road runs from Providence street up to the heights. This road was built by the Ponemah mills several years ago when the Pioneers were prevented from holding a big outdoor celebration because of bad weather. The Heights can also be reached by several paths running up the steep sides of the ledge.

The Taftville Congregational church is to be closed during the month of August, as this is the time for the pastor, Rev. Edwin G. Crowdis, to take his annual vacation.

WHERE DID DOG'S HEAD COME FROM?

A dog's head received at the state department of health laboratory via special delivery, parcel post, on July 16 was found to be positive for rabies. No mark could be found upon the package to indicate the sender or even the place of mailing. All efforts have failed to unearth any clue as to the source of the dog's head. It was a medium sized black dog with long hair, apparently a mongrel. The state department of health would greatly appreciate information as to where the dog's head came from, who sent it in, and whether or not the dog had bitten any persons or animals.

Compensation Agreements.

Compensation agreements filed Wednesday with the clerk of the superior court in this city follow:

Atwood Machine Co., Stonington, and Louis Gonzalles, Stonington: water on right elbow. Date of injury, July 2, and compensation began July 10.

Uncas Paperboard Co., Norwich, and John Zegalski, Norwich; date of injury, June 3, and compensation began June 11.

RALPH YZZO CHARGED WITH SETTING FIRE TO HIS HOUSE

Charged with arson, Ralph Yzzo alias Geitz, of Stonington road, off Palmer street, was arrested by the local police about noon Wednesday and later released under bonds of $2,000. Yzzo's arrest followed an investigation of the origin of a small fire at his house early Wednesday morning, as the firemen discovered strong evidence that the blaze had been set.

About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning, Joseph G. Atwood, of No. 94 Stonington road, employed by the Connecticut company, discovered the roof of Yzzo's house on fire as he was just leaving his own house on his motorcycle to report for duty. Mr. Atwood hurriedly drove to the central fire station and notified the department of his discovery.

Squad A, Engine No. 1, and Deputy Chief Henry R. Taft went to the scene and found that a small section of the shingled roof, about 2 feet square, at the lower end of the roof was on fire. There was a very strong smell of kerosene which had very evidently been poured on the shingles and then touched off. The blaze was quickly extinguished and then an investigation of the origin of the fire was started.

The house is an old one, single story, and the roof badly in need of repair. The shingles are old and somewhat decayed. In a shelf in back of the kitchen stove was found a soda bottle, wet with kerosene and there was a kerosene spot on the shelf. There was no fire in the stove and hadn't been any as Yzzo had been using an oil stove in the cellar. Yzzo's family, with the exception of one boy, are away, said to be out of the state on a visit. Yzzo and the boy were alone in the house.

Confronted with the kerosene bottle, Yzzo said the "boss," meaning his wife, used it, for making a fire in the stove. When the firemen arrived at the house, Deputy Chief Taft asked Yzzo to show the way through the house to the roof. This Yzzo did, but not until after he had closed a hatch, where there was a five gallon can of kerosene which had been moved from its regular place in the cellar.

During the morning Chief Howard L. Stanton, as fire marshal, began an investigation. He looked the house over and secured additional evidence of incendiarism.

On the ground under the section of roof that was burned several matches were found. These are identical with matches kept in the house. Some of the shingles, smelling of kerosene, the bottle found on the kitchen shelf and other articles, all pointing to incendiarism, are in the possession of the fire department.

It was at first thought that the fire was set from the outside of the building by using a ladder, but it was later pointed out that it was possible that the kerosene bottle could have been poked through a small hole in the roof, and in that way poured onto the shingles, which were then set on fire. The flames gained but little headway owing to the fact that the roof was still wet from the rain Tuesday night.

Chief Stanton laid the evidence before Prosecuting Attorney Lee Roy Robbins and the result was that a warrant charging arson was issued for Yzzo's arrest. The warrant was served on him about noon by Officers Charles Smith and Barney Keenan at the plant of the Norwich Gas and Electric company on North Main street, where Yzzo is employed. He was booked at police headquarters, bonds of $2,000 being furnished later in the day.

This is the second fire within a month at Yzzo's premises. About 3:30 on the morning of July 3rd, the fire department was called out for a fire at the Yzzo place. At that time a small shed was destroyed. Yzzo had $600 insurance on it and he collected $205 in settlement. This is said to have more than covered the loss.

IRA WHEELER GIVEN A BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Thirty friends and relatives gave Ira Wheeler a surprise on Saturday in honor of his birthday at his home in Leffingwell.

The dinner was served at noon. It consisted of clam chowder, salads, cakes, pies, watermelon, lemonade, ice cream. In the center of the table was a large birthday cake prettily decorated in pink and white. A candle for each year was lighted. Mr. Wheeler received many useful gifts.

The out of town guests were: Mrs. W. Cole of New Haven. Mrs. Alice Murdock, Boston; Grant Tibbells, Hartford. Those from Norwich Town were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler and two sons, Charles and James; Mr. and Mrs. Woodward Wheeler and daughter, Florence, and two sons, Woodward and Nathan; Mrs. Daniel Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Irish, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Avery and four daughters, Rachel, Ruth, Alice, Mary and son, Ira; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carter and son, John, and daughter, Mildred; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stebbins of Greeneville; Fillmore Sage, Norwich, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leffingwell of Leffingwell.

The affair was arranged by his daughter, Mrs. Albert Avery, and his niece, Mrs. Richard Carter. Mrs. Forest Leffingwell assisted Mrs. Wheeler in serving.

NORWICH MEN LEAVE FOR FLORIDA NEXT WEEK

Alexander Pasnik and Abner Schwartz, prominent business men of this city, are to leave for Miami, Fla. on Tuesday of next week, to spend about ten days in Miami and vicinity, with prospects of entering into real estate contracts if conditions warrant this venture.

Mr. Pasnik and Mr. Schwartz are to sail from New York on one of the Clyde line steamships and it is understood that they have the backing of prominent business men of Norwich and New York if real estate ventures are to be made. The local men expect to purchase land for development between Miami and Palm Beach and have in mind large tracts of land between these two cities which may be purchased by them after they have gone over the surrounding country.

It is understood that large purchases may be made for development purposes, if the two Norwich men decide in favor of entering into contracts and taking up pieces of land in that section of Florida which has been mentioned as one of the best business ventures in recent months.

Increase in Telephones

In the six months ended June 30, a net gain was made of 9,426 telephones in public service in the territory served by the Southern New England Telephone Company, indicating a continuation of the heavy demand for this indispensable utility. On the date mentioned there were 243,049 telephones in service, but during the six months it just held its lead over New Haven. The half year increase for Hartford was 1621 and in New Haven it was only one under that figure. Bridgeport and Waterbury are third and fourth in number of telephones in service, but in the half year Stamford made a gain of 520, which is 26 more than Waterbury added.

But all the cities and towns contributed substantial quotas to the large increase within the state, indicating a sound and improving business condition throughout Connecticut.

The number of telephones in service and the increase for the half year in some of the principle cities follow:

	Total	Gain
Hartford	41086	1621
New Haven	40169	1620
Bridgeport	23077	653
Waterbury	14383	431
Stamford	9550	520
New Britain	9013	479
Meriden	6262	275
Norwalk	6251	245
Norwich	5575	170
Danbury	4742	191
Bristol	3972	212

Eastern Connecticut Health.

The weekly morbidity report issued by the Connecticut state department of health shows the following communicable diseases reported from towns in eastern Connecticut:

Diphtheria—Norwich, 1.

Scarlet Fever—Rockville, 1.

Whooping Cough—Groton, 2; New London, 2; Old Lyme, 1.

Measles—New London, 1.

The man who gets the short end of a lawsuit is willing to bet that the scales of justice have been tampered with.

NEW YORK DRIVER PAID HEAVY FINES

Jack J. Burney, 29, of 429 West 42d. street, New York, paid nearly $300 in fines and costs in the city court, Wednesday morning, when found guilty on two separate counts. On the charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, he was fined $200 and costs and given a 30 day jail sentence, judgment suspended for one year.

After paying this fine he was taken by State Policeman Kennerson, of the Groton barracks, before Justice of the Peace Oscar Church, at Montville, where he was charged with violating the motor vehicle laws by evading responsibility, and was fined $50 and costs. His total bill in both courts came to over $280.

Burney testified that he was on his way from New York to the White Mountains, where he was to be married Wednesday, his bride-to-be waiting there for him. On his way up he said, he had just two drinks. He also testified that he did not believe the Hupmobile car owned and driven by Dr. Lester Walker, which he sideswiped at Montville, was damaged to any extent, so therefore he kept on his way. He was followed by Thomas Leahy, of Norwich, and arrested at Thames Square. Friends from New York came to Norwich Wednesday and paid his court bills.

In addition to his court bills, Burney faces a suit for $750, brought by Attorney Edwin W. Higgins, counsel for Dr. Walker, the case being returnable the first Tuesday in September in the court of common pleas.

The complaint alleges that at that point near the residence of Miss Carrie Comstock and Frederick Rogers, in Montville, the defendant, Burney drove his Nash sport car into the Hupmobile coupe, owned by Dr. Walker, puncturing the gas tank, smashing the mudguards, springing the axles, breaking the springs, throwing differential out of true, and greatly damaging the rear end of the Walker car by displacing the gears, by reason of the defendant's intoxicated and drunken condition and by his negligence etc., in operating his car. The car was put out of commission and had to be towed to a local garage.

The papers were served upon Burney by Deputy Sheriff Oscar Main, who also placed an attachment of $1,000 on the Nash car which is in a local garage.

Burney is in business with his father in New York, conducting a garage business. It is understood that he is making endeavors to have the machine released through the insurance company.

AMERICAN WOOLEN CO. OPENS MEN'S WEAR FABRICS

Sharp declines in prices of staple worsteds featured the opening in New York this week of men's wear fabrics for Spring, 1926, by the American Woolen company. The lines opened comprised both staple worsteds and woolens, but prices of the latter showed practically no change from those of a year ago. Company officials issued no statement of an average percentage of decline in the entire line, but said that on fifty-five representative staple worsteds the reduction average 22 cents a yard.

When compared with the Fall, 1925, levels the new prices showed a still greater drop, amounting to as much as 40 and 60 cents a yard on some fabrics. Production economies inaugurated by the new management of the company together with the effect of the recent wage cut, were said to have made possible the lowering of prices. The influence of the raw wool market was discounted.

It was announced that the company would complete the offering of its men's wear fabrics for Spring with the opening of fancy worsteds next Monday or Tuesday. New lines of twills and poiret sheens were opened Wednesday. These fabrics are for the dress trade.

All activities of the big company have eastern Connecticut interest, since it has mills in Norwich, Yantic, Moosup and Rockville.

HOME AFTER MOTOR TRIP TO CANADA

Clarence Disco and his brother, Wilfred of 210 Broadway, arrived home Wednesday after a two weeks' vacation at Montreal, going by way of Niagara Falls and Toronto. They covered in all about 1,600 miles.

Well Child Conferences.

Well Child conferences, held under the direction of the Connecticut state department of health, have been scheduled for towns in eastern Connecticut as follows:

GIRL GAINED 7 POUNDS NINE YEARS AN INVALID

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock Girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at Lee & Osgood Co., or any real druggist anywhere in America.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength.

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 5 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market. She is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why, get your money back.

SHOULD SEND TYPHOID PATIENTS TO HOSPITAL

Where Typhoid Comes From is the subject of an article in this week's health bulletin, issued by the Connecticut state department of health. The article says:

A Connecticut woman came down with typhoid fever January 15 of the present year. One of her children became ill with the disease February 21 and another child came down March 15. Thus it appears that the two children were likely infected by their association with another patient, and so are what we call "contact" cases.

Another young Connecticut woman came down with typhoid fever February 12. She was cared for at home by her mother and the mother came down with typhoid fever on February 22. The mother was cared for by another daughter who came down with typhoid fever March 20. The husband of the second daughter also came down with typhoid fever March 25. This makes four cases of typhoid fever in one family, three of whom were contact cases.

Other members of the same family lived in the home with those who were ill but did not take care of them, in fact they did not go in the part of the house occupied by the patients and did not handle the clothing or bedding which came from the sick room. They did not become ill. Only those who took care of the patients contracted the disease.

Obviously, the way to prevent contact infection is either to avoid taking care of the typhoid patients or use such precautions while caring for them as not to become infected. If the patients themselves are sent to a hospital, members of their families are no longer exposed to infection.

But contact with other persons who have typhoid fever accounts for only a few of the total number of cases of this disease. Some may get the germs of the disease in milk. Occasionally a person may become infected by drinking impure water, and in a few cases it is possible to attribute the infection to association with carriers but in the great majority of cases more than two-thirds of them in fact, it is not possible to definitely locate the source of infection unless more intensive work is done to seek the unknown carrier or source of infection.

Since we know that in all cases of typhoid fever the germs come either from some other case, or from a carrier, and since we can exclude another case in most instances, we know that carriers are responsible for most cases of the disease. A search for the source of infection therefore, should be a search for the carrier. A carrier is a person who harbors the germs and discharges them from his body without himself becoming ill. It is estimated that at the lowest 2 or 3 per cent. of all persons who have typhoid fever remain carriers for an indefinite period.

CHILDREN HAVE PICNIC AT MOHEGAN PARK

About 250 children of the Lake street and Hobart avenue playground enjoyed a picnic at Mohegan Park, Wednesday. The children assembled at the playcenters and at 10 o'clock walked up with their instructors. Boin boys and girls participated in various games which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. At noon a basket lunch was served.

At 2 o'clock, the swimming meet, the big event of the day was called, opening with high diving. First place was captured by Joe Marks, of Lake St. and second place by Benjamin Bruckner of Hobart Ave. Buckley of Hobart Ave., gave a fine exhibition of backdiving, won first place in the second event, fancy diving, with Joe Marks of Lake St. coming a close second. Immediately following this, Johnny Welamelier's rivals turned out in full force. After a spirited contest the first place was given to Richard Fitzgerald, Hobart Ave. star; with Marks and Drew, of Lake St. a tie for second place. The Midgets were allowed to display their talents in a 20 yard dash, which resulted in a point for Hobart Ave. with Christopher Angelopolus as first and Jack Hoxie of Lake St. second.

The back stroke swimming contest was taken by Lake St. with Charlie Drew taking first by a large margin and Bruckner of Hobart Ave. second. The final event was the under water swim which was won by Lake St., thus tying the score which gave each playcenter three first places.

The smoothness with which the aquatic events were run off was due largely to the skill and efforts of the life guard, Paul McNamera, and Terrance Finnegan, instructor at Lake St.

About 4:30 the children started for their grounds. The constant line of more picnics of this kind goes to show how much enjoyment the children derive from the outings.

The picnic was under the supervision of Miss Farrell of Hobart Ave. and Mr. Finnegan and Miss Werth of Lake St.

ADDRESSED STUDENTS AT JUNIOR SHORT COURSE

(Special to the Bulletin.)

STORRS, July 29—Philo T. Platt, state commissioner of agriculture, made his first public address since assuming the duties of his office here yesterday before the Junior short course students at Storrs. Mr. Platt urged his audience of young folks to realize that in the future they will have to assume the burdens of agricultural leadership, and that they should obtain the best training possible to enable them to carry on this work. Mr. Platt spoke as follows:

Knowing as you do my interest in agriculture and all matters relating to agriculture and agricultural education for boys and girls you can see it is a real pleasure to come here and say a few words to you.

You must realize the future of Connecticut's agriculture will be shortly resting on your shoulders as we older ones pass on it will be up to you, the younger generation.

It is a pleasure to come here and see so many of you who are taking an active interest in agriculture as I believe agriculture has a gbright future in the state of Connecticut, where we have abundant markets in our many cities and towns which are well distributed through the state and while our cities with their various industries are continually reaching out for our young people, I think more and more of you are realizing the best interest of the state require a more active interest in Connecticut's agriculture.

I think many of you have noticed the attitude of the industrial leaders who are now taking a hand not only to promote cooperation between industrial and agricultural interest but to set forth in every direction the necessity and advisability of the development of our agricultural resources.

The value of our property in New England is estimated at over a billion dollars and of the farm products from these properties hundreds of millions, yet we import nearly 3-4 of our food supply for which we pay nearly 1-2 billion dollars. We even import thousands of milch cows every year from other states, who stand ready to raise them and take our money, we surely need no particular vision to see the increased prosperity if we can keep this business at home, there never was a period in our history when our agricultural development was more necessary with out thousands of industrial workers who are entirely dependent on agriculture for their food supplies, no one can help but see success in the future of Connecticut agriculture.

Nowhere in these United States are the markets more accessible, if farmers in other states can make money by shipping to Connecticut markets, Connecticut farmers surely must have a much more prosperous future in store.

Compare conditions here with the short delivery to the best markets in the world to the western farmers who in many cases must transport their products twenty to fifty miles to the railroad where it is then shipped to market.

It may be we cannot boast of soil equal to some of the other states especially the middle west, but there is but little soil in Connecticut, of scientifically handled but what will produce abundant crops or supply pasture for sheep and cattle which have nearly disappeared from our hillsides; especially the beef cattle which Connecticut used to raise by the thousands.

Many other agricultural lines I believe can be taken up with a profit for the Connecticut farmer and with those who are interested in agriculture and industry joining hands for a more prosperous future in agriculture must take on a brighter future.

And now to you who are here taking an active interest in agriculture remember science, alone, as it relates to agriculture will not make successful farming. In addition to education, common sense, the ability to apply knowledge obtained and a large amount of pep are required.

Book learning must carry with it the ability to execute. The information that pedigreed seed will produce larger and better crops is useless unless the better seed are used.

The knowledge that beefing the poor cows will increase the average production thereby reducing the cost of production in two ways first, by lowering cost of production and secondly by increasing materially the average per cow.

If you are in the dairy business, the knowledge of pure bred sires of the best breeding is useless unless you actually use such an animal.

The use of fertilizers is a study by itself but unless you can apply the information to soil needs and plant growth you are like a well rigged ship at sea without a rudder and will land on the rocks of farm failure.

These same ideas may be applied to poultry or fruit or most any branch of agriculture.

While the growing of farm products is necessary for sustaining life, you must not forget that you are to be the coming citizens of this state and that loyalty to your home and state should be cultivated. A community split of helpfulness is a great asset, and if such a spirit is cultivated it will sooner or later react in your favor. To have the confidence of your townspeople should ever be a motive force that will lend energy to your home and civic life.

CLARA BARTON TENT INVITED TO PROVIDENCE

Clara Barton Tent, No. 7, D. of V., of Norwich, has received an invitation to attend the institution of a new tent of the Daughters of Veterans, in Providence, R. I., the first to be instituted in that state. The institution exercises are to take place on July 31st at Morse hall, Butler Exchange building, opposite Union station, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The work of instituting the new tent will be in charge of Past Department President Mrs. Nellie O. Orchard of New London, and she has requested that Norwich members turn out in large numbers for the occasion. The trip from this city will probably be made by bus.

NORWICH TOWN

On Huntington Green, at Norwich Town, there was another public gathering Wednesday evening, when, under the auspices of the Young People's society of the German Lutheran church, Norwich, a festival and social time, with games, etc., was held, a large number attending. The festival was under the general supervision of the president, Miss Stelzner, with Miss Rose Phiel as chairman, assisted by several committees.

Miss Phiel looked after the finances, while Miss Bertha Thoma was in charge of canvassing. Miss Freda Retkovske dispensed ice cream and Miss Marion Decker served punch. Miss Stelzner and Miss Ogla Zachal were at the cake and candy table. The grab-bag was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Thumm.

The same lighting fixtures, chairs, tables, etc., used on the previous evening by the Sacred Heart parish, were used Wednesday evening. The proceeds are to be used for the benefit of the choir loft of the Lutheran church, which is to have a new carpet, besides a general renovating. Many compliments were paid Miss Stelzer, the originator of the successful affair.

For many years Huntington Green was known as Bean Hill Green; but about five years ago through interested citizens in that vicinity and for the historical relationships connected with the Huntington settlers, many of whom lived around the green, the name was changed. This was accomplished through the courtesy and support of the selectmen of the town of Norwich, who at the time placed a conspicuous sign board on a large tree facing West Town street.

The green which is opposite the First M. E. church, is bordered on one side by Huntington avenue, and this was another feature which seemed to suggest its present name. Years ago, Rev Simon Huntington was reputed to have held religious services around the green. Erastus and Ebenezer Huntington, brothers, were descendants of Rev. Simon Huntington. The last mentioned lived in the Huntington homestead at the foot of Plain Hill, in recent years the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen S. Smith, built by Ebenezer Huntington in 1717. Joseph C. Huntington lived in the small house second above the Methodist church; and Erastus Huntington lived just beyond. Samuel H. Huntington was the eldest son of Rev. Simon Huntington.

WINNERS IN SPORTS AT METHODIST PICNIC

The weather proved ideal Wednesday afternoon and evening for the annual picnic of the First Methodist Episcopal Sunday school, at Mohegan Park, which was attended by about seventy-five. Besides several automobiles which conveyed family parties, an officially chartered bus left the church at one o'clock.

Among those attending were the pastor, Rev. James B. Aldrich and family and the Sunday school superintendent, Frederick H. Bushnell and family. Mrs. Richard Carter and Lewis Aldrich were the committee in charge of the arrangements, and through their efforts a fine program of sports provided amusement, and there was a delicious luncheon of sandwiches, salads, cake, lemonade and ice cream.

Following the repast, the contests resulted as follows: Running race by Primary class, first prize, a ball, Walter Lamb; second, a top, Elmer Myers; boys' standing broad jump, first prize, pocket comb, Arthur Gifford; second, pocket book, Claude Stanton; girls' running race, first prize, pocket dictionary, Florence Fowler, second, barette, Mildred Carter; boys' running race, first prize, box of stationary, John Carter, second, note book, Claude Stanton; girls' baseball throw, first prize, stationary, Beulah Rogers; second, note book, Isabel Gimbel; boys' baseball throw, first prize, pcket dictinary, Claude Stanton; second, pocket comb, John Carter.

Mrs. Clara Carter was assisted in serving the luncheon about 5:30 o'clock, by Miss Theodore Brown and Miss Grace Mitchell. The return home was about 8 o'clock from the park, where during the day several other church picnics were held.

STREAMS OF HUMANITY PASS BIER OF BRYAN IN CHURCH

Young and Old, Rich and Poor, White and Black Americans Filed by Taking their Last Look at the Face of the Great Commoner—At the Head and Foot of the Casket Comrades of the Spanish War Kept Vigil—Order of Exercises For the Funeral Made Public.

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Close to the pulpit before which he worshipped in the brief years of his official life in Washington, William Jennings Bryan lay tonight. A stream of great and little folk, moved slowly by through the quiet church. Among them were many who had known him in life, who had seen him in his great moments, pleading the causes he championed with a fire of eloquence that is given few men to invoke.

To these it seemed that death had touched with softening hand the familiar, rugged features.

Well into the night the church doors stood open that all who would come to stand a moment beside the bier. Again tomorrow the grieving family will share their sorrow with the public until the hour strikes for the last journey to the grave that awaits the Commoner on a little hillside across the Potomac in Arlington National cemetery.

There was nothing of pomp about the scene in the little red brick church that long has survived the crowding downtown bustling of a growing city. At the head and foot of the casket, which lay close against the raised step of the chancel, the motionless figure of army comrades of the Spanish War kept ceaseless vigil.

Beside the casket stood the first of the three floral pieces that had been set in place. It was a great wreath of yellow roses, orchids and lilies, and bore the card of the secretary of state. On the casket itself, resting on the vivid coloring of the draping flag, by a little cluster of pink rose buds, set there in the name of the dead man's only great grandchild, Ruth Meeker, of Philadelphia.

On the right of the casket, on the raised floor of the chancel, stood a large floral pedestal surmounted with an open Bible worked in pink and white asters. It was the tribute to a fallen leader from the Jackson Democratic club of Washington, and it bore the inscription with white blooms "The Prince of Peace."

That was all, except for the steady stream of young and old, rich and poor, white and black Americans, who seized a moment in their busy lives to look once more on the face that has been known from ocean to ocean, for more years than many of them have lived.

A group of old friends, colleagues of the dead leader in many a bitterly fought political battle, were busy through the day with plans for the last service they could do for their fallen comrade. Among these was Ben G. Davis, chief clerk of the state department when Mr. Bryan ruled there as secretary, and Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy in the cabinet in which the Commoner was senior adviser to President Wilson.

After consultation with Mrs. Bryan it was determined that a military escort should meet the funeral procession at the south gate of the cemetery tomorrow afternoon. Non-commissioned officers of the regular garrison at Fort Meyer will lift the casket from the hearse and lower it into the grave and an army bugler will sound "Taps" but there will be no triple crash of rifle fire in deference to the wishes of the widow.

The change in plan which gave the military a part in the ceremonies was due to the feeling that up to the time that the casket passes into the cemetery, the funeral will be simply that of a plain American who held no office or appointment of state at the time of his death. He will sleep in Arlington cemetery, however, by virtue of the single requirement—that he held an honorable discharge from the military service of his country.

The last family reunion will be held tomorrow in the church. The doors will be closed to the public at noon and the dead be given back to the keeping of his loved ones for a little space before the religious services that precede the funeral are opened at 2:45 p. m.

Definite plans for the funeral were completed soon after the funeral train pulled into union station early today from its long journey from Tennessee. A throng, gathered to await the train's arrival, was grouped on the concourse before the president's room from which the funeral party emerged to be driven quickly to the LaFayette hotel. The casket remained in the Pullman until after the widow and the little group of close friends had left the station.

Flags were removed throughout the throng in sympathy with Mrs. Bryan and in tribute to the gallant spirit with which she has borne her sorrow despite her invalidism. At the hotel, she remained in seclusion except for necessary talks with close friends who were arranging details of the funeral services. Among these was the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church. Mr. Bryan's place of worship in the days of his Washington life, to whom Mrs. Bryan confided her husband's special preferences for guidance in his scriptural readings at the church services.

Meanwhile, the casket had been transferred to a motor hearse which bore it to the undertaker's chapel where it lay until it was moved to the church just before noon.

Several hundred people were permitted to view the face of the dead Commoner at the chapel. The honor watch for the dead, arranged by veterans of the Spanish-American war, took its place beside the casket just before the church doors were opened.

Before the public began trooping in, the Commoner's brother, former Governor Charles W. Bryan, of Nebraska, and Mrs. Bryan, who had stepped from a train which arrived after the funeral train, were given an opportunity to stand alone beside the casket.

COOLIDGE KEEPS POSTED ON LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 30—(AP)—In line with his plan of conferring during his vacation stay here with men identified with governmental affairs in Washington, President Coolidge discussed the legislative situation today with Senator Deneen, republican, Illinois. Tomorrow Chairman Madden of the house appropriations committee will arrive at White Court for a conference and over the week end Senior Pepper of Pennsylvania will be a house guest of President and Mrs. Coolidge.

On leaving the summer white house where he was an overnight guest, Senator Deneen said that a determined effort would be made in the next congress to enact legislation designed to bring about development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence and the Lakes to Gulf waterway. He reported to the president that agricultural and business conditions in the middle west are good.

Charged with the task of supervising the preparation of the annual supply bill, Rep. Madden will discuss with the president the needs of the government for the coming fiscal year and his program for further reductions in appropriations.

Senator Pepper, who will stop off here on the way to his summer home in Maine is expected to exchange views with Mr. Coolidge particularly with regard to the world court proposal in which he is interested and give him information regarding the anthracite situation.

17 PERSONS INJURED IN BUS AND TROLLEY COLLISION

BIDDEFORD, Me., July 30.—(AP)—Seventeen persons, 16 of them passengers on a Boston-Portland bus of the Gray Line Bus Company were injured here today when the vehicle crashed into a Biddeford-Saco trolley. The other victim is Charles H. Rhoades of Biddeford, the motorman.

All the bus passengers were removed to hospitals here but only four of them were held overnight. The trolley was derailed in the crash and the bus was damaged.

Henry Herlihy of Newton, Mass. reported to the police that he had driven the bus past another machine and was unable to avoid the trolley, which was descending a steep incline.

APPLICATION FOR NEW ORDER OF KU KLUX KLAN

HARTFORD, July 30.—(AP)—The Improved Order of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., of New Haven today filed a certificate of association at the office of the secretary of the state. One of the incorporators declared while at the office that the new order was founded because the first was "run by a lot of crooks." He charged that one national leader had been evicted because of misappropriation of funds. The signers of the certificate filed today were William D. Warren, Frank R. Norton, Earl L. Hill and George L. Knowlton. The purposes of the organization are given as the advancement of fraternity, patriotism and respect for law.

An unprecedented heat wave has swept over Sweden the past week, causing several deaths.

British Union Labor Backs Coal Min[illegible]

Workers Will Cease to Haul Coal by Road, Rail or Water Should the Miners Go Out.

LONDON, July 30—(AP)—The conference between Premier Baldwin and other members of his government and representatives of the miners and mine owners ended at midnight tonight without a settlement of the mine controversy having been arranged, but also without a final rupture in the negotiations.

It is understood the conversations will be renewed tomorrow.

Late this afternoon Premier Baldwin summoned a special cabinet council and it was said that he would make a statement to parliament on the questions at issue. At ten o'clock this evening, however, it was announced on his behalf in the lower chamber of parliament that the prime minister was not in a position to make a statement as he was meeting with the mine owners and the colliers again tonight.

The labor ministry just previously had issued an official statement on the negotiations as far as they already had proceeded. The most important part of the statement was both Wednesday and today Mr. Baldwin told the miners' federation that the government was not prepared to give a subsidy to the mining industry, but that he was "prepared, as the head of the government, to establish an authoritative inquiry to get to the bottom of the economic difficulties of industry and see how far the allegations made regarding room for improvement are well founded, with a view to putting the industry speedily into a healthier condition for affording a better level of wages."

Apparently the cabinet council resulted in a revision of the government's views concerning a subsidy, for when still later the premier went to the labor ministry to consult with the disputants, who had been specially summoned there, he was accompanied by Winston Spencer Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer and Neville Chamberlain, minister of health, who had not previously been intimately concerned in the negotiations but were brought in to aid the premier in his efforts at mediation.

It was then announced on good authority that Mr. Baldwin had summoned the parties again to offer a new basis for negotiations, namely, that the owners should withdraw their notices regarding working hours and lower wages and that the government would offer a temporary subsidy and a royal commission of inquiry with a wider scope than the Sankey inquiry of 1919. The Sankey commission made a number of recommendations which would have given the miners a greater voice in the management of the mines, but not nationalization of mines, and it has been a constant grievance of the miners that his recommendations never were fully put into effect.

Late tonight it still was uncertain whether the government's new move would prove successful; that if a cessation of work of the miners takes place Friday at midnight, as seems inevitable unless mediation is successful, the miners will enter the struggle backed by the full force of the trade union movement.

A national conference of all the unions affiliated with the trade unions congress held in London today pledged itself to this effect. Under instructions from this committee orders were being sent tonight to local branches throughout the country which will cause a cessation Friday, midnight of the hauling of coal by road, rail or water should the miners go out.

This move already threatens trouble in the railway world. The Great Western railway tonight issued a notice to its staff calling attention to the threat not to move coal. It reminds the staff that the company is under contract to transport all goods offered and that it cannot countenance discrimination against coal.

EXCESSIVE POSTAL COST OF DELIVERING NEWSPAPERS

PHILADELPHIA, July 30—(AP)—The purported excessive cost of delivering newspapers by the United States mails as compared with the cost of private agencies, was declared today before the special congressional joint sub-committee, sitting in hearing on the new postal rates, to be an important factor in the alleged postal deficit.

"Newspapers prefer to use the postoffice to private distributing agencies" Elisha Hanson, attorney for the American Newspaper Publishers' association, told the congressmen, "but the cost since 1917 has increased so overwhelmingly that publishers have withdrawn their mail deliveries as far as possible."

HELD FOR ASSAULT ON A WATERBURY WOMAN

WATERBURY, July 30—(AP)—Michael Martone, 24, of 253 Bank street, was held in $2,500 bonds in city court this morning when he was arraigned on a charge of criminal assault on a local married woman. The case was continued to August 6. Martone is an automobile salesman and it is alleged that the assault was made while he was teaching the woman to drive a car which he had sold to her.

Franco-British Rift On Security Note

Premier Briand May Visit London in a Endeavor to Arrive at an Agreement.

PARIS, July 30—(AP)—Difficulties which have arisen between the French and British governments concerning a reply to Germany's second security note may necessitate an early personal interview by Foreign Minister Briand with Austen Chamberlain, British foreign Secretary. The question at issue is the arbitration feature of the eventual security pact. The French insist that arbitration must be obligatory and should, in the case of Poland and Czechoslovakia, have a guarantor.

The British government, it is said, appears to be inclined to treat Germany on an equal footing and to consider her word equal to that of the allies. The French, however, are not ready as yet to rely on promises which are not amply guaranteed. This is said to be the only feature of the security negotiations on which Paris and London are at odds.

M. Briand is expected to take advantage of an early meeting between Premier Minister Canaday and Winston Spencer Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer, in London and accordingly M. Caillaux to the British capital in an endeavor to reach an agreement on a common reply to Berlin.

MINE OWNERS AND MINERS ARE STILL FAR APART

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 30—(A. P.)—W. W. Inglis, chairman of the anthracite operators, scale subcommittee, today forecast its coming reply to the miners by saying that, in solar as demands for higher pay were concerned, mine owners would not agree to having anything written into the contract necessary September 1 that would advance the present wage rates so much as a cent.

Production cost had reached the maximum the public would stand Mr Inglis said, and higher wages would correspondingly boost this cost beyond what the market, and therefore the operators, could allow.

Miners devoted the day to stressing their claim that coal now paid for in the carload should be paid for on the basis of a 2,240 pound ton. Mathematically the operators figured in reply, this item alone, plus the 10 per cent wage increase the men are also asking, would increase by 54 per cent that part of mining represented in the "blowing down" of coal and its transfer to the railroad car.

Miners insisted that in shafts they mined as much as 3,200 pounds to make a ton, merely to satisfy the old custom when operators demanded the excess to compensate them for the smaller sizes of coal for which they had not yet found a market. Now that small sizes were being sold, miners said they felt entitled to the same 2,240 pound ton used in the sale. Operators objected that the 2,240 pound ton was the basis of the present retail price of coal, and as the retail price could go no higher the underlying factor could go no lower.

STRIKE OF HOD CARRIERS THREATENS IN BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, July 30.—(AP)—If the contractors of Bridgeport do not accede to the hod carriers' demands of sixty-five cents an hour by noon tomorrow, union labor will quit, it was announced at the conclusion of tonight's meeting of the Hod Carriers' and Common Laborers' union, local number 455.

The union demand will be presented before a committee of contractors consisting of Donald Pardy as chairman, William J. Shaughnessey, W. A. Muirhead and Harry Marring.

One of the contractors' committee was of the opinion that if they go on strike they will not be out long. Some hod carriers get seventy-five cents an hour now. This is not so difficult a proposition as it would if it was skilled labor. We can get plenty of help from the shops."

JAPANESE RESIGNED AFTER SERIOUS SPLIT

TOKYO, July 31.—(AP)—The cabinet has resigned.

The resignation followed a serious split between the Kenseikai and Seiyukai parties, both supporting the government of Premier Kato, over tax adjustment proposals. The premier asked for the resignations of three Seiyukai members of the cabinet but the Seiyukai party decided his request should not be granted. This necessitated the resignation of the whole cabinet.

ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE, JR., TO SEEK SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

Announced at Madison, Mich., Yesterday His Candidacy For Vacancy Caused by the Death of His Father—Stated He Would Issue a "Complete Statement" Later—Special Election Will Be Held After the Harvest Season, so as to Permit a Large Farmer Vote.

MADISON, Wis., July 30.—(AP)—Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., will seek the seat in the United States senate made vacant by the death of his father. He announced his candidacy here today and said he would issue a "complete statement" later.

"I am a candidate for United States senator. In a short time I shall issue a complete statement."

The announcement follows a series of conferences with Wisconsin political leaders and came a few days after the senator's widow announced she would not seek the seat made vacant by her husband.

Governor Blaine will call a special election at a time "most convenient to the largest number of voters."

Mrs. LaFollette will devote her time to completing her husband's biography, and to editorial work on the magazine which he founded here a number of years ago.

The special election probably will be held in September or early October, after the harvest season, so as to permit a large farmer vote.

A [illegible] and [illegible] at least against [illegible] before the election.

Besides Robert, Jr., [illegible] candidates [illegible] declared themselves and a third has expressed a desire to run if assured the support of the Republicans who opposed the late senator.

For the Governor [illegible] Walter J. McGovern and Rep. P. Werner Gaspar, state senator from Eau Claire, already have declared for the race. The republican committee, John M. Wolfe, Milwaukee, will be the senior candidate.

Robert LaFollette has been chairman of the Wisconsin republican central committee since [illegible].

TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

SEATTLE, Washington, July 30—(AP)—George W. Vallery, of Denver, was elected grand master of Knights Templar today in their 36th triennial conclave.

Two vacancies existed this year in the lowest ranks of the grand officers, these were obtained by Isaac H. Hettinger, Kansas City, elected grand senior warden, and Andrew D. Agnew, Milwaukee, chose grand juror warden.

The ranks were diminished since the last conclave by the death of William H. Norris, Manchester, Iowa, deputy grand master, excepting Hettinger and Agnew, officers in conformity with custom, moved up according to the vacancies above them. Vallery succeeding Leonidas Perry Newby, Knightsville, Ind., who became past grand master.

William L. Sharp, Chicago, was elected deputy grand master; Perry W. Weidner, Los Angeles, grand generalissimo, and Harry C. Walker, Binghamton, N. Y., grand captain general. Besides these officers in the line of succession, the grand encampment chose eBrnard H. Witt, Henderson, Ky., grand treasurer, making H. Wales Lines, Meriden, Conn., treasurer emeritus and confirmed Adrien Hammersley, Indianapolis, in the office of grand recorder, which he had been filling by appointment.

A DECLARATION OF WAR BY LADY GRACE ESME MACKENZIE

TAMPA, Fla., July 30—(A. P.)—Lady Grace Esme Mackenzie, explorer, big game hunter and for several days the central figure in legal proceedings, which included her imprisonment in county jail, today issued a declaration of war.

"They have started it; I'll finish it," she declared when she received a report that a warrant charged her with having obtained money under false pretenses had been issued in St. Louis.

"I'll not spare anyone," she said. "If they desire to air the linen, I'll open all the closet doors. I carry the keys to them now."

Last week Lady Grace was arrested on a warrant charging her with having given G. E. Bray, Tampa realtor, a bad check for $200. She remained in jail several days before she was liberated through the efforts of a veiled, unidentified woman, who posted bond. Lady Grace then filed suit for $50,000 damages against Bray, charging she had been falsely imprisoned. She declared her intention of taking any steps necessary to vindicate her of all charges.

MARRIAGE WILL CONFUSE THE STATUS OF KIN

BOSTON, July 30—(A. P.)—John Smith, M. and Hattie Nourse, 55, have filed intentions to marry and by so doing they've got the rest of their families all mixed up as to who will be related to who and how.

Mrs. Nourse's daughter is married to Mr. Smith's son and the husband and wife are about to become stepbrother and step-sister. Young Smith's mother-in-law will be his step-mother and by the same token his wife's father-in-law will become her step-father. The younger couple's daughter knows she's going to have a pair of new grandparents but she can't quite figure out how because they already bear that relationship to her.

BRIDGEPORT MOTORCYCLE COP WAS THROWN 25 FEET

BRIDGEPORT, July 30.—(AP)—Motorcycle Policeman George Grosshans, 41, 25 Porter street, was struck and thrown 25 feet on to a lawn at Seaside park, landing unhurt, while riding his machine, this afternoon about 5:30 o'clock. The accident occurred at the intersection of Park and Waldemere avenues, a delivery truck driven by Peter V. Bedego, 28, Post road, Southport, according to the policeman, who received only minor bruises and sprains, coming down Waldemere avenue at a fast rate of speed, hit the side of his machine and knocked it over. Policeman Grosshans said he was coming out of Park avenue, about 12 miles an hour, and that the truck was coming so fast he did not have time to get out of the way.

WAS CAR THAT COST $30 EXCEEDING SPEED LIMIT

BRIDGEPORT, July 30.—(AP)—After crossing the continent in a much used model of a popular make of automobile, for which he said he paid $30, Morris Miller, 25, 272 Capitol avenue, who arrived here from California about a month ago, today paid a fine of $40 and costs amounting to about $6, to the city court, Judge Ralph T. Beers presiding, on a charge of going 32 miles an hour in the machine. He claimed the car was incapable of committing the crime, and an investigation was ordered.

THREE CHICAGO BANDITS INDICTED FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, July 30—(AP)—The three survivors of a group of drunken quartet that yesterday afternoon invaded the Dexter Hotel, and robbed and planted [illegible] Gold Coast boulevards and the sun roused for a wild west melee that [illegible] were under indictment for murder.

Two of them now in custody, after making confessions on the part in the holdup in which two of their companions and an assistant janitor of the hotel were killed, [illegible] arraigned on the bandits' charge and pleaded guilty. Counsel has been appointed to defend them and preparations were being made for [illegible] immediate trial, with the [illegible] announcing it will demand the death penalty for both.

Meanwhile hundreds of policemen were searching the city for the fifth member of the quartet [illegible]. He has the loot of [illegible] amounting to $10,000 but reduced after a check-up today to about $1,000.

The three bandits today were [illegible] Joseph Holmes captured in the hotel yesterday after a terrific fight with policemen. Jack Wilson, also [illegible], arrested early today when he applied at a hospital for treatment for a gunshot wound, and William L. Mellenbach, alias William Nelson, the fugitive, who has the loot.

The two dead robbers and [illegible] Courts or Court who, with Holmes came here to participate in a robbery, and Eric Nelson, former employe of the Drake. Courts a half-breed Cherokee Indian, was shot during the holdup and killed after a wild chase by policemen over north state boulevards.

The capture of Courts and Mellenbach, if caught, will give trial [illegible] the murder of Frank Rodin, the assistant cashier. Nelson was identified today by a woman as the man who robbed her of $1,000 several weeks ago.

One development came today when a card signed R. Scott was found in Wilson's coat. Wilson said the coat belonged to Mellenbach and that the card was for him and was from Robert Scott, brother of Russell Scott, who is under sentence of death for the murder of a drug clerk. Robert Scott, though indicted, has never been apprehended. Wilson said Scott was a member of their gang but he did not know his whereabouts. The police doubt this story, however.

HEARING ON CONTROVERSY OF BRIDGEPORT BANKS

HARTFORD, July 30—(A. P.)—A challenge to the incorporators of the proposed Black Rock Bank at Bridgeport to "try and take away deposits of the West Side Bank" and a certain challenge to prove "untruths or overstatements" in the case presented by the sponsors of the proposed bank, concluded the other case heard before the state banking commission today at the capitol on the second application for the Black Rock bank charter.

William P. Kirk, president of the West Side bank, issued the challenge concerning the deposits. Ralph E. Mehlhouse, one of the [illegible] of the Black Rock bank, took exception to a part of President Kirk's [illegible] to the effect that the proposed bank, under present conditions could not possibly fulfill the hopes of the organizers.

EARTH TREMORS IN KANSAS, OKLA., TEXAS, NEW MEXICO

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30—(A. P.)—Earth tremors of low intensity were felt early today in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. They did no damage.

At Wichita, Leavenworth, Ashland, Liberal and Medicine Lodge, Kansas, the tremors were of slight vibration lasting from 15 seconds to three minutes.

Leavenworth reported two tremors the first slight and the second more intense.

Oklahoma City felt a barely perceptible shock.

Amarillo, Texas, and the surrounding panhandle country were shaken slightly. The seismograph at the University of Kansas at Lawrence recorde deast-west tremors of low intensity at 6:09 a. m.

FRENCH BELIEVE THAT ABD-EL-KRIM IS INSINCERE

PARIS, July 30.—(AP)—The repeated reports of peace conditions enunciated by Abd-El-Krim, the Moroccan rebel leader, to all sorts of people, excepting the two governments—France and Spain—specially interested therein, have convinced the French that the Riffian leader is more anxious to nourish political agitation than to obtain peace. It was reaffirmed today that nothing has come to the knowledge of the government to show that Abd-El-Krim is ready to undertake serious negotiations.

WILLIMANTIC

The Willimantic police court took up five cases Thursday morning, making final disposition of one. Judge Frank H. Foss was on the bench and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Frank P. Fenton appeared in the absence of Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher, who is in New York.

The case of Lloyd Loree, charged with assault on Glen Richards, of 41 bank street, was the first one to be taken up. As the court opened this case, Richards arose and asked that the charge of assault be amended to read assault with intent to kill. Loree pleaded guilty to assault, admitting that he struck the defendant, following an argument over an automobile transaction. Richards said that he was in the yard of his home when struck by Loree and that he was knocked unconscious. He displayed slight marks on one ear and a minor lump on the back of the other. The evidence, however, failed to convince the court that the grounds were sufficient for a charge of intent to kill. Loree was fined $2 and costs, which he paid.

Frank Leiss, of 49 Brook street, lower village, was charged with the sale of a pint of liquor, Monday evening of this week, to Kasmer Dubina. Leiss pleaded not guilty in the face of the testimony of four witnesses who appeared against him. Kasmer Dubina, Alfred Henry Stecker and Thomas Caurel testified that they had purchased liquor from Leiss on various occasions; Mary Kudaraso testified that she had witnessed the sale of moonshine. Leiss and his friends sought to establish the fact that he was being framed because he had returned to work at the American Thread company plant two weeks ago. He said that the three men had called him vile names and "scab" during the past two weeks and that Dubina had come to him for liquor last Monday, but none was sold to him. Dubina had liquor with him at the time and Leiss said that he knew where it came from.

Leiss said that he had been working in Chicopee, Mass., from May until two weeks ago, and during that time only came home once every three weeks. His wife corroborated this testimony. Stocker, who had stated that he purchased liquor from Leiss on July changed the month to June. Stocker, Dubina and Curol were cross-examined to determine whether or not they were telling stories out of spite. Some of their answers were evasive, and on the grounds that the state witnesses testified that they had purchased liquor from Leiss at a time when they later admitted that he was out of town, Judge Foss nolled the case, thus leaving it open to give the opportunity for securing stronger evidence.

Funeral services for Charles Roy, who was found dead at Leonard's Bridge Tuesday, were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from 31 Union street. Burial was in Columbia cemetery, at 3 o'clock. Rev. C. C. Haun conducted a service at the grave. The bearers were friends.

Funeral services for Mrs. Rose A. Collins were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at 62 North street. Rev. Theodore D. Martin officiating. Burial was in Windham Center cemetery. Arrangements were in charge of Avery & VanZandt.

Mrs. Catherine Keegan, mother of Joseph C. Keegan, of Jackson street, this city, died at the home of her son, Charles F. Keegan, in Meriden, Thursday. She is survived by three sons, two daughters and six grandchildren.

Non-union carpenters employed by Everett Lincoln in the erection of a house on Chestnut street this week, caused some friction between a local plumbing concern and the walking delegate of the Building Trades council. Upon receiving the information that union plumbers were engaged on Mr. Lincoln's house, the walking delegate called at the place and ordered the plumbers off the job. An agreement is in existence here between building contractors that only union tradesmen can work on the jobs. It was also stated that the plumbing work on Mr. Lincoln's house will be completed by a member of the concern involved.

Sergeant George Laird, of Putnam police department, notified Chief of Police Allan McArthur, of the local department, Thursday afternoon, that the Ford touring car owned by Alfred Plante, of this city, had been recovered and that the owner could secure it by calling at the Putnam police station. Plante was in Putnam several days ago and while attending a circus his car was taken from its parking place, apparently by joy-riders.

In police court Thursday morning, Mrs. Julia Silva, of 28 Yellow Row, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault on Mrs. Catherine Bednaz, of 27 Yellow Row. The case evolved into one of the family rows which have caused much annoyance to local police officials. Mrs. Bednaz could not speak English and her daughter, Nellie, interpreted for her. Early in the evening, the mother was sitting on a stone wall in front of the large tenement house when Mrs. Silva walked up and ordered her away. Mrs. Bednaz claimed her right to sit where she was and then Mrs. Silva struck her twice on the face, causing her nose to bleed. Mrs. Silva denied making any such assault and stated that she but pushed Mrs. Bednaz gently to one side. The two families have been at war for some time. Judge Foss gave both women a warning to avoid trouble in the future and then continued the case for one month.

The case of Daniel Kessell, charged with breach of the peace, was continued to Saturday, August 8, at the Thursday morning session of court. Another continuance was granted in the case of Nellie Rys, charged with breach of the peace. No date was set for the next hearing, due to the absence of Prosecuting Attorney H. S. Gaucher. The Nellie Rys case is one arising from trouble in lower village while striking families were being evicted from tenements.

With the baseball championship of the town of Windham as the much coveted prize at stake, Sunday afternoon's diamond encounter between the South Windham All Stars and the Jewel West Ends promises to be a hectic battle between the old rivals. Both teams have lost the same number of games, three, yet, as written upon the sands, the All Stars hold a superior record and in the coming clash they are held as favorites by many fans. The Shamrocks, of Manchester, and the Taftville A. A. handed out three loses for the West Ends, out of a total of nine games played in the season. The South Windhamites have played sixteen games, losing but three, coming out the unlucky thirteen to the good. Alfred Mathewson is expected to twirl for the All Stars, with "Hal" Hawes occupying the mound for the West Enders. Jack McQuillan and Joe Meikle will be the arbiters.

The operators of the new busses which will be run under the name of The Connecticut Company Motor Transportation Service, or words to that effect, have been feeling out the ground the past few days. The drivers are whipping into shape for the opening day of the service next Saturday, running between Willimantic and New London. The local terminal will be in the vicinity of the union station.

Two well known Willimantic friends write from Fallen Leaf, near Lake Tahoe, California, that on July 18, they had a fine snowball battle.

Arthur H. Arnold is improving at St. Joseph's hospital, following a critical operation for appendicitis, with peritonitis complications, last Thursday.

A benefit dance to raise funds for a young lady who is ill at the hospital was held at Lemug hall Thursday evening and proved a most gratifying success financially.

JEWETT CITY

President Ben Schlieffer of the Jewett City Chamber of Commerce, called the meeting to order Wednesday evening. The president, W. M. McNicol and Jacob Wechsler are a committee to arrange for a grand get-together meeting to be held at an early date. At this meeting, a detailed plan will be prepared and presented for action, which will include the publication and issuance of a "Boom Sheet" for the borough of Jewett City.

This project has everything in its favor at the start. It would require a long time to enumerate the list of natural and business advantages possessed by this borough, and the promised fall activities of its Chamber of Commerce, organized to engender civic pride and to serve the best intercsts of all, is contemplated with much favor and a general belief in its efficiency. The enthusiasm of its president was a leading factor in the original movement for the great Fourth of July parade.

The baseball games in the series between the Ashland team and the Carely avenue nine, are proving of lively interest. Ashland has scored the majority of the runs in two games and Saturday the local gallery will be treated to some real stuff. The battery for Ashland will be Charles Roberts and Stanley Roberts, for Carely avenue, Walter Bernal, on the mound and Alphonse Liberty, at the receiving end. Roymond Lamothe has had his life insured and will umpire the contest.

Rev. Daniel Masse, of Hartford, is the guest of his brother, Louis Masse, of East Main street, for two weeks.

Charles Edward Prior, now making his home with his son, Charles, Jr., in Bridgeport, was a caller in the borough Thursday.

Hal Chase has taken over the management of the Ashland Casino and is to conduct the weekly dances, returning to the old system that made this casino one of the most popular in eastern Connecticut. The Ideal orchestra has been engaged for the balance of the season.

The New Haven railroad is taking steps to permanently overcome the unsatisfactory condition of its freight yards, which has existed for some time during the months of winter and spring. A gang of men is at work, and the whole yard is to receive a granolithic floor. The work includes a set of grade and level plans which will entirely eliminate the mud problem; heretofore a menace to handling incoming and out-going freight.

President Benjamin Schlieffer and Secretary William M. McNicol, of the Jewett City Chamber of Commerce, were pleasantly received by the railroad officials in New London and were told that the plans now being put into operation, have been prepared for some years.

Eventually, the railroad promises a new and modern freight house, with additional track and yard capacity. It is believed that the New Haven company is anxious to negotiate, at a fair price, for a considerable number of land parcels, owned separately, and situated near the present freight office. Tentative plans, possibly not yet in draft, include in future improvements, to be made by the New Haven road, the taking over of the Edward Gomes and Redwing property as well as the Shea Bros. holdings, which include a 50-foot frontage on the south Main street section of the state road. The chamber of commerce committee are assured of the exceeding good will of the railroad officials, and believe that their intentions include plans of lasting benefit to the borough of Jewett City.

George H. Prior has raised a blue ribbon Zinnia of the Picotee variety. One fine flower, picked for a friend Thursday measured a trifle over 4 inches in diameter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dubois and daughter, Miss Madeline, of Woonsocket are the guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Guillet.

Prentice Chase, welfare supervisor of the Ashland Cotton Co., had the pleasure of meeting Athelda Bleitri, world's champion female swimmer, last week. Miss Bleitri expressed a willingness to perform at Jewett City, providing arrangements with her present manager could be made. In the event that this is possible she will be accompanied to Jewett City by three of the diving girls from the New York Hippodrome, some time in August.

Ashland Baseball team opens a three game series with Taftville, its old rival, this week.

Curtis Potter, of River Point, R. I., is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Thomas McBroome.

The Eastern League team, of Hartford is to be strengthened at once by the taking on of Nap Liberty of Jewett City. When it comes to clean fast baseball playing, a number of professional team managers have decided that Nap is there with the goods, and Hartford has got a good man. Last season a man in the baseball world, whose opinion is worth while, predicted something in the near future for Nap, remarking that his clear-headed skill, not only on the mound, but anywhere in the lot, was bound to be recognized. With the truth of his predictions realized Jewett City loses a master player, and the Capitol City gains one. His friends here will be rooting for him to hold the level.

JOSEPH SOMERS FOUND DEAD IN HIS CHAIR THURSDAY

WILLIMANTIC, July 30.—Joseph Somers, about 70, died suddenly of cerebral embolism while sitting in an arm chair at his home on the top floor of the Sadd Block on Main street, about nine o'clock Thursday morning. He was found about two o'clock in the afternoon, by his son, Edward Somers, who called to pay his father a visit. The man was fully clothed, except for a coat and was in a chair which faced a window overlooking the east buildings of the neighborhood. Mr. Somers had displayed no indication of failing health and greeted several friends in his usual manner while on the street earlier in the day. The police department was notified and Officer Arthur Hurley was detailed in charge of the body until the arrival of Medical Examiner Dr. Louis J. Mason who pronounced the cause of death and then turned the body over to Killourey Brothers.

Mr. Somers was born in New York state but had been a resident of Willimantic practically all his life. For many years he worked for the old Willimantic Linen Company, continuing in the same duties for the American Thread Company. He was on a pension from the latter concern. His jovial and kindly disposition had won for him many friends who habitually stopped to chat with him at the entrance to the upper stories of the block where he was nearly always to be found. Besides his son, Edward Somers of this city, he leaves a daughter Mrs. Catherine Herning of Ellington, also four grandchildren, Adolphe Korner, of Mansfield Depot, and not Joseph Shoss, as stated Thursday, has the contract for the building of the new home of Henry LaBonte.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BUSINESS CONDITIONS ARE IMPROVING

Business conditions throughout the New England states have not improved as rapidly as in other sections of the United States. However, a marked improvement is indicated by an increasing demand for accounting services. This is particularly noticeable in manufacturing lines.

Producers are realizing more and more that they must prepare for keener competition than they have ever faced heretofore. The day of large profit margins is distinctly on the wane. Reasonably large net profits can be realized by increasing the volume of production without a corresponding increase in overhead expense, decreasing production costs, reducing the cost-per-unit of distribution, increasing the effectiveness of advertising methods, and improving the human side of business relationships. But there is something else needed in order most effectively to meet increasing competition from abroad and to be numbered among the survival of the fittest at home. It is better accounting methods and services. Reliable cost statistics are absolutely essential to effective business administration. More uniform costing methods among industries engaged in the same line provide the only safe basis for intelligent price fixing. Monthly profits based upon sound accounting principles are of inestimable value to executives if properly interpreted.

Large business corporations and public accounting firms select men each year from the graduating class of The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance of Boston, because of the reputation this school has for turning out well trained accountants. During the past two weeks there has been a marked increase in the demand for Bentley-trained men. This indicates an improvement in business conditions and an increasing recognition of the service rendered by this well known professional school which specializes in training men for the duties of office manager, cost accountant, auditor, comptroller and public accountant.

Palace Theater

Merchants Nite again proved a great success at the Palace theatre where the many presents were given away. The principal presents were a ton of coal and a barrel of flour.

There is a splendid bill of vaudeville and pictures, which gives a wonderful evening's entertainment. The vaudeville is headed by "Little Yoshi & Co.," Japanese gymnasts. "Pacific Four" a comedy quartette are just full of pep and supreme with harmony.

"We Three Girls" offer a splendid musical offering which is presented in a very clever and neat manner.

Lewis and Bardo offer a very clever comedy sketch with some snappy songs and steps.

The Beasly twins open the show with some very difficult violin selections.

The feature picture is Yakima Canutt in Human Tornado.

The plot revolves around the treachery of Chet Marlow, who has amassed a large fortune in the East and who thinks little of his brother, Jim, for sticking out in the West. Chet cheats a pitiful old prospector out of his claim by the simple expedient of getting him to sign a "phoney" deed which afterwards turns out to be a deed of sale. But Jim, who is in love with the old man's daughter, steps in and eventually brings justice to the old man although at one time he is opposed by his sneaking brother, the sheriff, and a band of crooks who are determined to lay hands on Chet's mining funds.

Breed Theatre

We've seen some mighty fine pictures dealing with the eventful days of '49, but "The Flaming Forties," Harry Carey's lastest starring vehicle, which comes to the Breed Theatre today and Saturday, excels them all in story and execution. Nor have we ever seen Carey do better work than in this vivid picturization of "Tennessee's Pardner." Bret Harte's widely read story of life on the wide western plains. Lovers of Bret Harte who read the all American tale will be delighted with this screen version, as the well-known star brings the leading character, Bill Jones, to life with so much realism and color that henceforth when we think of "Tennessee's Pardner," we shall visualize Harry Carey in the role, and undoubtedly all who see his splendid performance will do likewise.

The picture is chock full of thrills and typical Carey fights of the "flying first" variety.

The sole feminine role is capably handled by Jacquelin Gadsdon, a dark eyed, "perfect" blonde, and her wistful presence adds materially to the effectiveness of the production.

It's the sort of picture that really thrills pleases everyone, as it is a glorious combination of red-blooded action drama and tender romance.

The capable direction of Tom Forman and Hunt Stromberg, who supervised the production, is apparent in "The Flaming Forties," and if one can judge by the manner in which it was received, it will add another triumph to the long list of successes of both Stromberg and Carey.

Broadway Theatre

As entertaining a program of vaudeville and pictures as you'd want to see opened at the Broadway Theatre yesterday and pleased the exceptionally large summer crowd that came expectantly and left more than satisfied. The Keith vaudeville acts that made a real hit are as follows:

George and Annette, in a comedy juggling offering; Robinson, McCabe Trio in comedy, songs and talk, George Yeoman and Lizzie in the comedy "The Editor of the Assassinated Press," Tom Gillen Finnigan's Friend, and The Hightower Trio in songs and steps.

"A Kiss in the Dark," a new Paramount picture, featured Adolphe Menjou, Lillian Rich and Aileen Pringle, which opened a three days' run yesterday at the Broadway.

"A Kiss in the Dark," directed by Frank Tuttle, is a picture version of 'Aren't We All' the Frederick Lonsdale stage play. Lillian Rich, as Betty King, young, flirtatious married woman, is the trouble-maker in the picture.

"Truth is stranger than fiction"—to most people.

An absolutely Odorless Shortening? Yes!

Compare with any other shortening!
It is well worth the difference in price

Perhaps when you first hear your friends say that Best Foods Shortning is absolutely odorless you are a little skeptical.

We can hardly blame you. It has seemed that odor was just one of the things that have to be put up with in a shortening.

All we can say is "Try Best Foods Shortning for yourself and see."

Odorless, Tasteless and Neutral

Best Foods Shortning is not only odorless—it is tasteless and really neutral as well.

As a practical housekeeper, you can see what this means in results—

It means that the food you prepare with Best Foods Shortning never tastes of the shortening. The food develops its own flavor to the full. It is more delicious.

It means, also, that Best Foods Shortning has many uses besides just shortening. With it you can prepare delicious Cake Icings, Cream Fillings, Candies.

It means that when you fry there is no odor through the house.

"Best Foods Shortning is palatable—good to eat just as it comes from the container. It is so good that you can even make Cream Filling, Cake Icing and Candies with it."

The New Idea in Shortening

Best Foods Shortning is a new type of shortening.

It is the fat crystal shortening—non-greasy, appetizing, and palatable—good to eat just as it comes from the container.

Best Foods Shortning, being the fat crystal shortening, keeps three or four times as long as other shortenings and need not be kept on ice even after it is opened.

You can get Best Foods Shortning from any grocer who carries first-quality food products.

What we mean when we say "Compare with any other shortening"

When we say "Compare with any other shortening," we mean exactly what we say. Buy a can. Taste it. Compare it on any point you wish.

And if you are not pleased with Best Foods Shortning as against any other shortening, return the can to your grocer and get your money back.

THE BEST FOODS, INC.

GOSHEN

Kenneth Lake and six boy scouts from New Haven were with friends here over the week end.

Side Lines, from the International Christian Endeavor convention, in Portland, Oregon, was the interesting subject of Rev. Lydia Hartig, at the Sunday morning service.

A curiosity was recently seen here in a copy of the Norwich Courier of April 23, 1834. In it is the obituary notice of a Goshen man of high esteem, Peleg Thomas Esq., deacon of the Goshen church in 1763 at the age of 27. He passed away April 17th, 1834 at the advanced age of 98. In those days the General Jackson, steamboat, was running between Norwich and New York. Another advertisement was "Melasses" for sale. 34 Hhd's very superior Trinidad Melasses, landed from schooner Convert, and for sale at a reduced price, by Backus & Norton.

July 25th the notes of the first fall crickets were heard and large numbers of young katy-dids were noted in the hay field. Over in adjoining lots old bob white at intervals was whistling "more wet."

Friends and relatives here were pleased to listen in over the radio hearing the voice in songs and readings of Miss Amy A. Randall, from Travelers' broadcasting station, Hartford, WTIC, Thursday evening from 6 to 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. A. J. Randall and sons are visiting in North Haven.

The weather was all that could be desired for the third annual Union Sunday school picnic, of the Sunday schools of Lebanon and Franklin, held in Mohegan park, Norwich, Wednesday, July 29th, with an attendance of about 300. The hours were spent in a social way, in playing numerous athletic games, also with boating on the beautiful lake, etc. A closing feature was an interesting game of baseball between two picked nines. Like good sports the defeated nine were cheerful losers. An appetizing dinner was served at the noon hour. This, the third annual Union Sunday school picnic, was pronounced one of the best ones yet held.

Camp Mowecn has purchased, it is reported, what was once called the Heath Farm, on the south shore of Cedar Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lyons and family spent a day last week at Giant's Neck.

Miss Dorothy McCall has returned from a visit with her classmate, Miss Adams in Erie, Penn., stopping enroute at Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Randall took a trip to Block Island last week.

Among the guests attending the Union Sunday School picnic were the Campbell family from New York, Mrs. Alfred Abel of Bozrah, Mrs. F. E. Hyde, Mrs. Walter A. Hyde and Mrs. Clara S. Hyde, of Jewett City.

Miss Annie Gillette has returned from Storrs when she chaperoned 18 girls from New London county, during the Junior Short Course.

All game fish live during babyhood on minute water lice that live on water vegetation.

LEBANON

Miss Dorris Trolan, Mr. and Mrs Earle E. Hoxie and Wilton Hoxie motored to Camp Devens, Sunday, to visit Rivere Beebe, who has been spending six weeks there. Miss Troland remained until Tuesday and returned home with Mr. Beebe.

There were fourteen visitors at the war office Saturday. This week Saturday the hostesses will be Mrs. David Pitcher and Mrs. Everett Bascon.

Over 500 attended the Union Sunday school picnic held at Mohegan Park Norwich, Wednesday. The day was pleasantly spent in sociability and with games and boating. At noon a bountiful dinner of salads, sandwiches and cake was served. In the games in the track meet the score was Center Congregational church, 42 points. The Baptist church and Franklin church were a tie, with 14 points and Goshen had 8 points.

Mrs. Arthur Dewitt, Mrs. O. L. Pultz, Mrs. Amos Lillie, Mrs. Reginald Taylor and Mrs. Carelton Cummings spent Thursday at Maturnuck Beach, R. I.

Rev. A. G. Littlefield and family left Thursday to spend a few days with Mr. Littlefield's mother in Manchester, N. H.

The young people had a picnic with a dog roast at Lock's Pond, Tuesday evening.

A number of men of the Baptist church met Monday to repair the belfry and clean the church. The women's society met and served dinner for the men.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Taylor, Mrs. William Barrows and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor took a trip over the Mohawk Trail Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. King and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Goodwin were in Norwich Tuesday, to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Martha Cross.

William Kneeland and family, of Hartford, spent the week end with Mr. Kneeland's mother, Mrs. Hattie Kneeland.

A friend indeed is one who isn't in need.

HAMPTON

Miss Susie McLane, of East Providence, R. I., has returned home after visiting her cousin, Mrs. Frank A. Nichols.

A reception was held Wednesday evening at the chapel for Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Mottart.

Mrs. Nellie Sweet has returned from a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Gilbert, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wells of Westmorland spent July 17 on the Mount Royal from Quebec for two months' trip in England and France. Mrs. Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson.

Miss Mary McMahon has returned home after visiting in Fall River, Mass.

In a hotel at Partenkirchen, Bavaria, a placard announces in large letters "Tourists undertaking to club the higher mountain peaks are respectfully requested to settle their accounts in advance".

NEW YORK'S MAYORALTY FIGHT

The question of who is to be named by the democrats in New York for their standard bearer in the election for mayor is at present the subject of conference by the Tammany leaders, while the democratic chiefs of the five boroughs are taking stock of the available material. Chief McCooey of Brooklyn is looked upon as holding the key to the situation and although he is nominally for the renomination of Hylan, it is considered that he could swing from the mayor as soon as he could be assured that his own terms would be conceded.

Enemies of Hylan within the ranks of Tammany are taking umbrage at the mayor's move in conducting a speaking campaign along the boardwalks and beaches at Coney Island and Rockaway, in which Hylan declares that the issue in the coming campaign is "the people versus dough." As Tammany is opposed to the renomination, its members do not enjoy being placed in the "dough" class.

One of the devices which is stamped as a Hylan campaign instrument is the establishment of a municipal ferry service, which, although officially declared to be free from partisanship and political matters, has proved to be permeated with Hylanisms and admonitions to the public to beware of the "interests." It has the earmarks of a campaign agency, for which the people pay the bills.

A recent development of the bitter fight is the filing of forty-two libel suits against individuals and newspapers by a bonding corporation, some of whose members are closely connected by family ties with Mayor Hylan. In the recent rapid transit inquiry this bonding company was accused of enjoying special privileges in relation to municipal works. These suits, which are for aggregate amounts of over two million, can hardly be tried in time to affect the mayor's campaign for renomination or even for election. Bearing that in mind, it is plain to be seen that they are filed for political effect, though some believe they are intended to stop further proceedings which might have embarrassing consequences in revealing certain intimate personal relations between the mayor and members of the bonding firm.

LEGALIZING HIGH SPEED

Certain wide and straight stretches of highway invite to high speed with automobiles. Along with this fact run the statistics that 40 per cent. of fatal automobile accidents take place on just this character of road and that speed is the reason assigned in the majority of cases. The recommendation that motorists be allowed to increase their usual speed on such straight parts of highways is not needed. They do it anyway and they do not need to be urged to further speed efforts by state authorities.

If fast driving is legalized on particular stretches of highway, there are enough rattle-brained motorists in every community, especially among the younger element, who will turn those highways into race courses and subject the decent law abiding traveler to dangers in much fast and dangerous company. Thirty-five miles an hour in the open country on a good road is not unreasonable speed, but with safety in mind it is plenty fast enough. To raise the legalized speed to 45 miles, with the certainty that drivers will essay 60, offers little assurance in a decrease of fatal accidents, when it is realized that state records now show that too much speed on straight highways is already productive of an alarming proportion of fatal automobile mishaps.

TRANSFERRING AIRSHIPS

The order of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur transferring the dirigibles Shenandoah and Los Angeles to San Diego for permanent station will be received with a shock in the east. The fact remains, however, that as the property of the navy, they should be trained to operate with the fleet and the fleet at the present time is concentrated in the Pacific ocean.

At the same time Secretary Wilbur's flowery farewell to the city of San Diego might well have been dispensed with. Neither Secretary Wilbur's California citizenship, nor the welcome of the San Diego citizens should have an influence on the strategic disposition of the big airships. He is indisputably correct when he says that no doubt results will be reflected in future legislation." Millions of dollars must be spent before the base at Lakehurst, N. J., can be abandoned and the two dirigibles be transferred to the Pacific coast. As Major General Bullard used to say when urging bigger appropriations for the fortification of the port of New York, "one can say too much in the interest of the best causes."

The transfer involves the waste of a $3,000,000 base at Lakehurst. It might also involve an international hearing for it affords opportunity for Japanese jingoists to point to this sudden shift of the airships as confirmation of their suspicions of America. Secretary Wilbur can be assured that when the appropriation for the new base comes up in congress he will have to advance a better argument than the "kindness and courtesy of the municipality of San Diego" in aiding him" to appraise the problems of the San Diego naval base.

A BRYAN INFLUENCE

Back in 1912 Champ Clark came to the democratic convention at Baltimore with a majority of delegates. For years he had represented the ninth Missouri congressional district with its thousands of German-American residents.

As the convention opened he was the leading contender for the democratic nomination for president. Assuming that he had been nominated and elected he would doubtless have been the candidate again in 1916. It is certain he would have opposed American entrance into the world war, even more vigorously than Woodrow Wilson did. Clark's voice and vote against necessary war measures are matters of record. The Missouri man was never able to forget those Missouri German-Americans who had been his supporters and life-time friends. With Champ Clark in the White House would America have entered the world war on the side of the allies, and if it had not been for the entrance of America what would have been the outcome?

World history today might have been changed if William Jennings Bryan had not been at Baltimore. But there he was in the fight against the nomination of Champ Clark, who was favored by Murphy, Sullivan, Taggart, Thomas Fortune Ryan and Wall street. It was enough for Bryan to know that Clark had the backing of these men. Bryan's own middle west wanted Clark, but Bryan fought on grimly through days and nights of heat until he shattered the Clark forces, saw them swing to Wilson, and thereby earned the hate of Clark to the day of the latter's death.

The Bryan motives at Baltimore have been questioned. Whatever they were, they helped keep Champ Clark out of the White House and in the end may have made it possible for America to swing its weight to the side of the allies. It is on the mixed and often blinded motives of men that history often wheels and pivots. It may be, a hundred years hence, that this half-forgotten incident of Baltimore will overshadow all things else in the life of "The Commoner."

POLITICIANS TAKE A HAND

In spite of assertions to the contrary, certain developments in the reorganization of the prohibition unit have led to the assertion that the politicians seem to have won the first round in the battle with General Andrews. The date of the reorganization has been advanced to September 1 instead of August 1, as was first announced. There will be twenty-four instead of twenty-two, of the new enforcement districts, and the make-up of these is strikingly different from the original plan.

Senator James E. Watson who does not believe that politics and prohibition can be divorced, has won his fight. Indiana is not to be districted with Michigan, and the protest made by C. Bascom Slemp, lately secretary to the president, against having Virginia districted with Maryland and Delaware, has apparently been effective. They will not be so districted. Seven of the new districts have been broken up and reconstructed.

Several of the changes made are reported to have been in line with the demands of politicians who refused to be driven from under the plum trees of patronage. General Andrews seems to have lost his first line of trenches and to have overestimated the strength of his position. To call these alterations in his originally announced plan "purely administrative changes" leads to the supposition that much more might be told if he were so disposed.

It looks as if General Andrews has found it advisable, if not necessary, to make compromises, despite the backing he has from the White House, but the real test is ahead of him yet. That will come when Washington fills up with congressmen next December.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Troubles that look like mountains as we approach them often seem like molehills in retrospect.

That Chicago hotel holdup was as spectacular as anything that the wildest wild west ever produced.

Navy gunners who riddled a target 2,000 feet in the air demonstrate that a seat in an airplane is no bed of roses.

One of the most important qualifications for the motorist is the ability to respond promptly to the words "Stop" and "Go."

The man on the corner says: We shall be glad if the threat of a coal strike turns out to be nothing but summer fiction.

People in Maine taking part in tours within its borders may be understood as preaching the doctrine of seeing your own state first.

Every year sees some new extensions and improvement of our roads. In time we may expect to find nothing but roads in the country.

Another question now is whether those Chicago indictments will complicate or simplify the federal prohibition reorganization.

The offer of those German shipowners to build ships for the Russians on credit would seem to be another triumph of hope over experience.

With congressional minds turning to evolution oratory, it seems pretty certain that next winter will put a great strain on the congressional record.

Why is it that people in moderate circumstances want to look like a millionaire and the millionaire wants to look like people without so much money?

What's in a name? To avoid putting themselves outside the unemployment relief the English miners are not going to "strike." They will merely "cease work." Similarly the mines are not going to shut down. They will only suspend operations.

GATE LEG TABLE

The fat clerk seized her companion by both elbows and shook them heartily.

"Say, kid, listen," she exploded with joyous laughter. "You'd die if you ever was to hear about how I give Gran another jolt, see? You recollect me tellin' about how often she picks on some guy and works overtime tryin' to wish me on to him, hum? Well, this time it was the feller that's just moved in downstairs of us with his ma.

"Gran come over to visit at our place and believe me quick's she lamped this here high hat guy she began sturtin' somethin', see? Gran's a fast worker, too. It wasn't no time before she was anklin' it down to eat lunch with his ma, and then his ma had to beat it up, to eat lunch with her and my ma, and the next thing the two of 'em gotter come up and have supper with the whole bunch of us, see?

"And, say, dearie, lookut. Maybe it would of worked out all right hadn't it of been for Gran wantin' to act so swell and use ma's homemade gateleg table, see?

"Well, it was like this? Ma she was readin' in the paper one night and she come to a place where there was a ad about a table that you could buy it awful cheap if you just took it as it was when it come out the factory and then nailed it together yourselves and rubbed it down with sandpaper and painted it up with paint and then give it a good dose of oil and everything, see? So ma she was all for gettin' her one and she says to pa how about it, and pa says sure it was all right with him.

"So got sends in her little old $4.98 and after a while the table comes and ma and pa sets up pretty near all night nailin' it together, see? I kinda—you know—goes to bed after while, but every once in so often I could hear pa give his thumb a crack with the hammer—pa's got a wunderful flow of static when those kind of things happens, I'll say he has!

"And about when it seemed to me it was along toward mornin' I peeks through the door and sees pa kinda—you know—settin' back on his heels and sayin' he was through, like it wasn't maybe, either. Ma says, 'It is wabbly,' and pa says, 'Wabbly nothin'.'

"Sure! But anyways ma and me give it the double O and doped it out that he done pretty good considerin'. Seemed like it was real kinda solid and everything and after ma done all the things to it that the ad says you was to do, it certainly was marvelous for looks. Only it wasn't never asked to do no real work till the time the folks downstairs of us come to supper.

"You see, the night the guy and his ma was comin' up to supper, when I get home Gran has the table all set without no table or anything, but just nifty little mats layin' round and flowers and everything.

"We all honked out to the dinin' room and was sittin' pretty 'round the gateleg table and pa he was commencin' to start to cut up the swell slice of ham Gran had cooked, and then it seemed like the table had kinda—you know—got it doped out that things was movin' pretty slow.

"So it kinda—you know—dorbicd up on itself and in about a coupla jiffs the eats was all roller skatin' round in our laps, see? Some little hamsjout, I'll say. Pa he got the ham, ma got the chili sauce and the coffee pot, the guy downstairs of us, ma got the potatoes, and the butter and the gravy was split between he and I, see? And he both of us got a-plenty, I'll say we did. The only person that didn't draw nothin' was Gran. She was out in the kitchen dishin' up the hot baking powder biscuits, see?

"It certainly was a circus. Honest, kid, I hollered so I couldn't hardly scrape the supper off of the guy downstairs of us and his ma. I'll say I couldn't. And so did ma and pa and the guy's ma. But did the guy think anything comical? He did not. Of course, we kinda scraped the supper together, and then we had the baking powder biscuits and ma's swell jam and everything, and the bunch of us had a swell time laughin', all except the guy himself. He bear it right after supper and he ain't been saw since—not in our flat anyways.

"Gran kinda puts the blame on me and ma and pa, but seems to me like it was her fault and we was the goats. Anyways, she's awful sore at me lettin' another chance go cuckoo."Exchange.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Maj. Gen. Sir Frederick Maurice, who has come to America to deliver a series of lectures on "Problems of Armament" at the annual Institute of Politics at Williams College, is a famous British army officer who served as director of military operations in the World War. His military career has been distinguished by rapid promotion and repeated recognition. Entering the army in 1892, he became a captain in 1899, a major in 1911 and a lieutenant-colonel in 1913. During the Tirah campaign, in 1897-98 he received a medal with two clasps. He served as general staff officer the following year. In the South African war he was mentioned in dispatches, and received the Queen's medal with five clasps. In 1915 he became a Companion of the Bath. He has been a prolific writer on army matters, and a keen and fearless military critic.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Queries About Water

Mr. Editor: Is all this silence ominous or encouraging? Next week the citizens are to assemble in a city meeting to vote on the question of increasing our water supply by approving a site for a new reservoir and voting a bond issue of a million and a half to finance the work. Yet we hear not a word from those who are reported to have their own views on the matter, some of whom are said to favor 100 per cent. metering which they claim would make a new reservoir unnecessary, and others have never given up their belief that Gardner Lake is the logical place for an increased water supply for Norwich to come from.

I repeat: Is this silence ominous or encouraging? Has the opposition to the plan that the common council approves been won over or is it saving its thunder for a blast at the special city meeting next Tuesday evening. Strike me that we might apply a phrase from certain familiar ceremony: Let them now speak or else hereafter forever hold their peace.

LADYBUG INDUSTRY IS LATEST IN NORTHWEST COUNTRY

WENATCHEE, Wash., July 30—A shortage of 6,000,000 ladybugs was reported this spring by Clark Turner "ladybug king," who is conducting a new industry in North Central Washington—that of furnishing ladybugs to orchardists.

Despite a hard winter on ladybugs, Turner sold nearly 3,000,000 this spring. They are gathered in the higher regions of the Cascade Mountains, and in certain crevices are very thick.

The red-coated little insects are shipped to the fruit ranches and planted about 1,000 to an acre. Breeding several times during a season they multiply very rapidly, and are a natural enemy of the green and woolly aphis, peach tree louse and other orchard pests.

From Small Beginnings

Charles Dickens, the Great Novelist

About 1823 a hungry-looking, poorly-dressed lad was pasting labels on blacking boxes in a London warehouse earning a dollar and a half a week. He lived in a dingy attic, played with the toughest boys in the city and on Sundays visited his father and mother, who were both in prison for debt. Forty years later that boy, Charles Dickens, was the most popular man in England and in the United States; a speaker before great audiences; an editor of successful publications; a friend of every one, and the writer of a shelfful of books that everyone wished to read. People laughed and cried over his books, learned from him a new sympathy for the poor and remedied great abuses.

Instead of giving up to poverty and shame the boy had read every book he could find; had remained faithful to his parents, even though they were in jail; and had determined to be a real man. While he was a humble clerk in a law office he studied shorthand. He became the best police court reporter in London, and then became reporter for Parliament.

Always open-eyed, he saw the laughter and the tears all about him and wrote brilliant sketches of London life. Then he wrote a novel, "Pickwick Papers," so full of rollicking fun that it made him instantly famous. From that time he wrote book after book with tireless energy, every book boisterous with laughter and damp with tears and brimful of sympathy.

If Dickens had been born rich, or had been sent to college could he ever have come so close to the heart of life? His "misfortunes" were his greatest opportunities.

Dickens is the most loved of all English authors. In any public library you will find his books dirty and tattered because they are read so much. He loved his characters, and laughed and cried as he wrote. He aimed his pen at abuses; loved and understood the poor; and always sided with the weak. He is buried in Westminster Abbey.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Danny's Second Swim

If you would learn to swim, jump in.
You'll never swim 'til you begin.
—Danny Meadow Mouse.

Danny Meadow Mouse was sitting on a little island just a short distance from the shore of the Smiling Pool. That little island was simply a tussock of grass out of water. It was just big enough for Jerry Muskrat to sit on comfortably, and Jerry often had sat there. It was one of his favorite resting places. Danny had swum there from the shore to escape Mr. Blacksnake. Peeping out through the grass he could see Mr. Blacksnake looking very much surprised. Mr. Blacksnake hadn't seen Danny swim over to that tiny island and didn't know where Danny had gone, Danny chuckled.

"Yes, sir," said he to himself. "It's a good thing I can swim. It's a good thing, too, that I have a fairly waterproof coat. It isn't as waterproof as the coats of Jerry Muskrat or Billy Mink or Little Joe Otter, but it does very well for a short swim. This is a very comfortable place here and I think I'll stay for a while. I'll stay anyway until I'm sure Mr. Blacksnake has gone about his business. Probably he will find a frog and that will settle his appetite. He'll forget all about poor little me."

This is just what did happen. Meanwhile Danny was very comfortable and continued to enjoy watching what was going on around the Smiling Pool. In fact he was so interested that he almost forgot to watch out for danger. But he didn't quite forget. Those quick little ears of his heard just the faintest of splashes. It was so faint that you or I wouldn't have heard it at all. Instantly Danny turned to look along the shore. Longlegs the Heron was very slowly walking in the edge of the water toward him.

"I must keep an eye on Longlegs" thought Danny.

"I must keep an eye on Longlegs," thought Danny. "He might take it into his head to look for a frog over here where I'm sitting. I know he would be even better pleased to find me. Yes, sir, I will keep an eye on that fellow."

Longlegs took a few steps and then for a long time he stood motionless and patient. But no fish or fourth young frog came within reach and so Longlegs advanced a few more steps. Then he stood waiting as before. So, little by little, Longlegs drew nearer and nearer to the island tussock of grass on which Danny Meadow Mouse was hiding. There were two or three other tussock not far off. Longlegs looked into each to see if by chance a frog might be hiding there. Danny saw him do it. Danny knew that Longlegs would do the same thing when he got near enough to Danny's tussock. He knew that once more he had to swim if he would save his life. It wouldn't do to swim ashore, for then Longlegs would catch him sure. He looked hastily to see where he might find safety. At first it looked to him as if he would have to swim clear across the Smiling Pool. He could do it. He knew he could do it. That is, he knew he could do it if no enemy discovered him in the water. That was where the danger lay.

Then, just a little way out, Danny saw an odd piece of board floating. Danny waited only long enough to make sure that Longlegs really intended to examine that tussock of grass. Then he slipped into the water and started to swim for that piece of board. Longlegs saw him at the same instant. He waded out as far as he could and lunged at Danny with that great bill of his. But Danny was just out of reach. Time more he had escaped by swimming.

TO URIEL

(Angel of the Sun.)

I prate of earthly beauty manifold,
Of outward shadows for the things that are,
You see a cloud of fire where I see gold,
You see a cosmos where I see a star.

I see the heavens like a picture frame,
Grave in conception as the deep, deep sea,
You see my ocean as a thin blue flame,
Lapping my little star with energy.

I see myself but mist upon the coast,
Futile, ephemeral as the flecting foam.
Do you see more in me? Am I a ghost
Seeking through heavy eyes for my lost home?

Opportunities

There are unlimited opportunities in the great field of business for men who are properly trained.

The Bentley School of Accounting and Finance of Boston, Massachusetts, is the largest professional school of college grade in the world devoted exclusively to training men for the duties of office manager, auditor, cost accountant, comptroller, credit manager, and public accountant.

The demand in business is for specialists,—for men qualified to do some one thing particularly well. A large majority of the treasurers and many of the presidents of our large business corporations are products of the accounting department. In this department one has an opportunity to become familiar with all the activities of a business.

There is a demand for our graduates in both commercial and public accounting because of the reputation this School has for turning out well trained men.

To be Bentley-trained carries prestige in business

We are particularly interested in enrolling the clean-cut, upstanding type of man of pleasing personal appearance, fine character, and an abundance of common sense and ambition. Quality is far more important than number of students enrolled. It requires two years to complete our training.

Men who have completed the classical, general, technical or commercial course in a high school are admitted without entrance examinations.

If you are ambitious to fit yourself for a successful career in business, send for catalog at once.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says All Druggists

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you.

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO SWOLLEN JOINTS VANISH

Twisted, swollen, unsightly joints are rapidly freed from pain and brought back to normal with Rheuma.

Lame people walk without aid; sleep comes to those who have been unable to lie in bed; hands that were helpless because of terrible rheumatism are now able to do their share for the support of the family.

Rheuma is a wonderful remedy for rheumatism, gout, neuritis, lumbago and neuralgia.

It is a wonder-worker; it never falters, never gives up until every vestige of uric acid poison is expelled from the body.

Rheuma acts on stomach, liver, kidneys and bladder all at once and quickly brings long prayed for comforts to distressed sufferers. Lee & Osgood Co. and all good druggists sell it with guarantee of money back if it isn't satisfactory.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John O'Neil.

Following a lengthy illness the death of Hannah McCarthy, widow of John O'Neil, occurred Thursday morning at the home, 41 Lafayette street. Mrs. O'Neil was born in Ireland, December , 1840, the daughter of Charles and Mary Welsh McCarthy. She came to this country when a young girl, making her home in the Falls section of Norwich, where she has spent practically all of her life.

In the old St. Mary's church, she was united in marriage with John O'Neil by Rev. Father Fitzsimmons. Mr. O'Neil, who was a veteran of the Civil war, passing away in this city many years ago.

Mrs. O'Neil was beloved by all, who knew her and her chief joy in life was in her home and in making her many friends. She was an ardent church worker and took an active interest in church affairs as long as health permitted her to do so.

Surviving is one daughter, Miss Anna M. O'Neil, a nurse, of this city.

Are You Troubled With Unsightly Hair?

HERE'S A HELPFUL SECRET

No need now to undergo painful electric treatment to remove superfluous hair, nor to apply ordinary ineffective hair removers which only remove surface hairs.

A marvelous new Oriental balsam has been discovered which is applied almost as easily as cold cream. It penetrates towards the hair root and gently "cases out" every objectionable hair, root and all, and leaves the skin clear, white, healthy and soft as velvet. No muss. No odor. No growing back of hair stronger than ever. Absolutely harmless.

SUDDEN DEATH OF WELL KNOWN NORWICH MAN

The many friends of Fred Wilson learned with regret of his death, Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, following a shock sustained shortly after noon while at Maples' corner, East Great Plain. Mr. Wilson had been engaged in doing carpenter work at the home of Henry B. Davenport at East Great Plain and had not been feeling well during the day. About noon time he started to drive home in his automobile and when at Maples Corner was seized with a shock, rendering him practically helpless, causing his machine to swerve into a heavy wagon, approaching but causing no damage. Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve was summoned and Mr. Wilson was taken to his home, off 52 Elizabeth street, where he remained in an unconscious condition until death came about 4:30 o'clock.

Born in Marlboro, Conn., May 11, 1860, the son of Thomas and Susan Wilson, he was the youngest of the family of 11 children, only one of whom is now living. At the age of seven years he moved to Wauregan with his parents and later went to

FRED WILSON

Moosup, where he lived for a number of years. He learned the trade of carpentering under his father and had worked at this trade at various times during his life, being forced to give up work during the first three months of this year, following what was thought to be a slight shock in December.

On June 26, 1881, in Moosup, he was united in marriage with Miss Eva O. Lewis the service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Shipman, pastor of the First Baptist church of Moosup. Immediately following his marriage, he moved to North Brookfield, Mass., where he spent the next two years.

In 1883 he moved to Norwich where he had since made his home, becoming one of the leading residents of the West Side. Joining the First Baptist church shortly after making his home in this city, Mr. Wilson took an active interest in all church affairs until the last. He had served the church and Sunday school in many capacities and at the time of his death was senior deacon, having held that office for about 20 years. He had also served as treasurer of the Sunday school for a number of years.

Mr. Wilson was a member of Uncas Lodge No. 11, I. O. O. F., a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, in which order he had held every office, and was a member of the Norwich Local Carpenter's union, being its treasurer at the time of his death.

In his home life Mr. Wilson was an ideal and lovable husband and father, finding happiness in the home circle which had been broken but once during his life, by the death of a daughter, Susan C. Wilson, on July 17, 1893. In his church life he was always ready to serve whenever called upon and in his business life he was a man true to every trust given into his keeping. His death removes from the family a loved one who can never be replaced, the First Baptist church has lost a most valued member, and his many friends in this city and elsewhere have lost a companion and helpmate. Those left to mourn his loss have the sympathy of a host of friends in their time of sorrow.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. James L. Tourtellotte, a son, George M. Wilson, of Leffingwell Town; one grandson, Cyril Wilson Tourtelotte and one brother, Frank L. Wilson of Elizabeth street.

TWENTY-EIGHT DRIVERS ORDERED TO APPEAR IN CITY COURT

As a result of orders issued by Mayor Milo R. Waters Thursday morning, 28 drivers, charged with violation of the local traffic rules, have been ordered to appear in the city court this (Friday) morning. Thursday was "red tag" day in Norwich and owners and drivers of machines who have been more or less in the habit of disregarding the local parking limits were considerably surprised and somewhat chagrined to find "red tags" attached to their steering wheels.

At one time Thursday the drivers were appearing at police headquarters so fast that they had to await their turn before the desk in a line. It has been a well known fact that the local traffic rules which went into effect January 1st last have been somewhat of a joke with drivers in general. Of late there has been a general laxness on the part of local drivers to observe the law, especially the 40-minute parking limit ordinance. It has also been a well known fact that quite a few drivers have been in the habit of parking their machines in front of their offices and places of business for hours at a time. Wednesday the matter was brought to a head when a certain driver who had parked his machine on Bath street, contrary to traffic regulations, remarked to one of the police commissioners that the Norwich traffic rules "were a joke."

The result of this remark was an order by Mayor Waters to the police department to see that the traffic rules are enforced to the letter hereafter. This means that hereafter those drivers who have been in the habit of parking their machines almost anywhere in the central part of the city without regard to the prescribed time limits will have to find parking space elsewhere.

All day Thursday a local police officer, in plain clothes, was busy checking up parked automobiles and attaching tags to those drivers who are violating the rules. His activities netted a busy day for police headquarters in booking the violators as they appeared before the desk with the unpopular red tags. All drivers who appeared before the police desk received the same summons, to appear in the city court Friday morning, to answer to the charge as stated on the red tag. In the cases of several out-of-town drivers they were allowed to settle their cases upon payments of $5 each, which will be the penalty imposed on them by the court.

Mayor Waters who issued the drastic enforcement order Thursday morning, said that he had given orders that everyone who violated the local traffic rules in the future be ordered to appear in court. Mayor Waters also said that he had requested the prosecutor to see that all violators received the same treatment.

Below is a list of those who were "tagged" and received court summons on Thursday:

Michael D'Atri, Peter Pisarko, Shepard B. Palmer, R. I. Norris, of Providence; Anson R. Grover, P. F. Weith, 306 Huntington street, New London; William R. Watrous, Noank; Tony Collettie, Albert Blime, Hebron; Julius Jacobs, New York; Edward Green, Chelsea; R. E. Grover, Norwich; Wilfred Gaudreau, Jewett City; Max Best, Tyler Rogers, Louis E. Bushy, Franklin; N. C. Pierce, Edward Rich, Clarence Sholes, Louis Cassidy, Victor Tongren, A. J. Fitzgerald, John Higgins, James L. Case, C. L. Thomas, Providence; Edward J. Graham, Myra F. Ward, Antonio Longo.

The local parking rules will be strictly enforced daily from now on, said one of the members of the board of police commissioners and none of the city residents should be tagged because they themselves know what these rules are. An out-of-town man might possibly get caught but there should be no excuse for the local man, continued the police commissioner. We intend to keep the automobiles in the city in strict enforcement and violators, no matter who they might be, will have to take the consequences if they violate them, said the police commissioner.

NAMES EIGHT DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION

Delegates to the Grande Promenade La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux were elected at a meeting of Voiture Locale, No. 743, held Thursday evening at the post rooms of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion, on Main street.

Voyageurs who will represent the locale at the convention at New London on August 28th, are Voyageurs Olson, Johnson, Schramm, Wilcox, Gates, Anderson, Bibeau and Cook. Alternates elected were Voyageurs Smith, Jennes, Loper, Corcoran, McNeil, Shanley, Davidson and Foley.

The meeting was in charge of Chef de Gare Jonathan L. Johnson, of Norwich, and was attended by over 50 members of the locale, coming from Norwich, New London, Baltic, Tartville and Groton. During the meeting various items of interest to the locale concerning the grand promenade, were discussed and it was evident that the locale would tour out in large numbers to participate in the convention and in the parade and promenade during the afternoon and evening. It was reported that a large number of prisoners are waiting to go over the top and the work is to be done by the wrecking crew of the New London county locale and that of the Hartford locale.

It was also voted that Voyageurs Whitaker, Lathrop, Olson and Bennett be empowered to put the box car and engine into condition for locale affairs and also to do whatever is necessary to protect the equipment against damage or loss.

The locale also discussed the advisability of putting on an outdoor attraction in Colchester in the near future and the following committee was named to arrange for the place and time of the event: Voyageur Raymond, chairman; Olson, vice chairman; Lee, secretary; Bellefleur, treasurer; D'Atri, music; Oat, publicity; Schramm, Levine, Corcoran, Chase and Jennes.

The various committees met after the regular session and made plans for the future, the amusement committee arranging to perfect plans for the big event before the end of two current week, for reports at the meeting to be held on Monday of next week at the new quarters of Fletcher post, in the Thames Bank building on Shetucket street.

FIRST SPIRITUAL UNION HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual picnic of the First Spiritual Union, and the Helping Hands, its auxiliary, was held Thursday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Muskie, at Mohegan Hill. The grounds were attractively decorated in the society color and a bountious feast was enjoyed in the shade of the huge apple tree, on the spacious lawn, where the host and hostess had brought large tables and lawn accessories. Various new and interesting games were played, and were entered into eargerly by those present whose ages ran from 2 1-2 to 90 years.

All who could, remained to have supper at twilight, and came home by moonlight, after one of the pleasantest picnics ever.

Various committees conferred upon the activities of the coming season, which give promise of being the most successful in years.

Mr. and Mrs. Machie were given three rousing cheers, in recognition of their efforts to make the day, one of such great pleasure, and one to be so long remembered.

LISBON MAN SEEKS FORCLOSURE OF MORTGAGE

Foreclosure of mortgage against John and Katherine Krwosnik, both of Lisbon, is sought by John Nazaruk and Fred Alaska, of Lisbon, in a superior court action filed with the court clerk in this city. It is alleged in the complaint that on May 19, 1924, John and Katherine Krwosnik, owed the plaintiffs $2,700 on a note dated May 19, 1924, payable after date with interest at 6 per cent. To secure the note the defendants mortgaged a lot of land in Lisbon bounded and situated on both sides of the Kimball Road.

The note is still owed by the plaintiff and there is due and unpaid on the note the sum of $500 being the first installment together with interest from May 19, 1924.

PLAN FOR LIVESTOCK PARADE FOR FARMERS' WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

STORRS, July 30.—Economical livestock management and development, economical production and utilization of feeds, and milk marketing are the three subjects that will be stressed in the programme for dairy and livestock men who will attend Farmers' Week at the Connecticut Agricultural college August 4-7. This was the statement of George C. White today, professor of dairying at C. A. C., and in charge of the dairy programme.

Speakers of national reputation, including G. R. Little, president of the New England Milk Producers' association; R. F. Lewis of the Dairymen's League of New York; Clifford E. Hough, manager of the Connecticut Milk Producers' association; E. W. Sheets, chief of the Division of Animal Industry of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, and others will address the dairy and livestock men.

The livestock parade, which is always one of the spectacular features of Farmers' Week, will be held this year as in the past. This includes a display of purebred cattle, horses, beef cattle, poultry, swine and sheep developed at the college, many of which are blue ribbon animals.

Three days will be required to present the dairy and livestock programme, with economical livestock management and development being stressed the first day, Wednesday, August 4. "No one can afford to own an animal of scrub breding under any circumstances, and it is folly to do a poor job of raising a well bred one," said Professor White, who asserted that no fact in Connecticut farming has been so definitely demonstrated as this.

Demonstration talks on "Growing Young Dairy Stock" will be given by Professor White of the dairy department, and demonstration talks on "Growing Young Livestock" will be given by Professor A. G. Skinner of the animal husbandry department. These will cover a big economic question, for without replacements in the dairy or the feed lot the farmer would soon be without the means for converting home grown grain, pastures, hay and silage into a marketable product.

"Where Dairying Should Be the Most Successful in Connecticut," will be the subject of the talk by Professor Irving G. Davis of the economics department of the Connecticut Agricultural college. In every farm adapted to dairying, and on some soils so poorly adapted that dairying can never be profitable are some of the considerations that Professor Davis will give to the business of dairying.

"Reducing Feed Costs" will be the subject of a talk by Philip R. Park of the Park and Pollard Food company, Animal husbandry demonstrations with horses and sheep will be given by Professors Garrigus and Skinner, and R. E. Begg, sheep specialist.

The livestock programme for Thursday, August 6, will hinge upon the economical production and utilization of feeds. Clover and alfalfa cultivation including seeding, fertilization and harvesting are the subjects that will be emphasized. These feeds mean much to the dairy farmer, and in fact they contribute immeasurably to growth through their rich supply of minerals and anti-rachitic vitamines for all classes of animals.

It is difficult to see how the Connecticut farmer will get along without them in the future, according to Prof. White, who says they can be successfully grown here and not alone are they a good roughage for animals, but they feed the soil as well.

Director B. L. Hartwell of the Rhode Island Agricultural Experiment Station is eminently fitted to discuss th esubject, "The Growing of Clover and Alfalfa," as applied to this section of the country. He is a national authority on the subject of soil fertility in its relation to crop production.

J. Stanley Owens, through his work as extension specialist in agronomy at C. A. C., is thoroughly acquainted with Connecticut cropping possibilities and will handle the subject of "Alfalfa for Connecticut" very instructively. Likewise, B. G. Southwick, county agent in Hartford county, will through his training, interest and experience treat the subject "Alfalfa in Hartford County" in a manner interesting to his listeners.

Philip R. Park will again appear to talk on "Experiences in Feeding." Mr. Park has not only had the opportunity to observe the results of feeding practice in farmers' herds, but he also has been an extensive feeder of livestock. This will provide an opportunity for a real discussion of the subject of feeding, a factor contributing more than fifty per cent. of the total cost of livestock production.

"The Why of Better Sires" will be treated at length by E. W. Sheets of the U. S. bureau of animal industry. Following this talk, the crowds will divide into groups according to their greatest needs or interest. Professor White will conduct a tour of the new young stock unit of the dairy barns completed last fall. This barn has some special features which have given it usual satisfaction.

Messrs. Sims and Merrill of the extension service will give demonstrations on the selection of dairy bulls, a subject which is of interest to hundreds of Connecticut dairymen. H. E. Johnson of the dairy department of the college will give a demonstration in clean milk production with a milking machine. E. A. Brown of the agronomy department will conduct a tour to the experiment plots of the station, with especial attention being paid to the legumes.

Friday, August 7, is milk marketing day, with speakers of national reputation addressing the dairymen. Rush Lewis of the Dairymen's league of New York will speak first, taking as his subject "Co-operative Marketing." He will be followed by Clifford E. Heugh, manager of the Connecticut Milk Producers association, who will talk on the "Co-operative Marketing of Milk." Dr. G. R. Little, president of the New England Milk Producers association, will talk on the "Future of the Dairy Business." C. A. Brandt of the Mitchell Dairy company of Bridgeport will discuss "Quality Milk."

BAPTIST VACATION SCHOOL HOLDS CLOSING SESSION

The Daily Vacation Bible school, which has been conducted at the Central Baptist church during the month of July, closed Thursday evening, when members of the school entertained their parents and friends in Bushnel chapel.

The programme given was one of unusual merit and showed careful preparation and the result of the work done during the month the school has held sessions. The programme follows: March, Opening Scripture verse, school; song, Holy, Holy, Holy, school; prayer, Rev. Valentino Panizzoli; scripture readings, Psalm 121, school; Lord's Prayer, school; song, How Strong and Sweet My Father's Care; taking and announcing of purpose of offering; song, Jesus Loves Me, beginners; habit talk, Health talk, Miss McKenzie; introduction of teachers and welcome, Rev. Mr. Panizzoli; song, I Would Be True; recitation of Health Rules, beginners; song, Happy Days.

Dramatization of the Parable of the Good Samaritan: Robbers, Manuel Maranda, Tony Ferrante, Charles Corbeille; Samaritan, John Romanowich; man robbed, Harold Budzeck; priest, Paul Madeo; Levite, Walter Barber. Dramatization of the Ten Virgins: Announcers, Jesse Cohen, Terry Fields; bridegroom, Frederick Smith; wise virgins, Helen Rudd, Helen Zonches, Nelli Horchel, Hannah Ogulnick and Ethel Wisniewsk; foolish virgins, Evelyn Corbeille, Ella Canora, Arline Doyle, Ocelia Barber and Margaret Crowe.

Alphabet Drill work, school; song, Summer Suns Are Glowing; Shepherd Psalm, beginners; song, Sailing, Sailing, story, Hannah Ogulnick; Pansy Song, beginners; song In Ringing Voice, school; Salute to the American flag, school; song, America, in unison; Salute to the Christian flag, congregation; song, Fling Out the Banner, school; benediction, school.

Following the programme of the evening opportunity was afforded the parents and friends of the pupils to inspect the work done by the children during the school sessions. Tables were piled high with articles made during the month and showed careful workmanship and also hard work on the part of the pupils and instructors.

The work on display included raffia and reed baskets, painted oil-cloth bibs embroidered aprons, waste paper baskets, lamp shades, sewing baskets, stuffed novelties, animals, etc., and dolls furniture, made by the older girls, paper houses, scrap books, lanterns, colored pictures, shopping bags and fans, by the beginners; and toys, airplanes, Noah's arks, and many kinds of cardboard work by the boys, who also showed many fine pencil and pen drawings.

The school had a total enrollment of 186 for the month and the average attendance was 96. Besides the work mentioned above the children received instruction in Bible verse memorization, Bible readings, games, calesthenics, health talks and music, and the usual worship period held at the opening of each session, which ran daily from 9 until 11.30 a. m.

The school showed a remarkable growth over a year ago and every indication is that the attendance will be about doubled in 1926 as the children and parents have realized the fine instructions given during the sessions are of great value.

The annual party and outing of the vacation school is to be held today (Friday) when pupils will meet at the Central church at 2.30 o'clock, from where transportation will be provided to Mohegan park, where the picnic will be held. A varied programme of interest to the children has been arranged by the teachers of the school.

One of the features of the 1925 vacation school has been the fine health talks, while the beginners had the added lesson of health given to them through the serving of crackers and milk at each session of the school.

FUNERAL Miss Jennie Norton

Funeral services for Miss Jennie Norton were held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at the parlors of Hourigan Bros., Main street, followed by requiem mass in St. Andrew's church, Colchester, at 10 o'clock. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Philip J. Mooney, rector of the church and Miss Alice Brown was at the organ. As a waiting hymn Miss Claire Brown sang Rest for the Weary and for the offertory the organist of the church rendered Le Prefundis.

Burial was in St. Andrews cemetery, Colchester, where the committal service was read by Father Mooney. The bearers were John Boyle and John Coleman of Norwich, James Quinn of East Hampton and Jerome Sisson, of Colchester. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service and the floral tributes were beautiful.

YANTIC TEAM SWAMPS SAINTS WITH BARRAGE OF HARD HITTING 15 TO 4

Yantic won their second straight game in the twilight league Thursday evening when they swamped the St. Joseph's nine 15 to 4.

As in last week's game with Hallville, Yantic proved themselves to be a bunch of heavy hitters, connecting fifteen hits off the combined offerings of Zemke and Spike Liberty. E. Hoxie led the up-town boys at bat with four hits out of five, while Harry Ainsworth and H. Hoxie accounted for three hits apiece.

Spike Liberty led the Polish team at the bat with two doubles and a single, while Frank Busch was close behind with two doubles. Busch likewise, contributed the fielding feature of the game when he made a nice running catch of Marchand's long fly in the third.

"Cannonball" Gil Jones twirled for Yantic and was in fine form. Given a five-run lead in the first inning, Jones was never in danger. He limited the Saints to ten hits, and fanned seven.

Paul Zemke started for the Saints, but Manager Oney's choice for pitching honors was hit unmercifully and retired in the fourth after Yantic had made nine hits and twelve runs. Spike Liberty then took up the pitching burden and was touched for six more hits and three runs in the last three frames. Liberty however had his strikeout ball working to perfection, six of the Yantic batsmen falling a victim to his hooks.

Yantic got off to a big lead in the first inning when the entire team batted around. In this frame, the aints made several costly errors, and these combined with two hits and singles by E. Hoxie and Ainsworth, enabled Yantic to score five runs.

In the third the up-town nine added another when Jones got an infield single, stole second, took third on a fly to the outfield and scored on a wild pitch.

The fourth, however was Yantic's big inning. In this frame, singles by H. Hoxie, E. Hoxie and Ainsworth, and doubles by Smith and Gil Jones, coupled with two infield errors scored six more.

Spike Liberty then took the mound for the Saints and retired the side without further scoring. Yantic continued their attack in the fifth with two more, while in the sixth, they brought their total up to 15 on singles by Ainsworth and H. Hoxie and Sweet's two-bagger to right.

The Saints first score came in the fourth on successive doubles by Oney and Kosiowski. In the fifth they added another on a double by Spike Liberty and Moore's single to left, and in the next frame, two more Saints crossed the plate on a double by Busch and singles by Gilbert and Spike Liberty. Tonight's Game

Tonight the game between the E. C. P. and the Palace will be without a doubt the most important one of the week. Should the Power Co. win it will put them close to the Centrals while should they lose they will go into a tie with the East Ends for third place and the Palace will climb into second. Right now on paper the Power company looks like the strongest team in the league with George Sheflott of Buckley's state championship team who goes to Fordham next year catching, Joe Farisi of Buckley, Dickson of the Coast Guard in New London and good old Tom Simcox to do the pitching, Chick Stanley of the Catholic University on first, Joe Barry also of Buckley on second, Bill Ringland of Tufts at short, "Count" Whitney of Middlebury at third and "Eddie" McKay of the old K. of C. team, Jack Clabby from the York-Penn State league and the Hall boys who all shone at the N. F. A. at one time or other in the outfield makes this combination one that is hard to beat. Every one of these boys are sure fielders and all hit hard and when on a ball field play baseball and do not argue it which has won them a large following of fans. This team and the Palace are considered the real contenders of the Centrals for the pennant and with the season slowly drawing to a close it is almost a safe bet that these three teams will be closely bunched.

The Palace who received a terrific lacing from the Centrals in the first game of the week have strengthened since then and will give the Power Co. a stiff battle. Tonight Mike Morin will give "Zipp" Sim whom he received from the Centrals through a trade a chance to work in the box. This boy pitched one game for the Centrals and shut out the opposing team but since then for some reason or other was kept on the bench and asked to be traded to some other team and it is hoped that this boy will make good tonight against his bunch of sluggers from the Power Co. The remainder of the Palace lineup will include, Hamil, Mulcahy, Mike Morin, Leo Morin, Nap Simcox, Chip Dugas, Courbois, also from the Centrals, Joe Jackson and John Keenan.

REINHART HOLDS DODGERS WHILE CARDS WIN

ST. LOUIS, July 30—(A. P.)—Reinhart was wild but held Brooklyn to four scattered hits and St. Louis won, 5 to 2. Fournier went hitless after getting at least one safety in 17 consecutive games. The Cardinals moved into fifth place as Philadelphia lost. Score:

FAST RACING FEATURES CARD AT AURORA

AURORA, Ill., July 30.—(AP)—Bonnie Watts, a brown horse by General Watts-Bonnie Hall, owned by Jacob Weinberg, of Chicago, and driven by Marvin Childs, won three races on today's Grand Circuit program at Exposition park. Starting in the 2:17 pacing class he won the first event, a four furlong dash, in 1:00 3-5, the second at a mile and one-eighth, in 2:27 2-5 and the third, a six furlong dash, in 1:31 2-5. Mac Abbe, owned and driven by Tommy Murphy, of Syracuse, N. Y., was second to the Chicago pacer in the last two races, but did not start in the four furlongs event.

Phil O'Neil, a bay gelding by The Philistine-Vera Marie, owned by James P. Berry, of Hartford, Conn., and driven by W. Crozier, won both races in the 2:05 pacing class. In the first race, a six furlong dash, the sulky of Peter Green, the favorite, became locked with that of Buddy Mack, and C. Valentine, driver of the latter, was thrown but was not injured. Peter Green was drawn after the accident, but Buddy Mack came back and took second money in the 1 1-8 mile race.

Honors in the 2:15 trotting class were divided by Top o' the Morning, a brown mare by Belmin-Antie Russell owned by J. C. Nichols, of Sheboygan, Wis., winner of the six furlongs dash, and Dr. Strongworthy, grey gelding by Ortolon Axworthy, from the Tommy Murphy stables, winner of the 1 1-8 miles race.

GRAY PITCHES ATHLETICS TO SHUT OUT OVER TIGERS

PHILADELPHIA, July 30—(A. P.)—Connie Mack shuffled his batting order today with the result that the pace-making Athletics hammered out an easy 9 to 0 victory, over the Detroit Tigers. Sammy Gray pitched his first full game since July 2, won his tenth game of the season and scored his fourth shutout. The Athletics drove Whitehill from the box after scoring five runs in the first two innings. Wells, his successor was also hit hard Frank Welch hung up an unusual record by stepping to the plate five times and not being charged with a time at bat. He sacrificed twice and walked on three other occasions. Score:

MORE TALK ABOUT DEMPSEY-MADDEN BOUT

NEW YORK, July 30—(A. P.)—Possibility of a heavyweight championship fight this year at Michigan City, Ind., between Jack Dempsey and Bartley Madden was revived today with the departure of Charley Rose, Madden's manager, for a conference in Chicago with Promotor Floyd Fitzsimmons.

Rose left here late in the afternoon in response to a message from Fitzsimmons. Indication of Dempsey's disapproval of Harry Greb as an opponent in a fight this year increases Madden's chances of obtaining a title match, in the estimation of close followers of boxing.

Myers to Coach Delaware

PROVIDENCE, July 30—(AP)—C. C. (Duffy) Myers, of Ardmore, Pa., quarterback on the Brown football eleven last fall, has been chosen as athletic director and head coach of the football eleven at the University of Delaware, it was announced here today.

SARATOGA TRACK OPENS FOR MEETING TODAY

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 30.—(AP)—Hotels are filled tonight in anticipation of the opening of the annual Saratoga race meeting of 25 days tomorrow. During the four weeks there will be 36 stake events with awards ranging from $2,000 to $50,000.

Two excellent fields have been put together for the opening day. The Saratoga handicap at a mile and a quarter of three-year-olds and up will find spot cash, Sun Pal, Mad Play, Cherry Pie, My Own and Valador at the post, while the flash stakes for two year olds at 5 1-2 furlongs has Brazen, Sun Seeker, Blockhead, Imitator, Sarmaticus, Flight of Time, Powhatan, Sport Royal, Fiddlesticks, Colorful, General Watson and Canter.

Every one of the WPPP stalls here has been engaged, indicating that there will be large fields for all events throughout the meeting. Many of the horses are on their way from Empire City, which closed today.

Already race followers are trying to select the king of the turf and the names mentioned include those of Mad Play, Sarazen, My Own, Ladkin, Sting and Big Blaze. The last named, a colt owned by Samuel Riddle, is reported to be in excellent condition for the meeting and may cause some surprises.

Harry Payne Whitney has brought a large stable which so far has failed to show an outstanding performer.

RIVERVIEW TO PLAY TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

The Riverview team will play two games this week clashing with the Collinsville team on Saturday afternoon at the State hospital and playing a return engagement at Bristol with the New Departure team. Riverview has been in a slump for the past few weeks but for Saturday's game two new faces will be seen in the lineup. George Sheffiott will be behind the bat and Whitney will play third. This will give the Riverview club added hitting strength as Sheffiott is a hard sticker. Whitney's presence at third will give the team added defensive strength.

Yantic Married Men Win

In the first game of a series between the Married and Single men of the thriving little village of Yantic last evening the Benedicts gained a 10 to 9 decision over their more fortunate rivals. The features of the game included the heavy hitting of Sam Cardin and the fielding of the married men. The pitching of Reid was spectacular as he fanned the mighty Bob Smith several times.

MISS COLLETT AND MRS. STERRETT IN FINALS AT SHENECOSSETT TODAY

EASTERN POINT, GROTON, Conn., July 30—(A. P.)—Miss Glenna Collett, the present French champion, and Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kas., will be matched in the finals tomorrow in the seventh annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Shenecossett Country club.

Miss Collett today won her semi-final match with Miss Helen Payson, of Portland, Me., champion, of that state, one up, and Mrs. Sterrett defeated Mrs. J. J. Thomson, of Mt. Vernon, 7 and 5.

While Miss Payson met defeat in today's game, she won the distinction of forcing Miss Collett to extend herself to win her way to the finals. Miss Payson fought every inch of the way from the first tee to the last green and while she has been playing golf but a short time compared with the experience of her opponent, she played like a veteran and had Miss Collett on even terms most of the way. Miss Collett, however, did not play the par golf today she had displayed earlier in the tournament.

Miss Collett won the first hole in brilliant fashion, getting on to the green in two and sinking a putt for a birdie three. The second hole was halved. Miss Payson outdrove Miss Collett on the third and sent a fine brassie to the edge of the green but missed a good putt. Miss Collett was on in three after dubbing an iron shot and halved the hole with a five.

On the fourth, which is but 208 yards, Miss Collett made four bad shots, losing the hole 5 to 4. Miss Collett took the lead on the next hole, winning it 5 to 6 when Miss Payson went into a trap. The Maine champion evened the match at the next hole when Miss Collett dropped an iron shot into a trap and missed her putt. Miss Payson holed a long putt for a three.

Both were on in three at the seventh, Miss Payson reached the green after a good shot from the routh. The hole was halved in 5. On the eighth both made fine drives and approaches, but both missed two putts, halving the hole in 6.

Miss Collett was one up at the turn when after shooting through a tree she got a good lay on the green. Miss Payson missed two putts and lost the hole 4 to 6. The Maine player took the 10th 4 to 6, getting on to the green in three and the match was even again.

The 11th was halved with a par three and the 12th also was a par affair after Miss Payson had sent down a long putt. The 13th was halved in 6.

Miss Collett captured the 14th 4 to 5, sinking her putt while Miss Payson rimmed the cup. The French champion increased her lead at the 15th after she had driven into a trap but had made a good recovery. Miss Payson drove across the green into a trap. She also made a splendid recovery but missed her putt.

The 16th was halved at four each. On the 17th, both made excellent drives but Miss Collett's ball landed in the rough at the edge of the green. Miss Payson was on the green in two and holed a long putt, winning the hole 3 to 4. Miss Payson started after the next hole with a long drive, but Miss Collett's drive was a little further, the ball going 215 yards. Miss Payson was on the green with a mashie pitch and Miss Collett followed with a beautiful approach with her mashie niblick. Both missed putts for a birdie three and halved the hole with par 4, Miss Collett winning the match.

GIANTS DOWN CUBS AND CUT DOWN PIRATE LEAD

CHICAGO, July 30—(A. P.)—New York defeated Chicago 4 to 2 today, Gowdy's home run following Kelly's double gave the Giants two runs in the second inning. They scored two more in the sixth when Young led off with a triple and Alexander lost control, forcing in one run while the other scored on Gowdy's sacrifice fly.

The Cubs were unable to hit in the pinches although they had several opportunities. Hartnett smashed out his twenty-fourth home run for Chicago's first rally, and with a two base hit in the eighth inning drove in Heathcote. The score:

CLEVELAND TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT FROM RED SOX

BOSTON, July 30—(A. P.)—Cleveland made it another win over the Red Sox today by taking their third straight game, 7 to 2. Buckeye pitched effectively while his mates hammered Zahniser persistently. The first Indian run, coming in the fifth inning was made on a home run by Buckeye into the right field bleachers. The Cleveland outfield all made good catches, Jamieson excelling. Score:

DIEGEL LEADS FIELD IN TITLE PLAY

TORONTO, Ont., July 30—(AP)—Leo Diegel, winner of the Canadian open golf championship at Montreal last year, lead a strong field of American and Canadian stars in defense of his title today at Lambton in the first 18 hole round of the annual 72 hole test. Posting a card of 69, two under par, he secured a lead of two strokes on Andy Kay of Lambton, and Walter Hagen of Pasadena, Fla., former British open champion.

RICHARDS TO MEET ANDERSON IN THE FINALS

SEABRIGTHG, N. J., July 30—(AP)—Vincent Richards of Yonkers, N. Y., will meet James O. Anderson, champion of Australia, in the finals of the men's singles, and Miss Helen Wills of Berkeley, Cal., national champion, will face Miss Elizabeth Ryan of England, formerly of California, in the finals of the women's singles as a result of today's matches in the Seabright Bowl tournament at the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket club.

Richards, America's second ranking star, reached the final bracket by defeating R. Norris Williams, 2nd., of Philadelphia, a former national champion 7-5, 6-4, while Anderson, No. 1 man on Australia's Davis Cup team, eliminated 18 year old Cranston Holman, Leland Stanford University star, 7-9, 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Willis gained the final bracket with an impressive triumph in which she required but 26 minutes to defeat Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, of New York, No. 3 on the women's list and a former national champion, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Ryan reached the finals by coming from behind to outplay Miss Mary K. Browne, of Los Angeles, Cal., 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The finals in the men's doubles will pit Johnson and Griffin against Robert and Howard Kinsey, national doubles champions. The Griffin-Johnston combination today eliminated the newly organized team of Vincent Richards and Raymond Casey 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. The Kinseys took the measure of Williams and Washburn 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

Richards' victory over Williams, while expected, was a battle from the opening service.

The Anderson-Holman contest was the feature match of the day. Against Holman, Anderson found the most daring exponent of tennis he has ever faced. There was nothing that Holman didn't try in those three torrid sets and as long as his control remained with him the Leland Stanford star proved a worthy and dangerous foe.

Helen Wills' victory over Mrs. Mallory was without thrills, the former national champion won but one game against her youthful opponent, the fifth game in the first set on her own service. Then Miss Wills took eight games in a row, the match going to her at 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan was extended to the limits of her game to defeat Miss Mary K. Browne. The former California star, who has been making her home in Europe for 12 years lost the opening set 6-4. Then Miss Ryan came back to take the second 6-2. The third set, a thriller with nearly every game going to deuce found Miss Ryan's endurance the deciding factor.

Men's doubles, semi finals found: Robert G., and Howard O. Kinsey, San Francisco, Cal., defeated it. Norris Williams, 2nd., Philadelphia, and Watson M. Washburn, New York, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Mixed doubles:

Semi-final round—Vincent Richards, Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Helen Wills, Berkeley, Calif., defeated Herbert L. Bowman, New York, and Miss Molly D. Thayer, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-1.

WHITE SOX LAND ON COVELESKIE TO BEAT SENATORS

WASHINGTON, July 30—(A. P.)—The White Sox smashed Coveleskie's streak of 12 consecutive victories today by hammering him from the box and winning their third game out of four starts with Washington by an 11 to 1 score. In three innings the Sox knocked Coveleskie for nine hits and five runs, A. Gregg and Marberry likewise faced but little better from the visitors, but Russell held them hitless for two frames. REDS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP OF PHILLY SERIES

CINCINNATI, July 30—(A. P.)—A clean sweep of the Philadelphia series was made by the Reds when they beat the Phillies 6 to 2 today. The Reds continued their hard hitting and scored most of their runs off Clarence Mitchell. The visitors jumped on Epps Rixey in the first inning and with the aid of a base on balls, scored two runs but after that the tall left hander held them.

The game marked the sixth straight win for Cincinnati. Score:

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The town of Eastford is pointing a finger at a method of getting back taxes that has not been adopted by other Windham county towns as yet, but maybe, under the law, if delinquents continue to fail in meeting their assessments.

Caro P. Latham, tax collector over in Eastford, has caused notices to be published relative to the sale of three parcels of land in that town. These parcels of land contain approximately 320 acres and are the property of different individuals. The sales of the properties are scheduled for a date in September. Only enough of each property will be sold to allow the town to collect the tax money and interest due.

Back taxes are a problem for about every town in Windham county, as the records will show. There are cases where it is next to impossible for an owner to pay a tax he may owe, but these cases are much rarer than those in which the owners can pay, but will not unless pressure is brought to bear. Killingly has not found it expedient, at least not for many years, to sell anyone's property to get tax money, but this procedure may have to be resorted to, as is being done in Eastford.

A statement of condition just issued for the Danielson Building and Loan association by Secretary Clifford H. Starkweather shows that the organization has resources of $130,104.49. The association was incorporated in 1916 and has been successful from the first. Shares of its first serie now have a book value of $145.27 each, while shares of the second series are worth book value, $138.80. Dividends on shares of the first series have amounted to $31.27.

Having an increasing revenue as each series of shares is issued, the association is ever more valuable to Danielson and its people, in that it allows an ever-increasing number to employ it as a medium for the construction of new homes.

It is of interest that the association was brought into being as one means of reducing a housing shortage in Danielson. That was back in 1916. Since that remote date many homes have been built in Danielson—more than one would imagine probable a decade ago—but a housing shortage still exists. Fifty new dwellings in Danielson ready now could be rented within a fortnight. This indicates that the association will continue to be of value and probably in a larger degree than in the past.

The association has an able group of officers and board of management and every precaution is exercised in loaning its funds.

Closing otmorrow (Saturday) at noon, the plants of the Paco Manufacturing company will be idle until August 17. This period of inaction is arranged in order that the employes of the big concern all may have two weeks' holiday at the same time. There are valuable advantages in this arrangement. When the vacation period is over, the organization will return complete and departments will not be thrown out of adjustment by absences such as occur when vacations are spread over the entire summer period. The plan is one that the Paco company adopted when it first located in Danielson.

Danielson members of the Putnam Country club read with interest in a Boston paper of Thursday morning the opinion of a writer on golf subjects that Clarence Booth, professional at the Putnam club and conductor last winter of a golf school in Danielson, outranks at driving a number of the games greatest stars, including Walter Hagen. Booth's drives often bring amazing distance. The Boston writer in his statement of Thursday adds his opinion to back a claim that has long since been made by observers in this territory of the local professional's driving.

It may sound like harping on a subject, to chronicle again this week another narrow escape of a Rhode Island motorist from being struck by a fast train at the Main street crossing. As in other instances of the kind, the accident was only averted by the activity of Officer John Gebert. Evidence accumulates almost daily that this crossing never should be without a gateman on duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Liner are leaving this week end for a motor trip through New York state and into Canada.

Miss Alice Ayer, of Norwich, has been spending a few days at South Killingly, where she formerly was a teacher.

Danielson visitors to Camp Woodstock Thursday found members of the Chamber of Commerce of Rockville there for an outing, an inspection of the camp and indulgence in a good dinner.

William S. Brown, who has been very successful in breeding pure bred Holsteins at his Shepard Hill farm near Wauregan, will have an announcement of very special interest to make during the coming month. He has a remarkable cow at the farm—a record-breaker.

Owners in this territory of billboards are arranging to comply with the requirdements of the new law as to a provision requiring the display of a license number on each such billboard.

Jared C. Hutchins of Fall River was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

Dogs from three or four states will be shown at the field day exhibit at the Palisade kennels at East Killingly Sunday. Those interested in police dogs are privileged to be present.

A wrong impression that Danielson's banks are closed Thursday afternoons has been gained by numbers of people. The banks are open Thursdays, the half-holiday for these institutions coming on Saturday.

If it is pleasant Sunday afternoon, St. James' band is to give a concert at Wildwood park.

A mid-summer gathering is planned to be held next week Saturday at the church in North Foster.

Our remnant room will be closed from August 1 to August 17. The Paco Manufacturing Co.—Adv.

Today, July 31, is the closing day of Killingly's financial year. No figures as to the town's financial standing are available for publication as yet.

Danielson's business section was like a deserted village, Thursday afternoon, a regular half-holiday period for the summer season.

Miss Caroline Buteau of Baltic has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Bessette of Main street.

Next week the registrars of the town of Killingly are to be in session to compile a list of the electors of the town of Killingly, in preparation for the fall caucuses and election.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Perkins and a party of friends motored to Springfield Thursday afternoon.

The surplus of the Windham County National Bank is three times its capital, which is indicative of very careful management. If you deposit your funds in the Windham County National bank, Danielson, it is evident that they will be watched with a careful eye.—Adv.

A wanderer who was seeking a 30-day sentence in jail, and admitted it would be welcome, was turned down by the police here Thursday. There is no summer vacation arrangement in force at expense of the town and county.

PUTNAM

It is fortunate for the town of Putnam that the laws passed by the last general assembly regarding the cost of new bridges do not apply in the one that is to be erected over the Quinebaug river, at Pomfret street. The new acts provide that the cost of keeping in repair bridges on uncompleted sections of the trunk line highway systems will no longer be borne by the state, following acts of the legislature. The state highway department has notified town selectmen of the change in the law which now requires the towns in which the bridges are located to maintain them. Attention of town officials is being called in the letter, to the provisions of the new law and copies of the act relating to the change have been sent to every town in the state.

The new law also provides, in the case of state aid or trunk line bridges that the cost of constructing additional widths over and above the twenty-eight foot width specified and the installation of any highway lighting system or the cost of sidewalks shall be borne by the town requesting such additional work.

The new laws covering the situation are contained in section 17, chapter 263 and sections 1, 6 and 7, of chapter 237 of the Public Acts of 1925.

In cases where bridges are between two or more towns the law empowers the state to assess the cost of the additional width and sidewalk work upon each town in proportion. If sidewalks and additional width are desired, such additional width and sidewalks are desired, such additional width and sidewalks must be requested by both towns.

Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald has advertised for bids for the building of the bridge here. The specifications call for a 70-foot span of reinforced concrete.

Phillip Zaitas, proprietor of the Public Market, leaves today (Friday) from Boston with a party of wholesale meat men from that city for an automobile trip of a week to ten days, through Vermont.

George Lewis, Jr., manager of the shoe department of the Bugbee & Wulf store, is on a vacation which he is spending in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Brosseau and son, Raymond, are on a two weeks' motor trip through Maine.

The friends of Edward Farrell are pleased to learn that he has returned to his home in Pomfret from St. Vincent's hospital, Worcester, where he had an operation for appendicitis.

Henry Lyon, manager of the local telephone exchange, with Mrs. [illegible] and their children, Marion and Robert, left Thursday, for two weeks' vacation. They will motor through Connecticut, stopping at many places and visiting friends.

At Camp Woodstock, the new infirmary building was dedicated to the memory of Thomas Sloan, of Manchester. He was at the camp for three successive years and was one of the most popular boys there. He died last summer. E. T. Thienes, of Hartford Y. M. C. A., paid a tribute to the boy and there was a vocal solo by Kenneth Garber, of Hartford, as part of the exercises, which were attended by all the 150 boys in camp.

Mrs. Abbie Gilmore, of this city, mother of Mrs. Eugene and Mrs. George E. Brosseau, was slightly injured in an automolile accident in New Hampshire and one of the passengers, Horace O. Matthews, of Concord, N. H., was killed. Mrs. Gilmore and Mr. Matthews had been friends from their school days and she was making her annual visit to his family. Mr. Matthews, who was 75, his daughter Helen and Mrs. Gilmore had gone for an automobile ride in a car driven by Oliver C. Toppan, also of Concord.

Near London, N. H., the car collided with one driven by Phillip M. Badger, of Pittsfield. The one in which Mrs. Gilmore was riding turned over. Mr. Matthews' head was crushed and he died instantly. The two women sustained slight cuts and bruises. Mrs. Gilmore has been a resident of Putnam for many years and friends and relatives here are relieved to know that her injuries are not serious.

Putnam Grange has been invited to Neighbors' Night at Canterbury Grange, next Wednesday, August 5. This will be the first time that Putnam has ever visited Canterbury and the officers of the local lodge are desirous of having a good representation. There will be no meeting before that date.

TOWN AND CITY COLLECTORS MAY JAIL DELINQUENTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 30.—The town tax collector of Putnam and the city tax collector of Putnam have each ordered 1,000 blank warrants to be used if and when necessary, to enforce the collection of taxes.

A very stringent law regarding tax collections was passed by the last general assembly. It authorizes town and city tax collectors to deputize sheriffs or constables to levy on the personal property of any delinquent tax payer and to sell as much of that property as is necessary to pay the tax and the added costs.

If there is no personal property, the officer is authorized to levy on any real property that the delinquent owns and sell as much of that as may be necessary to satisfy the taxes and costs.

If there is no personal or real property the officer is authorized to take the body of the delinquent tax payer and to safely keep it until the taxes and costs are satisfied."

Which means that anyone who has not paid his or her taxes may be arrested and taken to Brooklyn jail without hearing and kept there until the taxes and the costs are paid.

The tax collectors are sworn to enforce the laws.

Any person who has not paid the city tax on or before August 8 is liable under the above law. Anyone who has not paid the town tax is liable now.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Mother—Your face is very clean, but where did you get such dirty hands?

Little Boy—Washing my face.—Exchange.

Postman—Bad luck, Mr. Doolan? Here's a black-edged letter for you.

Doolan—It's me poor brother died. I'd know his handwriting anywhere.—Washington Star.

Slick—How do you get so many girls?

Slicker—Oh, I just sprinkle a little gasoline on my handkerchief.—Punch Bowl.

Wife—John, what is an imposing stone?

Hub—Why, I should say the Kohinoor diamond is, my dear.—New Haven Register.

Doctor—Your master is decidedly better, Thompson, but very irritable. He mustn't be thwarted.

The Butler—He expressed a wish to wring my neck, sir.

Well-ah-humor him. — Answers, London.

Sam (viewing monkey in cage)—It's apparent to me—

Wilma—Oh, really, I didn't know that the relationship was so close.—Toronto Gazette.

Jack—Take my advice and mind your own affairs. No man ever got much fighting other people's battles.

Jill—I don't know. How about a lawyer?—Kansas City Star.

Mrs. A—How did your husband get over his illness so quickly?

Mrs. B—I threatened to send for mother to take care of him.—Exchange.

Father—My son, it hurts me more than it does you to do this.

Recipient of whipping—Then don't stop, pa.—Boston Transcript.

Have you improved your riding lately?

On the contrary, I would say that I've fallen off quite a bit.—Hamilton Tiger Royal Gaboon.

Jean Doyen, a blind pianist, won the Prix d'Europe in the annual competition held at the Quebec Academy of Music. The Prix d'Europe carries a purse of $3,000 and was founded by the Quebec government in 1920. It entitles the winner to study in Europe.

W. Moose, Jr., of Sanbornton, N. H., captured a young fox, about the middle of August. He took him home and kept him in the house with a tame cat. The newcomer seemed quite contented. But the fox's mother soon found, sensing that her pup was in the house, she set up an awful howling under one of the windows and was not fully satisfied when the pup was put at the window and the two scampered off together.

Two girls on the Glacier National Park reservation bob their hair just like pale face city misses. They have dyed, too, of a hue that blends with their copper-colored complexion. The wrinkled old squaws make it from herbs which they gath on the wooded slopes of the Rocky Mountains. But in the west these Indian maidens take for granted that the white girls got the idea of cheek bobbing from the American Indian, just as the Indian girls took the bobbing habit from their pale faces.

The marvelous boy's gastronomic capacity was revealed to the Berkeley police. He confessed the theft and in explanation of several thefts with which he was stricken he said this meant for a single meal he needed to spend in a restaurant: Appetite, a hot dog, hamburger sandwich, soda pop, a dill pickle, potato chips, bananas, two ice cream cones, a sack of peanuts, a whole mince pie, root beer, a chocolate sundae, three cream puffs, one butter horn and assorted candies. A picture show and the purchase of these items accounted for the dime of 52 which he spent.

WESTERLY

A life saving campaign in Westerly, which will include free swimming instruction all during the month of August, will be launched next week. The campaign is under the auspices of the Westerly chapter of the American Red Cross and has the sanction and backing of such well known Westerly Red Cross sponsors as James M. Pendleton and Arthur M. Cottrell.

Monday and Tuesday of next week, those seeking instruction in the art of swimming are to register at the rooms of the Westerly branch of the Red Cross, on High street, with Miss Lucy M. Crowley, executive secretary. This is the first time since the World War that the attempt has been made to awaken interest for proficiency in this most seasonable of out door recreations and accomplishment in which may prove of inestimable value. At a time of the year when drownings are reported from carelessness, mishaps and lack of knowledge requisite to meet emergencies, this offer of assistance should be generally taken advantage of by old and young alike. A Red Cross Life Saving Instructor, properly qualified, has ben chosen to give the free lessons in at least two different sections of the town of Westerly. One location selected is at Weekapaugh cove in Brightman's pond where there is an absence of surf and is located near the roadway leading from the shore road to Weekapaug. Nearer Westerly it is hoped to secure a site near Thompson's cove, in the Pawcatuck river, where there is an absence of current.

Stephen Wesley Macomber, of Westerly, is associated with the Society of Mystic Artists which opens its annual art exhibition in Mystic next week. A departure from the custom of previous years is made in that only the paintings and sculpture of the Mystic group of artists will be on exhibition, for the works of New York artists, who have been invieted previously, will not appear this year.

Westerly friends learned with regret of the death of Miss Rosemary Carney, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Carney and the late John J. Carney, Wednesday at her home on Spring street. Although she had not been in the best of health for some time, her death came as a great shock to her family and friends. Miss Carney was employed for a number of years in the office of the Westerly Light & Power Co. She was an accomplished musician and for several years was organist at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Carney, a brother, John J. Carney of Waterbury, Conn., and three sisters, Miss Doris A. Carney of Westerly, Mrs. James King of Providence, and Mrs. Raymond H. Sullivan, of New Britain, Conn.

Visitors from Norwich at beach hotels during the past week have been Miss Mabel Mitchell and Miss Edith Young at the Weekapaug Inn; at Pleasant View, Kathleen Donnelly, Louis Krauss, Wilhelmine Krauss and Irene Donnelly at the Atlantic View Inn and at Watch Hill, R. C. Jones and party at the Ocean House and Miss Marjorie R. Morry and Mrs. Oliver L. Johnson at the Hotel Plimpton.

The sixth in the summer series of band concerts in Wilcox park by the Westerly Band, Charles O. Gavitt, director, was largely attended Thursday night, when weather conditions were ideal. The following program was rendered:

Filed for record in the office of the Westerly town clerk, are the following transfers:

July 25. Emma F. Crandall to John A. Ojola et ux, two tracts of land, the first with buildings and improvements on the north side of the Potter Hill road; the second, a lot of land situated on the south side of the Potter Hill road.

July 27. James L. Slark to Alexander De Fanti a certain lot or parcel of land with dwelling house and other improvements on the extension of Hobart street, Lot No. 49.

July 28. Robert W. Perkins as ancillary receiver of the Shore Line Electric Railway company to the Town of Westerly, a tract of land off Beach street.

July 29. Frank H. Crandall and wife Alice A. Crandall, to George A. Dolan lot or parcel of land with dwelling and other improvements on the east side of Franklin street.

ZONING BOARD ACTS UPON VARIOUS APPLICATIONS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WESTERLY, R. I., July 30.—On Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the council chambers of the Westerly town hall, the Westerly zoning board, Frank A. Sullivan, Charles L. Fontana and D. Harold Rogers, meeting as a possible board of modification, considered the application for two special building permits:

Edwin M. Greene, at the northeast corner of the Post road and Weekapaug road, at Dunn's Corners, in a business section, for permission to erect an addition to existing gasoline filling station. Mr. Greene appeared in person and explained that the desired addition was to be in the rear of the present structure and the width of the present main building, making it 65 feet from the center of the Post road. The zoning board voted a modification.

LeRoy Pellett, on lands of Grace G. Thompson, on the Potter Hill road, in a Residential B. district, for permission to erect a commercial billboard and advertising sign. The zoning board voted on the motion of D. Harold Rogers, seconded by Charles Fontana that the petitioner be given leave to withdraw his application for a 5x8 board on Potter Hill road.

S. H. Davis, representing Eric Hill, whose application for a gas filling station came up at the board meeting held July 6 on the new Hopkinton road, sought favorable action. Later the board took no action as they considered the petition not properly filed.

Charles A. Rathbun for a filling station on the Post road was voted an approval for a pump to be located at least 40 feet from the center of the highway and 400 feet west from the Tom Harvey road, so-called.

On the location of an arm bracket for a gas filling station on Railroad avenue for Carl Crandall, the board decided that it had no jurisdiction.

Alexander Greig, who appeared relative to a former application to erect a two-family house at Melrose Heights, was asked to await the action of the Westerly town council in changing the plats on next Monday.

Frank A. Sullivan was elected chairman of the meeting.

GALES FERRY

The annual Community picnic in which the summer visitors in Gales Ferry, unite with the residents of the place for the benefit of the Methodist Episcopal church, was held on the grounds of Noyes E. Allyn, Tuesday with a large attendance. Nelson Parker was general chairman of the various committees. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock, Rev. George Smith Brown saying grace. The menu was round clam chowder, ham sandwiches, pickles, lemon meringue pie, cake and coffee. Cortland E. Colver was chairman of the after-dinner speaking and the address of welcome was given by Rev. Mr. Brown. Mr. Colver presented George T. Meech, of Middletown, who has attended these annual picnics for some years. Mr. Meech in early manhood, was a resident of Gales Ferry and addressed his "dear Gales Ferry friends" facetiously. The district superintendent, Rev. Myron E. Genter, of Norwich, spoke of the benefit of taking a day off for play time and on community cooperative spirit.

Rev. W. D. Woodward, of Staffordville, pastor of this church last year, was the next speaker, followed by Rev. George H. Wright, of Sterling, another former pastor, who told of his love and admiration for Gales Ferry people. Rev. Allen S. Bush, vice president of the Village Improvement association, followed.

The chairman then presented Gladys Russell, of Jersey City, who has spent several summers at Brown's Crossing, and is a talented young reader. She gave My Name Is Tommy, and for an encore, Like Mother Used To Make. Rev. Mr. Brown invited everyone present to drop three cents in the permanent fund box, of which Mr. Allyn is the promoter. This when counted totaled eleven dollars.

In conclusion Mr. Parker announced the sale of ice cream and lemonade on the grounds. These athletic events followed under the direction of Walter T. Clark; 75 yd. dash, girls under 12, won by Nancy Patcher, prize, three handkerchiefs; 100 yd. dash, girls over 12, Gladys Russell, prize, three handkerchiefs; 100 yd. dash, boys all ages, Niles McLeer, prize, Scout knife; relay race for boys, K. Ranger, Alfred Sears, L. Bally, K. McLear, prizes, ice cream to each; spoon and egg race, girls, Gladys Russell, prize, egg beater; sack race, boys, Alfred Sears, prize, fish pole; sack race, girls, Nancy Pitcher, prize, candy; potato race, boys, Gordon Manierre, prize, book; obstacle race, boys, Paul Miller, prize, Scout knife; shoe scramble, girls, Nancy Pitcher, prize, writing paper, boys, pencil. The day was beautiful and the picnic was much enjoyed by about three hundred. Parties motored here from Norwich, Middletown Groton, Uncasville and Ledyard.

WOULD REPEAT ATTEMPT TO REACH NORTH POLE BY AIR

HALIFAX, N. S., July 30.—(AP)—Every member of Captain Roald Amundsen's recent polar flight expedition is looking to another attempt to reach the north pole by air, said Lincoln Ellsworth, American member of the expedition, on his arrival here today from Oslo aboard the steamer Frederick VIII. He said he did not believe that Captain Amundsen had made any definite plans to attempt another flight to the pole, but he said he felt certain that the Norwegian would continue his work.

The next flight, Ellsworth believed, would be made in a lighter-than-air ship, the last expedition having proved that a plane capable of sustained flight is needed.

The American brought with him pictures of the Amundsen planes caught in the ice jams which held them prisoners for a month. He said from observations the expedition made he was convinced that the pole is covered by a sea of ice, with no land in the immediate vicinity.

The floes drift slowly over the pole, he believed. In the month their planes were ice bound, Mr. Ellsworth said, they drifted some 20 miles, before a shift of wind sent them floating back twelve.

"Are you going back?" Mr. Ellsworth was asked.

"I hope to," he replied. "I would rather be going there now than to New York.

"PROPAGANDA" ASSOCIATIONS SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX

WASHINGTON, July 30.—(AP)—Associations formed to disseminate controversial or partisan propaganda have been held by the treasury to be subject to the income tax law.

Announcement of the ruling was made today in the form of an amendment to the income tax regulations and represented a conclusion over which legal experts have argued for several months.

The ruling, which applies to religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational organization and community chests, set out that exemptions from income taxes will be granted to an organization if formed and operated exclusively for one or more of the specified purposes, and, further, if its net income does not inure in whole or part to the benefit of private shareholders or individuals.

NEW LONDON CLERKS DISTURBED--RUMORED SATURDAY EVENING OPENING

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 30—Clerks in the stores of this city are anxious to learn whether they will hereafter be compelled to work Saturday evenings, for the advent of department stores here has created a condition that may induce the merchants to reinaugurate a system of hours that prevailed in other years. If the department stores are to do business Saturday evenings, the other merchants are likely to fall in line with the policy of a greater number of business hours. It is hinted that some merchants, while professing that they do not want the longer hours, are really hopeful that the plan to keep open shop during the evenings will be adopted. But public opinion is to be sought in the matter and a canvass will be made by a committee of women to ascertain the pulse of the people. There is no doubt as to what the canvass will disclose, for opinion is quite genral that the stores are open hours enough daily now to meet all demands made upon them.

St. James Episcopal parish will realize a good sum from a block party held in Federal street yesterday afternoon and evening. Entrance to the block was charged for and there were grabbags and refreshments to extract dollars from the pockets of attendants.

The fire in the Burckle building on Bank street yesterday caused so little damage that the place is in use today. The store front was a sheet of flame when the firemen reached the place, but the fire was of gasoline and was quickly subdued.

William Green concluded a spree that has occupied him since of late, when he was presented in the police court this morning for he was sent to jail to stay ten days and to work out the costs of his prosecution. Green started the week by arrest for intoxication. He was shown leniency then, on the representation that he was on the way to Fishers Island to do work. He didn't leave the city however, for he was found drunk and disorderly at the railway station last evening, threatening to cut the railroad officers who took him into custody. Green said he met a "friend" on the Fishers Island steamer wharf, and that they renewed acquaintances through the bottle.

John R. McLean, at least that was the name he gave, was also sent to jail to stay ten days for intoxication. He claimed to be a lighthouse attendant and to be on a drunk he could not break away from. Judge Prince considered jail the proper place for him to stay a while.

Michael O'Neill, when he was arrested and arraigned in court on the 21st inst. represented that he wanted to go to jail, but the court deemed that there was a chance for him to abstain from liquor and go to work. That opinion was an erroneous one for he was back in court today. His desire to go to jail was satisfied for he was imprisoned for ten days.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operators' licenses of Joseph Leitkowsky, 78 New street, and Joseph Silosky, 120 North Bank street, to be suspended, the men recently having been in charge of automobiles that figured in collisions. The commissioner also caused the operators' licenses of Edmund Hidsey, 31 Alger place; Michael Narsa, 5 Elizabeth street, and J. E. Jackson, 12 Richards street, to be returned to the respective owners.

The funeral of Myron T. Ames took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence of his sister, Mrs. C. E. Reynolds, Station 16, Waterford, the services being conducted by Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of the Jordan Baptist church. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

John P. Sullivan, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sullivan, died this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. A. G. Keeney, 672 Main street. Mr. Sullivan had been ill a long time from lung trouble and at one time was under treatment at Norwich State sanatorium, below Thamesville. Besides his parents, Mr. Sullivan is survived by two sisters, Misses Margaret and Cecelia Sullivan, both of this city.

Mariana Muscarella and Paolina Inserario have sold to Augusta Santini a house and lot on Shaw street.

John Salavani has sold a house and lot on Summer street to Joseph Peroni.

Mrs. Ella Richardson, of 89 Garfield avenue; Charles Barrato, United States Coast Guard destroyer Roe; Michael Day, 29 Cottage street; Miss Geraldine McIntosh, 283 Huntington street, Frank Bartlett, United States Coast Guard destroyer Fanning; Miss Hannah Miner, 10 Reynolds Hill, Mystic and Fred Carling of Niantic, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were discharged today.

The New London County club, which was recently incorporated, late yesterday obtained an option on the farm property of John Burns in Waterford. The farm includes a large house and smaller buildings, together with land of approximately 100 acres.

The automobile owned and driven by Jessie E. Burvett, 3 Clement street, and a machine owned and driven by Max Abramson, 521 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., were in collision this afternoon, corner of Blackhall and Truman streets. Both machines were damaged.

Bernard Livingston, residing at the Hotel Mohican and employed as manager of a State street store, was robbed this afternoon, for while Livingston exercised by bowling at a Golden street establishment, his coat containing his watch and shell-rimmed glasses, were stolen from a wall hanger.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and daughter have returned from Minnesota where they spent three weeks with the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who went to that state upon her marriage, something more than a year ago.

While the streets of the city are congested with traffic some of the automobile dealers are making a market place of the highways where they leave their cars parked day after day, with placards on them announcing the price at which the cars are for sale. This is a new use to put the streets to, at a time when there is not space on the highways to accommodate traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Chappell, Federal street, are spending a few days in New York.

The automobile owned and driven by Otis M. Daniels, of Waterford, struck and killed a dog, the owner of which was not learned late this afternoon, corner of Broad street and Connecticut avenue.

Miss Margaret C. Kane, of 75 West Pit street, has lodged several complaints with the police within the past few weeks because of the alleged acts of boys residing in the neighborhood of the Kane residence. Miss Kane has complained that boys damage her property and cause her unlimited annoyance. This evening, Miss Kane, having returned home from an automobile trip, she discovered that her premises had been visited during her absence and that a grape arbor had been stripped of practically all of the fruit, most of which had not ripened. Miss Kane now insists that her annoyance by the youths be brought to an end.

Chief Redwing, who with his wife have been residing for some time in a tent at Black Point, where they make and sell novelties to summer residents of Black Point, Crescent Beach and Niantic, was before Justice of the Peace Marion R. Davis at East Lyme this afternoon. The hearing followed Redwing's arrest last night by State Police Officer Joseph J. Bobnick, charged with breach of the peace and upon complaint of the chief's wife. Redwing was not penalized, but was allowed to return to his tent with a caution as to his future conduct. Redwing's conduct, however, was not such as was suggested by the court that he adopt, for this evening his wife appeared at the police station and declared that Redwing had driven her from the tent and ordered her to stay away from him in the future. The chief's wife is in a delicate condition and she was advised to return to the Black Point tent and to complain to the East Lyme authorities if her husband molested her.

WILLIE WAHR AND PALS HELD FOR U. S. DIST. COURT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 30—Willie Wahr, alias Willie War, 205 Main stret, with Lee Fai, Golden street, formerly of Jewett City; Lee Dick, State street, and Yen Ling, Golden street, Chinese wak arrested by narcotic agents and civil officers last night at Wahr's residence, charged with violation of the narcotic act. A quantity of opium and smoking outfits were seized. The four were arraigned before United States Commissioner Ruseln T. Corcoran at the customs house, late this afternoon. They were held for trial at the next term of the United States district court at New Haven and were taken to that city by deputy United States marshals to await trial.

With the arrest of the Chinamen, it developed that the federal government has caused a narcotic agent to be located in New London because of frequent complaints the narcotic division receives concerning the handling of opium in this city for distribution. The agent is C. F. Robbins, formerly located at Providence.

Lewis H. Jones and Miss Carrie Beebe were married by Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth Wednesday evening. The bride has been for many years a clerk in the Hislop store, and the groom has been janitor of the Harris building, lately purchased by Dr. Hugh F. Lena, almost since the building was erected, indeed the late J. N. Harris secured his services and would never part with him. Mr. Jones in the early years of Osprey Beach operated the steamer Niantic between this city and the beach. He had the vessel built and he operated the craft himself. Recently he resigned as janitor of the Harris building with the intention of marrying and settling down on his farm in Salem, where he and his bride have gone to make their home. Mr. Jones has been for many years a member of Nameaug Engine company.

SLEEPY MAIN ST. RESIDENTS LET A THIEF ESCAPE

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 30—One of the boldest attempts at burglary in this city in many years occurred early this morning when a thief, and a sailor, endeavored to crack the safe in the floral establishment of James Turner, 75 Main street, with a police officer less than a half-block away while the burglary was being attempted. Residents of the building, who had observed the sailor enter the building and who also heard him at work on the safe were afraid to leave the house and summon the police officer.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the residents of the building noticed the sailor enter the yard of the store from John street, the crook finding his way to a cellar entrance by means of a flashlight. After entering the cellar the thief went to the cellar of an adjoining store where he secured an axe and then going up the steps leading to a hatchway in the flower store, he entered the main building and attacked the combination of the safe by battering it with the axe. The sound of the axe crashing against the safe door was heard by the occupants of the upper part of the building who could see the officer standing on the corner but a few yards away. Instead of leaving the building and inform the officer of the attempted burglary the occupants of the building allowed the thief to continue work until he tired of his job without forcing entrance to the safe, and then left the building. Even then the witnesses of the act of the thief did not inform the police and it was not until 8 o'clock this forenoon, when the store was opened for business, that the police were informed of the attempted break.

EX-SERVICE MAN FOUND IN ROAD BY BUS DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 30—Edward O'Mara, 20 Park street, West Hartford, is under treatment at Lawrence-Memorial hospital tonight as a result of O'Mara having been found in the highway on the Hartford turnpike this afternoon by the operator of one of the Hartford busses. O'Mara was without coat, hat, collar or necktie and appeared to be suffering from bodily injury. The man was brought to New London and taken in charge by the police, but because of the man having been drinking, it could not be determined by City Physician George P. Cheney whether O'Mara's condition was serious.

At the hospital tonight it was stated that O'Mara had improved greatly since he was admitted to the institution and that his injuries consisted principally of abrasions. The state police, of Groton barracks, were notified of the finding of O'Mara in the highway in that section of Waterford familiarly known as "Horse Pond," and are conducting an investigation to determine whether O'Mara was assaulted.

O'Mara is a veretan of the World War and was operated upon recently at a Hartford hospital.

The Misses Natalie and Regina Kosinski, of 38 Vernon street, Hartford, well known pianists, are spending a vacation in New London, with friends.

NORWICH BANK'S MORTGAGE $75,000 ON MARSH BLDG.

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 30—The deed transferring title in the Marsh building, 52-56 State street from Daniel S. Marsh Sr., Daniel S. Marsh Jr., and Miss Cora S. Marsh to the Alling Rubber company, was received for record at the office of the city clerk this afternoon. The price paid for the building was $134,000, of which amount the Dime Savings bank, Norwich, holds a mortgage for $75,000.

INSTITUTE OF POLITICS HEARS LECTURE IN POLAND

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., July 30—(AP)—The picture of a Poland menaced from without by nationalism and communism and turning to democratic America for her sole hope of salvation is presented by Count Alexander Skrzynski, Polish foreign minister, in a lecture before the institute of politics here tonight. The speaker said that war shattered Europe stood at the parting of the ways and that "upon the remote horizon of human vision has appeared the image of a United States of Europe, the Americanization of Europe in its fullest and noblest sense."

"In Europe today two theories stand face to face—nationalism and communism," Count Skrzynski said. "Nationalism in its extreme form says: 'Create and build the state upon the rivalries of collective national egotisms.' Communism on the other hand proclaims salvation in the ultimate consequence of social contrasts. It expounds the principle of class war, by far the most calamitous dogma that ever darkened human minds.

"At the end of both these roads stands the specter of almost inconceivable ruin, of inevitable extermination. If Europe continues to follow the path of nationalism it will be led sooner or later to a war in comparison with which that recently past will seem child's play. If it should throw itself in the opposite direction, along the line of the cold dialects of social contrasts, it will reach a state in the face of which the present condition of Russia will be but a faint image."

Count Skrzynski defined what he termed the "pax American" (American peace) as resulting finally in international brotherhood and the obliteration of hatred. He portrayed bolshevism as an unprecedented despositism.

FLAGSHIP PEARY TO ATTEMPT SHORT WAVE BROADCASTING

CHICAGO, June 30.—(AP)—The flagship Peary of the MacMillan Arctic expedition will attempt short wave broadcasting of the human voice from beyond the Arctic circle for the first time Saturday morning.

The following message was received today from Commander E. S. McDonald, second in command of the expedition, and released by the Zenith Radio Corporation:

"We will make first official test of broadcasting the voice and music on forty meters from inside the Arctic Circle on Saturday morning August 1.

"At 1 p. m. (Central Standard Time) Commander McMillan will give a talk, our orchestra trio and ensemble chorus will render various selections. We will also have Eskimos sing.

"Will you kindly publish permission to all amateurs to publish what they hear on this broadcast."

RULING ON IMMIGRANTS FROM BRITISH ISLES

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP)—Immigrants from Great Britain and the Irish Free State arriving in third-class cabins at the port of New York will be permitted to disembark at the piers instead of proceeding to Ellis Island for examination, providing they have been examined by the United States immigration inspectors and health doctors newly stationed at points of embarkation, it was announced today.

Inspectors and doctors assumed their duties July 20 at London, Southampton, Glasgow, Cork, Dublin, Cork and Belfast, for an experimental period of three months to test the plan to examine aliens at the port of embarkation, so that fewer immigrants will be turned away when they come to America.

FIXING FENCES AGAINST SMUGGLING FROM CANADA

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP)—Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury today began repairing the fences against smugglers along the northern border of the United States, as a first step he authorized the appointment of more than one hundred additional customs inspectors to be assigned between the Atlantic seaboard and the western line of North Dakota.

Convinced that the federal government is losing from ten to fifteen million dollars annually in revenue as a result of customs evasion, the assistant secretary has set about the development of a program with which he hopes to combat the smugglers of merchandise, livestock, dairy and other farm products as well as liquor, narcotics and aliens. Orders authorizing the increases in personnel went out tonight and many of the men will be put to work before Monday.

TRAINS DELAYED BY BREAK OF HIGH TENSION WIRE

NEW CANAAN, Conn., July 30—(AP)—A high tension wire in the energized zone of the New Canaan branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, between Glenbrook and Springdale broke at 5 a. m., and until 9 trains were held up, including the one which carries New York business men from their summer homes to New York and which is called "The Millionaire's Special." Busses were used to transfer passengers to the Stamford station and also to move the mails.

EXPLOSION IN REMINGTON PLANT AT BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, July 30—(AP)—In an explosion at the Remington Arms, U. M. C. plant on Barnum avenue today, a machinist was injured when two loading machines blew up. There were 100 employes in the room at the time, but all but one escaped injury. The explosion, or flare-up, occurred when Peter Leon was operating one of the loading machines. He was taken to the plant hospital for treatment for burns, which are not believed serious. The cause of the explosion has not been determined.

TROUBLE WITH NEW WATER MAIN AT NEW CANAAN

NEW CANAAN, Conn., July 30—(AP)—A new automatic water main cleaner just bought by the town was put into use yesterday and at once brought about trouble. The device was attached to fire hose and pushed through the main. Three hundred feet of the hose got jammed in the main and could not be pulled out.

ARKANSAS TOWN SETS EXAMPLE IN PUBLIC SPIRIT

(Written Specially for the Bulletin)

"All talk about altruistic service to the public is bunk. The only time the public gets the best service is when the best service pays the biggest profits."—

I scissored the above bit of wisdom (?) from the pages of a New York city daily, recently. It was rather interesting to me as containing in a few words and with almost brutal frankness the whole New York city philosophy of life. Most New Yorkers, while acting on that principle, attempt to hide their obliquity behind some sort of mask. But this "smart Aleck" spoke right out in meetin'. He declined to be both hog and hypocrite at the same time.

Having read his confession as to the true inwardness of the big city, I couldn't help asking myself if in this respect it was a fair gauge of American sentiment and purpose, as a whole. Since then I've been looking out for hints from Maine and Texas and Oregon and Florida and other widely separated American communities, which might suggest how they stand on this matter of public service.

I think I've got one answer in the story of some recent goings-on in the strictly rural but "100 per cent American" town of Snowball, Arkansas.

Never heard of Snowball, Ark., before? Well, brother, neither did I till I read the tale of its road-making stunt in The Kansas City Star. Now that I do know that much about it, I feel like appealing from the New York city colyumist's cynicism to the bigger, higher, nobler Americanism of that remote Ozark township.

These are the facts in brief about Snowball, Ark., and its new highway system:—

To begin with it is a mountain town, lying in the lap of the Ozarks and rimmed in by high, often precipitous ranges. Its roads have been little more than cattle-trails, occasionally widened out to permit timber hauling. Moreover, they have been extremely crooked. In some cases a journey to a point ten miles away as the crow flies, has involved fifty miles of round-about squirmings and zigzaggings. Even the best road of all, that in the county-seat, was always difficult and often impossible for a motor-car, in times of high water, especially. Snowball was as shut in as was Noah's ark before it grounded on Mount Ararat.

Well, a couple of years ago the Snowball people got thoroughly tired of this isolation. They wanted the sort of good roads other communities were having. But how were they going to get such roads?

Other towns had obtained theirs by the fashionable modern expedient of issuing bonds to pay the bills. But the Snowballers of that Ozark hill town couldn't see either the wisdom or the economy of paying for the roads they wanted twice over,—once in money down and again in interest on that borrowed money. The roads were going to cost enough, goodness knew. Why double that cost?

It wouldn't be fair to invoke the old road district plan because that would bankrupt the districts in the mountain passes while hardly burdening those on the level lands. State or county aid would come too slow. Town taxation couldn't possibly do the job and pay cash down.

But the Snowball people wanted as good roads as any of their neighbors, and proposed to have them. Their pride in and loyalty to their home town demanded as much. So, being pretty nearly all real Americans in blood and spirit, and not the drainings and sweepings of European lazarets and ghettos, they fell back on their public spirit,—the willingness of the community to do public service not only without profit but at considerable private cost.

They unanimously decided to go ahead and build their roads entirely by free-will contributions of money and work, without any enforced taxation whatever.

And they've done it. That is, they've already built fifteen miles in that way "the equal of any highways in the section," and are going right on with the rest, pitching into a new road as soon as an old one is completed.

Some of the merchants and lumber-men gave money. Then free labor was called for. A town-meeting was held and the community responded, en masse. Rights of way were given wherever desired; fences moved; timber cut down. One farmer gave forty-five days of work; others were almost as generous. The hired man turned in their "days off" and the women-folks cheered on the work and incidentally, furnished a goodly amount of coffee and cakes to brace up as well as cheer up the workers.

A good part of the road-making was through a rough and heavily timbered country, involving not only new lay-outs but tremendous difficulties in clearing away timber and rocks and making grades. But it has all been done, thus far, without any resort to public funds in any way except for an occasional use of the grading-machine belonging to the county, and loaned by it. Not a cent has been raised by tax, not a cent has been asked from state or county; not a cent of debt has been incurred; no interest-burden has been laid on the town. There are the roads—fifteen miles of them, already, and the very men who have contributed largest of money and labor to build them say that they have only just begun. They are going to keep it up along that same line till all the town's highways are improved for all-the-year-round use.

While other towns, not only in Arkansas but in forty-seven other states are demanding either federal or state or county aid to build their roads, and are voting hundreds of millions of bonds whereon to borrow the money to build them, Snowball is building her own, without present or future taxation, and in the spirit of public service for the public good.

I ask you, when you are told by some "smart Aleck" of the New York city press that "all talk about altruistic public service is bunk," to turn your eyes Arkansas way. It is very likely true that, in New York city, "the public gets the best service only when the best service pays the biggest profits." One might naturally expect the gobbling of personal profit to be the highest motive recognizable by a population on which year after year indorses and approves the combination of graft, nepotism and corruption which characterizes Tammany rule. But Snowball, Ark., is a different town.

The question which it seems as if we might all consider with some advantage is, Which do we,—you and I,—consider the more honorable, the more truly American, the spirit of New York as voiced by the paragrapher quoted, or the spirit of Snowball, Ark.?

In the one community the best public service is expected only when it yields some greater the biggest personal profits.

In the other community all hands, rich and poor, old and young, men and women, fundamentalists and modernists, unite in giving public service not only without any profit but at sacrificial cost.

Of course, the residents of Snowball will get some future comfort and convenience out of their new good roads. But the business man who contributed $3,000 or the farmer who volunteered forty-five days' free work won't get any higher percentage than the day laborer who gave up his holiday to work twelve hours for nothing digging out rocks or shovelling dirt, or the thrifty housewife who sent out a steaming boiler of coffee and a pan-ful of hot doughnuts.

Those Arkansas farmers—I suppose they would be considered if not called "country tubes" in Manhattan,—gave freely of their money, their time and their labor for the public service. Thereby they did three fine things:—

1. They got for themselves and for all who travel through their beautiful country a system of good roads.

2. They saved their town all necessity of increasing taxation,—already too high, and of paying interest on bonded debts.

3. They demonstrated that public spirit which is ready and eager to do public service without thought of profit is not yet dead in America.—New York city preaching and practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

Just between you and the fencepost, which community spirit do you admire the most, that of New York city or that of Snowball, Ark.? Which do you honestly think sets the example most desirable to follow? Which do you respect the most, down deep in your heart?

Of course there is but one answer to those questions. Every decent man's hand goes up for Snowball, every time. As a cold matter of fact, scores and scores of us have thought of that very thing many times and have feebly wished that it was practicable, but always dismissed it as a pipe-dream, beautiful to look at but impossible to put into execution.

The little town of Snowball has shown that it is not impossible, that, instead, it is perfectly possible and perfectly practical and mighty successful.

Of course the sidewalk committee won't be moved by it. Also of course the disciples of the Easy Snap will sneer at it. Equally of course the "hard-headed" devotees of "business," whose only idea of life is adding cent per cent. to their own profits, will give it not even a second thought.

But we have it on high authority that a little leaven sometimes leaveneth the whole lump.

D'ye s'pose there's any chance of that happening in this case?

It is manifestly evident that public spirit is not dead in the hill country of the Ozarks. How about the hill towns and the fertile river bottoms of New England? Are there still any sparks remaining in their ashes?

THE FARMER

For women who cannot decide

THE Maytag Gyrafoam washing principle is so far ahead of any other washing principle that you would not believe it possible. So we suggest you disregard all claims—and do this one thing:

Test the Maytag in your own home, in your own way, in comparison with any or all other washers. If it does not sell itself to you "heart and soul" do not keep it.

More housewives buy Maytags than any other washer—and they buy them because the Maytag sells itself to them right in their own homes.

Call us and we will bring a Maytag Gyrafoam Washer to your home to do a wash for you—where you may test it for yourself in your own way, on your own wash. There is no obligation whatever.

9 Outstanding Maytag Features

1 Washes faster.
2 Washes cleaner.
3 Largest hourly capacity in the world.
4 Most compact washer made—takes floor space only 25 inches square.

COMMON HOUSEHOLD MEDICINES

Otherwise known as "simples" have for centuries been derived from medicinal roots and herbs. They are still used and recognized by many of our best physicians as unequalled for certain ailments. In many countries roots and herbs are cultivated purely for commercial purposes. It is said that the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is the greatest user of crude herbs in this country. The success of their Vegetable Compound for ailments of women is now world-wide, and it will certainly pay any woman who suffers from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try it.

LAND WEALTH OF FARMERS IN DANZIG SHOWN BY PILLARS

NEUTEICH, July 30—The tax collector in the Free City of Danzig does not have much trouble determining how large are the farms in the district under his jurisdiction. Since time immemorial there has obtained the custom of indicating one's wealth in land by the number of pillars on his porch. Every pillar stands for one "huf" or "hoof" an old German designation which is equivalent to 20 acres.

The largest sinking fund in the world is represented by the money lost in the sea.

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED.

NEW YORK, July 30.—(A. P.)—Mixed price movements in today's stock market reflected the play of opposing speculative forces. Professional selling and profit taking, apparently inspired by the belief that a further downward revision of prices was necessary in order to correct the weakened technical position resulting from the recent sustained advance, carried many issues below last night's closing quotations but, with few exceptions, the net losses were relatively small.

Operators for the rise were again active in many parts of the list. Ward Baking "B" was pushed up to a new top at 73 7-8 on a revival of merger rumors. Loew's, Inc., was active around its recent record high in anticipation of the annual dividend being increased from $2 to $3. A Spicer Manufacturing was taken in large blocks and crossed 30 to a new maximum figure for the year. Other issues to attain new peak prices were Brown Shoe, Fisher Body, Emerson Brantingham common and preferred and Mack Trucks 2dn preferred.

Publication of an unofficial estimate that brokers' loans now amounted to $2,100,000,000 or about the peak reached last March, did not cause any appreciable liquidation of stocks, the lowering of the call money rate in the late afternoon, despite the usual heavy week end withdrawals of currency from the Federal Reserve bank, was generally accepted as an indication that there was no immediate strain on the credit situation.

Another reduction in crude oil output last week, as shown in the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute, was offset by reports of gasoline price reductions in the west, publication of a favorable quarterly earnings report by the Skelly Oil Company failed to stimulate any activity or strength in that or other oil stocks.

Extensive profit-taking took place in the rubbers and public utilities, losses of a point or more being recorded by American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American Water Works, U. S. Rubber, Havana Electric, Laclede Gas, Kelly Springfield Tire, Pacific Gas and Western Union.

Pipe shares turned reactionary in reflection of the cut in the Centrifugal Pipe dividend. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe broke over six points to 143 1-2 and then rallied 2 from the low and Universal Pipe common and preferred showed net losses of 1 1-8 and 2 1-8 respectively. Nash Motors broke 12 1-2 points on a few sales.

A sudden revival of activity and strength in the common stocks of the Wabash and Missouri, Kansas-Texas railroads was the only feature of the railroad group.

Call money opened unchanged at 4 per cent. which rate has prevailed for over a week, but eased to 3 3-4 in the late afternoon, closing at the lower figure. A slight stiffening was noted in the time money and commercial paper markets, 4 to 4 1-4 per cent. being the ruling rate for the shorter maturities and 4 1-4 to 4 1-2 for the longer dates.

Heaviness of sterling exchange, due to the uneasiness of the coal labor situation, and the partial recovery from recent weakness of the Scandinavian currencies were the features of the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was quoted nearly half a cent lower around $4.85. French francs ruled unchanged around 4.75 cents. Danish kroner rallied about 15 points to 22.90 cents and Norwegian kroner ruled about 7 points higher around 18.45 cents.

TAFTVILLE

William H. Murdock of Goodyear was a visitor in town Thursday.

Miss Emma Shea of Pawtucket, R. I., is spending two weeks with Miss Mabel Mather of North A street.

Miss Lillian Laramie of North B street has returned from Buttonwoods, R. I., where she has been spending a few days at the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thibeault of Woonsocket, R. I.

Herstine Junkins of Providence street has been spending a few days at Groton Long Point.

A. W. Buchanan, secretary of the state board of education was a caller in town Wednesday.

Miss Mary J. Devlin and Miss Alice Phalen of South A street are spending the month of August with Miss Devlin's sister, Mrs. Nellie Nolan of Long Branch, N. J.

George Munroe has completed the work of trimming and caring for the village trees.

Rollin C. Jones of Norwich was a caller in the village Thursday.

Taftville members of the Eastern Connecticut Mills Association are receiving copies of the textile group associations year book for 1925. This work is a complete record of the various textile associations of New England with the names of the members and includes the Eastern Connecticut Mills association, in which many of the local mill men hold membership.

LIONS DISCUSS PLANS FOR FALL MEETINGS

President William A. Anderson announced his committee for the ensuing year at a meeting of the Norwich Lions club, held Thursday noon at the Wauregan House. The committees are as follows:

Civic committee—Rudolph Henschel, Earle Taggart and Louis Fountaine.

Publicity committee, Ben Pullen, Herbert Corey and Charles Frink.

Welfare Committee, Edward Carpenter, Dr. David Sussler and Edward Rich.

Menu committee, Edward Carpenter, Pete Ethier and Abner Schwartz.

During the meeting Rudolph Henschel was song leader and Pete Ethier was at the piano. Past President C. Edward Carpenter offered prayer at the opening of the meeting and Lion George Madden gave an entertaining and amusing five minute talk on A Lion's Courtship.

Frank Eggleston was welcomed into the club as a new member by President Anderson and the following committee was named to work with a committee from the Rotary club to find places in the community for children sent here through the Chicago Tribune Fresh Air fund: Louis Fountaine, Tyler Stanton and Tom Savard.

The local club also signified its intentions of attending the outing of the New London Lions club, to be held at Boxwood Inn, Lyme, on August 24th.

General discussion of entertainments for meetings, outings during the fall and one to be held in the near future, brought the meeting to a close, which was in the usual manner, by singing The Star Spangled Banner.

JOINS LAW FIRM OF BROWN AND PERKINS

Friends of Edward G. McKay learn with pleasure that he is to enter the law business in this city, having joined the law firm of Brown & Perkins, under which name, the firm will continue.

Mr. McKay recently passed his state bar examinations and was admitted to the bar for this county. For some years he was a member of the faculty of the Norwich Free Academy later studying law under Attorney William H. Shields.

The firm of Brown and Perkins formerly comprised Judge Lucius Brown and Edmund W. Perkins but since the death of Judge Brown, Mr. Perkins has carried on the business alone.

CALLED OUT FOR GAS TANK FIRE

Fire broke out in the gasoline tank at the Isaac Fisken blacksmith shop at 196 Main street, Thursday morning at 9:13 o'clock, causing a call to be sent in for the fire department. Deputy Chief Taft and Engines 5 and 6 responded and chemicals were forced into the tank to extinguish the blaze.

What caused the fire is unknown. As Driver Kilroy of the Callahan Oil Co., was filling the tank, he saw flames shooting up through the opening and gave the alarm.

The soya bean has constituted an important foodstuff in China for the last 5,000 years.

BOY'S LIFE SAVED BY OFFICER JOHN O'NEIL AND GEORGE HARRIS

Stanley Osorek, 9, of No. 7 North High street, owes his life to Officer John O'Neil and George Harris of No. 18 High street who pulled him out of Yantic river about 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. It was a timely rescue, for the boy, one of four who fell into the river, was going down when Mr. Harris grabbed him and passed him on to Officer O'Neil, who dragged him onto the river bank.

Stanley with Aloisius Grabour and Chester Grabour and another small boy were playing on the edge of the river bank about 50 feet south of the second bridge on West Main street. There was a pile of oyster shells at that particular spot which is directly in the rear of the Lucas fish market. The shell pile gave way under the boys' weight and they slid into the river.

Three of the boys managed to scramble back to shore but Stanley who slid out further than the rest got into deep water, beyond his depth, and was soon in the middle of the river, which is quite narrow at that point. A crowd quickly gathered on the bridge. Officer John O'Neil, who was just returning to his beat on West Main street from dinner, saw the crowd on the bridge as he stepped off a West Side trolley car, and surmising that something was wrong was on his way to investigate when someone called to him that a boy was drowning.

Officer O'Neil and George Harris started on the run to the rear of the fish market Mr. Harris sighting the boy who was just going down plunged into the river with Officer O'Neil right behind him. Mr. Harris grasped the sinking boy and pushed him towards Officer O'Neil who was in the water up to his waist. The officer grabbed the boy and dragged him to safety on the river bank.

The boy was near death but was resusitated by quick work on the part of Joseph Lahn, of No. 1 Woodmansee avenue. Officer O'Neil and Mr. Harris, who secured blankets and a barrel. Frank Blinderman, manager of the Go Gas Station, telephoned word for the pulmotor at the Central fire station and Squad A, carrying the pulmotor and Chief Howard L. Stanton responded. However, the pulmotor was not needed as the boy was out of danger.

The boy was taken to his home and was attended by Dr. John W. Callahan. By the middle of the afternoon he was little the worse for his harrowing experience.

Aloisius Grabowl, one of the other boys, disappeared immediately after the near tragedy. His mother, not seeing him, became frantic, believing that he had been drowned. Officer O'Neil started an immediate search and located the boy behind a pile of lumber.

MANY VISITORS AT GARDNER LAKE CAMP

The past week at Camp Mohican, Gardner Lake, has been the scene of many events and there have been a number of visitors at the camp.

Last Saturday evening the boys and guests alike were royally entertained by Mr. Weekly of New York formerly with the Keith vaudeville of New York. He kept all in a state of merriment and wonder with an avalanche of card and sleight of hand tricks. After a few of the old camp songs, all joined in a marshmallow toast. The blowing of taps ended another perfect day.

A recent addition to camp was the choosing of the outdoor chapel where on Sunday morning all joined in a short service conducted by Mr. Bachelier of Providence, R. I. Last Sunday in the absence of Mr Bacheller, Mr. Roberts of Camp Massapeack spoke a few appropriate words.

Among the visitors of the week end was Dr. Olpp of Union City. Through the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. Olpp, the boys were treated to a party with delicious home made cake, candy, ice cream, etc. Wednesday night the after supper period was spent by staging a few doughnut and gum races.

Recent visitors were: Dr. Arch E. Olpp, Union City, N. J.; R. G. Frozner, Homestead, N. J.; Mr. Hess, Union City, N. J.; Mrs. A. L. Dolan, Hoboken, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Nichola, Lynwood, N. J.; C. Bender, Brooklyn, N. Y.; H. Ellig, Hoboken, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Kulleman, Union City; Mrs. B. Kulleman, Union City; Mr. and Mrs. Singer, New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Abrahams, N. Y. city; Mrs. Willner, N. Y. city; Mr. and Mrs. Fortunat, Union City, N. J.; M. Weekly, New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lemonier, Union City, N. J.

HARD JULY RAIN PUTS RESERVOIRS AT NORMAL

Connecticut reservoirs, despite a shortage of rain of nearly eight inches dating from October, 1924, to the middle of June this year, are now enjoying a level which is practically normal for this time of the year. Very heavy rains near the end of June and all through the month of July have made this possible, the precipitation in July having been somewhat above the normal rainfall of the month in past years. Normal precipitation for July is about four and a half inches, while the July of 1925 was gifted with a rainfall of about five inches.

While most of the reservoirs in the state are below their high level by about two feet, this condition is no unusual for this time of year and is considerably better than the condition at this time last year, when the state suffered from exceeding dryness. The heavy rainfalls of July have not increased the levels of the reservoirs, but have served to counteract against ordinary summer consumption and evaporation. In other words, the rain has kept the reservoirs at practically the same level as at the first of the month and has prevented them from dropping any further.

If the normal rainfall continues through the month of August there will be little danger of a water shortage, water company men believe. The reservoirs of the water companies in Connecticut are engineering masterpieces and are so constructed that they have a maximum drainage area. It would take a drouth of many months duration to seriously cripple the state's water supply.

TELEPHONE SYSTEM FACTOR IN STATE'S PROSPERITY

The Western Electric and the Bell System, as a whole, is a large contributor to the prosperity of Connecticut, according to an editorial appearing in the current issue of the S. N. E. T. Bulletin. The Western Electric company in 1924 purchased nearly $17,000,000 worth of materials and supplies from Connecticut manufacturers. Nearly $8,000,000 was paid in wages and other operating expenses to the people of Connecticut by the S. N. E. T. company, during the same period. The telephone system, therefore, not only does much business with Connecticut industry, but also is a big factor in the steady employment of a large number of factory workers as well as its own employes.

LARKIN CLUB MEETS AT ATLANTIC BEACH

On Wednesday Mrs. David Nason of Stone Acres, Stonington with the members of her Larkin club and a few friends in all numbering twenty-seven spent a very enjoyable day at Atlantic Beach. The day was pleasantly spent in visiting and many doing fancy work. At noon a delicious picnic dinner was served. In the afternoon many enjoyed bathing, the day and water being ideal. The Larkin picnic has become an annual affair, and is looked forward to with much pleasure by both the club, secretary and members.

Will Discuss Labor Day Plans.

Announcement was made Thursday that the August meeting of the West End Community Association, Inc., will be held next week on the recreation field, West Side. Important business matters are scheduled to come up for action and there will also be discussion of plans for Labor Day. Tennis and quoits will be played.

PRIZES AWARDED BY LYME ART ASSOCIATION

(Special to the Bulletin)

LYME, Conn., July 30—William S. Robinson and Will Howe Foote are the artists in this year's awards by the Lyme Art Association. The Museum Purchase prize is announced as awarded to Mr. Robinson's "Laurel" and the W. S. Eaton prize to Mr. Foote's interior, entitled "The Print," dominated by the figure of a woman before the fireplace. Both paintings will remain in the Lyme gallery throughout the exhibition which opens this week and will continue through September 7. The museum prize will be given this year to the Cleveland Museum of Art.

This is the 24th year of the Lyme Art Association's exhibitions, and the fourth year in the new gallery. There are 283 canvasses on the walls this year, representing the work of 45 artists. Bessie Potter Vonnoh has a group of sculptures and Lydia Longacre, miniatures.

The Lyme exhibitions have taken their place among the important national yearly events in the art world, with many of the best names in the country among the exhibitors. Among those exhibiting this year are: Lucien Abrams, Ernest Albert, Maxwell Albert, Frank A. Bicknell, George M. Bruestle, George B. Burr, George Bugart, Thomas Watson Ball, William Chadwick, Bruce Crane, Charles Bittinger, Ann Crane, Frank V. DuMond, William H. Howe, Charles Ebert, Clifford Grayson, Harry L. Hoffman, Platt Hubbard, Will Howe Foote, Wilson Irvine, Lydia Longacre, Richard J. Montague, James Goodwin McManus, H. Van Buren Magonigle, Ivan G. Olinsky, Henry R. Poore, William S. Robinson, Percival Rosseau, Henry Bolton Anne Lee Stacey, Paul F. Saling, Gregory Smith, Will S. Taylor, Bessie Potter Vonnoh, Edward Volkert, Robert Vonnoh, Charles Vezin, Clark G. Voorhees, Everett L. Warner, Carleton Wiggins and Guy Wiggins.

PRIVATE 'PHONE BOARDS POPULAR IN STATE

So great is the need of Connecticut business for the telephone that practically every large business house within the state today has a private switchboard of its own which connects with the various departments and executives within its walls. Switchboards of this type are known in the parlance of telephone company employes as "P. B. X." stations, the initials standing for "Private Branch Exchange." There are 1,848 Private branch Exchanges located in the various cities and towns of Connecticut and these private boards serve 36,7 telephones located in individual offices and departments.

Each of the "P. B. X." stations is a reproduction on a smaller scale of the monstrous central exchange switchboards in the various cities, and is operated in much the same manner as the large boards. The private exchanges are operated by an operator or a corps of operators in the employ of the concern owning the board.

New Haven business houses are the largest users of the private system, the Elm City boasting of 445. Hartford is also a large user of the private exchange, there being 370 "P. B. X.s" in the state capital. Bridgeport and Waterbury have 251 and 140 private boards respectively. The Hartford boards, however, serve the most telephones, the number being 8,721 as against the 7,972 stations served on the Elm City exchanges. The Bridgeport and Waterbury private boards control 5,475 and 2,909 telephones respectively. The three largest "P. B. X." stations in the state are owned by the New Haven road, and the Aetna and Travelers Life Insurance companies.

FISH AND GAME OUTING AT LAKE

The annual outing of the Norwich Fish & Game association will be held Sunday at Gardner lake and judging from the numerous replies made to announcement by Secretary William W. Ives, the attendance this year will exceed that of any previous year.

Word has been received from several prominent men in the state, interested in fish and game clubs, that these will probably attend the outing, which is one of the biggest sporting events in eastern Connecticut during the year.

Transportation is being provided for all members who lack other means of reaching the lake, but many of them will be there early and out on the lake endeavoring to catch the largest small mouth bass of the day, thus capturing the annual prize offered by the association. As in past years all boats at the lake are free to members of the association.

In anticipation of an increase in attendance the officers of the association have caused extra tables to be constructed thus insuring seats for everyone at the noon meal.

During the afternoon the sporting events will be held in front of the pavilion. This year they will be divided into two parts, one for senior members, those who have participated in meets in past years, and one for beginners. The contests in each division will include bait casting for distance and accuracy and fly casting for distance and accuracy, with three prizes in each event for the seniors and two prizes in each event for the beginners. In addition to the contests there will be demonstrations in fly casting by Champion William Hawes, of Canterbury. Other older members of the association will also demonstrate how fly casting should be done. It is also expected that at least one record will be broken this year, this being the distance for bait casting, now held at 180 feet by Gus Hague.

A special feature this year which will be greatly appreciated by members entering the meets, is the new permanent float, from which all casts will be made. In past years the float has not been steady and as a result worked hardship on the men trying casting for accuracy. The new casting platform will be stationary and give the men a better chance to make an accurate throw.

In addition to the other prizes offered the association has a standing offer of $5 for the heaviest small mouth bass caught by any member during the season. Thus far the heaviest bass weighed in at Jack's Sport shop, official shop for the association weighs 4 1-2 pounds. The heaviest fish landed last year, but not weighed in for the prize, went over five pounds.

John Irish, veteran fisherman, of Norwich, has signified his intentions of attending the outing, much to the delight of his many friends who are always pleased to see him at association doings.

GOV. TRUMBULL TO VISIT NIANTIC CAMP

Governor Trumbull and his staff will visit the state military rendezvous at Niantic today (Friday). The 102nd Infantry, C. N. G., will have a governor's day program.

Motored to Taunton

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Galligan and Miss Margaret J. Murphy of Central Ave. motored to Taunton, Mass., on Thursday to spend the day with Mr. Galligan's mother, Mrs. Edward Galligan of Bay street.

NORWICH MAN BRINGS SUIT FOR $1,500 DAMAGES

Damages of $1,500 from Moses Klingon, of Colchester are asked in a superior court suit filed by John Moran, real estate broker of this city. Mr. Moran is seeking to collect his commission for the sale of the former Shields property on Broadway.

According to the complaint, on or about June 1, 1925, the defendant requested the plaintiff to sell certain real estate located on Broadway, Norwich, owned by the defendant and known as the Shields property, for a sum to net the defendant $42,500 and the defendant agreed to pay the plaintiff for his service in effecting such sale so much as he might sell the property for in excess of said sum.

On July 27, 1925, while agreement was still in effect, the plaintiff procured a customer, ready, able and willing to buy the property upon Klingon's terms, viz: at a price in excess of $42,500, but the defendant refused to sell or carry out his part of the agreement.

At present the building stands idle, the two stores and the upstairs offices not being occupied. Mr. Klingon, at one time was to build a garage there but was refused permission by Fire Marshal Howard L. Stanton, who considered the place as hazardous. For over a year the building has remained as such. At another time the place was talked of for a site for a theatre, but nothing materialized.

KNOCKED DOWN MAN ON SPRING STREET

Edward J. Mullins of Spring street, reported at police headquarters Thursday evening that while backing his machine from his garage during the early evening he hit and knocked down Mr. Rubin, an elderly man who resides at the corner of Peck and Elizabeth streets. Mr. Rubin's injuries were slight, according to Mr. Mullins, who took him to his home following the accident.

LISBON MINISTER IS SUMMONED TO CITY COURT

On an alleged charge of failure to stop after an accident, Rev. E. E. Scates of Lisbon, was Thursday evening summoned to appear in the city court this (Friday) morning. It is said that an automobile driven by Rev. Mr. Scates collided at Washington square late Thursday afternoon with a machine driven by Joseph Podurgiel of Tanner avenue. Damage to Mr. Podurgiel's machine consisted of two bent mudguards.

ARSON CASE AGAINST YZZO IS CONTINUED

Ralph Yzzo, alias Yeitz, was presented in the city court Thursday morning on a charge of arson. The case was continued until August 4th no change being made in the bonds of $2,000. Yzzo is charged with setting fire to the roof of his house, Stonington road, off Palmer street, early Wednesday morning.

His arrest followed an investigation of the origin of the fire by fire department officials. There was strong evidence that kerosene had been poured on the wooden shingles and the torch applied. Yzzo is out on bonds for appearance in the court next Tuesday morning.

New diamond discoveries in the Pretoria district of the Transvaal province in South Africa have been made in new fields known as the Rayton area adjoining the Pretoria diamond mines.

MRS. RUSSELL'S DROWNING WHILE AT BIGELOW POND

The Bulletin's Union correspondent writes:

The drowning of Mrs. Anita Russell, 29, of Springfield, Mass., at Bigelow Pond, Sunday evening, was a shock to their little town. Mrs. Russell, accompanied by her brother, Charles Croteau, Harold Cobb, and Miss Ruth Nickerson had motored out from Springfield for a picnic. They arrived at Bigelow about three o'clock Sunday afternoon. While the young men had gone to North Ashford for refreshments, the girls went in bathing. Mrs. Russell stepped off into deep water from the treacherous shore, and sank. Miss Nickerson who is only sixteen years old, ran for help but it was too late. Officers Hardisty and Hurbert of the state police barracks at Stafford Springs were called, and Officer Russell J. Harmon came up from Willimantic. The accident occurred about 6 p. m., but the body was not recovered till 8 o'clock the next morning. Medical Examiner Dr. N. P. Bard of Stafford Springs was called and permitted the body to be removed to Stafford Springs and, later to Springfield. Mrs. Russell was the oldest of a large family of children and her mother, is a widow. After a night of anxiety, the mothers of the two girls Mrs. Croteau and Mrs. Nickerson, arrived at the pond, having come through Putnam by mistake. George Croteau, a brother of Mrs. Russell, arrived later, having gone from Springfield to Stamford instead of to Stafford.

EMBELLISHED PEN PORTRAYAL OF FUNERAL AT WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN, COMMONER

Ceremony Consisted of Brief Prayers, Readings From Psalms the Dead Commoner Loved Best, a Short Eulogy and Benediction—Mrs. Bryan, in a Wheel Chair Beside the Casket, Maintained Her Fortitude Until the Conclusion of the Eulogy, When Tears Glistened on Her Cheek as She Bowed Her Head—Due to Infirmities, Mrs. Bryan Was Unable to Attend the Committal Exercises—At the Service at the Grave the Troops Stood at Salute Until the Bugle Notes Had Died Away—They Carried Only Side Arms and There Was No Rifle Fire or Beating of Drums.

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP)—Beneath a peaceful grass grown hillside William Jennings Bryan lies tonight to sleep time away.

No special guard keeps watch beside his grave. In common with the thousands company of soldier and sailor dead among whom he rests in Arlington National cemetery, only the quiet tread of troopers on the regular patrol of the great field of the fallen resound above the Commoner's burial place.

To distinguish him, with the veteran dead about him, a simple white painted wooden marker, placed at the head of the grave, notes that here lies William Jennings Bryan, colonel of infantry. The name and inscription of the stone commits to his memory that will ultimately replace that marker still is to be supplied by his family and friends.

The long, last journey of the Commoner from the Tennessee village where he died Sunday ended under the heavy drawn canvass of an army tent erected to shelter his grave from the driving rain that had fallen since morning, to cease only a moment before the funeral party arrived at the cemetery. Within that small inclosure there was no room save for the casket wrapped about with the flag the dead man had served in peace and war, the little group of nearest kin, and a handful of the many friends of his three decades of stirring life.

Those and the ministers of the gospel who said above him the rites for the dead, and who a little time before had given him the last benediction of the church, alone saw the casket sink slowly down into the earth as an army bugler sounded "Taps," the soldier requiem.

Even the widow who had sat beside the casket throughout the funeral services in a Washington church, did not see that last scene of the career. Gripped by her infirmities, she remained in the closed motor car a hundred yards from the tented grave until the bugle notes brought to her the message that the long strain was over, and her dead husband at peace at last.

Outside the shelter, around the roped enclosure and among many newly-made graves on the tree-bordered sweep of sodden sward, crowded the hundreds who had trudged or ridden the long way from Washington, despite the earlier deluge of rain, to bid the Commoner their own farewell. There, too, stood the double rank of artillery from Fort Myer, caps and raincoats dark with the watery downpour through which they had waited to form the last escort.

Simple Service At the Grave

As the simple service was said, the troops, carrying only side arms, stood at "Dead salute until the bugle notes had died away over the gentle wooded hillside. There was no drumming or rifle fire to pay last honors to the dead lest as the column formed to swing down and the mourners turned back up the slope to the waiting motors, the dreaded, muffled thunder of a single cannon shot came from the post behind. It was the sunset gun, marking the lowering of the garrison colors for the night, the soldier signal that another day's toil is ended, and the hours of rest at hand.

Before the fallen leader was surrendered to soldier keeping at the south gate of the old cemetery, he had received, down in the haze-covered city beyond the river, the solemn service that men of his religious faith had designed in reverence to their dead. It was to the simple citizen that his benediction was offered.

Through it ran the deep consolation that the Christian faith holds out to the dear ones left behind.

Scene In the Church

Within the cramped auditorium of the New York avenue Presbyterian church where the Commoner lay in state in death and where he had worshipped in life, the funeral scene was dim and shadowy in the half light of the clouded, rain-washed day. The few who could find room had taken their places and the echoes of the two old hymns Mr. Bryan most loved, "Lead Kindly Light," and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," still lurked in the recess of the high roof, when the family came in, led by Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, the pastor.

"I am the resurrection and the life," the minister slowly repeated, as he moved down the aisle toward the flag-draped casket. Behind him was Mrs. Bryan, her pale face clear against her black gown, with her son, who now alone bears the distinguished name of the dead, gently pushing forward the wheel chair to which her infirmities confine her. As it came to rest close to the casket, the other members of the family took their places in the long pew at the left.

Through the services that followed, the brief prayers, the readings from the Psalms that her husband most loved, the short eulogy of the pastor, the widow sat with eyed intent on the speaker's face. He had moved around through the flower-bordered chancel to take his place in the pulpit above the casket, and he talked as to that sorrowing woman alone.

Tears on Cheek of Mrs. Bryan

Not until he closed his address did her intentnes vasry. Then, as Dr. Sizoo said: "God bless and hallow the heritage and memory of William Jennings Bryan," her head was bowed and tears for the first time during the service gleamed a moment on her cheeks.

The minister told of a day long ago when the Commoner had spoken of ideals to a group of students in a western college, the eloquent pleading for higher things had stirred the hearts of the young hearers, Dr. Sizoo said, and for one had changed the whole course of his life and led him into the ministry.

"I was that student," he added in a voice that shook a little with the depth of his emotion.

"Surely it is unique that as he lies dead here among us, I should bear my witness to his influence in this most solemn hour."

When the last hymn had been sung and the benediction said, just for a moment the covering flag was laid back against the bronze plate that had shut the still features from view was lifted a little. Mrs. Bryan was rolled forward a step for one final fleeting glimpse then the cover was replaced for the last time and the casket tenderly raised by the hands of old friends to be carried out into the roaring downpour of rain and set into the hearse. It was through that blinding deluge that the Commoner was carried down through the city past the great memorials to Washington and Lincoln and over the long bridge to the winding road that leads up to Arlington cemetery.

Scene at the Cemetery

Just as the tugging motors drew the funeral cars up the long slope, the rain ceased. A faint, watery burst of light came out of the west, the first break of the dripping day. It touched the muddy torrents pouring down the hard paved roadway on either side of the climbing funeral train.

At the gate the ranked column of the escort stood waiting with a trooper band at its head. The slow notes of a military dirge rose in the steaming air as the column moved off at half step up the last winding rise of the road to the grave strewn knoll above.

When the soldiery swung aside to stand at salute, eight non-commissioned officers stepped forward to lift the casket down and carry it slowly toward the tent that sheltered the grave. The way was now doubly lined with great floral pieces brought from the church, and among them were the drooping withered blossoms that had come all the long way from Tennessee.

As the soldiers set their burden down on the straps that would lower it to its last resting place, Kelso Rice, the young Chattanooga police officer to whom was entrusted at Dayton the mission of guarding the casket until the grave should close upon it, took his place at the foot of the grave between the two clergymen. Thus he had stood, a rigid reverent sentinel through the church service and it was his hand that raised the flag at last from its place to present it to the sorrowful widow.

As the mourners moved to their places, Secretary Kellogg and his chief aids from the state department standing bareheaded at the entrance to the tent shelter, the band played softly "Lead Kindly Light." Then Dr. Sizoo pronounced the short service and gave place to the Rev. Dr. George R. Stuart, pastor of the First Methodist church of Birmingham, Ala., who prayed with breaking voice for God's blessing on an old time friend, come to his last reward.

"Thank God for His valor to support the causes that needed His support," the minister cried.

The benediction followed, the "Taps" ringing from the same bugle that called the last sweet farewell to the unknown soldier, sleeping there just over the hill, and to Woodrow Wilson, resting in a stone crypt in the great cathedral looming dimly through the haze on its high ridge far beyond the city.

William Jennings Bryan had ended his long life journey.

MAN IN NEW HAVEN BEATEN AND ROBBED

NEW HAVEN, July 31.—(A. P.)—Held up, brutally beaten by two negroes and robbed of more than $400 together with jewelry valued at more than $500 while working at his office in the New Haven Steam Laundry company in Grand avenue tonight, Samuel P. Sharnik, treasurer of the concern, was taken to Grace hospital in a dazed condition resulting from a blow on the head and a severe blow on the knee with a piece of pipe.

The men entered his office while he was working at his desk, Sharnik said, one of them holding a pistol. Sharnik was dragged into an inner room and thrown on a pile of coal. The men then took from his pockets $425 in cash, a check for $5, a diamond lavalliere, a diamond ring and a stick pin valued at $250.

He lasped into unconsciousness, he said, and a half hour later dragged himself through the driveway to Grand avenue.

BREACH IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, July 31.—(A. P.)—What was characterized by many politicians as a breach in the democratic party in New Haven occurred today when Thomas E. Cahill, democratic general registrar, called for the resignation of George H. Conroy as deputy registrar of the Eighth ward. This action was considered by many as an open declaration of war by Mr. Cahill, who is supporting John J. Lane, director of public works for the mayoralty nomination, against those in favor of the candidacy of Frank S. Bergin, assistant corporation counsel.

No reason for asking for Conroy's resignation was given. Conroy has been active in politics here for 22 years. It is understood that Conroy favors the nomination of Bergin.

Slayer Gives Details Of Dastardly Crime

Shocking Story of How the Elderly Gillis Sisters Were Clubbed to Death.

NASHUA, N. H., July 31.—(AP)—The story of how two aged sisters were battered to death with stove wood sticks in order that their slayers, one a boy of 15, might share their little estate, was told today by Louis LaBombarde, of Merrimack, in the cottage in Hudson where the bodies of Helen and Georgianna Gillis were found a week ago. LaBombarde, who had been under questioning since yesterday in connection with the murders, broke down and admitted that he and his young brother-in-law, Charles Le Febvre, who was employed as a chore boy by the Gillis sisters, were responsible for the crime.

LaBombarde was brought to Nashua immediately and locked up on the formal charge of murder. Young Le Febvre, who had been questioned repeatedly since the murders were discovered, also was arrested and brought here. As late as midday today state and county officials had admitted they were without a definite clue in the case.

With LaBombarde when he told his story were Martin W. Fitzpatrick, clerk of the municipal court, Officer James Morrill, of Hudson, and Attorney Anthony Joyce. After some minutes of questioning on the scene of the crime, the witnesses reported, LaBombarde dropped to his knees and exclaimed: "We killed them."

He then enacted the scenes of last Wednesday when the aged sisters met their deaths.

According to the story told by LaBombarde, Charles Le Febvre told him that the Gillis sisters were fond of him and had promised to will him their home and their money when they died. Le Febvre suggested that he and LaBombarde kill the old women and divide the money, the confession continued, and LaBombarde agreed. On Wednesday afternoon, they went to the Gillis home to mow the lawn.

"Charlie went to the back of the house where there was a woodpile and took an armful of sticks," LaBombarde said. "Each of us took one of the sticks. I went into the pantry where Helen Gillis was and raised my arm with the stick in my hand. I did not mean to hit her, but I did. It was not a heavy blow, but she crumpled up in the corner. I went back to the kitchen and saw Charlie beating Georgianna Gillis who had been stooping down to put on her rubbers. He struck her over the head several times. She staggered into the other room and fell on a couch.

"Charlie went into the living room then. There was blood streaming from Georgianna's head and he took a night gown that was there and tried to stop the flow."

LaBombarde said the two returned to the kitchen and Le Febvre took a black pocket book from the pantry. They agreed to leave the house by different routes and to meet at a place locally known as "Camel's Hump," half a mile away. LaBombarde said that as he went out he threw his stick into the woodpile. There was no blood on it, he said. Le Febvre went down the state road and they met as agreed. Le Febvre had tied the night gown about his stick and hidden the two under his clothing. At the Camel's Hump this evidence was destroyed.

TAX REDUCTION PROPOSAL LAID BEFORE COOLIDGE

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 31—(A. P.)—A tax plan proposing a reduction of the maximum surtax rates from 40 to 15 per cent., slashes in the normal income rate and abolition of the inheritance gift and miscellaneous taxes was laid before President Coolidge today by Chairman Madden of the house appropriation committee.

Giving the executive his opinion as to what further economy could be effected in governmental appropriations, so as to make an appreciable reduction of taxes possible, the committee chairman predicted a surplus for this fiscal year of $370,000000. Of this amount he held $350,000,000 should be absorbed by lowering taxes and $20,000,000 applied to a public building program.

The president received Mr. Madden's suggestions with interest, paying particular attention to his discussion of the nation's finances and the probable drain on the treasury during the next twelve months.

Later, it was stated at the summer white house that while the president welcomed suggestions as to tax changes, particularly from congressional leaders, he is holding his mind open on the subject until definite treasury figures showing how great a reduction is feasible are available.

APPEAL HAS BEEN FILED IN DOHENY OIL SUITS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31—(AP)—Appeal from the decision of the Los Angeles U. S. district court in the Doheny oil suits to nullify contracts and oil and gas leases was filed in the circuit court of appeals here today. The Doheny interests are the appelants but a cross appeal also was filed by the government.

MacMillan Ships Are Locked in Arctic Ice

Miniature Pressure Ridges Are Slowly Rising About the Peary—Party Shot Bear.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—(AP)—Locked in the Arctic ice, the MacMillan expedition is experiencing the dangers known to polar explorers for centuries.

The Melville Bay ice pack, which has stopped the progress of the ships Bowdoin and Peary is playing its time-honored drama and endangering the expedition every minute, Commander MacMillan said today in a wireless despatch to the National Geographic society. The message was dated yesterday and declared that although the sky line of Cape York was in view, the ships were unable to move until conditions changed.

Fog, ice magnetic variation, drifting pans and other troubles were mentioned as prevailing.

"Miniature pressure ridges were slowly rising about the Peary," the message said, while the jagged ice whispers ominously at the intrusion of this steel shell amid hundreds of square miles of shitting ice. From 3 in this morning until 3 o'clock this afternoon, the Peary smashed lanes in the heavy floe and the Bowdoin hurled loose cakes like slabs.

"After breakfast a polar bear was sighted by Commander MacMillan and shot for scientific study. There have been flurries of snow and all day we have been hearing the sinister gossip of crushing ice. When our connections with the spectacle will cease we cannot say, but it is certain that the ice will continue in its original role."

POSTAL RATES HEARING TO MOVE TO NEW YORK

PHILADELPHIA, July 31—(AP)—The congressional special joint subcommittee on postal rates, closed its hearing in this city today and adjourned to New York with the final admonition to try an application of "garden variety of common sense" in unknotting the postal rate tangle, which is under investigation by the group, headed by Senator George H. Moses, New Hampshire.

"The postoffice department could be put on a paying basis if there were applied to it merely the garden variety of common sense," said E. W. Sears, for four years with the traffic department of the Curtis Publishing company of Philadelphia. The witness attacked the "double entry" system of the act of October 3, 1917, denouncing it as without business principle or economy.

The "philanthropies" alleged to have been extended certain favored kings of publications, were again criticized today. "Other users of the mails should not be asked to pay the subsidies and benevolences extended by the postal ucational papers and publications for department to religious scientific or edthe blind," declared David R. Rutter, Wilmington, Del., of the E. I. Dupont de Nemours company.

Testimony indicating the post card business had suffered from the 2-cent postage provision of the April 15 increase was submitted by Samuel A. Saltzburg, Atlantic City, N. J., distributor.

BRAIN SPECIALISTS ARE EXAMINING RUSSELL SCOTT

CHICAGO, July 31.—(A. P.)—While Detroit was arranging for a vaudeville show today to raise money to save Russell Scott from the gallows, brain specialists in Chicago were examining him with the same end in view.

Scott, sentenced to die for murdering a drug clerk in a hold-up, has twice escaped the gallows by less than six hours in the last two weeks by action of the governor or the courts. Alienists for the defense submitted him to further tests today in preparation for a hearing into his sanity which starts next Monday.

Meanwhile, the state, which contends that it is ony necessary to prove that Scott knows where he is and the crime for which he is being punished and the nature of the punishment in order that the death sentence may be carried out, continued to question jail guards and newspapermen who have seen the condemned man since his incarceration in the Cook county jail fifteen months ago.

DENVER, July 31.—(AP)—Thomas Holt, of Hartford, Conn., was elected president of the American Association of Dairy, Food & Drug Officials, at the closing session of the association's annual convention today.

Earthquake Shocks in Italy.

FOGGIA, Italy, July 31.—(AP)—Earthquake shocks were felt here today, a hundred houses and a municipal building being damaged. Some of the houses were rendered uninhabitable but no one was injured. The shocks were especially severe at Cerignola.

Foggia, capital of the province of the same name, is 30 miles northeast of Naples. It has a population of about 50,000.

PECULIAR DEVELOPMENT AT ATLANTIC CITY COAL PARLEY

John L. Lewis, President of the Workers, Calls For Presence of Samuel D. Warriner and William J. Richards as Representatives of the Owners—Magnates Reply That They Have the Right to Choose Their Own Representatives—Give Assurance That the Present Personnel Has Full Authority to Sign Any Contract.

ATLANTIC CITY, July 31.—(A. P.)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today requested Samuel D. Warriner and William J. Richards, veteran operators, to meet him at a scale conference Tuesday. He called the operators' present representation a "jury of supernumeraries," lacking authority to sign a contract and indicated that no further progress could be made without Warriner and Richards present.

"The conference between representatives of the anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers of America has been in session in this city since July 9th," said Mr. Lewis' letter. "You are aware that it has not accomplished even a modicum of its purpose, the contributions of the mine workers to the conference, namely, money and time, represents a total loss.

"With one exception, and for the first time in the history of our joint relationship, the anthracite operators have seen fit to be represented in the conference by a committee of lesser executives. The exception referred to is Mr. W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal Company, who, of course, represents large operating interests. It is public knowledge, however, that the financial interests represented by Mr. Inglis do not in any manner feel free to speak for the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, of which you are president, and the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, of which Mr. F. J. Richards is president. Both yourself and Mr. Richards, who have for many years been the acknowledged leaders of the anthracite operators, have seen fit not to participate in the sessions of the sub-committee and are ostensibly represented by the before mentioned lesser executives. It is well known to the mine workers that five or six operators members of the subcommittee do not even under ordinary circumstances affecting the operation of their specific companies have the power of decision upon matters of policy. It is, therefore, manifest that these inexperienced gentlemen must feel themselves totally unqualified to assume the responsibility of agreeing with the mine-workers' representatives upon such fundamentally major problems as are involved in the negotiations of a wage agreement.

"The before mentioned circumstances have developed the Atlantic City conference with an atmosphere of indifference and mystery, which has been justifably criticized by the metropolitan press. It has been caused the mine workers' representatives to believe that the anthracite operators are not desirous of concluding an agreement and averting a cessation of operation on September 1, but are engaged in a form of shadow boxing, which, while not deceiving the mine workers is highly inimical to the public interest and likewise hurtful to the interest of the industry. It seems to me therefore, that a bonafide conference should be held, participated in by yourself and Mr. Richards, which would give to the anthracite mine workers reasonable assurance that they were not pleading their case before a jury of supernumeraries. The action might also go far to convince the interested public that it was not being gulled by being compelled to witness a dress rehearsal of an amateur theatrical. I have arranged to personally attend the conference when it reconvenes on Tuesday and would indeed be pleased if you and Mr. Richards would deign to be present."

Samuel D. Warriner authorized announcement here that, despite request of John L. Lewis that Mr. Warringer and Mr. Richards join the operators' scale committee here Tuesday, the present personnel of that body will not be changed. He asserted it had full authority to sign any contract, and stressed the right of the operators to choose their own representatives without, he implied, having Mr. Lewis do it for him.

"Shall, of course, reply to Mr. Lewis' letter as soon as it reaches me," Mr. Warriner authorized representatives to say for him. "In the meanwhile I want to say that the committee representing the operators is fully authorized to negotiate a new agreement. It was elected in the same manner that all previous committees have been elected and clothed with the same authority by a vote of the industry.

"Mr. Lewis would object very properly to any attempt on our part to say who should represent the miners. He must admit the operators' right to choose their own representatives. At all events they have done so and these representatives will not be changed."

W. W. Inglis, president of the Glen Alden Coal company of Scranton, chairman of the operators' committee here, and the only member Mr. Lewis considered in his letter to be of major rank, said:

"I shall not presume to answer a letter addressed to Mr. Warriner. He will no doubt answer for himself."

Mr. Lewis earlier in the day expressed regret that the scale conference had made "no progress." He assailed the operators for "defying everything and yielding nothing."

"They continue to mouth their ancient phrases about wage reductions and arbitration," Mr. Lewis said. "It is obvious that they have no intention of arriving at a settlement before the present contract expires."

Mr. Lewis said he had no comment to make upon the reply Mr. Warriner had authorized.

STRIKE OF BRITISH COAL MINERS CALLED OFF

LONDON, July 31.—(A. P.)—The general strike of British coal miners which had been scheduled to start at 12 o'clock tonight has been called off. Premier Stanley Baldwin today promised "subvention" to the mines, thereby enabling the owners to continue their existing wage agreements for another nine months.

Although the government had previously maintained to the workers that it was not prepared to subsidize the mining industry, Mr. Baldwin finally yielded in the face of a threatening industrial cessation of railroad operations and consequently the shutting down of many other industries for lack of coal.

The miners were elated at what they regarded as a great victory, and their elation is shared by the entire labor world which hails the great solidiadity dispayed by the trade union movement in supporting the miners, in the present situation. This is the first time in the history of the labor movement in Great Britain that such an effective union has been secured. It was undoubtedly this exhibition of solidarity that finally broke down the government's reluctance to adopt the policy of state assistance.

The government's solution of the coal mine problem will have to run the gauntlet of parliament debate next week. The government has an ample majority to carry its proposals in the house of commons but it is not likely to escape strong adverse criticism.

KLAN HELD MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR BRYAN

DAYTON, Ohio, July 31.—(A. P.)—Members of the Ku Klux Klan of this and surrounding cities held a memorial service and cross burning for William Jennings Bryan near here tonight. All attending klansmen were robed.

At the close of the ceremony a large cross bearing the inscription: "In memory of William Jennings Bryan, the greatest klansman of our time. this cross is burned; he stood at Amagedon and battled for the Lord," was lighted.

The ceremony was witnessed by hundreds from nearby vantage points.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 31.—(A. P.)—A fiery cross bearing the legend "In memory of William Jennings Bryan—the greatest klansman," was burned here tonight.

ACQUITTED ON CHARGE OF MURDERING HIS BROTHER

BRIDGETON, N. J., July 31—Howard Moore, 19, was today acquitted by a jury on the charge of having murdered his brother, Thomas, last January. Thomas Moore was shot while talking to his mother in the living room of their home, the slayer firing at him through a window.

H. WALES LINES CO. TO BUILD STORRS COMMUNITY HOUSE

HARTFORD, Juy 31.—(A. P.)—The contract for the community house which is to be built at Storrs as part of the programme undertaken by the Connecticut Federation of Churches to enarge the social and religious facilities of the young people attending the Connecticut Agricultural college, was let tonight to the H. Wales Lines company, of Meriden.

Rev. Morris E. Alling, secretary of the federation and acting pastor of the Storrs church, announced that construction work is to start at once and that the community house is to be completed on or before February 15, 1926.

The bid of the H. Wales Lines company was $65,989, the lowest of six bids received through D. A. Perry, of New Britain, architect of the building.

The contract was signed for the trustees of the Storrs church by G. C. White, chairman, Edmond W. Sinnott, treasurer and Mr. Alling, who in addition to be pastor of the church, is a member of the board of trustees. Charles S. Phelps, contracting manager of the H. Wales Lines company, represented the contracting company.

In addition to the community house the programme of the federation of churches provides for the construction of a new church to replace the existing building. Funds sufficient to build the community have been secured and the campaign is to be continued for the additional money required to complete the project. The total sought for the project is $300,000, to be divided as follows: $75,000 for community house, $150,000 for new church, and $75,000 for maintenance.

CLAIMANT DESCRIBED AS "BRAZEN ADVENTURESS"

BOSTON, July 31—(AP)—Mrs. Ida M. Blankenburg, of Tulsa, Okla., claimant to the $3,000,000 estate of Lotta Crabtree, Boston actress, who left the bulk of her fortune for the benefit of wounded World War veterans, was described as "a brazen adventuress," by Judge Prest in Suffolk probate court today.

The judge ordered Mrs. Blankenburg and her brother, John W. Crabtree, to furnish bail of $1,000 each for their appearance next Tuesday to show cause why they should not be adjudged in contempt for perjury committed by them at the hearing.

FRENCH POST IN MOROCCO DESTROYED BY DYNAMITE

FEZ, French Morocco, July 31.—(A. P.)—The French post at Ain Bouaissa, twenty-five miles southeast of Ouezzan, has been destroyed by dynamite.

The Ain Bouaissa blockhouse, garrisoned by a French lieutenant and a handful of native troops, was surrounded a fortnight ago and had been the object of severe Riffian attacks during the past week.

WILLIMANTIC

A local garage man, who followed instructions and drove an automobile away from the vicinity of the American Thread company plant to the garage to have it washed, caused considerable excitement as his actions were noticed by an employe at the No. 6 mill. Word was immediately passed on to a mill official that a Ford roadster was being stolen. Sergeant Russell L. Harmon in charge of the temporary barracks near the mills, was notified and he dispatched State Policemen Henry Heinold and Merrill Keith on motorcycles. They searched for two hours for the machine which bore the Connecticut registry markers P-3793, but failed to locate it. About two hous later the mystery was cleared up when it was found that the owner, Willard J. Stearns had given the order to have the machine washed. The car was driven to the mill by Miss Frances Crane, of Mansfield.

Before a large gallery of golf enthusiasts the members of the Willimantic Country club team were defeated by Stafford Springs golfers, on the local links Thursday afternoon, 35 to 25, nearest match game victory on record for the local players. Eighteen holes were played. R. Pinney recorded the lowest score, rounding the course in 83. Refreshments were served at the close of the match. The individual scores: Stafford-Hardidin 117, A. J. Smith 87, Brown 90, D. Mitchell 85, Valentine 91, Luce 94, Siswick 96, C. Moore 95 R. Murray 101, Bechera 97, M. Cox 94, R. Pinney 83, C. Newton 106, A. Pinney 96, Srott 117, R. Schummi 100. Mitchell 85, Dr. M. D. Riordan 94, R. C Comins 91, Dr. J. A. Girouard 94, R C. Remington 94, George E. Hinman 121.

Already considerable of a railroad center, Willimantic can now look forward to a new advantage in the establishing of bus line routes through the city with ready connections for all directions. The Hartford-Willimantic Jitney association and the Danielson-Willimantic Auto Bus line cooperate in giving service here to patrons and are improving their schedules for speedy connections to Providence. With this end in view the Danielson line will be equipped with two new 27-passenger buses of latest design and they will be put in commission at once. Four daily trips will be made to Providence. The Connecticut Company's bus line to New London via Norwich also starts to operate today (Saturday) and with lines already operating to Lebanon, Scotland, Columbia, the Mansfields, Stafford Springs, via the Willingtons and trolley and bus service to the Coventrys, Willimantic again stands in the limelight as a center as it did in the good old railroad days.

Rev. Connie F. Mahan a native of this city and pastor of St. Mary's church, South Coventry, has completed arrangements for the yearly mid summer frolic given at Coventry for the benefit of the church. Lakeside casino has been donated by the proprietor, John Mallourey, for the event.

Funeral services for Everett G. Barrows were held at two o'clock Friday afternoon at his home, 146 Union street. Rev. T. Hawthorne Jones, of Mansfield Center, read a prayer. Burial was in the new Willimantic cemetery. Avery and Van Zandt had charge of the arrangements.

A summary process suit brought by Mrs. Jeanette Ayer, of Coventry, against Mrs. Charles Russell, of 411 Pleasant street, was heard before Justice of the Peace Samuel E. Harvey recently. It was alleged that the latter has failed to pay the required rental of the house and judgment was for the plaintiff. Mrs. Russell was accordingly ordered to vacate but she failed to do this and this week eviction proceedings were carried and the furniture removed under the supervision of Constable William D. Kelley and stored in a barn on Pleasant street.

Confederate Memorial half dollars, recently minted are being disposed of at one dollar apiece here. The amount realized above the face value of the coins will be used to construct the Confederate memorial on the sides of Stone Mountain which was begun by Gutson Borglum who claimed quite recently that he would also be the one to complete the task

Albert J. Piche who went out to smash some record or other, during his vacation at Lake Wangumbaug, is coming nearer his goal than his friends dared hope. With Henry Mathieu, he succeeded in bringing in a fine string of bass Thursday. Among them were some which weighed five pounds and on the string was a perch said to be the largest ever captured at the lake. Mrs. Sukow's feet has become known far and wide and the number of fishermen at the lake is increasing. A Willington resident brought in a seven pound bass Thursday.

A change of date from Wednesday evening, August 12th has been made for the Ladies' Night party of Willimantic Exchange club in Andover. The program, which is in charge of a committee of which C. C. Case is a chairman, will be withheld as a surprise.

Dr. Samuel J. Turcotte left Friday to spend a week in Glenville where he will be the guest of Rev O. S. Beaumister, former curate of St. Joseph's church, this city. Today (Saturday) marks the sixteenth anniversary of the ordination of Father Beaumister as a priest also the 77th birthday of his mother.

Word spread about the city Friday that seven families from Lowell, Mass., and four large families from Putnam had been brought here by the American Thread company and their furniture set up in some of the company tenements in lower village. Several members of each family are of the working age. The company is rapidly filling vacated tenements with out of town families and the plant is being operated on a scale which places it practically on a basis safe from any further damage by the strike of its original 2,500 operatives.

CLAIM AND COUNTER-CLAIM IN MANSFIELD FIRE CASE

(pecial to the Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, July 31.—Michael Spector, 25, pleaded not guilty to a charge of arson in the Mansfield town court, Friday forenoon, the case being the outcome of the burning down of a barn, half filled with hay, and owned by defendant's father, July 26, 1924. Joseph Woroon, a neighbor of the Spector's was the complainant in the case. The latter produced evidence which failed to be convincing to the court and Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews nolled the case.

On a counter-claim, Woroon was then arrested and charged with breach of the peace, the act alleged to have been committed a few days after the fire, when he had words with the Spector family relative to the burning of the barn.

Some days after the fire a warrant was made out for the arrest of Michael Spector on Woroon's allegation that it was the former who started the blaze. Simultaneously, the Spectors complained that Woroon was attempting to blackmail them. They stated that Woroon called it their home and demanded $200, or he would notify the police and insurance company that it was Kaziel Spector, father of Michael and owner of the barn, who was the incendiary. In court Friday morning Woroon said that he did go to see the Spectors and told them that if they gave him $200 he would tell them who had started the fire. It happened that at the time of the fire the elder Spectro was in New York and arrived home two days later upon receipt of a telegram informing him of the disaster. On the day of the fire, Woroon and his hired man were cutting hay on shares on Spector's land. The first half of the hay was placed in Spector's barn and the remainder in a barn owned by Woroon. At eight o'clock in the evening the haying was completed and Woroon said that he and his hired man sat about until 10 o'clock when he suggested that they take a walk over to the Spector home. Woroon said that he expected that there would be something doing and as they approached they saw Michael Spector come from the house and enter the barn. They returned home and about midnight the barn was destroyed by fire. Woroon and the hired man saw the blaze, but remained in bed.

The Spectors had a different story to tell. Mrs. Spector said that the crackling of the burning wood awakened her and she in turn awoke her son. The alleged blackmailing threats followed a few days later. State Policemen Hardisty and Hurlburt, of Stafford Springs, investigated the fire. The warrant issued against Michael Spector, on behalf of Woroon, was not served, due to the lack of substantial evidence. The insurance company held up making a settlement on the property for two months, finally paying the claim of $1,530. Michael Spector was arrested by State Officer Hulburt when he responded to a call to the Spector home, where it was said that stripped an automobile of a number of parts. Spector, who has been in New York was there and was taken into custody, for the purpose of clearing up the case. In court he furnished an alibi, which was backed by members of the family. Spector was represented by Attorney F. H. Foss. Grand Juror Frank W. Millard prosecuted the case.

CONTINUANCE OF STRIKE VOTED BY THREAD WORKERS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, July 31—A vote to continue the local strike and to arrange with President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor and other officials for the financing of the fight against the ten per cent. wage cut here, was taken, at a meeting of President Thomas McMahon, of Providence, of the United Textile Workers of America, with the state officers of the organization, held Friday forenoon. At the mass meeting held in the morning, President McMahon was the principal speaker. Talks were given by Alexander Marks and Horace Riviere. President McMahon, paid, as he termed it, his respects to the American Woolen company and other concerns. Relative to the general ten per cent. wage cut, he said that it was merely the result of a conspiracy between the employers of the textile industries to demonstrate that they could establish a cut, regardless of the failure of 1922. President McMahon further stated that the time had come when the people should consider the necessity of the employers' high tariff protective. After stating that those benefiting by the tariff were not entitled to it he called it an unfair protection and one which should be modified.

Mrs. G. H. Prior leaves today (Saturday) for Chautauqua, N. Y., where she is to speak on King's Daughters' Day, Monday, in her capacity as international president.

The Congregational church is closed during August. Rev. J. W. Carter has returned from his vacation and will take charge of his services Sunday, conducting the communion service at the morning.

The C. E meetings at the Baptist church are omitted during August.

Flinn's tonight; Florence Vidor and Noah Beery in Welcome Stranger.—Adv.

The delegates from the local post of the American Legion to the convention in New London are Dr. G. H. Jennings and John Smith; the alternates are P. W. Chase and Gilbert Miner.

Chautauqua is assured for Jewett City next year, the required number of names having been received. The list is still open for additions. Among the list is a group of eight girls who go on as one guarantor, so greatly do they want Chautauqua to return There are two persons who sign as one guarantor, and another who offers to go on with two others. Many others could do the same, and raise the list very appreciably.

UNION

Mrs. James Bush and son, James, Jr., are spending a few days with Amos Allen.

A very pleasant social, under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent association, was held at the town hall, Wednesday evening.

The L. B. A. is planning for a sale and social.

The helper Ranier of Willimantic on Maine and Son's truck, who was knocked from the top of the load of ties, last week has been making a good recovery at Johnson hospital. The binding chain struck his head and he had a badly sprained wrist.

The morning service and the vesper service at the church, last Sunday, were deeply interesting. Prof. Alexander Magoun of M. I. T. gave a very helpful address on "Science and Life", at the vesper service. There will be a service next Sunday at 5 p. m. (standard time) as usual.

MYSTIC

The committee appointed to arrange for the fresh air children have found places for 33 children as follows: Mrs. Mary Horton, 8; Mrs. Samuel Higbee, 1; Mrs. George Truss, 1; Mrs. George Wallace, 4; Mrs. Jacob Dick, 1; Mrs. H. J. Marykle, 1, in Mystic. Those in Noank to take charge are: Mrs. John Ellis, 2; Mrs. Peter Shandor, 2; Mrs. Walter Oldsen, 1; Mrs. Charles Cox, 1; Mrs. John Sawyer, 3; Mrs Lottie Morgan, 2; Mrs. John Aldrich, 1; Mrs. Frank Smith, 2, and Mrs. Louise Phelps, 2.

A meeting of the committee on the World War memorial was held Friday evening in the Hook and Ladder rooms The treasurer made a report of funds coming in and a house-to-house canvass was decided upon, to start at once Certain streets have been allotted each canvasser. Mystic during the war always went over the top in every drive and it is hoped this will be a success because of the fact that every city and town nearby has a memorial that is a credit to the town. With the new federal building being erected Mystic is progressing. The location of the memorial will be left to the public, after the necessary amount has been raised.

Miss Wilhelmina Schroder is to give a report at the national Christian Endeavor convention which she attended in Portland, Oregon, at the Baptist church Sunday evening at 6:30, by invitation of the president, Miss Emeline Billings. She left Mystic June 20, and returned July 22, spending six days at the meetings.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Next Monday evening, the electors of the borough of Danielson will assemble to hear about a budget that the borough officials have prepared to cover the expenditures of the current fiscal year and to fix a tax rate to produce revenue to defray the same.

The expenditures estimated amount to $39,093.96. There will be estimated receipts of $7,356.97, these figures from a revised budget caring for expenses not apparent or to be foreseen at the time of the annual borough meeting last April. It will be observed that the amount to be raised by taxation is $21,736.99.

On the grand list last completed, a tax of 8 1-2 mills will raise sufficient revenue to run the borough for the fiscal year and a 9-mill tax will leave quite a generous margin over expenses. The tax rate last year was 10 mills. It would appear from the data that a reduction in taxes by a mill or a mill and a half is to be looked for when the rate is fixed next Monday evening. This bespeaks prudent management of borough affairs.

Listed in the expenses of the borough are such items as: Fire department, $5,500; police department, $4,500; street lights, $6,000; hydrants, $2,255; interest on notes, $2,000; library tax, $1,341.98; fire truck tax, (1-2) mill, $1,341.98; sewers, $2,300; tax collector, $200; borough clerk, $200; borough farm, $100; health oncer, $100; legal expense, $100; assessors, $120; printing, $135; park, $450; note due each year, $1,500.

Revenue will be derived from the following sources: Bank stock tax, $692.10; collections by police, $952; court fees, $79.95; sewer assessments, $2,200; rent of borough hall and borough farm, $390; junk and pool licenses, $50; sale of borough hall (as recently authorized), $2,500.

The New Way garage, Dyer street, now open for business; satisfactory repair work at reasonable prices; garage stalls to rent.—Adv.

"Hey, George! I landed a six-pound trout out of the Assawaga river above Ballouville today!"

That sounds like a real fish story, this August morning, but one may hear a yarn told like it in all truth two or three years hence. The possibility is likely to be brought about by the introduction of brown trout into the Assawaga by the Danielson Rod and Gun club, co-operating with the state fish and game organization.

Six cans of brown trout are promised for delivery here today and they are to be released in the waters of the Assawaga up above Ballouville, where there is far less pollution in the stream than there is in its lower reaches. Another allotment of these trout is to be released through a fish and game club at Putham.

In so far as is known here, at least generally, this will mark the introduction of this species of trout into waters in this corner of the state. After investigation the state has designated the Assawaga as the stream whereabouts in which brown trout are most likely to flourish and propagate. If this surmise is correct—and there appears no reason why it is not—there will be some wonderful trout fishing for devotees of the sport two or three years hence.

Brown trout attain a weight of five or six pounds, with an occasional old settler even heavier. One may well imagine the lure that the Assawaga will have for trout fishermen when these beauties attain proper size to leap at a bait and start a thrilling battle for liberty.

For more than a year the Danielson Rod and Gun club has endeavored to get an allotment of brown trout, a very different fish than the brook trout long familiar to this territory. At last the efforts have been successful—and there'll be brown trout fishing hereabouts not later than three years hence.

A Providence paper of Thursday carried a story about a car that Herman A. Johnson, of Moosup, loaned to a friend, who drove it over into the Pawtuxet Valley region, where there is an oasis in the desert. The story is that the car was left parked at the very edge of the limpid area and that while the driver was absent someone came along and drove the machine away. West Warwick police were notified of the theft, but were unable to locate it, after a tour of the entire Valley region.

Mrs. Joseph Bodo, of Carter street, is a patient at the Day Kimball hospital in Putnam, where she was taken after falling while leaving a public building here and fracturing her shoulder. Mrs. Bado appears to have struck on her elbow, the shock being transmitted along the arm to snap a bone near the shoulder.

As to behavior, Danielson is really a model town. The town court records demonstrate this. At least they do for July. There was but one arrest here during the entire period of 31 days, Chief John McFarland said Friday.

In addition to the brown trout that are to be received here today (Saturday) another consignment of brook trout fingerlings are coming through. These little fish are to be distributed in brooks in this and adjoining towns by members of the Danielson Rod and Gun club. Because of recent heavy rains brooks are in good condition to receive young trout.

Frederick Nuttall was at East Providence Friday, seeking an adjustment from a trucking concern for damages done his automobile, Thursday evening, when a large truck cut across the Nuttall right of way and crashed into the Danielson car. The left front fender was damaged on Mr. Nuttall's car and the tire on the left front wheel ripped open and ruined in the incident, the first of the kind Mr. Nuttall ever experienced in 17 years driving motor cars.

The Greene, R. I., camp meeting, dating back to years out of memory, will open Monday for the 1925 season and continue through the following Sunday. Annually for generations this camp meeting has attracted people from this and all surrounding towns.

Warden Walter Anderson is negotiating with the railroad company for permission to run a line of water main from the westerly end of Academy street under the tracks of the railroad to Railroad street, there to connect with a hydrant that is near what is known as the dead end of a main. Running the proposed line of pipe would increase the water pressure in that area, it is held.

In spite of the indisputable claim that the state tax on gasoline puts a greater cost on the motorist who uses the highway the most, the fact remains that the tax of two cents per gallon now in force in Connecticut is proving very irksome to many who have cars and no great amount of money. For many who live in outlying sections a small, cheap car has in this age become more of a necessity than a luxury. The state tax, taken with the present cost per gallon for gasoline, puts a rather heavy burden for transportation on people of very limited incomes.

The practice of coasting huge and cumbersome motor trucks down hills on the Providence highway to the east of here continues, especially Spalding's hill at South Killingly and Dark Lantern hill. This dangerous practice has given more than one local driver of a pleasure car a scare and not a few narrow escapes from getting knocked off the highway, by one of these rushing, swaying juggernauts of the road. Very limited speeds are allowed heavy trucks while traveling in Connecticut but the rule as to this is being grossly violated almost daily between here and the Rhode Island line at Little Rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion C. Hutchins have been spending the week with their son, Harold, at Springfield.

Members of Killingly Grange will attend a neighbors' night meeting with the members of Ekonk Grange, August 7.

Miss Ruth Gallup, of Washington, and Miss Irene Gallup, of New York, are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gallup, of Broad street.

Suckers that destroy spawn are held accountable for poor fishing in some of the brooks of water shreadmats.

John C. Beauvais, of New Bedford is spending the week-end with friends in Danielson.

A cast of players who will present dramas in French is to come into this territory from Montreal, during the early fall season.

Arthur C. Benjamin, of Worcester, was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Friday.

Members of the Woman's Relief corps, McGregor post, G. A. R., and Colonel Edward Anderson camp, Sons of Veterans, with members of their families, will have an outing August 12.

Registrars of Killingly, assembled next Friday to make an enrollment of the voters of Killingly, are to meet by district.

Lester C. Weeks, of Providence, is spending a few days with friends in Danielson.

Charles Russel Ally, officer in the U. S. army, and Mrs. Ally, from Washington, D. C., were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards at the Old People's home in Danielson, Thursday.

PUTNAM

The semi annual report of the Putnam Building and Loan Association shows assets of nearly one quarter of a million dollars. Judge M H. Geissler, the secretary, in his semi-annual report said:

Although Putnam is now in the grip of an industrial and business depression, which, following upon the heels of the financial upheavel caused by the closing of the First National Bank of Putnam, has made it difficult for many of the people to keep the wolf from the door, to say nothing of adding to their savings, yet during such a period of stress, when many of our shareholders had to withdraw their saving, though much against their will, when wages ceased and profits of business failed to materialize, Putnam Building and Loan Association increased its assets which have now reached a point near the quarter of a million mark, $245,820.78. The association has three aims:

To help shareholders save money.

To give shareholders the best investment possible for small sums, with dividends at five per cent. compound interest;

To aid every man to own his own home.

The assets total $245,820.78.

The Putnam Building and Loan Association was incorporated in 1916. Its present officers are: Alexander Gilman, president; vice presidents, John M. Dean, Jr., Ernest B. Kent, Walter J. Bartlett; M. H. Geissler, secretary; W. E Moss, treasurer; Elsie A. Gallant, assistant secretary; O. J. Milot, assistant treasurer; board of management, Omer J. Milot, A. Newton Vaughn, Silas M. Wheelock, Oscar Dugas, Ray C. Bosworth, Herbert J. Smith; attroney, M. H. Geissler. The association has opened its twentieth series.

Governor Trumbull has authorized the issuing of rules and regulations for the eradication and control of bacillary White diarrhoea in poultry flocks. The rules are to be issued by Commissioner of Domestic Animals James M. Whittlesey in accordance with the control act adopted by the 1925 general assembly. An appropriation of $12,000 was made for the eradication work and it is to be expected that arrangements will be complete so that the work will star about August 1. Harold O. Woodward of Pomfret and Tracy M. Swen of Simsbury, have been engaged by Commissioner Whittlesey to make field inspections. Both are graduates of Connecticut Agricultural college and have had considerable experience in making the blood tests which are a part of the work toward control of the disease.

The Mechanicsville Athletic Association plans to hold its annual field day or days rather, for it will be two this year, Thursday and Friday, August 28 and 29. There will be an attractive program of sporting events, incuding some worth-while boxing bouts.

Francis E. Metcalf, superintendent of the Putnam Manufacturing company is in the south on a business trip.

Mrs. E. F. Perry and daughter, Alice have returned from a week's visit to relatives at Washington, Conn.

The last three Sundays in August the services will be held at the Congregational church. Rev. James F. English, pastor. The mid-week services will be held at the Methodist church for the first two Thursdays of the month and at the Congregational church for the last three Sunday services will be at 10:45 a. m.

At the Congregational church the church school will be closed during August. The library is to be open after the morning service. There will be no choir rehearsal until August 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Freedley and children of New York are at their home in Pomfret for the summer. Mr. Freedley is co-author and producer of "Lady, Be Good" one of the musical comedy hits of the season. It is one of the few Broadway attractions that will not close during the summer.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Gordon have returned from a trip through New York state, visiting their son and friends. After spending some time at Schenectady and Greensboro they were at Northfield, Mass several days before returning to Honeysuckle cottage at Pomfret, which they will occupy with the Misses Keyes, Mrs. Gordon's sisters.

Misses Kingsbury, Marion and Jane Mathewson and their niece, Miss Katherine Noyes are guests of Miss Noyes at her home in Pomfret.

Mrs. John Grosvenor, Master Benjamin, Misses Florence and Constance Grosvenor and Miss Francis Daggett have gone to Cape Cod, making the trip by automobile. They will be gone until the first of September. Mr. Grosvenor will join the family later.

Daniel Williams and John McCauley have returned from a motor trip through Vermont.

Rev. N. B Burton, pastor of the Methodist church and family will attend camp meeting at Williamantic the latter part of August. The two camp meeting Sundays will be August 16 and 23.

RESERVES

Many a battle in warfare has been won because the victorious Army was capable of "bringing up the Reserves." And the same applies to business and Life itself.

The man who "lives up" to all he earns has no Reserve. He is absolutely dependent on his immediate efforts.

When you Save a part of your earnings, you build Reserve. You grow stronger both morally and financially.

Then when opportunity knocks or when some unforeseen circumstances occurs you "call out" the Reserves—and the Victory is yours.

THOMPSON SOCIETY WEDDING
A GARDEN CEREMONY

Miss Constance Campbell Hunt, daughter of Mrs. Claramon Hunt of Providence, and Laurence Knight Ebbs, son of Col. and Mrs. Robert Cotton Ebbs of Newport, were married at 4 o'clock at "Sunnyholm," the country home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Decker.

The ceremony, witnessed only by members of both families and a few intimate friends, was performed in the garden, Rev. John Howard Deming, rector of St. George's church, Newport, officiating.

Preceding the ceremony while the guests were informally assembling an orchestra played nuptial music that merged into the wedding march as the bride approached through the roseway to the garden.

She walked with her brother-in-law, who gave her in marriage, and was attended by her sister as matron of honor and by her niece, Miss Faith Decker. Her wedding gown was of satin-crepe, fashioned on the simplest of modish lines, and ungarnished by ornament, other than a motif of crystal beads at one side A square-cut train, suspended from the shoulders, was covered by the length of the tulle wedding veil that was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Occasional blossoms dotted the sides of the train. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and sweetheart roses in shower design. The gowns worn by the attendants were of harmonizing tones of apricot. Mrs. Decker carried an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses and blue delphinium, and Miss Decker carried ascension lilies.

An aisle through which the wedding party passed to the place of ceremony, where the bridegroom waited with his best man, Lieut. A. H. Fricke of Newport, was formed by bands of ribbon borne by Betty and Frank Decker.

Following the ceremony, and an informal reception on the lawn, Mr. and Mrs. Ebbs left by automobile, the wedding gift of the bride's mother, for a month's camping trip in Canada.

STOLE FROM INN WAITRESS—MRS. H. M. ANDERSON IN JAIL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

PUTNAM, July 31.—Mrs. Helen M. Anderson, a former waitress at the Putnam Inn, who disappeared last Friday was presented in the city court charged with stealing money and clothing to the amount of $267, from another waitress at the hotel. She was arrested at her home in Natick, Mass. She pleaded guilty to the charge and was bound over to the superior court in the sum of $1,000. Being unable to get it, she was taken to Brooklyn jail.

The dresses and other clothing were valued at $100, the money amounted to $71 and there were two bank pass books, one of the Putnam Savings Bank showing a balance of $95, and one of the Bancroft Trust company of Worcester with debits of $55.

The woman told the court that she was married, had four children, and that her husband had deserted her.

CANTERBURY GREEN

Rev. Ralph Knight and family are expected home from a motor trip to New Hampshire and Vermont by the end of the week. There will be the usual services at the church Sunday, though those who listen for the ringing of the church bell will probably fail to hear it. Necessary repairs in the belfry are being made by workmen from Plainfield and the timbers are not all yet in place. Work has also been done on the under structure of the building on the north side.

A well attended Ladies' Aid society meeting was held Tuesday afternoon at the Brown homestead on Black Hill. Several visitors were included in the company. Mrs. Nelson will entertain the society at its next gathering Tuesday, Aug. 11.

George Rowland, a former resident of Canterbury, and his son, Joseph and family, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., were callins on friends in town Thursday.

Lewis Safford is visiting in Springfield, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Piatt, who were week end visitors here.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Graves were Mr. and Mrs. George Doyle, of Danielson.

Mrs. James Apply has been entertaining her cousins from Plainfield. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ackley and daughter.

Ralph Lovell is beginning work on a bungalow near his poultry plant, opposite the Keezers place.

A family gathering and dinner party took place at the home of Mrs. S. B. Hadley in South Canterbury, Thursday The guests included Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ross and Miss Ross, of Lisbon, and Miss Camp, of Bridgeport. Later in the afternoon Mr. Ross and family with Mrs. Hadley, Miss Hadley and Miss Baldwin, drove to Black Hill to the Ladies' Aid society meeting.

LEDYARD

Much improvement is being made to the Spicer cemetery, located near the center of the town. Here is where Capt. Edmund Spicer, who was judge of probate for a number of years and conducted a country grocery store, is buried. Mrs. Caroline Lester and Mrs. Sarah Lester, both daughters of the late Capt. Spicer, are residents of California, owning their homes there. They are now visiting relatives and friends in the east and are financing the erection of a new wall being built around this cemetery by Italians from Deep River. When the work of erecting the new road and the grading is done, the appearance of the cemetery will be greatly changed.

Rev. G. F. Goodenough will supply the pulpit of the Congregational church in North Stonington, Sunday morning. Rev. Allen Shaw Bush, of Gales Ferry, will preach in the Congregational church, at Ledyard Center.

Ledyard grange held its annual picnic at the Drawbridge, Wednesday, July 29. An appetizing clam chowder was served to all; each one carried his lunch, and all ate together. There were about 65 present and all had an enjoyable day.

Rev. G. F. Goodenough held a C. E. meeting at the residence of John W. Finnegan, Sunday evening.

The Lamb family enjoyed a hot dog supper at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Leon M. Colver, Thursday evening.

David Geer, of New Haven, and Professor Hauch, of Yale university, were week end guests of the former's mother, Mrs. C. D. Geer.

WEST KINGSTON

Richard H. Bristow has resigned in Boston, and is employed on the Power Hill road. Mr. Bristow is an expert steam shovel man.

Mrs. Annie K. Webster and daughter, Mildred, accompanied by Mrs. S. C. Webster, all of Westerly, spent Thursday with Dr. Kenyon and family.

Miss Dorothy M. Kenyon made a few days' visit this week with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, of Matunock.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Watson spent Wednesday in Providence.

Master A. Harirs Kenyon, of Providence, is visiting his grandparents.

People around this locality are experiencing considerable trouble with dogs. Wednesday of this week, Fred Crandall's family heard commotion among their hens. Going to the hen yard they found two dogs. There was a nice flock of 18, only 4 were left and in a liveable condition. The dogs also killed four chickens nearly large enough for broilers. The hens were of the White Wyandotte breed.

Ida M. Randall is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Fred W. Brown, near Matunock.

Mr. and Mrs. George Young and Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, were recent callers at Sandercown.

Many from here attended the chicken supper at Richmond Grange hall, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Edith Rathbun, of North Kingston, was a caller here Thursday.

R. H. Bristow and family visited relatives at Wyoming, Sunday afternoon.

Amos H. Kenyon, of Providence, spent Sunday evening here.

LISBON

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Barber and son, Rowland, 3rd., returned to their home in Waterbury Sunday, after spending a week at the Barber home here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Palmer had as their guest Monday and Tuesday, Rev. E. P. Ayer, the blind chaplain. Monday evening, a company of fourteen including Dr. and Mrs. Ferguson, of North Ware, N. H., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morgan, of Boston, and several from Griswold, were entertained at their home. During the evening Miss Susie Morgan read the poem entitled, "Evolution", from The Bulletin of Wednesday, July 22, and copied from the Penn. State Times. The author is Mrs. Anna Snow Fitts, wife of Professor Fitts, and sister of Mrs. J. B. Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Whitaker moved last week to Potter Manor. Both will be greatly missed, as Mr. Whitaker has been active in town affairs and represented the town in the legislature last winter. Mrs. Whitaker is the efficient president of the Ladies' Aid society.

Recent callers at R. R. Barber's were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Burnham and daughter, of Ballouville, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tattersal, of Rhode Island.

Mrs. F. E. Hyde, Mrs. Walter A. Hyde and Miss Clara Hyde, attended the picnic and old home day for the Sunday schools of Lebanon and Franklin, at Mohegan Park, Wednesday.

CHAPLIN

Rev. and Mrs. John H. Knott and Miss Edith Knott, are visiting William Knott's family in Flushing, Long Island, and are to be away over next Sunday. Rev. Joseph F. Cobb, of South Windham, will supply Rev. Mr. Knott's pulpit Sunday.

Twenty from Chaplin went to Eastford Sunday evening and attended an interesting meeting of the Christian Endeavor society.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Back and two children, of Washington, D. C., Miss Vera Back, of New York, and Mrs. Readio, of Florence, Mass., are visiting with their aunt, Carrie Heminway.

Natchaug grange is to hold a picnic today (Saturday) at South Chaplin, by the river, at the Ross mill.

Harry Storrs and family and Mrs Henry C. Storrs, are at their summer home in the village.

PENDLETON HILL

Mrs. Martin O. Chapman and George Pierce spent a few days at William Hiscox's, in Jewett City, recently. Mrs. Hiscox was visiting at Mrs. Bertha Culver's in Stonington.

Malcolm and George Cottrell are spending two weeks with their grandmother and other relatives near Providence.

Mrs. Jennie Gilbert, of West Somerville, Mass., is visiting Mr. and Mrs Clifford Thompson.

Miss Bertha Lewis, of Voluntown, is the guest of Miss Cecile Palmer, and sisters.

COURT DECISION SUSTAINS ONE-MAN TROLLEY CARS

NEW YORK, July 31.—(A. P.)—The full text of the opinion of the Connecticut supreme court of errors, in which the superior court is sustained in ruling that the city of New Haven had no jurisdiction in enforcing an ordinance prohibiting the operation of double truck one-man trolley cars on some of the streets of New Haven, was received here today.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice George W. Wheeler, sustained in effect the contentions of the Connecticut company that a municipality cannot regulate the moving of street cars, such power being vested exclusively with the public utilities commission. While in certain instances a municipality may act jointly with the public utilities commissioners in regulating street cars, the municipality may have exclusive control as far as local matters are concerned.

SELF-GOVERNMENT

President Coolidge's remarks in [illegible] addresses on the enforcement of federal governmental [illegible] functions [illegible] certain quarters [illegible] to encourage rather [illegible] further invasions of [illegible]. Mr. Coolidge is charged with having threatened the states or with stating told them that the price of self-government is behavior in accordance with the notions of central authority. As against that supposed view the statement is made that even [illegible] is preferable to [illegible] and to self-rule involves the [illegible] mistakes and disappointments.

Mr. Coolidge indulged in no threats and did not intimate that self-government might rightly be [illegible] because of what federal [illegible] might deem state or local [illegible]. He did not question the right of states and of governments to learn by experience, by trial and by error. What he said was that should states stubbornly refuse to discharge their "obvious duties," then these duties would have to be performed by federal authority, simply because public sentiment would not acquiesce indefinitely in non-performance of essential tasks. A prediction is not a threat, and President Coolidge with national experience in mind predicted only what many other Americans forecast.

The states, singly or in concert, can do many things which the people insist upon as necessary to their welfare. If indifference or negligence prevents proper local action, the victims of neglect will lose patience, forget abstract principles and turn to the federal government for relief.

MAINE AND BILLBOARDS

The state of Maine, which boasts of its scenic beauty, is engaged in an effort that will attract wide attention. This is an endeavor to protect the scenic beauty from further encroachment and restore to view what has been hidden by the growing use of billboards. The last legislature passed a law that excludes billboards and all forms of wayside advertising. The law has just become effective and state troopers and all highway officials will take down all billboards as well as all other forms of advertising along the highways.

The cause for this was found in the argument that the billboard advertisers were covering up every scenic spot in the state, that the more attractive the scenery the higher and longer the billboards were made until they became a board wall if not a nuisance. In a greater or less degree every state has the same problem and the result of the Maine law will be watched with much interest. Inviting tourists to visit the state, Maine was concerned by the growing instances where a drive along its roads was becoming a tour between rows of nationally advertised products. The billboard people were quick to select the most eligible spots to catch the public eye and often a beautiful vista of ocean or forest or mountain was lost to sight through the billboards that lined the road.

Maine started the Pine Tree shilling, the American navy and prohibition. It may have started something else in its crusade against the billboards.

MUSSOLINI AND THE PRESS

Dictators in Rome, like Julius Caesar, Domitian and Caligula, hundreds of years ago, had little to fear from the bright light of publicity. Newspapers had not been invented and although people would talk about horrors and scandalies, they did it in whispers if they were wise.

Mussolini, the present dictator, cannot quite restore ancient conditions. There is a world outside Italy that more and more impinges on the commercial life of his country, and which is generally republican in tendency, and prone to condemn political murders that go unpunished and despotism that shocks its citizenry. It is to be presumed that Mussolini thinks he is doing the next best thing by enforcing the policy of banishing from Italy any correspondent that does not seem to please the dictator. His first victim is a Chicago newspaper correspondent, who was jailed for a time and held incommunicado, and is now given ten days to leave the country.

On such an issue, affecting the freedom of world news, journalists commonly stand together. The Rome correspondents of the New York World, The Christian Science Monitor, The Chicago Daily News, the Philadelphia Public Ledger and the United Press have all signed a protest against the banishment of their fellow journalist and formally declared their purpose to ask their newspapers to withdraw them from Rome if banishment is to be the penalty of not having dispatches virtually blue-pencilled by Mussolini and his agents.

The issue is a sharp one and any compromise would be contemptible. The dictatorship government which Mussolini has instituted cannot stand the light of day. The killing of Matteotti, socialist leader in the chamber of deputies; the repeated beating with clubs of Amendola, leader of the Arventine opposition, and the just reported smashing of the automobile of former Premier Orlando by a Fascist mob that threatened his life are only incidents. Terrorism is everywhere. There is no free press in Italy. But the free press in America and in England can hardly be muzzled by Mussolini.

MEXICAN THEORY VS. PRACTICE

The idea behind the land revolution in Mexico has much in its favor, but in its practice it is working out to help neither the peon nor the state and it has brought Mexico into a political muddle with the United States. The theory is that the government should supply to the millions of landless peons freeholds for farming. It would be good for the peons and good for the state, because it would build up a large and stable class of small farmers.

To this agrarian movement neither the United States government nor the American holders of large estates would object seriously if it were carried out according to due process of law. But it works quite differently. Of due process of law the Mexican peon knows little and cares less. He has been told that he is to have land and he takes it. One result is that American property has been confiscated without the compensation provided in the Mexican land laws. But more important than this to the land owners is that the agrarians take cultivated and improved holdings in direct violation of the law. The object was to put the idle land under cultivation by the peon, but the peon has small use for idle land. What he takes, without regard to the law, is land already under cultivation, together with the crops, machinery, buildings and mills on it. The idle land is left, to a great extent, lying idle.

The food supply which should be increased by the scheme is actually decreased; for the big holders, knowing that the peon's taste runs to land with growing crops, refrain from putting them in. This alone is enough to reduce the whole proposition to absurdity. With the failure of the agrarians to produce food, the laborers in the city are short of what they need and their discontent adds to the generally unsatisfactory condition.

This is not the whole story. The Washington government is asking Mexico merely to enforce its own laws in regard to American property owners. The facts in the case are that, either through weakness or wilfulness, the Calles government has dodged the issue of enforcement. Thus this confusion in the agrarian situation is at the bottom of the unsatisfactory relation between Calles and the state department at Washington.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS ABROAD

The problem of traffic control is extending to European cities, though the number of motor vehicles is nowhere so large as in the United States. A writer in the London Times says that in view of the growing use of automobiles "the congested traffic is likely to be disastrous,' unless preparation for taking care of it is made. This seems almost comical when the number of motor vehicles in England and the United States is compared. At the end of last year there were in England a million and a quarter motor vehicles in use, of which 450,000 were private motor cars. The increase in the use of cars for the year was something under 100,000. The total number of cars and trucks in use in the United States at the end of last year was 17,740,000 an increase of 2,427,000 over the preceding year. Each of fourteen American firms produced more cars than all of the British motor manufacturers combined.

But England is a small country with comparatively short roads. A large per cent. of its transport is on motorcycles. Besides which there are hundreds of thousands of bicycles still in use in England for men women and children are always to be found on the roads making leisurely journeys, frequently in groups.

Some of the suggestions made for the control of traffic are, that cars should not be permitted to stand more than eighteen inches from the curb, that the central white line in the middle of the roadways should be placed in road structure (instead of painted or white-washed) particularly around jurnings; that blind corners be removed; and the slow moving traffic be held rigorously to the side of the road both in town and country. Eventually as in this country European cities must look to subways or elevated streets for relief. European capitals anticipate the rapid decrease and final disappearance of horse traffic, and regulations are contemplated with a view to motor traffic alone.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

There are many things in which the lad needs instruction—that of course goes without saying. Among those things is the air rifle. Apparently the air rifle is a harmless thing, in just the same sense that any rifle is. That is when it is not loaded or pointed at anyone. But even the small lad knows that the object of a rifle is to be loaded and pointed and fired. It isn't a parlor ornament as a beautiful vase is. The air rifle is made to be used and no reasonable person would object to its being used if done thoughtfully and carefully. No boy with any brains would think of firing it at a person, but why should any boy think of aiming and firing at birds. To say nothing of the law that forbids, the schools are supposed to teach the folly and cruelty of it. Were it not for birds soon there would be no crops, and this every boy ought to know. Why not be satisfied with a target that would not be injurious?

It must be admitted that superstition is strong among us. Probably we are not under the dominion of so many ridiculous things as they were centuries ago. But we are not so far advanced as to poke fun at our remote ancestors Doubtless they were rendered miserable by the cruelty of many of the signs and wonders that we laugh at. Is it not, however, within the range of a very plausible possibility that those who will come after us will wonder at some of our senseless superstitions? Take, for instance, the myth about St. Swithin's day; if it rains on that day, so the superstitious have it, it will rain for the next forty consecutive days, which is scientifically "all bosh". The writer was amazed to find how extensively this is believed in England, which is largely due to the fact that Saint Swithin was an Englishman in good and regular standing.

We can understand why there should be so many mistakes in civil government and many other things directly under the control of man who is fallible in everything. But how shall we account for the mistakes in Nature which is outside of man's jurisdiction? Perhaps you will say that there are no mistakes in Nature. Well, if there are no mistakes, there are certainly defects which amount to the same thing. This we must all admit without quibbling over phraseology. As a good illustration take a drought that sometimes marks a New England summer. Vegetation generally is stunted, while many forms of it are completely ruined. In the same period goods in a New England factory are ruined in the process of manufacture we say that somebody has blundered and we judge correctly. Nature is just as much of an old blunderer as man is. Plant your garden and then turn it over to Nature and see what will become of it! Bring a boy into the world and let nothing but nature teach him, and see what sort of a product it produces!

It is not so much outward environment as inward conditions that determine the character of one's thinking. All writers will agree that when the mental engine goes purring along as soft as velvet they are quite independent of their surroundings, and sometimes perfectly oblivious of them. But if there is any engine trouble in the upper story, they may be in the Garden of Eden or on the top of Parnassus, all their scribblings will be nothing more than inane drivel. The greatest products of the human mind are wholly independent of their surroundings. As far as place is concerned Hamlet might have been written in the Sahara, the jungles of India or in Buckingham Palace. In sublimity it rises far above time and place. It's the inner life that counts.

What is equal to the old New England farmhouse, so spacious and well situated in a picturesque environment, as an ideal place for rest from the heat, the toil and fatigue incident to July and August? There are few country places in our New England that may not claim the honor of this sort. The other day the writer made his first visit to the delightful old town of Canterbury. It may be that he was in just the right attitude of mind and body to enjoy the loveliness of this place, for it did seem to him that it came the nearest to a perfect place for a summer outing of any place he has yet seen. There is varied scenery, wide and beautiful vistas, colonial homes, splendid lawns and spacious elms. Here one is away from the noise and clatter that we love to forget for a while, and yet at easy access to the larger places in the valley to the east or west. If one cannot find peace here there must be something the matter with his conscience. He must be either a bootlegger or a pickpocket.

In this recent Tennessee fol-de-rol, over the legality of teaching evolution in state-controlled institutions, has justice been impartially administered to all parties concerned? Mr. Scopes has had the able Darrow to defend him; evolution has not suffered at the hands of Mr. Malone. Genesis will certainly last a few years longer since Mr. Bryan has tried to prop it up; the legal rights of the state of Tennessee have been very ably protected by Attorney General Stewart. But one innocent party has been unwittingly overlooked in the trial, and that is the innocent ape, the storm center of the whole controversy. The fundamentalists have been horrified at the news that their ancestors were once apes. But the ape, looking upon some men has cried out: "My God, is that what I am coming to?"

Isn't it true that the hottest thing on this world is trying to keep cool? That is a broad statement but it is perfectly true. Possibly it needs a little elucidation. We are never so uncomfortable as when we are thinking how hot we are. "As a man thinketh, so is he," a truism that applies just as much to his mind as to his body. Suppose on a very hot day you are working on something that completely absorbs your mind, do you suffer very much from the heat? Suppose on such a day you are lying in a hammock, fanning ourself in a vain effort to keep cool. Don't you feel as though you might get a sun stroke? What makes the difference? In the first instance you are doing something interesting that takes your mind away from yourself. Mind has became superior to matter. In the second instance you are letting your mind pamper your feelings, and that is why I say that the hottest experience we have is trying to keep cool.

Just what do we mean by patriotism? Does it mean the same thing when it falls from the lips of all men? Webster does not throw all the light that is desirable when he tells us that patriotism is "devotion to the welfare of one's country." The enquiring mind will ask: "exactly what do you mean by welfare? Did not the manufacturer of war supplies claim to be patriotic during the conflict by running his factory night and day and selling his wares at an exorbitant price? Is any man patriotic when the mainspring of his activity is the feathering of "his own nest?" Is it patriotism in working for the government when we are in reality serving ourselves? During the war I heard famous men speak very fervently on loyalty to the government, and they spoke whole-heartedly—for $100 a night. I ask once more; just what is patriotism?

WHERE WOOLEN MANUFACTURING STANDS

"The price maladjustment between wool and its manufactures," says the National Bank of Commerce in New York, "has been the most conspicuous feature of the international wool situation during the last two or three years." Continuing, the bank says in the August issue of Commerce Monthly:

"Ever since prices recovered from the low levels reached during the period of violent price liquidation following the spring of 1920, wool manufacturers have been forced to operate on a high raw-wool market and profits derived from advancing the raw material through the successive steps in manufacturing have been meager. High textile wage rates have contributed greatly to the difficulties of the industry, especially in the United States and Great Britain.

"A large wool crop in the southern hemisphere last season, part of which failed to find buyers at ruling prices, resulted for the first time in several years in an accumulation of supplies and offered some promise of relief from high raw-material costs. A dramatic decline carried wool values in this country to a point more than 30 per cent. below the peak levels established in the winter. However, despite wide realization that consumer resistance forbids the steady marketing of anything like a full output of the world's wool-textile mills on the basis of the extreme values for wool lately seen, raw wool prices have advanced sharply from recent lows and there is a little evidence that stability is in sight.

"The wool manufacture is face to face with the question of whether its physical plant has outrun the supply of raw material and demand for woolen and worsted goods based on prices for raw wool resulting from the failure of the world wool clip to keep pace with world population. A special phase of the problem is the question as to whether the equipment for worsted manufacture which can deal only with new and unused fibers is out of balance with the woolen industry, whose raw materials include not only so-called "virgin" wools but their by-products and a host of substitutes as well.

"For some ten years or more before 1914 wool manufacturing was expanding both in the countries where the domestic wool supply or other favoring influences was stimulating a local manufacture hitherto little developed. By 1914 the leading wool-consuming countries were more heavily equipped for worsted than for woolen manufacture. This development coincided with a period of great increase in wool supplies and low wool prices, particularly fine wool prices.

"Reliable estimates place the increase in world population between 1900 and 1920 at about 20 per cent. While complete figures are not available in regard to expansion of wool-manufacturing equipment during that period such evidence as there is indicates that manufacturing capacity increased as fast as and probably faster than population. On the basis of expanding population and a higher standard of living the world over, the total accessions to mill capacity do not seem alarming. Unfortunately, there has been no commensurate increase in wool supplies.

"Prewar expansion in wool manufacture followed upon a period in which vast new areas were opened to sheep grazing in the southern hemisphere and in the United States. According to the best estimates available the trend of wool production had been strongly upward for some fifty years, the period of expansion having come to an end by the beginning of the war.

"From 1914 to 1919 or 1920 the trend of production differed greatly in the various wool-growing areas. In the last three or four years there has been a considerable increase in wool production the world over owing to the stimulation of high prices.

"Unfortunately, as conditions are today, markedly lower prices for wool would probably result in a material reduction in supplies. Wool flocks are now much smaller than in 1914 and suitable range is impossible to secure anywhere in the enormous tracts and at the relatively low prices characteristic of the last century. Furthermore, grain production has developed rapidly in Australia, Argentina and the United States in the last thirty years, and the trend toward a diversified agriculture has prompted an increase in the area under various other crops. Expansion of the cattle industry has also tended to discourage sheep raising in many localities. Moreover the costs of wool production are much lighter than before the war and are not likely to decrease substantially for some time to come.

"Even more difficult than the problem of increasing wool supplies as a whole are those encountered in the production of fine wools on a profitable basis for the grower, yet at a price low enough to insure a wide market for fabrics made of them.

"It is abundantly evident from even the incomplete and not altogether comparable material available that for somewhat more than fifteen years the leading wool-manufacturing countries have been more heavily geared for worsted than for woolen spinning and that that condition still prevails. With lower wool prices it is quite possible that the tremendous world capacity for worsted production would not be in excess of demand. Unfortunately, worsted manufacturers have borne the brunt of the high wool values since they cannot employ any of the useful reworked wools and wastes which have been a boon to woolen manufacturers in reducing raw-material costs. Worsted mills have been further disadvantaged by the vogue for woolens which the sports habit has introduced.

"For the wool manufacture as a whole the next few years undeniably present many serious problems. The evidence is that during the last fifteen years supplies of wool have failed to keep pace either with population or with wool-manufacturing equipment. Rapid changes in style and merchandising changes of sweeping character have injected into the wool-manufacturing business additional highly speculative elements. Therefore, those industries which have a certain suppleness in shifting production with the shifting of popular demand and which can reduce costs by more efficient management, agreements with their labor or by judicious admixture of reworked fiber in their products, will probably receive the bulk of the world's business in wool fabrics. The desire for economic self-sufficiency at present manifest in many parts of the world would seem to favor those industries which enjoy a wide home market as compared with those which are dependent on export."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Business Men for Congress

Mr. Editor: Running this big nation is a big business proposition; and being such, big business men of good education should be chosen for the work. Scholar statesmen are proven failures owing to the lack of competitive business experience. What is the result of our incompetent statesmanship? Billions to pay! No business man can understand the acts of congress voting billions out of the pockets of the American people,—many of them farmers working 16 hours per day for an average of 70c per day, and receiving in return for those billions, pure 100 per cent bunk—cheap John excuses and gold brick arguments!

Our statesmen would not wilfully commit such an outrage, but they do such things at the request of the people who want the loot without contributing the people who must pay the loot!

An elegant way to do business for the people, isn't it! What is the result?

Farmers must pay 300 to 400 per cent more tax than they did 20 years ago; and the abandoned farms resulting from incompetent statesmanship will make a still higher tax necessary to keep up the roads, etc., for the remaining farmers to pay. Send business men to congress!

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

THE RELIGION OF PAUL

The Apostle Paul was an illustration of the way we should live between Sundays: First of all, in his concern for men, which he shows when he is willing to be accursed from Christ if only his brethren may be made to know the Saviour; again in his zeal in behalf of the lost, when he says that night and day he had besought the people with tears, and that he had gone from house to house beseeching them to be reconciled to God; once more, in his willingness to preach in season and out of season—for whether Paul be at Mars Hill or in Corinth or in other places where it might be a very natural thing for him to turn his attention to the beauty of his surroundings, yet in spite of it all he preaches. He never seems to take a moment for rest, but his constant desire is to glorify Him who had set him free from the power of sin. If he is chained to a Roman soldier, he tells the story of Christ; if he is beaten with rods, he has only a better vision of God's love, if he is stoned and left for dead, he tells us of a heavenly vision when he did not know whether he was in the body or out of the body, indeed, from one Lord's day to the next, the best commentary on Paul's life is his own statement when he says, "I live and yet not I, but Christ liveth in me."

Jesus, I my cross have taken, all to leave and follow thee. Destitute, despised, forsaken, thou from hence my all shall be. Perish every fond ambition, All I've sought, or hoped, or known. Yet how rich is my condition. God and heaven are still in favor.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Frank W. Ballou, who is mentioned as a defendant in the evolution case begun in the District of Columbia, has been superintendent of the public schools of Washington for five years. Mr. Ballou is a native of New York state. After graduating from a normal school he attended the Teachers college at Columbia university for two years, earning the bachelor of science degree. He did graduate work at the University of Cincinnati and later went to Harvard, where in 1914 he received the degree of Ph. D. For several years he was engaged in an investigation and reorganization of the public school systems in various Massachusetts cities. He then became assistant superintendent of the Boston schools, which position he held when called to head the Washington school system. Mr. Ballou is the author of several books and has been prominent in the affairs of the National Education association.

Billy Mink Passes a Good Dinner.

E'en he who has the sharpest eyes
Is fooled; no matter how he tries.
—Billy Mink.

Danny Meadow Mouse never had made his little legs go faster than he did as he swam to escape from Longlegs the Heron. Straight for an old piece of board floating out a little way in the Smiling Pool swam Danny. The water was deep out there. Danny wasn't afraid of drowning, but he was afraid that an enemy, a big, hungry fish or Snapper the Snapping Turtle or Billy Mink, might see him. He knew that then he would stand no chance at all.

But no one did see him, and with a little sigh of relief he scrambled out on that piece of board. It was plenty big enough to support him. It was a raft to him. But once on that board Danny had new worries. Here there was no grass to hide him. He was right in plain sigh of whoever should happen along. There was just one thing to do. That one thing was to make himself appear as small as possible and to keep perfectly still.

So Danny didn't even stop to dress his fur after its wetting. He crouched in a little heap on that board and there he sat without moving so much as the tip of his little short tail. Once Redtail the Hawk sailed over high above the Smiling Pool. Had Danny moved ever so little those wonderful eyes of Redtail's would have seen that movement and would have recognized him. But because Danny didn't move all that Redtail saw was a little bump, so to speak, on that floating old board. Danny's coat and the old board were almost the same color. It was the last place in the world Redtail expected to see a Meadow Mouse and so he didn't see one.

But keeping still that way right out in the open was hard work. Yes, indeed, it was hard work. But Danny did it. Little by little that board drifted across the Smiling Pool until it reached the rushes. Then it drifted in amongst the rushes a little way and stopped. Danny gave a little sigh of relief. Those rushes gave him some protection. He didn't feel that he was quite so much in the open. He felt that if he was careful he might stretch a little without running too much risk. He stretched first one leg and then another. He did it very cautiously. Then once again he sat motionless.

Suddenly Danny heard a little ripple in the water. It was drawing nearer and nearer. Then Danny saw what was making it and it seemed to him as if his heart stood right still. That ripple was being made by Billy Mink. With just his brown head above the water Billy was swimming along close to the rushes. If he kept on the way he was headed he would pass so close that he would almost touch one end of that board, the opposite end from where Danny was sitting.

Now Billy Mink's eyes are as sharp as any eyes of which I know. There is little those sharp eyes miss. But they missed something this time. Straight past that old board swam Billy. As still as if he were a part of the board itself, sat Danny. Billy had no expectation of finding Meadow Mice on floating boards. Something else was on his mind just then. If he saw Danny, he saw merely a little bump on the old board which might have been a little heap of mud or something. Had Danny so much as twitched an ear it would have made all the difference in all the world both to Danny and to Billy Mink. The least movement on Danny's part would have led Billy to stop and investigate.

So Billy Mink swam past a perfectly good dinner. The ripple that he made rocked the old board on which Danny sat. For a long time after Billy had passed Danny remained just as he was. He realized how narrow had been his escape and he meant to take no chances.

Stories That Recall Others

Attended to That

One afternoon two visitors rang the bell, and, telling them to be seated, Maggie went into another part of the house to see if her mistress was in.

"I am very sorry," she said, returning a minute later, "but Mrs. Brown went out and won't be back till dinner-time."

"That's too bad!" exclaimed one of the visitors. "And to think, too, that I have forgotten my cards. I must——"

"Never mind the cards," interjected Maggie. "I told the mistress your names when I went upstairs."

Maybe Father Was in Bed

The pathetic humor of this tale impressed one of the girls engaged in social service work at a hospital the other day. A little boy in bed with a broken leg asked his mother, who had come to the hospital to visit him, whether father was coming out to see him.

"No, dear," said the mother sympathetically. "Father will not be out today—his suit's at the cleaner's."

Scarcely a second passes, year in and year out, winter and summer when there are not at least 100 lightning flashes somewhere in the world according to the recently issued Blue Book of the meterological office of the British government service. During a year, says the book, the world experiences 16,000,000 thunderstorms, or an average of 44,000 a day. The amount of energy released by these flashes is too stupendous for the human mind to grasp.

FEAST OF PORTIUNCULA WILL START TODAY

From noon on Saturday until midnight on Sunday the Feast of Portiuncula will be observed in Catholic churches throughout the state. In the official notice of Portiuncula it is stated that on account of the suspension of certain indulgences during the holy year, that of the Portiuncula for 1925 may be gained not for the living, but for the souls in purgatory. The conditions for gaining the indulgence are confession, communion and prayer for the intention of the holy father during the visit to the church. In the church in which use this privilege, the observance of the Portiuncula must be concluded in a solemn manner by public prayers for the sovereign pontiff and for the clergy of the universal church. The litany of the saints should be closed with benediction of the blessed sacrament. The same privilege is granted on the same conditions to all members of religious communities who visit their convent chapel on the days named above. A plenary indulgence may be gained on each visit to the church or chapel.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ernest L. Nickerson

The death of Lucy A. Story, beloved wife of Ernest L. Nickerson, occurred late Thursday evening at her home on Cliff street, after a long and severe illness.

She was the youngest daughter of Ebenezer Story and Mary Avery Story of Preston and was born in January 1874. On Thanksgiving day, 1912, she was united in marriage with Ernest L. Nickerson, by the Rev. Peter Wright, then pastor of the Central Baptist church. She was an attendant of the Central Baptist church and a member of Sachem Chapter, Eastern Star.

Mrs. Nickerson was of a very friendly disposition and a favorite among her many friends and neighbors, by whom she will be greatly missed. Besides her husband she leaves a brother, Thomas W. Story of Norwich; a half-brother, Ebenezer Story of Mumford's Cove; a sister, Mrs. Scott DeWolfe of Trading Cove; three nieces, Mrs. DeLloyd Beebe of Meriden, Mary L. Peckham and Elsie DeWolfe; two nephews, Joseph Peckham and Ebenezer DeWolfe, also several nieces and nephews, children of the late Charles Story of Noank who was a half-brother.

Mrs. Louis Almind

Following an illness of short duration the death of Marion Hoffman, wife of Louis Almind, formerly of Norwich, occurred Wednesday in New York city. News of her death was received with sorrow by host of friends in this year, where Mrs. Almind had spent all of her life, with the exception of the past year, when she has resided in New York.

Born in Norwich, September 26, 1903, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman, she received her early education in local schools. On April 7, 1924, she was united in marriage with Louis Almind, the service being conducted by Rev. David A. Pitt, D. D., pastor of the Central Baptist church. Soon after her marriage she took up her residence in New York city.

Mrs. Almind was a young woman of pleasing disposition and easily made friends. A loving wife and daughter, she will be greatly missed in her home circle and her many friends extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Surviving are her parents, now of Brooklyn, N. Y., who were Norwich residents until about one year ago; her husband; an infant daughter; two sisters, Mrs. Richard F. Pendleton, of Norwich, and Miss Annie Hoffman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and three brothers, Andrew and Neil Hoffman, of Chicago, and Lawrence Hoffman, of Norwich.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT FOR CHIMNEY FIRE

The fire department was called out at 4:37 o'clock Friday afternoon for a chimney fire at the house, 90-92 Williams street, owned by Charles W. Burton. Damage was slight and three gallons of chemical were used to extinguish the blaze which had started as a fire was lighted in the fireplace. Squad A and Chief Stanton responded to the call.

BURST WATER MAIN FLOODED THE N. Y. C. TRACKS IN BRONX

NEW YORK, July 31—(AP)—Traffic on the New York Central railroad was temporarily disrupted today when a broken water main flooded the tracks in the University Heights section of the Bronx. Railroad officials said the interference was not serious.

DIME SAVINGS BANK BUYS FORMER SHIELDS PROPERTY ON BROADWAY

The Dime Savings Bank Friday afternoon purchased the former Shields property at No. 31-35 Broadway from Moses Klingon of Colchester and during the late afternoon the sale, made through Frank A. Bill, was recorded at the office of Town Clerk Charles S. Holbrook. The purchase price was not announced.

While the bank officers have made no definite plans they are considering the removal of the bank from its present location on Main Street, to the site of the so-called Shields property. Frank L. Woodard, treasurer of The Dime Bank, said Friday evening, that while the bank officials are considering the removal of the bank to the Shields property site, nothing of a definite nature has been decided upon as yet.

The property, owned for years by Lawyer William H. Shields, is a three story frame building. For a number of years Mr. Shields law office was located in the building.

In January 1920, the property was sold by William H. Shields to Moses Klingon of Colchester and others who at that time planned to erect a theatre on the site.

In April 1921, Mr. Klingon announced that plans had been drawn by an architect and accepted by him for the erection of a moving picture and vaudeville house on the site of the Shields property. It was expected that the new theatre would be ready for occupancy by the following January or February. For one reason or another the theatre plans were abandoned by Mr. Klingon.

Recently John A. Moran, real estate broker of this city, filed a suit against Mr. Klingon, seeking to collect his commission for the sale of the property. He alleges Mr. Glingon requested him to sell the property for him and that he procured a customer but that Mr. Klingon then declined to sell.

Mr. Moran attached the property but Friday it is understood by order of Judge Allyn L. Brown of the supreme court, the attachment was released and a bond substituted. The sale of the property to the Dime Savings Bank was then completed and recorded in the town clerk's office.

HAD EIGHTEEN FIRE CALLS LAST MONTH

Eighteen calls were responded to by the fire department during the month of July, this number being more than the usual number of calls received by the department during July for several years past. Of the eighteen calls received, three were bell alarms, 13 were telephone calls, one was an oral alarm and one a false call.

Four of the fires were in chimneys, two were for automobiles, one for a gasoline pump, one for a store, another for a restaurant and the remainder for houses and barns. There were no grass or wood fires. Boys playing with matches, cigarettes, and chimneys were the cause of a majority of the fires.

The largest fire and the heaviest loss sustained, was in the Preston Bros. store on July 3d. The damage in that fire amounted to several thousand dollars. The next largest fire was on the following night, July 4th, at the Ellis restaurant on Franklin street, damage there also going over a thousand dollars.

The fires occurred during the month at the home of Ralph Tzzo off Palmer street, a barn burning down on July 3d and his house being considerably damaged on July 29th. The latter fire resulted in a charge of arson being brought against Tzzo.

SPRINKLER SYSTEM FOR SCHWARTZ BROS' STORE

Workmen of a large Providence concern have been engaged for over a week putting in a complete sprinkler system in Schwartz Bros., building on Main street and when the work is completed the building will be protected against fire by over 1,000 sprinkler heads. The system being installed is the "dry system," requiring heat to melt off the heads and allowing air pressure to escape thus bringing water into the pipes.

When the work is completed the building will be the best protected store building in the city, in fact the only one in Norwich to date, which is protected by the sprinkler system, and probably the only store in eastern Connecticut to be protected against a spread of fire by an inside sprinkler system.

THREE DANIELSON WOMEN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Three women were cut and bruised when an automobile in which they were riding, driven by Fred F. Nuttall of Main street, Killingly, collided with one of Joseph McCormick's trucks, driven by William A. Taylor, 35 Carter street, Providence, on Taunton avenue at Cora street, Providence Thursday evening.

Taylor turned the truck into a garage from Taunton avenue as the Connecticut machine came along. Mrs. Charles H. Keach, Mrs. Harry M. Thompson and Miss E. R. Woodworth, all of Danielson, were cut and bruised in the collision.

The windshield was smashed and the flying glass caused the cuts which the women received. The police made an investigation.

MADE 144 ARRESTS DURING LAST MONTH

During the month of July the local police made a total of 144 arrests. Of this number 66 arrests were on charges of violating the local traffic rules, 14 for violating the motor vehicle laws, 29 for intoxication and 17 for breach of the peace.

A summary of the charges follows: Intoxication, 29; breach of the peace, 17; frequenting place where liquor was sold, 3; violation liquor law, 3; violating city ordinances, (traffic rules) 66; violating motor vehicle laws, 14; theft, 1; non-support, 4; resisting an officer 1; common drunkard, 1; indecent exposure, 1; fishing in Fairview reservoir, 1; embezzlement, 1; operating automobile under influence of liquor, 4; reckless driving, 3; rape, 1; arson, 1.

DISMISSED COMPLAINT AGAINST REV. E. E. SCATES

In city court Friday morning, the complaint against Rev. E. E Scates, of Lisbon, who was charged with evading responsibility, after an accident, was dismissed

Rev. Mr. Scates' car side-swiped a Hupmobile sedan owned and operated by Joseph Pordugiel, of Tanner avenue, Thursday evening near Thames Square. The damage to the Hupmobile amounted to about $5, a mudguard being bent.

Connecticut Men Get Patents.

The list of patents issued by the U. S. patent office to citizens of Connecticut, as contained in the Official Gazette dated Tuesday, July 21, includes:

Edgar Crawley, Uncasville, running board for automobiles.

Mario Randon, Stafford Springs, register.

Incorporated New London Wash Silk company, New London and New York city; the Hemingway Silk company, Watertown, successors, embroidery and sewing silks and floss renewal.

Home From Newark.

Master Francis Tracy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Tracy of 58 St. Regis avenue has returned after spending three weeks vacation at the home of his uncle, James Tracy of Newark, N. J. While there he visited Coney Island, Olympic Park, Dreamland Park, Asbury Park, the Palisades, Belvedere Beach, Lakehurst and other places of interest.

Boy Resting Comfortably

Lawrence Vera, Jr, five-year-old Uncasville boy, mysteriously shot in the chest July 4 while walking near his home, was reported resting a little more comfortably at the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospital, New London Friday.

The unwritten poems and the unsung songs make life endurable.

SUGGESTS TWO METHODS FOR KILLING FLIES

Swatting the fly seems to be the chief summer sport, in Connecticut's climate, but there seems to be a wide difference of opinion as to the manner in which that game may be carried out. Some use the swatter, others fly-paper and still others different forms of fly poison, all of which are rather mussy methods of laying low the common house fly. Connecticut electrical men, however, have found more clean and surer ways of getting rid of the annual summer pest than any of the above.

Still the electrical men are in a slight disagreement as to whether the vacuum cleaner or the electric fan can be best used for the purpose of wholesale annihilation. Some say that if an electric fan is kept in motion in a room, the flies immediately become conspicuous by their absence. This method has been found to work out extremely well in stores in keeping meats and groceries free from flies.

The vacuum cleaner method of settling the fate of the germ-bearing and disease-breeding pests is said to be very successful in the household, since once the house is cleared, the flies do not gain entrance again for some time. The method removes them instantly. The secret of this method is wait until night-fall when the uninvited visitors begin to gather on the ceiling. The householder may then turn on the vacuum and by sweeping it over the ceiling about an inch above the flies' camping ground draw the sleepy-eyed insects quickly and completely into the dust bag.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED AT CAMP TIPPECAN

Thursday was visitors day at Camp Tippecan and among those present were: Scout Executive Donald North and two sons of Boston, accompanied by several scouts, scout executive F. E. Burdick, Mr. Church, Mr. Ryan, and two members of the camp committee, New London.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedler and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Airey, and friends of Taftville, Mrs. F. C. Williams of Willimantic, Miss Alford of Greeneville, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Perry of Voluntown, Mrs. Underwood of Chatauqua, New York, Mrs. Robinson of Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. LeClair of Beach Pond.

Harry Jordan returned to the Boston Scout camp, with Exeecutive North after completing the roof of the log cabin. Eleven scouts went on an overnight hike with Edward Preston the hike leader and others took their 14 mile hike near Voluntown. Billy Worrell, John Baynes and Dennis LeVarge have completed the carving of a fine totem pole.

Scouts are continuing the work on the cabin, which will be completed this season.

Camp closes early in August.

AUTO DRIVERS ARE HEEDING TRAFFIC RULES

With a record of 28 violators tagged Thursday and an additional 20 landed Friday, the local police department is out to put a stop to violations of the city ordinances. The work of the department has already begun to take hold and although the number of vehicles tagged Friday is practically as large as on the first day, there was a remarkable change in parking conditions in the city Friday.

Streets which are closed to parking on one side were fairly free from vehicles throughout the day Friday, a contrast on days earlier in the week when dozens of cars were parked there despite the signs which order no parking.

ARRESTED ON COMPLAINT OF NORWICH DRIVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 31—Michael Emmanuel, 43 Spring street, Middletown, was arrested tonight by Sergeant Frank Howard, charged with recklessness by Andrew Throwe, 27 McKinley Ave., Norwich. Emmanuel will be given a hearing in the New London police court on Monday morning. Emmanuel and Throwe were driving their cars on Main street shortly before eleven o'clock and according to Throwe, Emmanuel crowded him to the curbing, resulting in the two cars colliding. Both machines were damaged.

FUNERAL

Miss Olive Rogers

Funeral services for Miss Olive Rogers were held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Quakertown Hall, Ledyard, Rev. George P. Jones of Mystic, officiating. A quartet sang two hymns Rock of Ages and Nearer my God to Thee. There were beautiful floral pieces and there was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the service. Burial was in the Quakertown cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Jones. The bearers were Joseph Hall, Henry Griswold, Charles Griswold, and Ralph Griswold nephews of Miss Rogers. Arrangements were by Church & Allen.

Miss Rogers was born in Ledyard and had made her home there until recent years, which time she had resided with her niece Mrs. Frank C. Turner of Broad Street, Norwich.

Miss Rogers was seventh in descent from James Rogers, one of the founders of New London, whose son, John, founded the secret sect of Rogereen quakers, of which Miss Rogers was a devout member.

Miss Rogers had many friends in Ledyard and in this city who learned of her death with sorrow. Surviving are several nephews and nieces, Joseph H. Hall, Mrs. F. C. Turner and Miss Flora Hall of this city, Charles Griswold, Henry Griswold, Ralph Griswold, and Mrs. Martha Whitcomb of New London.

Although the average man laughs at his wife when she goes shopping and doesn't buy anything he kicks if she does.

FAMILY ESCAPES AS FLAMES DESTROY HOUSE

Fire which broke out from some unknown cause shortly before 1 o'clock this (Saturday) morning, totally destroyed the home of Frank Rogers, in Montville, opposite the Chagnon-Haggard tube works, all contents of the house and a pet dog being lost in the fire.

The family had retired for the night and were awakened by a crackling sound and the smell of smoke. Quickly leaving the burning structure word was sent for help and men from the Rogertson-paper mill came down with a line of hose but the house was beyond saving. The fire was kept from spreading to nearby buildings by the volunteer firemen.

The speed in which the fire went through the frame structure made it impossible to save anything from the house and it is also believed that the pet dog of the family also perished in the fire. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

MANY AUTO DRIVERS FINED IN CITY COURT

Twenty-seven auto drivers and the driver of one team were before Judge Arthur F. Libby in the city court Friday morning on charges of violation of the local rules, most of them for pearance in court was the result of orders issued by Mayor Milo R. Waters for a strict enforcement of the traffic rules from now on. In practically all cases fines of five dollars were imposed on the offenders.

The twenty-eight cases of violators of the local rules, most of them for parking over the forty or five minute periods was the largest number of auto cases in the local court in any one day since parking laws went into effect. Less than a half dozen were found not guilty. The sum total of fines collected amounted to $120, five dollars each for 24 violators, while three cases were nolled and one continued.

The violators lined up in court and Clerk Albert J. Bailey took care of the money paid in fines. The court room was packed with people who were on hand to see the outcome of the first round-up of autoists and other vehicle operators and it was necessary for Officer Charles Smith to call for order several times during the session.

A number pleaded guilty and some not guilty. They were heard by the court but the usual verdict was "Guilty, nolled on payment of $5."

The first cases heard were those of Albert Blime, Hebron; Julius Jacobs, New York, and Edward Green, Chelsea, Mass. These out of town men had left deposits of $5 at the police station to cover their fines.

Richard L. Holmes, a traveling salesman pleaded that he stayed overtime but 10 minutes, this because he was rushing his work as the stores closed at noon for the Thursday half holiday. He paid five dollars.

Clarence Sholes pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea to guilty and settled by depositing $5 with the clerk.

R. E. Grover, driver of a candy truck, explained that he parked in front of the Thayer building to deliver candy, but was there only a minute. The officer admitted his time was correct but that the tag was given for parking about six feet from the curb. Grover admitted this but pleaded that he did so in order to avoid being boxed in. Judge Libby told hom that he could not use the center of the street for parking and nolled the case on payment of $5.

Dr. Louis Cassidy pleaded not guilty to parking for 10 minutes on Franklin Square in a no parking area. He paid $5.

In the case of Shepard B. Palmer, city engineer, City Attorney Lee Roy Robbins recommended an absolute nolle as Mr. Palmer was on city business, having been called out by Street Commissioner John Donovan. Judge Libby stated that it was no life or death call and called for Mr. Palmer to be put to plea. Mr. Palmer said "guilty" and the judge said "five dollars," thus closing the case.

Edward Rich and N. C. Pierce of the City of Norwich Gas & Electrical department pleaded that they had their cars on the street in case of calls but Judge Libby informed them that if this was necessary the city should pass a special ordinance for gas and electric employes. He ordered a nolle on payment of $5 each.

A. J. Fitzgerald, of Broadway, pleaded business kept his car overtime in front of his store but Judge Libby could see no excuse in this and $5 was paid to the clerk.

Antonio Longo, fruit dealer of Bath street, pleaded that it was absolutely necessary for his truck to be near his business as he could not do business without it. He asked the court where he could put his truck and Judge Libby told him that Union Square would do, and called for payment of $5.

William R. Watrous pleaded not guilty, claiming that his car was being used by an employe whose business made it impossible to move the car on time. He was fined $5 but after court he explained more fully to the court and his money was refunded and a nolle entered.

Wilfred Gaudreau, of Jewett City, pleaded not guilty claiming that his car was disabled in front of Preston Bros. store and that it was underway again as soon as he was able to get a nut and fix the trouble. Judge Libby then entered a nolle although City Attorney Robbins thought the excuse was a poor one.

Louis E. Bushey, of Franklin, claimed that his car was 10 minutes in a 5 minute zone, while he was unloading 100 quarts of milk and taking back many bottles. He claimed that he did not stop to eat. The court ordered a nolle in his case.

The rest of the violators who paid $5 each were Victor Tongren, Peter Pisarko, Tyler Rogers, Michael D'Atri, James L. Case, Max Beit, Tony D'Atrileti, John Higgins, Charles Arvan, Myra F. Ward and Anson R. Grover, all of Norwich.

GREENEVILLE CHILDREN HAVE PARK PICNIC

Children at the Greeneville playground, numbering about 150, met at the playgrounds Thursday afternoon and went to Mohegan park where a picnic was enjoyed. Instructors Edward Sullivan and Celine Bowen were in charge of the youngsters and a fine time was enjoyed, the children visiting the animal cages, enjoying water sports, a ball game and races.

The ball game was a novel feature in as much as it was played in the water, a rubber ball being used. The two opposing teams were christened the Sharks and Whales, the mamma outfit being defeated 3 to 0. Paul McNamara, life guard at the lake supervised the ball game.

During the afternoon music was furnished by the playground orchestra which was enjoyed by the children as well as many employes of local stores who were at the park enjoying the half holiday.

Attended Convention.

HARVARD-YALE TENNIS TEAM GAINS TWO-MATCH LEAD OVER ENGLISH TEAM

NEWPORT, R. I., July 31.—(AP)—The combined Harvard-Yale tennis team today gained a two-match lead over the visiting Oxford-Cambridge team, with more than half of the three-day tournament on the courts of the Newport Casino completed. Taking four out of the six matches of today, two singles and two doubles, the Americans broke the tie resulting from the first day of play and swept into a 7 to 5 lead, with nine matches remaining for tomorrow.

Although both teams had displayed steady tennis in good form it was only in the doubles mathes of this afternoon that the sort of play which keeps a gallery on edge was attained.

Captain Arnold W. Jones of Yale, teamed with Charles Watson, 3rd., Yale, repeated his vitory of yesterday by defeating the English team of Van Alen and Lezard, rated as the number one team of the visitors. Against their experienced play and the tricky change of Van Alen, who is of a New York family, Jones needed all his finese, the able support of his partner, and his own several service aces. The match score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

Briggs and Hopkins, Harvard and Yale, squared their defeat in the doubles yesterday, by defeating today Jonkkass and Sumner of Oxford, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3, in the closest match of the tournament so far. Several times all four stood close to the net and engaged in furious long sustained rallies. The battle reached its height in the second set and the Americans took the final with comparative ease.

Lester and Tarleton, of Oxford and Cambridge, surprised the gallery by upsetting the Harvard team of Ingraham and Whitebeck, 6-3, 6-3, at no time did the American team strike a smooth pace and Whitebeck apparently was tired by his gruelling game of the morning. On the other hand the team work of the Englishmen was clever and their lobbying brilliant.

In the singles play of the morning, Van Alen triumphed over Whitebeck, 7-5, 6-2, with his strong forehand drives adding to the Harvard player's errors. Whitebeck took the first two games of the second set, before Van Alen cut loose and took six consecutive games without one being deuced. Jones had little difficulty in winning 6-0, 6-3, over Tarleton of Oxford, his splendid service winning two love games and another at 40-15. He scored 29 points to the 12 for the Englishman in the first set but dropped three games in the second on his own errors.

Briggs of Harvard and Jonkiass of Oxford played steady, careful tennis for three sets, driving long placements from the base line, but the Harvard man won, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

WEISMULLER SETS NEW RECORD IN 100 YD. SWIM

SEATTLE, July 31.—(AP)—John Weismuller of Chicago, in a special race in this channel today surpassed the world record for the 100 yards free style, swimming it in 50.4 seconds.

He had a strong wind obliquely at his back, and the time was two seconds faster than the previous record which Weismuller made at Miami, Fla., February 17, 1924.

The third day of the national amateur athletic union open water swimming meet started with the water roughened by a strong wind. The 300 yards medley swim was the first national event.

Summaries:

Medley 300 yards: Won by Harry Glancy, Young Men's Christian Association, Cincinnati; second, Harold Krueger, Illinois A. C., Chicago; third A. J. Allen, Stanford University. Time 4:42.

Fairfield Tennis Postponed.

STAMFORD, July 31.—(AP)—All matches scheduled for today in the Fairfield county tennis championship tournament at the Stamford Yacht club were postponed because of the rain. The semi-finals will be played tomorrow and the finals on Sunday.

COLLINSVILLE TO SEND STRONG TEAM HERE TODAY

The Riverview club will play the strong Collinsville Town team this afternoon on the hospital grounds. This club comes to Norwich with a good record and will no doubt offer strong opposition. The Riverview club has played poor ball since the New Departure game and are due to come out of their slump this afternoon. A good strong club will be at the hospital every Saturday afternoon, regardless of last Saturday's defeat. The management is out to play the best clubs in the state and they will be brought here in turn. The Cheney Bros. A. A. one of the fastest clubs in the state, is booked for two games. This club defeated the Fiske Red Tops 15 to 2. Teams from the Middlesex league will be brought here, and last but not least, the winner of the City Twi-league will also receive an invitation to show their wares at the hospital park. A few new faces will be seen in Riverview uniforms this week. This afternoon George Sheflott and Tillie Daniels of the champion Bulkeley High club will work together. Both of these boys are on the road higher up. Sheflott is considered a flashy catcher, and Tillie Daniels held the Sub Base to two hits recently in the New London Twi-league, blanking them 2 to 0. He has pitched sensational ball this season and will be given his turn on the mound. The rest of the team includes, Mills 1b, amel 2b, Normandin ss, Whitney, who has been playing sensational ball with the E. C. P., will play third. The outfield will be taken care of by Moore lf, Bosse cf, and Noell rf.

On Sunday, the Riverview club will journey to Bristol to play a return game with the New Departure club. The lineup for this game will be Delair or Sheflott c, Toney West p, arrell 1b, Hawes 2b, Normandin ss, Whitney or Burns 3b, Mills lf, Bosse cf, Noell rf.

Moran and Curran will officiate in today's game, which will start at 2:45, daylight time.

MAY PITCHES REDS TO VICTORY OVER BRAVES

CINCINNATI, July 31.—(AP)—With Jakey May on the mound, Cincinnati gathered the seventh consecutive game by defeating Boston, 4 to 3, in the opening game of the present series. Although May allowed eight hits and gave several bases on balls, he pitched remarkable ball when Boston threatened to rally. Rush scored the winning run on a wild pitch after he had tripled in the sixth inning. Score:

TAFTVILLE A. A. AT JEWETT CITY SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon at Ashland park the Ashland A. A. takes on the fast Taftville A. A. Taftville has been going big guns this summer, winning from some of the best clubs in this section. These two clubs have always been bitter rivals and a battle royal can be expected.

Ashland fresh from their win over the fast Checker Cabs of Providence, last week, shape up as one of the leading teams in this part of the state and it will take a good club to beat them.

Taftville will lineup: Eccleston c, Jarvis or Lefty Dugas p, A. Dugas 1b, Gauthier ss, Cardie 2b, Yerrington 3b, Leo Jarvis lf, Mills cf and "Chick" Stanley, Catholic university star, rf.

For Ashland "Spike" Liberty, who held the hard-hitting Checker Cabs to six hits last week, will be on the mound with "Bill" Liberty behind the bat. Chase 1b, Guillett ss, Rainey 2b, "Nap" Liberty, who has returned from Hartford, Eastern league, 3b, Gilbert lf, Raill cf and Benjamin rf.

Tommy Corcoran, former International league umpire, will hold the indicator.

RED SOX HIT FREELY AND DOWN INDIANS

BOSTON, July 31.—(AP)—After having lost three straight to Cleveland, the Red Sox hit solidly behind the pitching of Wingfield and took the final game of the series today, 7 to 2. Good support also aided Wingfield. Flagstead had a perfect day at bat and played well in the field. Score:

SHARKEY GETS CLOSE DECISION OVER SOLOMON

BRAVES FIELD, Boston, July 31.—(AP)—Jack Sharkey, of Boston, tonight won a close decision from King Solomon of Panama in a ten-round battle fought in a drizzle of rain in the open air here. All was about even until the final round when Sharkey cut loose with a terrific body attack which slowed the King down. Sharkey weighed 190 pounds and Solomon 189.

The Boston heavyweight played for the body all during the bout while Solomon depended on lefts and rights to the face. Each had four rounds and the other two were considered even. Sharkey's whirlwind finish won him the decision, which was not well received by the spectators.

Sharkey was the aggressor in the opening round. After hooking the King on the face, he started his body attack. Solopion took the lead in the second round by scoring often with rights and lefts to Sharkey's face. In the fourth, he stopped Sharkey in the latter's corner but in the exchange the Boston fighter put over several telling body blows. The latter had a slight edge in the sixth and in the following round he peppered the King with body punches which failed to slow up Solomon. Both resorted to fighting in the next two rounds.

TAFTVILLE AND ASHLAND CLASH AT TAFTVILLE TODAY

The third game of the series between the Taftville A. A. and the Jewett City own team, now known as the Ashland A. A. club, will be played this afternoon at the Providence street grounds. In the first game, Taftville wone 2 to 0 and then took the second game 2 to 1. Lefty Dugas opposing Spike Liberty in both games, with the result that each encounter was a pitching battle. In today's game it is expected that another mound battle will ensue and today's game if won by the Taftville club, will clinch the five-game series.

Manager Troland will use his regular lineup against the Jewett City team while Mgr. Liberty is grooming his men for a victory. Nap Liberty, who is now the property of the Hartford Eastern league, scheduled to report to the team next spring, will be with the Jewett City team at third base.

MISS COLLETT BEATS MRS. STERRETT IN SHENECOSSETT GOLF FINALS

EASTERN POINT, GROTON, Conn., July 31.—(AP)—The Griswold trophy passed into the permanent possession of Miss Glenna Collett today when, in one of the hardest fought matches in her career, she defeated Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, of Hutchinson, Kansas, one up in the final round of the seventh annual women's invitation golf tournament at the Shenecossett Country club.

Miss Collett, who recently won the French championship, was pressed by her opponent throughout the match, which was played before a large gallery, and after the match she said it was one of the hardest she had ever passed through.

Mrs. Sterrett played a strong confident game, and was especially effective in her putting. Yet on the 15th green with victory in sight, she missed an easy putt and with it the match.

When matters looked far from bright for Miss Collett soon after the turn, she found a four leaf clover and carried it between her lips for the balance of the match.

Miss Collett started out by losing the first hole 6 to 4. Both made long drives, both balls going to the right of the fairway. Mrs. Sterrett was almost on in two but Miss Collett landed in a trap and took two to get out and on to the green. She missed her putt and conceded the hole.

On the second hole, Mrs. Sterrett drove into the rough but made good approach and sank her putt for a four. Miss Collett was on in two, barely missing a long putt for a birdie three. The hole was halved at par four.

Mrs. Sterrett drove more than 200 yards on the third and then shot over the green. Miss Collett drove into a trap and fell short of the green on her recovery. Both made good approaches and while Miss Collett made a long putt, Mrs. Sterrett missed, Miss Collett gaining the hole 4 to 5. The match was even.

Both were on the fourth green in one, Miss Collett's ball rolling to extreme corner. She holed out in two putts but lost the hole when Mrs. Sterrett sank her putt for a birdie two.

They divided the fifth hole with five each. Mrs. Sterrett driving 210 yards to Miss Collett's 195. Mrs. Sterrett topped her drive into the rough in front of the sixth tee. Miss Collett overshot the green and landed in a trap. Mrs. Sterrett was on in three and had a better lie than Miss Collett but conceded the hole when Miss Collett rimmed the cup on her third. Again the match was even.

Both made long drives on the seventh. Mrs. Sterrett's second shot fell short when she used an iron but with a remarkable approach, she laid her ball dead to the pin. Miss Collett missed a long putt and rimmed the cup on her second trial. Mrs. Sterrett holed her second putt for a birdie four, winning the hole four to six.

Both drives on the eighth were better than 225 yards but Miss Collett's ball landed in a trap on the second. Mrs. Sterrett drove into the rough at the right of the green and her ball hooped the cup on a long putt. The hole was halved at 5.

On the ninth, Mrs. Sterrett's drive landed in the road with a clump of trees between her and the green. She attempted to shoot through the trees but her ball struck a limb and bounded back. She conceded the hole 4 to 7 and the 1 were all even at the turn.

Miss Collett found her four leaf clover on the tenth and after a good drive, reached the green in 2, but missed a long putt. Mrs. Sterrett drove to a trap and conceded the hole 5 to 5, making Miss Collett one up.

On the 11th, Mrs. Sterrett sank a long putt for a birdie two after both had driven to the green and won the hole, making them all even. On the 12th, Miss Collett drove low, her ball just missed the jaws of a trap. Both were on in three and both sank their second putt, halving the hole at 5. They were even on the drives on the 13th, but the second shot, Mrs. Sterrett landed in a trap and reached the green in four. She missed her putt. Miss Collett secured a good lie on the green in three but missed two putts. The hole was halved in 6.

Miss Collett outdrove Mrs. Sterrett on the fourteenth and sinking her putt for a birdie 3 won the hole 3 to 4. She was one up. Both were on in one on the 15th, Mrs. Sterrett being nearer the pin. Miss Collett putted the width of the green, barely missing. Mrs. Sterrett missed her putt but sank the next one, giving her the hole 3 to 4.

The 16th and 17th were halved and the players started the 18th with all even. On the last hole, Mrs. Sterrett drove into a trap at the right of the fairway but made a spectacular recovery, followed by an approach that dropped her ball almost into the cup. Miss Collett drove 200 yards and was on the green in 2. She missed a long putt. Mrs. Sterrett had an easy putt but she missed it and Miss Collett sank her new putt, winning the match.

The cards:

Miss Collett, out— 644 354 654—41
Mrs. Sterrett, out—445 225 457—41

Miss Collett, in— 435 634 444—37—78

BOXING BOUTS AT BRADFORD, R. I., POSTPONED

On account of the rain of Friday afternoon, Manager Harry King of the Bradford Athletic association, announced that the outdoor boxing exhibition, scheduled for Friday evening at the arena, Douglas Park, Bradford, R. I., has been postponed until next Monday night at the same time and place and with the same boxers.

DEMPSEY DENIES HE HAS SIGNED FOR ANY BOUTS

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 31.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey today telegraphed the New York boxing commission asking its indulgence in the matter of his delayed appearance before it and flatly denying he had signed or consented to box anyone other than Harry Wills," the commission's choice of an opponent for him.

Dempsey's telegram in full, as given out by his publicity representative, read:

"Hon. James H. Farley,

"Chairman State Athletic Commission,

New York, N. Y.

"Am sending you an airplane letter which best explains conditions of my clearing up my affairs with Jack Kearns. It involves a lot of money and settlement has been partly perfected. Fair consideration would not have you insist or expect me to make big financial sacrifice.

"You and your official associates will appreciate that one's private business concerns only himself. I have signified an earnestness in agreeing to match with Harry Wills on the commission's exacted demands and to which I do not accept. Mr. Kearns now knows that I will hereafter act for myself for my professional engagements.

"Having not the least inclination to ignore your honorable body, for which I still hold proper respect, I request that consideration of match with Wills, with my appearance before commission, receive reasonable official attention.

"Regardless of what enterprising and extreme newspaper boys say, I have not signed nor agreed to fight any one as yet but Harry Wills.

"Respectfully yours,

"JACK DEMPSEY

ELIZABETH ST. MIDGETS TRIM GREENEVILLE TEAM

In a spectacular seven-inning battle, the Elizabeth St. playground Midgets repelled the attack of the invading Greeneville Midgets, Friday afternoon, 9 to 8. Due to the efforts of the instructors of these playgrounds, midget teams have been organized, and which are eager to engage similar teams from other play centers. In the third, a triple play was executed by the West Siders. With the score 3 to 2, favoring Greeneville, three on and nobody out, Crowe of Greeneville, drove a terrific liner to left. Goldberg made a fancy catch and threw to second, doubling Moran. Patsy Buonnano threw to May at first, completing a triple play—a feat seldom, if ever, witnessed in local playground ball. Reardon and Lacey featured by their consistent battery work.

Johnny Crowe and little Monk Moran starred for Greeneville. "Monk" hurled a neat game but weakened in the seventh, allowing successive hits by Jaskiewicz, Lambert and Buonnano, which resulted in two runs.

Both teams showed great promise of developing into future high school and possibly college stars, and will soon be able to compete against older and more experienced players.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Two murders, one in Preston and another in Mystic, gave Norwich people plenty of interesting reading in 1875. Numerous other happenings made for "something to talk about," a number of these, as taken in part from the files of The Bulletin of a half century ago, being as follows:

Monday, July 26, 1875—

Saturday afternoon a report reached this city that a young cripple, Thomas McKay, had been shot dead, in Preston, by a Portuguese named Emanuel Monterio. McKay was stopping at the home of a friend in Preston and was playing with the granddaughter of the friend when Monteiro said he would shoot him. Shortly afterwards, when McKay and Monteiro were alone in the room a report was heard and when the family came back into the room McKay was found dead.

Monteiro soon gave himself up to the police and in the preliminary hearing it was disclosed that Monteiro had a bad past, having stabbed a man about six months before, having been in jail for cruelty to his wife and for drawing a knife on Officer Spaulding and numerous other erous other things.

The writ was drawn for assault and battery and breach of the peace and bonds were fixed at $1,000, which could not be provided and Monteiro went to jail. People could not understand the charge made as they were convinced that it was a clear case of murder.

A movement is on foot among the merchants to close their stores at 8 o'clock evenings, excepting on Saturday nights.

Business is considered to be dull in town, but last Friday one concern shipped 1,500 cases to Boston.

Tomatoes cucumbers and crook-neck squash are now on the local market. Tomatoes made their first appearance Saturday.

Tuesday, July 27, 1875—

Stonington fishermen are exhibiting a monster turtle they caught off Watch Hill Monday. The turtle is fully as large as the one on exhibition in Hartford and strikes out with its fore legs with sufficient strength to kill a man.

False fire alarms are becoming all together too numerous to suit the members of the fire department. Two of them were sent in yesterday and the men are now advocating a telegraph system to put an end to the nuisance.

Army worms are making their appearance again this year and people are digging trenches to kill them off. The last time the army worm was seen here was twelve years ago when practically everything was devastated by them.

Mr. Leillard's steam yacht, Look Out, came up the river yesterday and the guests on board spent the afternoon visiting points of interest about town.

The workmen employed on the coffer dam frequently came upon ribs and timbers, relics of the old ship yard at one time in that vicinity.

Wednesday, July 28, 1875—

Sword fish are plentiful this season and Norwich parties are enjoying the sport of harpooning them off Watch Hill and Montauk.

The Brooklyn Yacht club has arrived in the harbor and presents a most attractive picture. The fleet left Greenport at 9:35 o'clock Tuesday morning led by the flagship Madeleine, Commodore J. S. Dickinson. There are fifteen yachts on the trip this year. The Third Regiment band accompanied them from New London to this city and has given several fine musical concerts while here.

An exchange of the postal money order system between the post offices of Canada and the United States commences on the 2nd of August.

The army worm has appeared at Block Island and people are wondering how it got there.

Thursday, July 29, 1875—The executive committee of the Windham County Agricultural society, at their quarterly meeting, voted to offer a purse of $175, open to all horses, at their next fair, best three in five to harness, first premium, $100; second premium, $50; third premium, $25, requiring five to enter and four to start. The fair will be held in Brooklyn the latter part of September.

Captain Isaac Gavitt, while fishing off Watch Hill this week, took a blackfish or tautog which weighed fifteen pounds, the largest on record.

The work of trenching for the Greeneville water pipes was begun yesterday.

There is talk in New London of fencing in the grounds formerly used for a skating pond, for a baseball park. It is expected that when this work is done professional games may be seen there, as well as local games between city organizations.

Litchfield county was shaken by an earthquake Wednesday, houses being shook, dishes rattled on the shelves and a number broken. The shock lasted nearly a minute and a low rumbling sound was distinctly heard. People rushed from the houses alarmed by the shaking of their houses but as far as could be learned there was no heavy damage.

Friday, July 30, 1875—The body of Frederick White of Sterling Centre, Mass., captain of a ship now in port at Mystic, was found yesterday morning on the wharf not far from his ship. His throat had been slashed and on his forehead was the mark of some blunt instrument. Mr. White had left his ship Wednesday night with over $700 in his possession and it is believed that he was murdered by a party who knew he had a large sum of money with him. No clue of the murderer has yet been obtained.

By the recent amendment to our city charter, the City Court has had jurisdiction conferred upon it in all cases where either of the parties resides in Norwich.

It has been decided to pave Union street with the Guidet pavement instead of McAdam, as was intended. The cost of the Guidet has been reduced so that it costs but little more than the McAdam and a stone pavement is far better for the narrow street.

The Norwich Croquet club defeated Groavenordale yesterday allowing them to make but one side wicket. A game is now being arranged with the Hamden club.

Blasting at the railroad tunnel is providing excitement for many people. Tuesday a fifty pound rock landed across the river crashing through the roof of the steamboat building and yesterday one landed in front of Leavitt & Ellis store on Main street.

Saturday, July 31, 1875—The 8 o'clock express freight train was detained at the connection between the Norwich & Worcester and New London Northern railroads last night because of the weight and length of the train, which numbered 59 cars. An extra engine was finally used and the train started on its way.

A force of men are at work clearing up about the new railroad bridge, which replaces the one recently burned at the Falls.

The Frazier property at the corner of Main and Ann streets has been sold for $4,300.

Drastic action may be taken in Norwich, as has been done in other cities, to rid the town of the epidemic of tramps. They have been seen about here by the dozen in recent weeks and many petty thieveries have been reported to the police.

The Windham Manufacturing company of Willimantic is to shut down Monday for three or four weeks, in order to install a new water wheel and make other repairs.

The harbor is now nearly deserted, but two small smacks being at anchor, the smallest number of boats in the harbor in several years.

KELLY'S HOMER IN EIGHTH WINS FOR GIANTS

CHICAGO, July 31, (A P)—George Kelly of the New York Giants socked out a home run with two on base in the eight inning, enabling New York to defeat Chicago 4 to 3, in the final of the series. The Cubs hit Wayland Dean hard in the second inning for two runs and Heathcote registered the third run with a four bagger in the sixth inning. Base on balls and Grimm's error set the way for New York's victory in the eighth inning, as Kelly came through with his blow immediately afterwards.

The Giants played great ball on the defense, the work of Kelly especially being outstanding. The score:

We call to mind those old time songs,
Their cadence sweet and low:
Of maidens fair and laddies brave,
The songs of long ago.
Sweet songs of yore, of "Kitty Wells,"
Of "Douglass, Tender and True."
"Dear Lilly Dale," and "Nellie Grey,"
And "Gentle Annie," too.

Is in the "Hazel Dell," so cool,
We think of Nellie there;
Of "Rosalie" the Prairie Flower,"
And the sweet "Maiden's Prayer."
Dear "Annie Lyle," and "Ellen Bayne"
And roguish "Kitty Clyde;"
"Tramp, Tramp, Trap My Pony Dear,"
"We'll All Take a Ride."

O where is "Bonny Eloise?"
Perhaps with "Old Dog Tray"
She's roaming glad "Through Forest Smile."
To meet "The Queen of May."
And the delightful highland lass.
The "Bonny, Bonny Jean,"
She married "Pat Molloy"
And is now "A Wearing of the Green."

"Sailor Jamie," too;
"We Have Missed You,"
You were so kind and true.

"Won't You Tell Me Why, Robin,"
Delighted "The Widow McCree?"
Was it to chat with "Barbara Allen,"
By the side of the "Old Mountain Tree."
From "Dixie Land" a"Lorena" came
And brought "The Mocking Bird."
And "Maryland, My Maryland,"
From North to south was heard.

We often think of those old days,
The days of "Sixty-one,"
When boys so true in Union blue,
To the battle fields were gone.
While "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground,"
They think with blanching faces,
Of "Who Will Care For Mother New,"
And the's their old time places.

"Weeping, Sad and Lonely,"
We see "The Vacant Chair."
But not in vain, were those brave boys slain,
For still 'Our Flag Is There."

We'll not forget those old time songs,
Their cadence soft and low.
Of maidens fair and soldiers brave,
The songs of "Long Ago!"

YOU

You are the fellow who has to decide
Whether you'll do it or toss it aside.
You are the fellow who makes up your mind
Whether you'll lead or will linger behind.
Whether you'll try for the goal that's afar
Or be contented to stay where you are.
Whether you leave it. Here's something to think it over. It's all up to you!
What do you wish? To be known as a shirk,
Known as a good man who's willing to work,
Shunned for a loafer or praised by your chief,
Rich man or poor man, or beggar or thief?
Eager and earnest or dull through the day,
Honest or crooked? It's you who must say!
You must decide in the face of the test
Whether you'll shirk it or give it your best.

Nobody here will compel you to rise;
No one will force you to open your eyes;
No one will answer for you yes or no,
Whether to stay there or whether to go.
It's a game, but it's you who must play,
Whether as cheat, or as sportsman shall play.
Fate may betray you, but you settle that
Whether to live at your best or your worst.
What's the success it is you are wanting to win?
Remember, to fashion the choice you are in.
Selfish or selfish, or gentle or strong,
Keeping the right way or taking the wrong.
Victories of honor or guarding your pride,
All these are questions which you must decide.
Even the selection of whichever you do
Are the thing men call character's all up to you!

"AMID THE CITY'S DIN"

An old farm house and meadows
And sweet with clover on each side;
A bright-eyed boy, who looks from
The door with woodbine wreathed
And wishes his one thought all day,
Of if I could but fly away
From this dull spot, the world to
How happy, happy, happy,
How happy I should be."
Many years later,
Amid the city's constant din,
A man who around the world has
Who, mid the tumult and the throng
Is thinking, thinking all day long!
If I could only tread once more
The field-path to that farmhouse
The old green meadows could I see,
How happy, happy, happy,
How happy I should be.

DOLLY'S LESSON

Come here, you ignoramus!
I'm ashamed to have to 'fess
You don't know any better
Than just your cookie S.
Now listen, and I'll tell you—
This round hole's name is O
And when you put a tail on
It makes it Q you know:
And if it has a front door
To walk in at, it's C
Then make a seat right here
To sit on, and it's G.
And this tall letter, dolly,
I and stands for me!
And when you put a hat on
It makes a cup of T
And Curly I is J dear,
And half of B is P.
And E with out big slippers on
Is only F you see,
You turn A upside down
And people call it V;
And if it's turns like this one W
'twill be.
Now, Dolly, when you learn 'em.
You'll know a great big heap,
Most much as I O Dolly.
I believe you've been asleep.

CONTENTED

If I planted hope today in any hopeless heart,
If some one's load has lighter grown because I did my part.
If haply I have caused a laugh that chased some tears away,
And if tonight my name be named, where some one kneels to pray—
I claim my day has been well spent,
Not lived in vain, and am content.
If cup, or crust, or covering has been dispensed by me,
If I have helped the weak to stand
Or warmly clasped some angry hand
In friendship it may be:
Or if some lonely little child
Has known my comradeship and smiled.
Then, humble, though I be, I know
I have been helping God, and so
Serene, I claim my nightly rest
Just glad to know I have done my best.

THE BUSY HOMEMAKER

Sometimes all the world seems dreary,
And your work a ceaseless grind,
And the cares of all the household
Seem to get upon your mind.

And the children try your patience,
More and more each weary day,
Till you feel so worn and tired
That you'd like to run away.

But you never go, you mother
Who have babies round your knee
Too much work to get them ready
Too much trouble, dont' you see??

Oh, dear mothers, if you knew it
That is just the thing to do
Go, and if you cannot leave them
Take the children with you too.

See the cool trees seem to beckon
And the green grass seems to say
Come you mothers with your children,
Just sit down and watch them play.

Sit and listen to the brooklet,
And your cares will melt away,
Take no thought about tomorrow,
Enjoy God's outdoors today.

A DAY AT FREEPORT

Dear Social Corner Members:
Here is a story of Freeport. I spent a day there last week.

Freeport is the 65th town to be incorporated under that name in this state of Maine. It was originally the north eastern part of North Yarmouth and the old name for this thriving little manufacturing town was Hanaseeket. It was made a town February 14th 1789. It was formerly one of the greatest shipbuilding towns in the state and then it was that the Harraseeket river was a scene of bustling activity and the birthplace of many a good ship which has long since been demolished.

It was formerly of much greater area than it is now, extending in those days to New Gloucester, but the town of Pownall formed. The entire area of Freeport is about 50 square miles. For many years shipbuilding occupied the workers of the town and the place thrived and grew.

In one year about nine big ships were built and launched and the total number of ships built in the town was 37. Then towards the end of the seventies, the industry began to wane and finally entirely ceased.

Another branch of industry was fishing and mackerel were especially plentiful. A varied surface with small elevations makes the town a good one for farming.

The principal river is the Harraseeket which is navigable and really a branch of Casco Bay. Large vessels can pass up this river and it is open throughout the year. Freeport is 18 miles from Portland and the business centers are South Freeport, Mast Landing and Porter's Landing.

A building of interest in Freeport is the old Jameson Tavern, which was built about 140 years ago and was built at that time for Dr. John Hyde, a practicing physician when Freeport celebrated its centennial in 1859, this building was one of the chief attractions. It was in this building that the commissioners met in 1820 and drew up the papers which separated Maine from the Great Commonwealth of Massachusetts as an independent state.

Freeport has a well equipped Carnegie library and nearby is a handsome soldiers monument. The shoe industry is one of Freeport's important industries and at the present time three shoe factories are located here.

It has every appearance of being a busy town and is in every sense of the word. Its residences and stores show signs of thrift from every stand point.

LOOK FOR THE GOOD

Dear Members:

A happy greeting to all. Just a few more lines to keep up the Corner as I like to see it good and full and what nice letters. I wish I could write something that was interesting but don't think that I am gifted as some are. I think that we should try and help everyone we meet with a kind word and don't forget a smile goes a long long ways so let us all look for the good in everyone for we will find it in some way and forget the bad. We all have our different ways like many others. Sometimes we are so eager to get something fine far away that beautiful and valuable things near us we overlook the good things of our own home. It we would only keep we would be more contented and far better off.

I am planning for a few days vacation. My daughter, my son's wife and little boy and myself are going to the great city of New York. I will tell about my trip when we return. Hope some of the others will tell about their vacations as it is always interesting. I will send in a poem for the Social Corner poetry entitled The Busy Homemaker.

NEW MEMBER JOINS

Well, I am a new writer to the Social Corner and would like to join in, as I know several of the writers. I think it is lots of fun. As I live on a farm it is nice to read the very interesting letters the others are writing and I thought I would like to join in. Will be glad if this weather is over it will be bad for us housekeepers to get our washing done and that is the main thing in big families.

ENJOYED DAY AT TWICE TWENTY'S

Dear Social Corner Folks:

I must write a line about the wonderful time we had at Twice Twenty's A hostess of her standing must entertain again. And, oh, what a host of good things to eat. Here's hoping we shall all meet again in the year 1926 at Dayville Four Corners.

Zany: You surely surprised us all to find out you who you were. I was wondering.

Mr. Primrose: By the way, as long as some kind friend told you my name, would you mind telling yours?

Rosy Posy: I tried that recipe and I think it was the best loaf of cake I ever made. At least sonny ate about half of it himself, and I'll say it was good too. Hope to see you in a few Sundays. Drop me a line.

Foxglove: No, my ears didn't get tired one bit. Wish you lived nearer this way. I should bother you a good deal of the time. Wish you would send me a sample of the stationery you were telling me about. I might be able to use some later. Hope to see you again some time.

I am a postage stamp collector and I wonder if any of the sisters have any. I do not care how old or how new they are, United States or foreign as long as they are stamps. I have some to exchange if any one wants any. I hope to hear from some one as all I get will be appreciated.

Thank you.

RAMBLER ROSES NOW GONE

Dear Cornerites:

As I have a few spare moments thought I would devote it to writing a few lines to the corner to help fill up the page.

Balsam Fir: Letter received, thanks for kind words. No, I am not feeling any better as yet. Doctor says it will take time.

L. T. H.: Yes! I do remember the nice time we had at the Dr.'s picnic, don't think I've seen you since. Indeed yes, many many, changes since then. I see too, you have lost loved ones as well as myself. I having lost two in nine months.

Violet: Was glad to see you still belong to the corner, also glad you remember the day you were here, there were 40 in all and quite a houseful.

E. L. M.: Are there two ladies in your town by the same name? or have I got two different parties mixed up? Think I can guess who put you wise, didn't she at one time live this way, and doesn't she drive a car? If not you certainly have me guessing. Please let me hear from you. There is another party from up this way, maybe they put you wise. You see you have me guessing. Still I may not be on the right at that, no harm done.

Miss L.: I know you will see this through the Social Corner Page, for I don't know if you are a member or not, but you certainly gave me the big surprise of my life. Do it again, it was as good as if you sent me a check for a thousand. How does that sound in print. Does it sound loud. I was delighted to see you. How did you find things on your return home? Hope everything was O. K.

Sawilla: How are you all up there, on the hill? Hope all are well.

True Blue: Hope you and your sister are well. Were you tired when you got home the eleventh?

All my lovely rambler roses are now a thing of the past. The three bushes look as if they had been visited by a whirlwind. Best wishes to all.

TO MAKE A RAINBOW SCARF

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members:

How many of our thrifty sisters are planning some Christmas gifts for friends or perhaps a birthday gift for daughter, niece, aunt or grandma. A scarf is sure to please and one can never have too many of them. The rainbow scarf is considered very desirable and chic. Any light colored silk can be used. The scarf should be 14 to 16 inches wide by two yards long. The silk or crepe de chine should be washed in white soap suds (luke warm), rinsed in clear water and folded lengthwise in four, as if making a fan, then place ends together and lay flat. Have ready three small enamel basins, each containing a color of dye, blue, red and yellow. Read carefully and follow directions printed on dye envelopes for preparing dye. Wear a pair of rubber gloves all during the operation of dying. When the dye baths are ready and boiling dip ends of wet scarf, for about five inches in the blue dye, take out at once. Now gather a piece of scarf above the blue and dip in the yellow dye, and out at once; now pinch up a piece of scarf to right and left of the yellow and dip into red boiling dye. Take out. Continue this method through length of folded scarf. For the last dipping drop scarf, still folded into one of the desired colors and out at once. This will color any portion not touched by dye. Open scarf and shake gently until dry. The colors run together and make all of the colors of the rainbow.

The scarf should be hemmed after the dying process and ends fringed or finished in any pretty way.

Sisters at Twice Twenties picnic. The snapshot was quite good for such a large group.

Kitty Lou: Your story was so interesting. I love the weird. Glad to see the S. C. page almost full.

To the friend who wished to know wild indigo, will say it is a branchy, bushy herb. The stem divides soon after it leaves the ground, the branches extending in all directions. The leaves are three parted, wedge-shaped, dull green with a white bloom which makes the leaves appear bluish-green. The yellow, butterfly shaped flowers are in loose clusters at the ends of all the branches. The roots are used in medicine but the whole plant may be cut into small pieces with scissors and steeped to obtain the remedy for various veins. Wild indigo grows in sandy, dry places and flowers from June to September. Adieu.

SOCIAL CORNER COLOR GARDEN

To the Sisters of the Social Corner:

Once more I'll try to fill my part in writing.

This time to tell you all that I've found out these last two weeks that I have got a Social Corner color garden right here in Florida. You see I planted some georgia peas, and not having had any before I knew nothing about them. But imagine my surprise when two weeks ago they started to bloom. First the blossoms are white, then turn Social Corner yellow. Now, when a whole acre of them are abloom you can imagine how pretty they look. But every day finds new blossoms on them and I've been just enjoying that picture every day.

We will start our fall garden next month also. Cabbage, carrots, beets, radishes and lettuce till January then other vegetables in turn. Our best crops are from February to June. You can plant all the year in Florida, but not the same thing over and over each kind has their season. And even the cultivating part is altogether different from in New England gardens. There's only one thing I haven't had yet to come to my taste. And that was our favorite "Country Gentleman sweet corn." They have other kinds or varieties here, but not like ours was up in Connecticut.

Now that the whole country seems to be talking Florida I must say my share of it also.

Three years very near now since we left Connecticut. And so much has happened, also not having seen any hard winters. It puzzles me at times how the time has gone by so fast. My children have grown in height and are now expert swimmers. Even the youngest who is 9 years old can swim better than I ever could. They are almost perfect in health from their school charts.

My husband and I are also in better health than we ever were before. Not much richer in money but millionaires in health and spirits. As they all say, when the Florida climate has us all in hand "this is God's country."

And a land boom is on now. Everywhere you see "For Sale" signs. Those who bought 10 years ago are well off, but those who bought six or five years ago are better off and so on. In this county you can buy land from $10 an acre to $10,000 a foot front as was done in our own city only last week.

But as all land booms it has some drawbacks. That is, to the poorer people. We have no shops or mills nearby. But every month sees some new firm or corporation coming to Florida. Machinery is high for it comes from Michigan and Ohio and the freight is high. But nevertheless, the slack season so long dreaded by the Floridians are gradually decreasing in length.

Already the tourists are coming back this year. And our summer season at Daytona and other beaches has been busy right along.

And according to all the leading men in Florida, we are to have the biggest tourist season of all.

But one main thing I warn any of you who are looking towards Florida to buy land. Don't buy through advertisements and only when you see for yourselves, what you buy. Already the federal agents of Florida have to straighten out some people who had bought land that way and have lost their money. There's homesteads aplenty in Florida for ex-Service men who apply to the government, but the terms are that they must be on those homesteads every day and night for seven months agoing and build a two-room livable house and clear at least ten acres of the land the first year they are there. Of course whoever goes on them must have some money ahead until he can raise a garden and chickens, etc.

But, in every state of the union you have to have enough to get by your first year.

And it takes as much work to clear up pine and oak land as it did in the pioneer days. If a man has no idea how to farm, he has a hard time of it in first if he hasn't any money. But it only costs $25 for a homestead anywhere in Florida to ex-service men. But you have to build your house at once even if it's only 20x20 ft square, and dig a well.

Well, I've said so much that I must have taken too much space already. So here's wishing you all better health and spirits.

A SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER

Dear Cornerites:

Sunday night supper is often the hardest meal in the week to plan. Every housewife wishes to enjoy the rest for at least part of the day instead of helping to prepare an elaborate Sunday night supper after the usual elaborate Sunday dinner. If there are to be guests Sunday night you will want to avoid much work as possible.

Twenty Four Hour Salad

Jello with whipped cream, toasted cheese sandwiches, coffee, wafers or cake. The salad and the dessert can be prepared on Saturday the rest of the menu can be prepared in a very few minutes.

One large sized pineapple, 1-2 lb. marshmallows, 1 lb. blanched almonds (in shells), 2 tablespoonfuls sugar, yolks of four eggs, 1-2 pint of cream, 1-2 pint of whipping cream, pinch salt, warm in double boiler, 1-2 pint of the ordinary cream then add the yolks of the four eggs well beaten, a pinch of salt and sugar. Remove from the fire when thick and let cool, while this is cooling, drain and cut the fruit into slices, then add almonds and marshmallows (Each cut into six pieces). Pour pineapples almonds, marshmallows together over this mixture, pour the cold custard. Pour in 1-2 pint of the whipped cream when the custard nuts and fruits are thoroughly mixed add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Let stand in cool place until next day. Place on nest of lettuce leaves when served. This recipe serves 16 persons.

Jello. Prepare the jello in accordance with the directions on the outside of the package. When served cover with whipped cream and nuts, and serve with wafers or cake. If desired fruit can be added. The jello can be prepared on Saturday.

MAKING A PEANUT PARROT

Dear Sisters of the Corner:

I would love to have the pleasure of showing you personally how to convert a parrot out of a peanut but I guess we'll have to be satisfied with the S. C. our dear old friend. First take the peanut and paint it with water colors. I think red and brown, the eyes are painted with white, house paint or maybe you can cut out little eyes, but the painted ones are better—then in the center of the white eye put a dot of black paint. Red, yellow and green are good combination. Take the part of the peanut that forms the beak and paint it red. Sometimes I painted the eyes green. I gilded the matches. I pierced through the side of the bird with scissors or a large darning needle. Next run one-half of a pipe stem-cleaner for the legs and toes. I cut very fine strips of crepe paper (straight way of the paper), I make 1 strips for tail, two pink, two yellow, two red, two green, two blue, two old rose. After these are pasted on the middle of the back of the neck, of the peanut, the tails I cut about eight inches long then even them off after pasting they on. I cut a large wing of green and a little larger yellow. They are pretty made with a large green jacket, then a little smaller yellow and the top red. Now, after they are all pasted, now fasten these parrots legs which are the pipe stem cleaners run through the peanut have the match either gilded or painted and wind the feet over these. Do not try to wind or put feet on cleaner before putting the wings on.

After fastening the perch-take a pipe stem cleaner and fasten on each end of the match or perch, that is like a cage for the holder. I use a piece of narrow silk tape which is very good for that. I put gold bands around the cage of the peanuts. I think this is the best I can do in way of explaining how to make a parrot. You can make owls, snakes, rabbits, fats, kewpies, in fact all kinds of animals that peanuts are convertible.

I enjoyed Ma of Green Gable's letter very much. I see she has a yellow slip-good.

CITY FOLKS AND THE COUNTRY FOLKS

Dear Members of the Social Corner:

It is a long time since I've written to the Corner, but I am just as interested in it as ever. I have been work, house duties, helping my husband and one of my household who have been sick for more than two years, so I have little time for anything but the necessary duties.

This letter is more for the city folks than the country folks.

Of course, you city folks like to ride in your fine automobiles to the "charming country," but city folks, remember we country folks need our Sundays and holidays for rest or recreation and do not enjoy having unexpected guests come and break our plans and having to heat up our homes to prepare and serve meals to you. As you city folks all earn large salaries, I suggest you patronize inns and restaurants.

Summer, we country folks must raise crops, poultry, make hay, preserve, etc., and have neither time or strength for house parties. If one invites you, setting the date, to come, all right, but resolve not to go to country friends otherwise.

The berries, grapes, nuts, etc., on our farms we need for our own use, to gather to eat and preserve or sell. Taxes must be paid on farms, buildings repaired, etc.

If any one calls where there is sickness, the call should not be longer than half an hour—not prolonged to a four or five hour visit.

City folks, when you go out in your fine automobiles don't intrude and impose on your country friends; apply the Golden Rule. When you are at home, you know, you are busy with your business and social affairs; country folks have business and social affairs as well as you.

SOME RECIPES
Orange and Onion Salad

Those who favor raw onions will be interested in this combination of oranges, olives and onions. This combination isn't a new one, but is unique enough to be recalled to mind.

4 oranges, 1-2 onion, minced, 10 olives, chopped, lettuce.

Peel the oranges, being careful to remove all white bits of skin. Cut in even and rather thick slices, removing all interior tendons. Arrange on lettuce leaves and cover with the mixture of minced onion and olives. Use either stiff mayonnaise or French dressing.

A Cheese and Celery Salad

1 cup chopped celery, 1 cup ground carrots, 1 cup chopped chicken, 1 cup chopped cheese, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Mix celery and chicken and moisten with mayonnaise. Set in ice box to chill. When ready to serve, scoop up balls of mixture, serve on lettuce and sprinkle over with mixture of cheese and ground carrots. A cup of ground nuts or diced pickle makes a nice addition to this salad.

Fresh Fruit Salad

1 cup peaches, sliced, 1 cup raspberries, 1 cup diced pineapples, 1-4 cup raspberry juice, 1-4 cup peach juice 1-4 cup lemon juice, 2 eggs, 1 cup whipped cream, 1-8 cup sugar, crisp lettuce leaves.

Mix fruit lightly together, heap on lettuce leaves and cover with a dressing made by heating fruit juices, pouring slowly on beaten eggs, mixed with sugar. Heat sauce in double boiler until thickened. Set in ice box to chill. Whip cream until quite stiff and combine with fruit custard.

Squash Salad

1 large, round summer squash, 1 cup new peas, 1 cup string beans, chopped fine, 1 cup chopped celery, 1 cup minced green pepper, 1 cup chopped tuna or codfish or shrimps, 1 cup chopped stuffed olives, 2 tomatoes, 2 hard-cooked eggs.

Cook the squash in boiling water for fifteen or twenty minutes, until tender when pricked with fork, drain off the water and holding the squash on end of a fork remove the skin with sharp knife. Scoop out center and remove seeds, using a spoon and grapefruit knife.

While still warm cover with about one-third cup mayonnaise dressing and allow it to marinate, placing it in the ice box until thoroughly chilled. Then lightly mix the chopped vegetables and fish and moisten with mayonnaise.

Place the squash on a bed of lettuce, using a large plate for serving. Fill the center with the mixture, rounding it up dome-like over the top. With any left-over mixture make firm-looking scoops, placing them on the plate around the squash. Carefully remove skin from tomatoes and cut in quarter sections. Place the tomatoes alternately and overlapping with the egg slices around edge of squash and garnish the whole with mayonnaise.

We found that the squash has a better flavor if it is rubbed lightly with salt before marinating. The fish and vegetable mixture should be prepared at least two hours in advance and set on ice to chill. Almost any vegetable could be added to the filling mixture.

RECALLS OLD TIMES

Dear Social Corner Sisters:

I must tell the sisters how much I do enjoy the poetry. The Man Behind the Smile, Team Work, The Old Dairy Cow (I know the Social Corner brothers who are farmers must have enjoyed that.) Rhymed Presidents, brought to mind my childhood for one teacher we had taught us the presidents in rhyme (but different from this) to recite in unison. Also the Idaho Ball made me think of many good times I had years ago. We used to have many dances around the neighborhood, husking bees, and various other things that ended up with the dance and at one time a family who had lived in the west moved into the neighborhood and he knew the most funny calls and fancy figures so we always had him for prompter when we could. With all the amusements and various ways of entertainment nowadays I really don't believe the people get any more real fun and enjoyment than we had years ago with husking bees, candy pulls, sleighing parties and many other things. But of course time brings changes and we change with the times.

Tafts: I am sending you a letter this week and you will understand why I have been so slow.

TWO PLEASANT OUTINGS

Dear Editor, Social Corner Sisters and Friends:

Well, here I am again and you may be sure you are not forgotten although I don't write very often. What a large family our Dear Editor has on his hands and it requires a lot of patience to deal with so many different dispositions, but we will all try and be good children so he won't feel obliged to use the "strap" on us very often.

The other writers tell of their delightful trips and picnics they have had this summer and now I think it is up to me to tell of my pleasant rides, thinking it will interest others. One pleasant ride was one beautiful day I went to New London. My daughter and son in law took me to Lebanon in their car and we visited the cemetery where my husband and dear boys lie, then we went and visited the graves of my dear mother and sister. My daughter had a lovely lunch prepared and we found a nice shady spot and how good every thing tasted for we sure were hungry.

We stopped at Narragansetts but found she was not at home, then we called on one of my school teachers whom I have not seen for a long time.

We rode around Lebanon green, stopped at the house where I first saw "peep o' day" then came back to New London, then the buss for Golden Spur.

The next trip we all took was to Noank and called on two of our cousins, then went to Mystic and to Mason's island. It is a beautiful place, so nice and quiet. We took a lunch with us and the salt water air gave us an appetite so there wasn't much left of that lunch to take home. I certainly think the outings are delightful and I enjoy them so much with my daughter and family.

What a blessing it is when we get along in years to have children who are kind to us.

I notice the Social Corner page is not full but I suppose it is because so many are away from home, but home but when they return we shall be pleased to read the interesting letters telling of the nice times they have had this summer when they were away on their vacations. Long live the Social Corner. Best wishes to all.

HE GIVETH HIS BELOVED SLEEP

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner:

There are no five words in language which carry the consolation more than those upon which Elizabeth Barrett Browning based her art and eloquence in her immortal poem, "He Giveth His Beloved Sleep."

"Of all the thoughts of God that are
Borne inward unto souls afar
Along the Psalmist's music deep;
Now tell me if there any is
For gift or grace surpassing this
"He giveth His beloved sleep."

Even through the stress and activities of daily life the energy of truth expressed in these lines, the dignity and peace of which cannot be excelled, uplifts the mind.

"He giveth His beloved sleep" meets every phase and varying aspect of the human intellect. It is like a healing stream to the weary and distressed. To the poetical mind it means the deepest sense of idyllic rest; to the practical and scientific mind it carries the solace of exultant relief, and to the religious mind it is infinitely symbolical of the "rest that remaineth," and the realization of the hoped for reward.

To the metaphysical thinker it is the ethical fulfillment of the mythical Nirvana, the culmination of bliss to the weary, and it is a precious gift sufficient and enough to those who have wistfully longed for rest. It appeals to the strange yearnings of a dissatisfied mind and it serves as a kind of nostalgia to the greater part of humanity. It is alone the sweetest reward that humanity can forecast for we surely know

"That never doleful dream again
Shall break the happy slumber when
He giveth His beloved sleep."

And happy are those who can entertain the hope of a rest eternal the comforting assurance of rest in the midst of this wearying struggle for existence and to whom the future is but poetically revealed.

We can almost see the angels happy smile in the words

"Aye men may wonder while they scan
A living, thinking, feeling man
Confirmed in such a rest to keep;
But angels say, and through the word
I think their happy smile is heard—
He giveth his beloved sleep."

Not belittling the starry diadems that sweep the sky, nor the wild impulses of the human heart, nor the futile reasonings of the human mind whose imagination has laid out surprising and wonderful things and a marvelous reward for himself, all these shall be time rest and rest for ave. For in truth "He giveth His beloved Sleep."

THE LITTLE SPINSTER

TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICHES

One package of marshmallows, 2 packages of any good cheese. Slice the bread thin and cut each sandwich in the shape desired. Spread with butter and a thick layer of cheese and cover with another slice of bread. Put into pan in broiler part of oven, with a low fire, to toast. When one side of the sandwich is toasted, turn them over and toast the other. The cheese will become soft and swell a bit. Just before removing pan from over put a marshmallow on the top of each sandwich and let soften. Serve the sandwich hot.

Molded Cottage Cheese Salad

One pint cottage cheese, 3-4 teaspoonful salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika, 1-2 cut sweet cream, 1 tablespoonful gelatin, 4 tablespoonsful of cold water, 1 large orange, 1-2 cup fresh pineapple, 1 1-2 cups of strawberries, currants or raspberries, 8 dates cut in strips.

Mash fine the cottage cheese, add seasoning, cream and the gelatin, first soaked in cold water for ten minutes and then dissolved over hot water. Put into a ring mold and set in ice box to chill. I use an angel cake pan as I do not have such as I would like. A cup in the center of a mixing bowl will do, and pouring the mixture in around the centerpiece. Dice the orange and pineapple and mix with the cut pineapple and dates. Moisten with the mayonnaise. Turn the molded cheese on a platter covered with lettuce leaves. Heap the center with the fruit and top with a large spoonful of dressing. Garnish with strawberries or raspberries.

Dressing

1 cup whipped cream, 1 table spoonful of orange juice, 1 table spoonful of lemon juice, 1 tablespoonful of pine apple juice, 1 tablespoonful maraschino juice, 6 cherries cut up fine. Whip the cherries cut in the juices and cut fruit.

UNCLE SAM'S DAUGHTER

THINKING OF PICNIC

Dear Corner Members:

Kitty Lou: I am still following instructions and think they do help. I thank you for any relief means so much.

Keziah Doolittle: The piece you sent in was great but sad to say sometimes it is true that people do that very thing. I see there is to be a picnic at Ocean Beach and as I have been wanting a trolley ride for some time hope I can arrange to go. Are you going O. D.? It would make a nice trip. I have not been there in some time and next to the last time came home in a terrific thunder storm. The trolley was stalled for over half an hour but at last we arrived home safe.

Noank Brownie: I think you must be out of ink. Didn't I see where you recently attended a reunion?

Hope Cobweb: You sure are having a nice summer with all your trips.

Fan Tan: The first dahlias I had to bloom this year were white ones and the yellow ones were later. I planted lots of flower seeds, many did not come up at all and what did were so long about it and slow in growing I won't get much out of them. I don't see why. Last year I had a fine garden. The dahlias, sweet peas and some asters I bought are doing fine. I bought nine Sweet William plants in the spring and I sure got my money's worth in bloom. Heres, hoping for a good attendance at the picnic if I don't get there.

ZINNIA A SATISFACTORY FLOWER

Dear Social Cornerites:

I was much surprised but very pleased to win a dollar and I thank you, also thanks for the pin I so promptly received after asking for it. Summer is fast going, it doesn't seem possible August is here and September will follow and we will have to say goodby to summer. We spent all the spare time I have this summer 'not on any vacation" but sitting on my piazza and I do enjoy sitting outdoors. It seemed impossible for us to go away anywhere this year, so take all the rest we can at home. We have about 15 hundred pullets and they are doing fine. One began to lay the day she was four months old and has kept right at it. More of them will lay soon. I have a lot of beautiful flowers and I walk several times a day around and look at them. We have 'ots of zinnias. I think they are a very satisfactory flower, will flourish almost anywhere and stand the dry weather very well and have a lots of many hued blossoms lasting a long time. "Bug" and I went to Twice Twenty's to the picnic and enjoyed ourselves the short time we were able to stay. Neither one of us felt well that day and we thought best to come home early when things commence again this fall we hope to attend more of the gatherings as we always enjoy ourselves so much. We find so many kind friends and we also try to make ourselves friendly. We are having a lovely rain this morning, we have had rains enough so far this summer to keep things growing nicely for which we are truly thankful. Will close this letter with sympathy for all who have sorrow or who are sick and best wishes to one and all I am as always

MAKING A LAMPSHADE

Dear Sisters:

You wished to know how to make a lampshade. It is rather a difficult thing to try to explain how to make a lampshade. That is one of the things that needs to be demonstrated, as I have had several designs in an old magazine and I'm going to try to make one. This is the mode of making:

First you must bind your frame with taffeta binding of the same color you intend lining your shade with (By binding, I mean wind the tape around the entire frame). There are two ways of binding. I think I personally prefer cutting them in short pieces as they are needed. While some tell me they prefer to slip the entire roll off and bind the frame without cutting.

Next you must have your Jap silk or taffeta. Jap silk I should consider a good lining. (I have never made one) if I wanted a vivid color I should choose taffeta. It is (the lining) put on the same bias. I should take the selvage and put it along one of the side stays of your frame. (About the same way you are pinning a sole on a sole on a slipper). Then pull it very tight as tightly as possible without tearing it and pin it to the next side stay. Continue until you have enveloped one-half of the frame.

I have been advised that the secret of a pretty lining is "no wrinkling" so for that reason, do not sew anything until you have succeeded in pinning it smoothly—of course you would be obliged to overcast it down, using thread of the same color. Now do the other half of the lining the same way. I should have an abundance of pins to start with because I know if it is like putting on a hat facing or binding you'll have to pin and repin before you can get the interlining to set right. As Gertie Lynn says about using pins. That you'll have to use so many pins that you'll feel like a battle scarred warrior, before you get the lining sewed. The outside or "real shade." I will write about later. I think this will take quite some time to digest this.

If I had made them I might make the explanation a little clearer than mud. One reader wanted I should write how I make my "paper parrots."

GREETINGS TO OLD FRIENDS

Dear Social Corner:

What has become of all of my old friends? Why are they so quiet? What a change a few years makes in some people. I was really disappointed when I arrived home Saturday night and did not see a letter in the Corner from some of you girls. Perhaps you were disappointed in not seeing one from me but if you think it over I spoke last.

Jack's Wife: I was sorry to have missed you on my last trip but will try again before long.

Ormandine: Just get that book of duets out and we will tune up on a couple of them when I come over.

Grace: Better shut up a couple of those broilers. Feed them a little yellow corn and buttermilk and we will take care of them when we come down which I think will be in about three weeks.

Buffalo: You did not attend school when I did but if my thinker is not too much off you married a young friend of mine. The first letter of his last name is S. If so I knew your mother very well and she was somewhat acquainted with me.

One of the Boys: What has become of you? The last we heard of you you were perched up in a walnut tree. Better come off of your perch and sneak again. Tell us about some of this tick tack games that you played when you were one of the boys and the old white bridge stories. You know what I mean.

J. E. T.: I wouldn't speak to you if I could. You can't swing on my gate any more.

THANKS FOR BIRTHDAY CARDS

Dear Social Corner Friends:

Read the Corner page all through and thought it very good. I want to find out who Whirlwind is. Scottie is away on vacation but must ask her when she returns. Guess she knows everyone. Many thanks to those who sent me birthday cards. I was so very busy that week I didn't realize until nearly the day was done that it was my birthday. Am pleased with the idea of the new hall. Think it will be fine.

Haven't seen a thing of Crimson Rambler. Hope she isn't lost?

Must say Robin has been real busy at one of the shore places for some time caring for a patient. Enjoying all the good air but not the water. Although she has crossed the ocean more than once she won't get into the water. I guess she is afraid she may swallow it. Hope those having trips will write about them and then we can enjoy the fun by reading about it in the corner.

DEARIE

SCHOOL OF NURSING

The school of nursing connected with the William W Backus Hospital in Norwich, Conn., is now registering students for the September classes. This school is registered in Connecticut and the course of instruction is two years and four months given in a general hospital of 90 beds. Students must be graduates of grammar school and have one year of high school work. A new nurses' residence opened this year affords each student all of the comforts and conveniences of home.

For circular of information address Superintendent of Training School.

WESTERLY

Friday morning in the South County hospital, Wakefield, R. I., Mrs. Marie Emma Amiot died following injuries sustained when the Dodge sedan in which she was a passenger ran off the Boston Post road, Wednesday afternoon, near Quonochontaug Grange hall.

The sedan driven by Oscar Salvail of Jackson Heights, N. Y., left the highway, went down an embankment and was wrecked against an apple tree.

Mrs. Amiot sustained a fractured collar bone, three fractured ribs and several lacerations about the body. The other occupants of the machine escaped with minor injuries.

It was stated Friday afternoon that an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the accident and injuries of Mrs. Amiot had been made bi the state police, but no one has been held.

The annual tag day of Westerly Visiting Nurse Association is to be held Thursday, August 6. Mrs. Ralph M. Briggs, chairman of the ways and means committee, will have charge and the captains have been assigned as follows:

Dixon Square, Miss Katherine Nestor; Grove avenue and High streets, Mrs. Henry L. Burdick; Mechanic and West Broad streets, Miss Grace Carmichael; railroad station, Miss Marjorie Barber; Quarry hill, Post road and East avenue, Mrs. Calvert B. Cottrell; Beach and Elm streets, Mrs. Thomas Perry; Avondale, Mrs H. E. Burdick; Watch Hill, Mrs. Charles E. Sherman; Pleasant View, Mrs. Frank Sullivan; Weekapaug, Mrs. Walter S. Price; Ashaway, Mrs. Earl Burdick.

At the band concert in the evening, tags will be sold by the Westerly Boy Scouts, under the direction of Scoutmaster Wilfred B. Utter.

Boxes for the collections will be furnished by A. Julian Crandall of the Ashaway Line & Twine Co., and the tags will be given at cost by Wars Bobs.

In the Friday morning session of the Third District Court before Judge Michael J. Turano several cases were tried, and the final adjournment did not take place until 12.50 o'clock. Present in court were three Rhode Island state policeman, two of whom appeared on the witness stand, it being the first time that Rhode Island state troopers have appeared to take part in court sessions in Westerly. The case of the town of Westerly, Thomas E. Brown, hackney superintendent, vs. Antonio Fiore, charged with setting up and using a hackney vehicle on June 22, and operating a hackney vehicle and setting up and using a hackney vehicle on June 13, and the town of Westerly, Thomas E. Brown, vs. Thomas Fiore, charged with operating a hackney vehiclee on June 22, without first having obtained a license were heard jointly. Solicitor John Ferguson represented the town and Attorney John J. Dunn the defendants.

Duke Midgley, a member of the R. I. state troopers. He testified that he came into Westerly June 22, and approached Thomas Fiore on Broad street and asked him for a cab to go to the Smith Granite company. He said that Fiore drove the Studebaker car in which he rode and paid a fare of 25 cents. In cross-examination Midgley testified that the cab was located in the yard directly across from the court house. He said he was directed by headquarters to come to Westerly.

Michael J. Hurley, another state trooper, testified that he came to Westerly and hired Antonio Fiore to take him to River Bend cemetery for which he paid $1. He entered the conveyance on Broad street. The witness said he asked Fiore where there was a hackney stand, and Fiore told him across the street. The witness said that when he turned to start toward the stand, the defendant asked him where he was going, and upon informing Fiore that he was going to River Bend cemetery, Fiore said he would take him out there. The witness said he told the driver that he was going to look up something for his wife's people.

On cross-examination Attorney Dunn asked the witness if he did not tell Fiore that some of his folks were dead and he wanted to go out to make arrangements for the grave, and that on the way back Fiore said he was sorry he could not get the superintendent and expressed sympathy to him. Hurley said that he did not make such a remark. This line of conversation was ruled out, as not material.

Attorney Ferguson called Antonio Fiore and questioned him about the ownership of the car. Attorney Dunn objected on the ground that an answer to such a question might incriminate tthe witness. The objection was sustained.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, testified that he saw Midgley get into the automobile on June 22, at about 5.0 o'clock. Chief Brown said that since the first of June the defendant had come for a hackney license. He was asked if it was for this Studebaker car. Attorney Dunn again objected.

Miss Mary E. Quinlan, an employe in the town treasurer's office testifed there were two cars taxed to Antonio Fiore, one a Studebaker and the other a Cadillac. She makes up the tax books and the cards from which she took the registration were the assessor's cards.

When questioned if Antonio Fiore paid the tax on these machines she said she could not say for a certainty that he did.

A short recess was taken to await the arrival of another witness, but when he could not be located Attorney Ferguson stated that if the court feels that the ownership has not been established he would ask that the case be continued for one week. He said that a witness from the state board of public roads in Providence could be procured, but it is not the desire to make the defendant any unnecessary expense.

Attorney Dunn said that he would be willing to accept an affidavit from the state board as to the resignation of the machines, but would still reserve his rights, Judge Turano granted the continuance for one week.

As Judge Turano was about to declare a recess in the court session, Attorney A. T. L. Ledwidge called for the case of Carl Olsen vs. Orlindo Guimaros, an action growing out of an alleged accident in Arcadia May 31, last, in which an attachment had been placed on an automobile. Attorney Ledwidge said that there is a motion in this case and it has been continued from last week. Attorney Dunn said: "The case is not on today's docket." "What?" exclaimed Attorney Ledwidge. "What? Yes, this case is not on the docket," answered Mr Dunn. "I refer you to the clerk of the court," said Mr. Ledwidge. "Was this matter down for today," asked Judge Turano of the clerk. "Yes," replied Clerk Flynn. "It was called last week and continued to today." "I'll be charitable enough to agree to the continuance," said Mr. Ledwidge. "I accept your charity," replied Mr. Dunn. The case was continued for one week.

The case of John Panora, et al. vs. John Palazzolo, et al., was heard, an action of book account. Palazzolo testified that he is a fruit peddler and earns from $15 to $25 a week averaging about $20 a week. He testified that the truck he drives was purchased by his wife. Attorney Gallagher asked the witness if he couldn't pay something on account, and the witness said that he couldn't as it takes all he can earn to support his wife and three children. Attorney Gallagher asked that the court direct the defendant to make payments. Judge Turano said that at this time he feit that it would be an injustice to direct him to pay anything, but he would continue the case for three months, and, if it could be shown that he was earning enough at that time, he would make a norder. Judge Turano said that the children and family come first.

In the case of state, Fred T. Mitchell, sheriff, vs. Bert Wiley, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, the defendant entered a plea of not guilty and the case was continued for one week. Bail was fixed in the sum of $200. The liquor is alleged to have been secured in a raid at the Tea cottage in Charlestown, July 25.

William B. O'Brien and Comer Coleman was charged with intoxication on High street, July 20. Each of the defendants was fined $5 and costs. The liquors and vessels found on thepremises of Leonard Johnson, at Watch Hill, there being no one present to claim them, were ordered forfeited to the state.

New writs entered were: Paul Luzzi vs. Vincent Gentile, entered by Gallagher and Rathbun, answered by Roche, and Jerry E. Fitzgerald et al. vs. Westerly General Contract Co., entered by Roche and answered by Gallagher.

A default was entered in the case of John Rusis vs. George Bookataub, Attorney George R. McKenna for the plaintiff.

Another new case entered Friday was that of Lucy A. Whitford vs. William Rathbun, an action of trespass and ejectment, entered by Judge J. O. Watts and continued for one week.

The case which occupied the remainder of the court session and was continued to Friday next, was the threatened assault case of Annunziato Vuono vs. Joe Grillo.

John Finney of Charlestown was presented before Clerk Mc Walter Flynn in the Third District court Thursday evening on complaint of one of the Rhode Island state troopers for operating an automobile with but one headlight burning.

Finney was detained at the Westerly police station for about two hours and was fined $2 and costs.

This is said to be the first case on record in the Third District court where an operator of an automobile was taken in on such a charge and fined on the first offense.

There was consternation among local automobile drivers Friday after learning of Finney's case, as to whether or not the law is to be rigidly enforced for a similar violation of the law, and fines imposed for the first offense. It has been the custom of the local authorities to warn drivers when operating cars with one or more lights out before making arrests or summoning violators into court.

James W. McCormick, past grand knight of Narragansett council, No. 21, has been appointed a district deputy of the Knights of Columbus in Rhode Island. It has been announced by State Deputy Frank B. McCabe of Providence.

District Deputy Mr. McCormick will have supervision over Pawtucket council, the largest council in the state, Finnigan council of Providence, Newman council of Providence, and St. Francis council of Wakefield.

The new district deputy for Narragansett council of Westerly, will be Edward Ducharme of Providence.

Since receiving his appointment, District Deputy McCormick has appointed George P. Chapman of Westerly to the office of district warden, and has appointed Daniel Cogan captain of his degree team.

Mr. McCormick was initiated into Narragansett council in 1915. A year later he was elected to the office of deputy grand knight, which he held for three years. He served as grand knight of the council in 1919 and 1920.

Miss Clariotte Larkin of Ashaway, who has been a patient at the Home Memorial Hospital, New London, is expected to return to Westerly today (Saturday), following several weeks' treatment.

Frank Celia of Pawcatuck has returned home after an automobile trip to South Manchester with Mrs. Minnie Bailey, who has been the guest of his wife on the west side. Miss Gertrude Celia returned with her father, having been the guest of Miss Rose Taylor in South Manchester for several days.

Rev. Alva L. Davis, pastor of the First Hopkinton church will leave Westerly Monday for a vacation trip south, preceeding his attendance at the Seventh-day Baptist General Conference, ni Salem, West Virginia, the latter part of this month.

At Weekapaug Chapel, Sunday, there will be the regular Sunday morning mass at 6:45 read by Rev. Father Capesius of the faculty of Van Buren college.

The services at 1:30 at the chapel will be conducted by Rt. Rev. John Groton of the Episcopal church of New Bedford, Mass.

COLCHESTER

Major and Mrs. F. E. Baker were in Meriden Thursday, attending the funeral of Major General George Tryon, retired, of the uniformed rank, Knights of Pythias. Burial was in Middletown.

The lawn party held on the lawn at St. Andrew's rectory, Thursday afternoon and evening, was attended by one of the largest crowds that the parish has ever had. The Boy Scouts' band, of Willimantic, under the leadership of Prof. Wheeler, gave a short concert on Main street, before going to the grounds, where they furnished music for the party. The grounds were finely decorated with bunting and festoon of electric lights. Dancing was on an outdoor platform. There was a midway. Clam chowder and other good things were on sale. The party was one of the most successful, both socially and financially, that the parish has ever given.

Miss Marion Sullivan and Miss Mary Kearns, of Willimantic, were in town Thursday evening, to attend the lawn party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Draper, of Vernon Center, are guests of Mrs. Mary Baker, on Broadway.

A number from town are in East Hampton today (Saturday) attending Old Home day celebration.

Earle R. Stevens, of East Hampton, was a visitor here Friday.

Louis Alexander, of Willington, was a caller here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strong motored to New London Thursday.

Arthur Holmes, of New London, was calling on friends in town Thursday.

Charles Jones, of East Hampton, was here Friday in the interests of the Electric Light company.

The work of laying the new cement road on Norwich avenue is progressing rapidly. One-half of the road is being put in and has reached nearly to the corner of Norwich avenue and Pleasant street.

PLAINFIELD

There will be no service in the Congregational church Sunday, but the church will be open the second and fourth Sundays during August. The pastor, Rev. William C. Prentiss, will be absent for the month on his vacation.

Satan doesn't object to a man's attending church on Sunday if he gets his services the other six days in the week.

PROMOTER OF NEW LONDON THEATRE ACQUIRES ADDITIONAL LAND

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 31.—Walter S. Garde, of Neptune Park, proprietor of the Colonial Shop, corner of State and Meridian streets, one of the principals in the scheme to have a motion picture house and office building erected on the former Augustus Williams site, State, Huntington, Meridian and Church streets, for which erection it is planned to expend $500,000, today acquired of Sidney M. Sulman, a tract of land on the Williams site, located on the southerly side of Church street, for $31,500. The land acquired of Mr. Sulman is a section of the site upon which it is planned to erect the theatre. The deed transferring title in the Williams property to the proposed owners of the new theatre, has not been drawn yet, but Attorney Frank L. McGuire, counsel for Mr. Garde, is authority for the statement that the agreement to purchase the land necessary to erect the theatre has been signed and a deposit made.

Barnet Lubow this afternoon complained to the police because a man was going about Bank street soliciting ads. Sergeant John Cavanaugh was assigned to the complaint, but he was unable to locate the man complained of.

Walter Butler, well along in years, was in the police court this morning, charged with intoxication. He pleaded guilty. He started in to tell that unreadable story about coming here to look for work at Fisher's Island, but he stopped short and said he got drunk when he "met fellows on the dock." He said he only had an idea that he might get work at the island. He said he was broke and started for the Learned Mission to get lodging and being unable to find the superintendent he sought the police station. He had no money, so Judge Prince gave him one chance to leave town, telling him that if he was brought back jail would be his home for a while. "You preferred to spend your last cent for drink," said the court, "so you will go to jail if you return."

A score of boys who have been living next to nature at Camp Terrehesan, returned last evening after completing a stay of five weeks, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. Today, a party of men from the association went to the camp for a stay. The boys were benefitted by their life in the woods and fields where they were subjected to discipline and where there was a set program for every hour in the day. They were obliged to be up at 6:30 in the morning and to retire at 9:30 in the evening. There were 44 boys in the camp during most of the five weeks.

Tomorrow morning Frank Perry, driver of the Ockford fire apparatus, will appear in the police court to tell why he does not keep away from a woman who is the wife of another. It is expected that the testimony brought out will be of a sensational nature. Perry was in court the latter part of April when he was fined $10 and given a long jail sentence for abuse of his wife. That sentence was suspended that Perry might show that he intended to walk the straight and narrow path and deport himself as a married man should. But it is claimed, and with an abundance of evidence, it is said, that he has not adhered to the terms by which he was shown leniency and he must now answer for his indiscretion. Perry is said by some of the police officers to have established a record that is a bad one.

The Connecticut company is anticipating a large patronage for its bus line between this city and Willimantic which begins operation Saturday.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Reuben B. Stoeckel today caused the revocation of licenses of Andrew Warner, 474 Williams street, and Walter Palmer, 24 Pleasant street, to be suspended. Commissioner Stoeckel also caused the operators' licenses of Roger H. Tinker, 30 Pleasant street, and Frank Rose, 14 Tenth street, suspended recently, to be returned to the owners.

The New London police early this morning received a request by telephone from the Boston police to attempt to intercept Gladys M. Cushman, 13, and Stella Tabaka, 14, both of Boston, who ran away from their homes early in the day. The girls were supposed to be on their way to Mystic and are known to have been picked up by an automobilist and are supposed to have headed for New London in their endeavor to reach Mystic. The girls have not been located in New London.

Patrolman David Nagle started today on his vacation of a fortnight.

The state police of Groton barracks are still investigating the case of Edward O'Meara, 20 Park street, West Hartford, who was found in the highway near Horse Pond, Chesterfield, yesterday afternoon by the driver of a Hartford bus and brought to New London, who is still a patient at Lawrence hospital. O'Meara, who had been drinking and who is suffering from lacerations and bruises, when interrogated by the police was unable to relate how he got to Chesterfield, neither is he able to tell how he sustained his injuries.

William Willett, of Mystic avenue, Westerly; Augustas Ward, United States Coast Guard patrol boat 290 and Mrs. G. Dewey Swan, of Melrose Highlands, Mass., the last named having had lacerations about the head as the result of the automobile in which she was riding, two weeks ago, crashing through a state highway fence in East Lyme, were patients discharged today at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital.

Patrolman Braxton Hill has resumed his duties after his vacation of two weeks.

William P. Chappell, about 70, and a well-known resident at the Golden Spur, Waterford, died this morning at the Norwich State hospital, Preston, where he had been under treatment but a short time. He is survived by his wife, a brother, Fred Chappell, of Niantic, and a sister, Mrs. John King, of Lyme. Mr. Chappell was a member of Bay View lodge of Masons, Niantic, and for many years conducted a grocery store at Strait's bridge, Golden Spur. Mr. Chappell's health became impaired about a year ago when he developed acute Bright's disease, together with high blood pressure. His condition failed to improve under medical treatment and recently he was transferred to the Norwich hospital.

Frederick, a restaurant worker, was arrested last night by Sergeant Samuel Hick. Cooley being suspected of having stolen a coat, watch and glasses owned by Bernard Livingston, of the Hotel Mohican, while Livingston was in a Golden street bowling alley, earlier in the day. Cooley, however, was discharged this morning without being presented in court, as there was no evidence upon which Cooley could be held. Seven men and youths identified Cooley as having been seen about the bowling alley yesterday afternoon, but there was no information to prove that Cooley was the thief.

Mr. Abraham Khoury, of 13 Lewis street; Mrs. Esther Eleazer and twin daughters, and a son, of Westerly; Leonard Gaetano, 75 Golden street; Mrs. Joseph Savinsky, 33 Perry street, Charles Leffingwell, Groton; Miss Ann Robertson, Noank and Edwin Tast, Waterford, patients at Home Memorial hospital, were discharged today.

John Lally and Roderick O'Meara, strangers in Lyme, were arrested late yesterday by State Police Officer Giles Watson, of Groton barracks, when Lally and O'Meara became boisterously intoxicated in Lyme. Last night the accused were presented in the Lyme court and a fine of $5 and costs was imposed. The pair could not pay so they were committed to the county jail in this city.

The condition of Lawrence Vera, Jr., 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vera of Uncasville, who received a bullet in his neck while walking along the main highway of Montville last July 4, the shot evidently having been fired by a careless celebrator of the holiday, has so far improved at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, that it is now believed the child will recover.

Dr. and Mrs. William J. Murray, 42 Williams street, left today for a fortnight's automobile trip, with their objective point the White Mountains and points of interest in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith and daughter, of Montauk avenue, have returned home, after having spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Smith's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Hane.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Hayes, of Newport, R. I., were visitors in New London yesterday. Mr. Hayes formerly resided in this city.

Bernard Livingston, manager of a State street store, wanted exercise Thursday and decided to take it in a Golden street bowling alley. He hung his coat up while he bowled and left his watch and glasses in the garment. When he had finished on the alleys he sought his outer garment, but it was missing with the watch and glasses. He notified the police, but that did not assist him in the recovery of his property. Today Mrs. Coombs reported to the police that she found the coat in the rear of her home at 48 Golden street, but that there was no watch nor glasses in the garment. She notified the police and they in turn told Livingston that his coat had been recovered.

State and Bank streets have rarely been more congested with automobiles than they were this evening. There were lines of cars moving north and south, the curbing was lined with cars on either side of the street and with trolley cars moving the congestion seemed complete. "What is the city council to do about it?" was asked by scores of people. Green street might be opened to Tilley street and the congestion would be relieved, but the city council seems in no hurry to accomplish that needed improvement.

RUM CARGO WORTH $125,000 CAPTURED IN BLOCK I. SOUND

(Special to the Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 31—The French auxiliary schooner Mousmee, bound from Halifax to New York, and laden with 3,000 cases of whiskey and other liquors, was seized in Block Island sound early this morning by the crew of the revenue cutter Redwing, one of the fleet of rum-chasers stationed at this port that has been engaged pursuing rum-traffickers for several months. The schooner is now tied up at the pier of the United States Coast guard. This afternoon at 5 o'clock the crew of 10 men were before United States Commissioner Russell T. Corcoran at the customs house. Because of the inability of a New York attorney to be present as counsel for the master and crew of the schooner, a continuance was granted until the 12th of August. The master, Captain Maurice LeFittehove and his nine members of the crew were held for their appearance at the later date. Captain LeFittehove was held in bail of $2,500 and each member of the crew was held in bonds of $1,000, a New York indemnity company qualifying as surety on the aggregate bond of $11,500.

The schooner, which left Halifax earlier in the week, was sighted by the crew of the Redwing before daylight this morning when the cutter was scouring the New England coast in search of rum-runners. The Mousmee was close to the Rhode Island shore when sighted, but when the cutter was observed giving chase to the schooner, Captain LeFittehove headed his craft towards the sea. After a chase of several miles a shot was fired across the bow of the schooner and the craft then came to anchor. When members of the crew of the cutter boarded the schooner and searched her hold a varied cargo of rye and Scotch whiskey, chartreuse and other liquors was found, the value of the cargo, it being estimated, being close to $125,000.

ARRESTED IN VIRGINIA— DEFRAUDED GOVERNMENT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

NEW LONDON, July 31.—Charles Travers, formerly employed on one of the government steamers plying between New London and the New London Artillery district, is under arrest at Hampton, Va., charged with fraud, Travers having been apprehended this forenoon at Garden City, Va., at the request of the New London authorities, who hold a warrant for Travers' apprehension.

Travers, while in the employ of the federal government, visited Schwaner Brothers' market on Main street and purchased on a represented government order about $100 worth of meats and canned goods. He then sold them and appropriated the money received to his own use. Travers then left the city. A few days ago it was ascertained that Travers was employed in Garden City and a request was made of the authorities there to arrest him.

Sergeant John Cavanaugh left late this afternoon for Hampton, where Travers is locked up, and carried a warrant which will cause the accused to be returned to New London and face trial.

TERMS OF HOD CARRIERS DENIED IN BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPOT, July 31.—(A. P.)—Builders here will not accede to demands of striking hod carriers and laborers who walked out at noon today from several large construction projects, it was decided at a meeting tonight. Builders estimated the number who walked out at 70 men, while union agents put the number at 500. The latter group admitted that it was only a partial walkout, but said that the remainder would be called off jobs Saturday morning.

The men ask 65 cents an hour minimum wage, instead of the present 60 cents, and recognition of their union. The latter demand is the one on which the fight will be concentrated. Nicholas Fagan, business agent of the local said. Men on out of town jobs of Bridgeport contractors will be called out, he said.

PROSPECTS OF GASOLINE PRICE WAR IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, July 31.—(A. P.)—Prospects of a gasoline price war here were seen tonight when one company announced that a reduction will take place at its filling stations tomorrow. So far as could be learned tonight, the price cut was not been extended to other companies.

The price of gas was increased generally throughout the state when the new state tax on the commodity went into effect. Reductions have statred in some other cities, however. In Wallingford the price was cut to 26 cents today following action by one dealer. The price will be cut to that figure at the filling stations of one company here tomorrow.

A committee of the New Haven County Automobile club is at present investigating the price of gasoline in Connecticut.

TO CLOSE STATE TRUCK AND TRACTOR SCHOOL

HARTFORD, July 31.—(A. P.)—Decision to close the state truck and tractor school at Portland, the first institution of its kind in the country, was reached at a conference today between State Highway Commissioner John A. MacDonald and Commissioner of Education A. B. Meredith. The school, which has been operated jointly by the state board of education and the highway department for the past year and a half, will be shut down within the next thirty days. A decrease in the enrollment during the past few months led to the action, it was announced.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ATTRACTIVE MOVING PICTURES AT Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to see the interesting moving pictures at the local Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock on the coming Sunday afternoon. The pictures will include the following: "In the Shadow of the Pyramids," showing excellent views of the pyramids and Sphinx and of the native life in their vicinity; also Shepherds tending their sheep, and the evening prayers of the Arabs, the whole making an interesting tour to the Land of the Pharaohs.

Another beautiful portrayal will be "Niagara Falls in Summer and Winter." This picture is a fine showing of the American falls from below, the rapids and the Horse Shoe falls, the aero cable car over the whirlpool, etc.

Two reels on "A Trip to Florida," will prove most interesting, showing as they do Lake Okechobee, the Seminole Indians at home, the Everglades and the alligator farm, and including Palm Beach in January.

The above promises a most pleasant and profitable hour, and if the weather is such as demand them, the large overhead fans will be used.

Broadway Theatre

The acting, alone, in "Adventure," the new Paramount picture, at the Broadway theatre tomorrow is sufficient to lift this film out of the mediocre class. Which should occasion little wonder, since Victor Fleming, the producer, has assembled a formidable cast featuring such sterling favorites as Tom Moore, Pauline Starke, Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton. Even the minor parts are portrayed by players of skill and experience as witness Walter McGrail, Duke Kahanamoku, famous international Hawaiian swimmer, James Spencer and Noble Johnson.

This imposing array of screen talent is reinforced with a gripping story from the pen of the late Jack London, realistic settings, gorgeous backgrounds, excellent lighting, beautiful photography and the expert direction of Mr. Fleming, who has a right to point to his latest production with considerable pride.

There is action aplenty and thrills galore. The players have entered into the spirit of the story with a vim and a vigor that keep things humming from the dramatic beginning to the fighting finish. Tom Moore has a role very much to his liking and gives a strenuous account of himself; Pauline Starke is a picturesque character as a woman soldier of fortune; Wallace Beery lightens his villainy with comedy moments; and Raymond Hatton wins new laurels with his characterization.

"Adventure" is a real film treat! Make it a point to see it!

A special musical setting for this fine picture is assured by the augmented orchestra Sunday. Other pictures include a Mermaid Comedy and New Kinograms.

Breed Theatre

What would you do if you had but one year to live?

The question is asked you in the new First National picture, "One Year to Live," which comes to the Breed Theatre Sunday.

And the movie obligingly answers, indirectly, by vividly depicting the plight of a beautiful girl whose physician tells her she has but one year to live.

It is a sensational theme, and is reported by pre-view critics to have been well carried out by an elaborate cast which includes Aileen Pringle, Antonio Moreno, Dorothy Mackaill and other favorites.

The scenes are laid in Paris, and have been given the glitter and glamor popularly associated with the gay night life of the French capital.

There are some fascinating glimpses behind the scenes of a famous Parisian theatre—and the panic which ensues when a beautiful, but temperamental star refuses to "go on" for the paradoxical reason that the audience is clamoring for her.

"If they want me, they can wait," she reasons.

And there are some sequences of a bewildering carnival which climaxes the theatrical season in Paris. Hundreds of beautiful girls, in glorious costumes, take part amidst showers of confetti and a bedlam of music and hilarity.

But beneath the tinsel of the butterfly life, ebbs the vital theme.

One year to live.

Miss Pringle has the role of the girl, and her problem is dual. While facing death, herself, she must also provide for the comfort and safety of an invalided little sister (Dorothy Mackaill) after she is gone.

It is in search of a dual solution that she plunges into the night life of the capital. And it is there the picture reaches a dramatic climax when she meets the man she really loves (Moreno).

M. C. Levee, its producer, has given the film a lavish production, and the direction by Irving Cummings develops the full power of the contrasting gayety and tragedy of the plot.

"One year to Live" should live much longer on the screen.

Palace Theatre

Combining the spectacular with the amusing seems to be the particular forte of Fred Thomson. The latest F. B. O. production featuring that popular star and the famous horse, "Silver King," is "The Bandit's Baby," and while the keynote of the picture might be said to be loud and unlimited laughter, the fast-action melodrama which has done much to put Thomson at the top of the western heap has not been forgotten. Several thrilling rides, a match race at a rodeo between "Silver King," and "Midnight," and the rescue of the baby by Thomson right from under the wheels of an onrushing express train are a few of the highlights. "The Bandit's Baby," which comes to the Palace theatre on Sunday once more brings the star back into his western togs, after a brief sojourn in his previous picture, "That Devil Quemado," in unaccustomed habiliments. The comedy scenes of the western baby show, where the law of the range of proud fathers is the rule, and the delightful difficulties in which Fred and "Silver King" are placed when they have to adopt a baby, have been particularly well done. Del Andrews directed the picture, which is an adaptation by Marion Jackson of an original story by Leete Renick Brown.

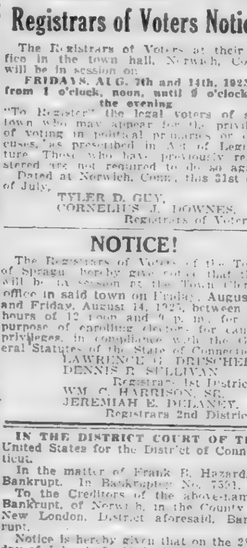
A man's idea of tough luck is to play cards with a woman and win every time when there is nothing at stake.

Phrase "Monkey Trial" All Wrong



Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, President of the Museum of Natural History, New York City, states the case for the evolutionist. In learned language he shows what was deduced from the many anthopologic and paleontologic discoveries. And claims that no Evolutionist states man is a descendent from the apes, gorillas, etc. Man belongs to a family of his own—and all actual ancestors are extinct.

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—Further downward revision of prices took place in today's stock market. The usual large volume of week-end profit taking was augumented by professional bear selling apparently inspired by reports of a gasoline "price cutting war" in certain sections of the west, the announcement of a drastic cut on certain popular automobile models, and the making up of call money rates. Trading was on a fairly broad scale, the day's sales aggregating about 1,5000,000 shares.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported improvement in the general business situation. "Further expansion in some commercial channels appears at a time when it is least to be expected," reports Dunn's review. "On the whole," it adds, "results in July which is traditionally a quiet period, were better than had been anticipated, and a new month opens with encouraging prospects," Bradstreet's states that "despite numerous irregularities visible in crops, trade and industry—spottiness is still a frequently used characterization—the feeling of cheerfulness, in some sections optimism is the word, is very noticeable."

Steel shares lost ground in the face of favorable trade news, U. S. Steel common and Bethlehem each closed about a point lower; Crucible showed a net loss of 1 5-8, and Sloss Sheffield dropped 2 1-2.

Selling of the automotive issues centered largely in such recent strong spots as White, Mack Trucks and Fisher Body. Martin-Parry and Murray Body sank to new low levels for the year. Spicer manufacturing confined to show independent strength, touching a record high at 32 and closing slightly below that figure for a net gain of 1 5-8 on the day. Pierce-Arrow prior preferred broke 17 points on one sale.

Brown Shoe established a record top of 121 and then broke to 115, where it was off nearly 3 points on the day.

Marked heaviness also was apparent in Famous Players preferred, Havana Electric, Independent Oil & Gas, Manila Electric, Sears-Roebuck, Sloss-Sheffield steels and Westinghouse Air Brake, all off two points or more.

Despite the heaviness of the general list, bullish operations were successfully conducted in a number of issues. New ork canners soared over six points to a record high at 49 1-4, closing within a point of the top; Frank G. Shattuck moved up over 3 points to a new high at 78 3-4 and General Electric showed a maximum gain of about 6 points at 296 1-4. Further accumulation of Loews, Inc., in anticipation of a higher dividend carried that stock to a new high at 31 5-8. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe closed within a range of nearly ten points. Emerson Brantingham preferred advanced 4 points to a record top at 21 and then eased a point on realizing.

Call money renewed at 4, per cent. but advanced to 4 1-3 during the afternoon in reflection of heavy withdrawals in connection with week-end and month-end requirements. Time money and Commercial Paper rates were unchanged.

Renewal of selling pressure against the Scandinavian exchanges featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Danish kroner broke about 65 points to around 22.05 cents and Norwegian kroner fell back 40 points to 18.05 cents. Demand sterling held firm around $4.85 1-4, indicating hope of an amicable settlement of the miners wage controversy, French francs were slightly lower around 4.73 1-2 cents.

NORWICH TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Randall, of 87 West Town street, have been entertaining for the past week, Mrs. Randalls sister Miss Emily Packer, and her aunt, Miss Annie L. Skeer, of Newtown, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Randall, accompanied by their guests, will motor to Lebanon today (Saturday) to spend the day with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Randall, whose guests Miss Packer and Miss Skeer will be over Sunday.

Letter Carrier Frank E. Sterry, of Lee avenue, the obliging Norwich Town postman, is having his fifteen days' vacation, which will expire August 15th.

During this week for a few days, a former Norwich Town young man, H. Lee Sterry, who came east on a business trip, has been visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Sterry. H. Lee Sterry is a graduate of Syracuse, N. Y., university and is a salesman for the Warner & Swasey company of Cleveland, Ohio, which has several branch offices in the larger cities, Mr. Sterry being associated with the office in Chicago.

Rutherford H. Snow, who has been seriously ill at his home on Huntington Green, was reported this week to be greatly improved, a fact pleasing to friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norton Brainerd, who have for ten days been visiting Mr. Brainerd's relatives in Connecticut, sailed at the home of his mother, Mrs. Hattie E. Brainerd, of Main street, last week for their home in Montreal, Canada, where Mr. Brainerd holds a very fine position with a large motor company. Mr. Brainerd is a nephew of Dr. Charles H. Lamb, of Town street.

The recent social and festival held on Huntington Green, under the auspices of the Young People's society of the German Lutheran church, Norwich, was very successful, it having been reported that the society made about $50.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Shaver and Mr. and Mrs. George Shaver have been called to Richmondville, N. Y., by the sudden illness of their mother, Mrs. Valentine Shaver who is in a critical condition.

POLICE TAG NEARLY FIFTY AUTO DRIVERS IN TWO DAYS TIME

Another score of automobile drivers will be presented in the city court this (Saturday) morning on charges of violating the local traffic rules. They were "red tagged" by the police Friday morning and afternoon for various offenses, such as over staying the time limit, parking too far from the curb and parking in "no parking" sections of streets. In spite of the fact that 28 drivers received court summons Thursday and that Mayor Milo R. Waters announced that the local traffic rules are to be enforced to the letter from now on there were almost as many violations Friday. Almost fifty drivers have been red tagged in the past two days.

Those who received summons to appear in the city court this Saturday morning are as fololws:

David Trachtenberg, Walter Block, Calvin Grey of Ledyard, Michael Falcone, Alexander Benke of Jewett City, Edmund A. Davignon, of Plainfield, Stephen Savage of Norwich Town, Everett Friese, Emma E. Falvey, of Preston, Howard Snyder of New Haven, Douglas E. Knight, Mrs. David Sussler, John Shepard, New London, Albert Desmairius of Moosup, Mrs. F. B. Disco, Herman Willens of Montville, Arthur E. Hall, William Neipert, W. H. Hall, Preston City, Susan R. Church, Montville.

COURT ORDERS NEW TRIAL FOR SCHLEIFER

A new trial has been ordered by the supreme court in the case against Ernest Schleifer, labor leader, who was recently convicted in the superior court of New Haven county and sentenced to serve a term of state's prison. Counsel for Schleifer had appealed the judgment of the superior court and the supreme court of errors found error in the trial and ordered the case reheard.

Schleifer is well known in this section, having spent considerable time in New London, during the shopmen's strike in 1923, when he addressed meetings of the strikers in the Bacon building under the auspices of the strikers' committee.

It was claimed by railroad detectives that Schleifer had urged the strikers to use lead pipe on the head of strikebreakers, to put emery in the gears and otherwise disable locomotives and other railway equipment. The charges were denied by Schleifer and by railroad men, but complaints were entered with the state attorneys of New London and New Haven counties and his indictment in both places followed.

Originally the case was taken to the superior court in New Haven county and ordered thrown out for insufficient evidence. State Attorney Aaron A. Ailing of that county appealed to the supreme court and the latter ordered the case heard. His conviction followed and the matter was taken to the higher tribunal by Schleifer's attorneys on appeal. By the decision just handed down the case will be heard all over again in the superior court of New Haven county.

DRUGGISTS AND DOCTORS TO HOLD OUTING

Druggists, doctors and dentists of Norwich and vicinity will endeavor to escape from the routine of business next Thursday, to enjoy their annual outing, which is to be held at Happyland Casino, at the drawbridge.
